Once there dwelt within the mountains
A philosopher named Haffinch.
Filled he was with many wise tales,
But there was no one to listen.
So he climbed the highest mountain;
Calling to the hills around him,
Bidding all to come and hear him,
And to profit from his teachings.

As the multitudes did gather
On the hillside to hear Haffinch,
Pouring forth his tales of wisdom,
He became known the world over.
But the winds blew through the canyon,
And 'twas cold upon the mountain;
So Wise Haffinch did seek shelter
For the followers of his teachings.

Haffinch gazed down from the mountain,
And he saw a field of clover.
Then he said, "I'll build a castle
To which all may come to hear me."

Thus the castle was constructed,
And a registrar employed there
To collect the fees for Haffinch,
And to make a list of students.

Haffinch called his castle Main Hall,
And the multitudes enrolled there
To take Listening to Haffinch,
And his fame spread far and yonder.
But it happened that as time passed,
He became so tired of talking,
He contracted laringitis
And was puzzled with the problem.

Then spake one of his bright students,
Who suggested to Wise Haffinch,
"Why not write down your wise teachings,
So that all who wished might read them?"

Many books were then compiled
And a library was constructed;
Where were housed Haffinch's writings,
And where students went to study.
After pouring o'er their studies,
Students needed relaxation.
Hence an edifice for union
Of the students was erected.

In one portion called the Coke Store
Many students then did gather;
Where they did much coffee drinking,
While they mulled o'er daily gossip.

Here the students also studied
And engaged in recreation,
While some week-ends found them dancing
In the Gold Room or the Fish Bowl.
When the spring thaws hit the campus,
Out-of-doors the students gathered,
Where they sat midst bright umbrellas
And absorbed their share of sunshine.

Some of them exchanged their coffee
For a cooler type of beverage,
And their visits were more frequent
Due to sieges of class cutting.
Spring would also find the campus
Turning thoughts to things athletic.
Picnics, hikes, and frat spring parties
Offered them fresh-air diversion.

Neighbor to the Student Union
Was the campus bowl of clover,
Where the groups would often gather
To engage in intramurals.
Noise parades and bonfire rallies
Were among the pep attractions
For the students with school spirit,
Who excelled in much loud cheering.
Haffinch gathered all his students
On the steps in front of Main Hall,
Where they entered in group singing—
Singing on the Steps he called it.
Through the week the students studied,
And some burned the midnight oil.
But the lights which burned on week-ends
Would announce their merry-making.
So that justice might be furthered
Hoffinch built a tabernacle,
Where the lawyers studied canned briefs,
While their friends attended convos.

After years of preparation,
To the bar they were admitted.
This was based on the provision
They produced the proper I.D.
Yet another school was founded
For the subjects of Paul Bunyan,
And though Haffinch was the founder,
Patron saint was their own Bertha.

Ev'ry year a ball was given
By these lawyer-hating woodsmen.
With informal dress the keynote,
Cancan girls and beards were featured.
So the years passed quickly onward
While the school was ever growing.
More new buildings were constructed
To accommodate expansion.

Still the students sought their learning—
Old ones left, and new ones entered.
But they all remembered Haffinch
For his wise and wondrous teachings.

When the students graduated
They would think back on their school days,
And each year they would relive them
At their festival—Homecoming.
Listening to Haffinch
Spreading Haffinch’s Word
Joining Haffinch
Haffinch’s Regime
Cheering with Haffinch
Haffinch’s Habitations
Relaxing with Haffinch
Haffinch’s Backers
Many students came to Haffinch
Seeking higher education.
After years of constant study
They rejoiced in graduating.

First production of the Masquers
Was Odets' stark, vivid drama
Of Frank Elgin, has-been actor,
Who through drink had reached his downfall.

Bernie Dodd, the brash director,
With Frank's wife, the loyal Georgie,
Struggle for the stage-star's comeback
And restore him to the footlights.

Frank Elgin .................... Ronald Lundquist
Georgie ........................ Marjorie Lovberg
Bernie Dodd .................... James Webb
Phillip Cook, the producer .... Carlton Johnson
Paul Unger, the author ........ Richard Howell
Larry, the stage manager ...... Alan Goddard
Nancy ............................. Berta Huebl
The Dresser .................... Charles Parks

Frank again resorts to drinking.
Georgie then attempts to help him;
But he turns on her in anger,
Not realizing her influence.

The stage manager, the author,
And Phil Cook, the play's producer,
Find that Frank has been imbibing
During the play's dress rehearsal.
Molière's satire on physicians was the winter quarter presentation. It concerns a doting father who surrounds himself with doctors.

Father Argan plans on matching Angelique, his eldest daughter, with Diaforus, a doctor; but she loves another—Cleante.

Argan .................................. Robert Hoyem
Toinette ............................... Patricia Koob
Angelique ............................. Karen Whittet
Cleante ................................. Harold Hansen
Beline ................................. Jeanene Schilling

Argan's maid, Toinette, who's saucy, constantly torments her master. It is she who plots against him and resolves the situation.

Elmire, Argan's sister, tells him to himself become a doctor so that he can cure his ailments. This he does and solves the problem.
Jupiter employs his powers—
Dresses as Alkmena's husband.
Mercury, to help him win her,
Acts as liaison and runner

Most delightfully Alkmena
Mixes up the situation.
Jupiter must laud her actions,
And he gives the two his blessing.

Giraudoux's impromptu drama,
Modern version of the ancients,
While remaining thought provoking,
Gave delight to spring play-goers.

Jupiter's infatuated
With a mortal girl, Alkmena.
But Amphitryon, her husband,
Is her one and only lover.
In their piano-shaped construction
With facilities so modern,
Students in the school of music

There were those among his students
Who desired information;
So he printed publications,
And he spread them o'er the campus.
Spreading Haffinch's Word
Montana Kaimin

With Bill Jones as staff director, Kaimin issues this year featured Expose's of drumhead justice, And the battle of the budget.

Winnie Dinn with advertising Kept the books in running order, While advisor, Edward Dugan, Supervised the publication.
Copy, sports, and campus features—
All were handled by staff members.
For associates these duties
Were enhanced by constant teamwork.

Haffinch chose—to spread his story—
A tall lad known as “The Deacon,”
Driver of a Continental,
Who insisted on perfection.

To assist he picked another
Who was known by friends as “Koobie.”
’Twas her job to write the copy
And enhance the book with artwork.

Wohlgenant, Kay
Dirty girls you must not call them.
It's a fact that they're quite tidy.
For they put in many hours
Dusting their scholastic vessel.

Joyce Bonander and Jack Shanstrom

Sigma Phi Epsilon
Circle Bar X is their brand name,
Red and white—their label colors.
At their door hard times come knocking,
And they play the part of hoboes.

In their track meet decoration,
Theta Chis bid high school students
To enjoy the "movies" showing
The year round upon the campus.
Robert Hutchin makes a chess move,
While John Beam and Allen Patton
Plot their future lines of action,
Waiting for the call to chow line.
Though the students liked their studies,
It was known throughout the campus
That they needed some diversion—
Thus activities were founded.
Relaxing with Haffinch
Students yearning for more knowledge
And the high school educators
Spend their summer months in classes,
Conferences, and special workshops.

An intensive course in typing
Was conducted summer quarter.
Two world champions were featured
In the class and at a convo.
Here a methods course comprising
Element'ry science teachers
Takes a field trip up the mountain
To explore old Mother Nature.

High school journalism students
Hold a Pow Wow on the campus,
And a music camp's conducted
For the state's high school musicians.
Women's Center

In the first week of fall quarter
The new Women's Center building
For Home Ec and P.E. courses
Had its formal dedication.
Ringing out an older era
Was the bell from Main Hall tower.
Now it's mounted on a truck bed
And is rung in times of vict'ry.

The foundation for endowment
Had imported to the campus
Forty-seven bells from Holland
For a carillon memorial.
Dr. Kamiel Lefevere
Gave a dedication concert
Of the carillon memorial
To wind up Homecoming week-end.
Armed with buckets, brooms, and whitewash, Freshmen wandered up the mountain To enhance the M—their purpose, But they failed and did it over.

Kicking off Homecoming week-end At a rally round a bonfire Neophytes were aptly clobbered To become Kam and Dreg members.

At the start of each fall quarter A full week is dedicated To acquaint incoming freshmen With the students and the campus.

Jimmie Dick and Alan Goddard With Pat Koob will be remembered For their many varied take-offs In the show of shows, Homecoming.
At an annual celebration
The alums return to campus.
Talent shows, parades, and football
Are included in the week-end.

Mary Erickson was honored,
Winning the Homecoming queenship.

SAE's worked with the Kappas—
Took first place in the float contest.

Spurs and Bear Paws intermingled
With the floats, maintaining order.
Religious Emphasis Week

Dr. Koo, a well known scholar, During R. E. Week was featured In a special convocation Where he stressed man's common background.

Sadie Hawkins

Clad in Dog Patch type attire Eager females on the campus For one night switched date procedure, Entertaining L'il Abners.
New Hall girls made off with Bertha—
A new type of trophy stealing.
Foresters retaliated—
Changed their furniture arrangement.

Peppermint Prince

Donna Bailey, North Hall prexy,
Honors Hal Gillet and crowns him.
Prince of Peppermint's the title
Given him at this fall function.

Finals ended the fall quarter,
And for those who did survive them
Lay ahead the Yuletide season
And a leisurely vacation.
Housing more than six departments
Is the new Lib'ral Arts Building;
Quite elaborate in structure,
Its facilities are striking.

Dr. Merriam presided,
Introducing Dr. Jesse.
Mrs. Jesse made official
The new building's dedication.

Miss Photogenic

MSU each year produces
Bumper crops of queen material.
Paula Sutherland (with trophy)
Was this year's Miss Photogenic.
Music students were the sponsors
Of the Night Club Dance performance.
The Cafe Parisienne theme
Blended acting, lighting, music.

Dean of music, Dr. Richman,
To Gib Leibinger’s extending
Well deserved congratulations
For his most successful floor show.
Snow and winter hit the campus
Giving it a whitened beauty.
But so mild was this year's season,
Student picnics were quite frequent.
Campus queens here serve as judges in the foresters' beard contest.

LIFE photographers attended this year's ball to get some pictures which were published in a feature, gaining national attention.
Reigning o'er the ball was Bertha,
Who, though stolen, was recovered.

Though hard liquor was forbidden,
Still the ball had its bartenders.
Aquamaids display "Black Magic"

And Bev Herman sang the vocals
At an afternoon jam session.
For the schooling of some students
MSU’s just the beginning.
Thus Paul Hansen went to study
In Australia on a Fulbright.

Raising money for world service
WUS committees were successful
Featuring their Mile of Pennies,
Convo, dance, and Chinese Auction.
Aber Day

The spring holiday for students
Honors Daddy Aber's mem'ry.
Voting's held in the primary
To select the campus leaders.

M Club members patrol co-eds
And a barbecue is featured.
The day's worth remains a question
And it may be discontinued.
Sleepy Joe, played by Bob Potter,
Issues forth advice to “chilluns,”
While backstage, Pat Koob is wishing
She could join with the “non-sniffers.”

A five dollar bill is nestled
Down amidst the mess of flour.
The Greek prexies grapple for it,
As it might pay off the mortgage.
Aber morning is devoted
To a gen'ral all round cleanup,
While the students spend the p.m.
Putting litter back on campus.

Causing usual reactions
The Law School High Court officials
With Chief Justice C. J. Hansen
Levelled punishment on big wheels.
Sing on the Steps was founded
By a former prof named Sibley.
An award he had established
For promotion of traditions.

Ev'ry year the plaque is given
To the most deserving student.
Here Norm Anderson presents it
To Kay Hudson, this year's winner.

Indian Affairs Institute

Welfare workers and state leaders
Got together on the campus
To discuss affairs of Indians,
Holding workshops and discussions.

Arts and crafts and tribal dances
At the Institute were featured,
And the oval got a new look
As the camp site for the teepees.
With the coming of warm weather
Flathead Lake bid many students
Join in water recreation
And enjoy the outdoor beauty.

Although some disliked the water,
They were still subjected to it
In some most informal dunkings—
A new twist to the cold shower.
A retreat was held for leaders
To discuss their campus duties.
Lodge activities were mingled
With their meetings and discussions.

Harry James and Buddy Morrow
Plus Duke Ellington were featured
Through the year in guest engagements.
They gave concerts, played at dances.
Cavalleria Rusticana

Set in a Sicilian village
Tells the story of Santuzza
Who's in love with young Turiddu.

But Turiddu loves another—
Lola, wife of the mule driver;
So Santuzza then betrays him
To Alfio, Lola’s husband.

Alfio demands a duel.
Turiddu accepts the challenge,
Bidding farewell to his mother,
And his murder ends the op’ra.

Pagliacci is the story
Of a group of trav'lin' actors,
Who bring real life into acting—
Thus incorporate the tragic.

Canio, who heads the actors,
Has deep love for his wife Nedda,
But she proves to be unfaithful—
Has young Silvio for a lover.

Tonio learns of her secret
And in turn informs her husband.
Canio stabs the two lovers—
Thus, “The comedy is ended.”
The Ambassador van Roijen from the Netherlands was featured. Here with Richman he's inspecting our own carillon memorial.
Concert series this year featured Pianist Rudolph Firkusny, Garde Republican band members, Helen Traubel, and James Melton.

Mrs. A. McCarty, Glendive, And Cornelius Wall were honored At the annual Bus. Ad. banquet. Gen'ral Doolittle was the speaker.
Music practice house destruction
Drew a student cheering section
Who were glad to see its passing
Clear the way for newer buildings.
After much negotiation,
Workers started on construction
Of the Commons-Student Union
And the new Craig Hall addition.

While the band beat out the rhythm
For the weekly drill parading,
R.O.T.C. students graced the oval
Ev'ry Monday in the springtime.

Mary Erickson was chosen
As the Pershing Rifle Sweetheart.
Coed Colonel, Marcia Oechsli,
Headed Sponsor Corps maneuvers.
Track Meet

This year's Track Meet celebration
Brought about two thousand students
From the high schools of Montana
To compete in sports, speech, drama.

Soaring at 12 feet 2 inches,
Going o'er the pole vault standard,
Student Roger Hankins, Whitefish,
Won in Class B competition.

In an outdoor exhibition,
Royaleers displayed their dancing
For participants of Track Meet
At their picnic on the oval.
Sigma Nu won first place honors
In the frat house decorations
Picturing a western street scene
To attract the guests' attention.

With their three pigs decoration,
Bidding students to the campus,
Thetas were the first place winners
In the female Greek division.
Graduation Week included
Open houses and a banquet.
Dr. H. L. Foss was speaker
At the Baccalaureate service.

Prizes and awards were given
At a special convocation,
And the women all paraded
On the oval with their lanterns.
The activities for seniors
On June 7th were concluded
At Commencement in the Field House
When diplomas were awarded.
Mrs. Clapp, English professor, joined the staff in '37. Dr. C. H. Clapp, her husband, was fifth president on campus.

Commonweal, Frontier, and Parents. Her poetic works have published. She has actively directed Women's club work in Montana.

French professor, Dr. Hoffman, is a native of Ghent, Belgium. And since '21's been serving as an MSU staff member.

He taught privately at Harvard. Then in Michigan was chairman of the languages department. At Grand Rapids Junior College.

Chemistry department chairman and vice-president on campus. Dr. Jesse leaves his teaching to converse and for his gard'ning.

C. W. Leaphart

Law school dean since 1919. Harvard graduate, Dean Leaphart, guided for a one year period MSU administration.

He has worked with Civil Service—served in the Justice Department, and in '34 he headed the State Bar Association.
Retiring Professors

Seven MSU professors
After long-time terms of teaching
Bid farewell to their profession
Entering into retirement.

Departmental head of English,
Dr. Merriam, retires
After thirty years of service
To the "U" and all Montana.

Expert in Montana hist’ry,
Dr. Phillips first directed
Northwest history collections,
Managing the school’s museum.

Forestry dean and professor,
1906 graduate Spaulding
Was in charge of CCC work,
And for years pushed conservation.

Through his magazine, the Frontier,
MSU gained recognition.
Intellectual achievement
Was aroused by his endeavors.

Both an editor and author
Of accounts in his profession,
He’ll engage in further research
Studying the Northwest fur trade.

He served during the depression
On the board for re-employment,
And in ’32 was chosen
RFC administrator.

H. G. Merriam
Paul C. Phillips
Thomas C. Spaulding
Haffinch first originated
From the pen of G. M. Crutchfield,
Who in 1930 entered
MSU in journalism.

The philosopher was featured
Frequently in Kaimin issues
In the Parables of Haffinch,
Which displayed the author's humor.

Dr. Scheuch will be remembered
For his everlasting interest
In the youth, who were about him,
Whom he counseled and befriended.

"Prof" saw MSU's beginning
With the first administration,
And as V. P. he was acting
President on five occasions.

Campus leader Robert Struckman,
J-school assistant professor,
Was M.I.E.A. advisor
And of Sig Ep was a member.

Graduate in journalism,
For six years he taught in high schools,
Worked on the Montana Farmer,
And was active in the city.

G. M. Crutchfield
Frederick C. Scheuch
Robert P. Struckman
Alpha Phi Marlene McKinley,
Junior in the school of music,
Is remembered for her singing
Of “My Man” and other numbers.

While a soph’more she was active
As a Spur upon the campus,
Entered Alpha Lambda Delta,
And became a Mu Phi member.
Haffinch, looking o'er his story,
Saw that it was almost ended;
So he finished with an index
Interspersed with advertising.

Origin of Some Montana Names

Helena—According to the Helena Historical directory of 1879 the city of Helena was named by John Somerville for his former home of St. Helena, Minn. It was voted by the early citizens to drop the prefix, Saint.

Wibaux—The town was named for Pierre Wibaux, son of a wealthy Parisian silk manufacturer who settled in this area in the 80’s. In his heyday Pierre was the largest cattle operator in the world, owning as many as 65,000 head.

Bannack—This pioneer community was named after the Bannock Indian tribe and became Montana’s first city, a boom camp roaring with a population of thousands.

Missoula—The Garden City was named for the broad river that flows through the center of town. The river was named by the Indians, “Missoula” meaning sparkling water.

Three Forks—This town, steeped in historic lore and legend, gets its name from the convergence of the “three forks,” the Gallatin, Madison and Jefferson rivers.

Wolf Point—How it was named—great numbers of wolf pelts were stacked along the Missouri banks awaiting shipment on early-day steamboats to the St. Louis market.

Fort Benton—The name honors an early-day champion of fur interests, Sen. Thomas Benton of Missouri, and was so named in 1846 by the American Fur Company.

"Great-grandfather liked quality too..."

When the Pacific Northwest Indian chief wished to preserve a record, family or tribal, he went to a skilled craftsman and had him build a totem pole. This magnificently engraved pole symbolically told the history, folklore, or literature of the tribe. The chief was justly proud to have it stand in front of his lodge. Today, yearbook editors choose quality photo-engravings to record the events of the school year. To get the best possible results, they likewise turn to skilled craftsmen to help them build the yearbook. ARTCRAFT, with its "know-how," has been helping editors build better yearbooks for nearly half a century.

I wish to thank the following persons, groups and firms for their assistance in helping produce the 1954 Sentinel:

The members of my family for their interest, help and encouragement.

Pat Koob for all the Haffinch drawings and poetry appearing in the book, for the cover drawing, end sheet, color drawings and poetry in the opening section, opening section design, and the color scheme and blocks for the body of the book.

The copy for the whole book was written by Pat Koob in poetry form in trochaic verse as is found in Longfellow’s "Song of Hiawatha."

All Haffinch drawings and verses are original with Pat Koob who developed his likeness and personality in art and verse form as it appears in this book. The preliminary pen and ink portrayal of Haffinch was developed by Pat Koob and Wallace Norley.

Prose stories of Haffinch, recently reprinted in the Montana Kaimin from issues dating from the 1930's, are attributed to the late G. M. Crutchfield of Missoula, Harold Stearns of Harlowton, and other university students.

Wallace Norley for the preliminary cover design and opening section planning.

Dick Hosking and Chuck Bloom for their great effort and time spent on photography and darkroom work.

Pat and Deacon thank Wise Haffinch
For his vision and wise teachings.
Now he journeys up the mountain
To await a future calling.
