Dr. Ellis Waldron, professor of political science at Montana State University, has been appointed a Fellow in Law and Political Science in the Harvard University Law School for 1963-64, MSU President H. K. Newburn announced Monday.

Dr. Waldron is one of five professors selected from American colleges of arts and sciences for a year of legal study at Harvard, Dr. Newburn said. The Carnegie Corporation grants funds for the fellowships, which are designed to enrich law-related teaching and professional work.

The MSU political scientist has taught constitutional law, legislation, Montana government, and international law at the University since 1950. He served as dean of the Graduate School from 1957 to 1961. He has published books, special studies and articles on Montana governmental affairs and is currently conducting studies of urban planning in Montana for the Upper Midwest Economic Study.

Dr. Waldron is a 1936 graduate of Ohio State University, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. While earning M. A. and Ph. D. degrees in political science at the University of Wisconsin, he taught in that institution's Extension Division.

For several years he was a United Press staff correspondent in Columbus, Ohio, reporting on the Ohio political scene. He is a World War II veteran.
