Registration for the first five week period of the summer session at Montana State University was up 13.7% over last year, it was reported by Leo Smith, registrar, at the end of the first week of classes. The total was 1,566 including 852 men and 12 women.

Smith noted that with several important workshops yet to be held and with the expected influx of registrants for the second period, this summer's registration is likely to be the largest in MSU history.
