FOR RELEASE SUNDAY, JUNE 7

(PLEASE DO NOT RELEASE SIBLEY AWARD WINNER, SILENT SENTINEL MEMBERS, OR AWS HONOREES BEFORE 10 P. M. SATURDAY, JUNE 6)

The Very Rev. Anthony M. Brown, president of Carroll College, Helena, will be the speaker at the Montana State University baccalaureate service Sunday at 8 p. m. in the University Theater, according to Homer E. Anderson, commencement chairman.

Father Brown will speak to the class of 1964 on "Faith and Character in Higher Education." The educator is a native of Anaconda and the recipient of the first earned doctor of education degree granted by MSU.

Commencement activities that began Friday for more than 900 candidates for graduate and undergraduate degrees this year will culminate in the awarding of diplomas Monday at 2 p. m. in the Field House auditorium.

The baccalaureate service includes invocation and benediction by the Rev. James L. Sprigg of the First Baptist Church and a Scripture reading by the Rev. Richard A. Jones of the First Presbyterian Church. The organ processional and recessional will be played by Laurence Perry of the music faculty. The University Choir, directed by Joseph Mussulman, will sing.

Also scheduled Sunday are an art display and a museum exhibit in the Fine Arts building from 2 to 4 p. m., a concert by the University Choir and Symphonette in the Recital Hall at 3:30 p. m., and carillon music from Main Hall tower at 5 p. m.

At singing-on-the-steps Saturday the Robert Sibley award "for loyalty and contributions to University traditions" was presented to Jim Erickson, Power. The presentation was made by Rick Jones, Great Falls, immediate past president of the student body.

The SOS included introduction of new members of Silent Sentinel by Dr. Robert T. Turner, faculty adviser to the senior men's honorary. Men tapped for membership are Terry Barber, Denton; George Cole and Dan Foley, both of Laurel; Lester Hankinson and Stacy Swor, both of Kalispell; Jerry Harmon, Whitefish; Bob Liffing and Kermit Dale Schwanke, both of Missoula; Jerry McGahan, Livingston; Donald Pangburn, Lewistown, and Lusheke L. Rutagumirwa, Buroba, Tanganyika.

David Fuller, Helena, outgoing president of Silent Sentinel, presented a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Emma Lommasson, assistant registrar, for the help she has given the organization.

Graduates and their families who thronged the oval for SOS remained to witness the Associated Women Students' lantern parade in honor of senior women. Singled out for special recognition for "scholarship, leadership and service to the University" were Roberta Anderson, Missoula; Ann Minter, Milwaukee, Wis.; Delores Sager, Corvallis, and Ann Wolhowe, Miles City.

New AWS officers installed at lantern parade are Donalee Beary, Hardin, president; Sharron Lee, Miles City, vice president; Nancy Sasse, Wilsall, secretary, and Alice Lund, Williston, N. D., treasurer.

The colorful ceremony closed with "montana, My Montana," sung from Main Hall tower by Roberta Tarbox Frank, Missoula.
