Central Board met with the Student-Faculty Relations Committee to discuss the possibility of establishing closer coordination between students and faculty and to study some of the problems and "gripes" on the campus.

Dr. Howard, chairman of the Student-Faculty Relations Committee, said that that group feels there should be closer contact between students and faculty and that students should have an opportunity to express opinions and offer suggestions. The Student-Faculty Council was formed for that purpose a few years ago, but lacked the authority to secure action on its recommendations. At present there is no channel through which students can present complaints and suggestions.

After a brief discussion, the Board decided the need could best be met through a student council composed of class officers, who would meet regularly to discuss "gripes" and suggestions offered by members of their respective classes. This Council would then meet with a faculty committee to discuss the problems involved and refer recommendations to Central Board for follow-through. All students would be given the opportunity to present suggestions before the Council at any time.

It was suggested that the Council should take up the problem of securing better student and faculty cooperation for convocations and devise some means for improving the quality of convos and set a regular time which would not interfere with class schedules. Another project suggested for the Council's consideration was the Freshman Week program.

Dr. Howard stated that the faculty would be most willing to cooperate with any program which Central Board decides to sponsor, to bring about closer contact between students and faculty.

Meeting adjourned.
