a position

Matt Shears

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank/vol1/iss67/29

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in CutBank by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
a position

their closure began with beginnings an opening lying supine the table somewhat incomplete how the disaster did not carry its weight away how the light sought itself moving against every position the hole swallowed a boundary of small stars strung along a beach the wind severed its persistence a tide receding a direction linking placement with intention a shimmering non-entity a cloud where they moved into futures of grief a ground hollowed out a foundation which damaged a mouth caught in its flickering an elevation clearing into song one dreamed waking a blankness without morning the edges of sound coming apart outlines shorelines in mist lifting away promises impelled always the use of force the resistance it fed upon a space filled with no earth its earth without sky

MATT SHEARS