Journalism students at University of Montana will get $1,925 in awards

Follow this and additional works at: http://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases

Recommended Citation
University of Montana--Missoula. Office of University Relations, "Journalism students at University of Montana will get $1,925 in awards" (1967). University of Montana News Releases. 2504.
http://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases/2504
J STUDENTS AT UM
WILL GET $1,925 IN AWARDS

University of Montana journalism students will be awarded $1,925 in scholarships Friday night at the 11th annual Dean Stone Night.

The annual affair will begin at 6 p.m. in the UM Lodge. Dwight Sargent, curator of the Nieman Foundation, will be guest speaker.

The $400 Minneapolis Tribune Award will be given for the second year to an outstanding journalism student entering his senior year. The $300 Lee Newspapers of Montana Award is presented to a journalism student who has demonstrated scholarship and achievement and who plans to enter newspaper work. A second $300 grant, the Melvin and Myrtle Lord Award, is given to a journalism or radio-television student entering the junior, senior or graduate year on the basis of scholarship, probable professional success and probable difference the award will make in the life of the recipient.

The Guy Mooney Award of $250 is awarded on the basis of student integrity and scholarship. The $200 Great Falls Press Club Award is presented to a journalism student entering his junior year on the basis of professional achievement, scholarship and need. The Cable Television ETV Award of $150 is given to a radio-television or journalism major evidencing ability, initiative and special interest in educational television.

To be given this year for the second time, the $100 Montana Stockgrowers Association Award goes to a student in journalism who has a ranch or rural background and a good academic record. The $100 Robert Struckman Memorial Award is presented to a journalism student who exhibits outstanding initiative, enterprise or competence. The Olaf J. Bue Memorial Award of $25 goes to a journalism major for outstanding reporting.

In addition, outstanding students will be honored by Kappa Tau Alpha, national journalism scholastic society; Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism society.

The banquet is open to the public. Reservations are being accepted at the School of Journalism office.