OBJECTIVES

The course objective is to expose the student to the elements of business strategy in the context of both traditional and special situations, especially dealing with contemporary movements and events. Thus, the concepts of Social Responsibility, International Impacts, Corporate Turnaround & Restructure and Human Factors are examined together with exposure to a broad spectrum of the major thinkers and commentators in the field of business.

Course Components

There are five major components of the course in addition to the lectures and readings in the books Strategic Management Theory and Business and Society. The components and their final grade weights are as follows:

A. Team Project, Case Development and Study 30%
B. Author/Book Report 20%
C. Broad Issue Test, 2 of 3 Essay Questions, ½ Hour, Closed Book 25%
D. Last Session Test, ½ Hour Multiple Choice/Blanks, Content of Texts and Lectures, Closed Book 25%
E. Class Participation Extra Credit

Team Project

Teams will be assigned by the Instructor and given the name of a company with low performance characteristics in its industry. The team will analyze the firm and, as the first part of the assignment, develop a Case describing the circumstances. The second phase will be the development of a Strategic Plan for (hopefully dramatic) improvement of the firm’s performance. The assignment is turned in but not presented. Meetings will be held between the team and instructor to reflect on progress and what has been learned to that point. Confidential peer evaluations may be conducted.

Author/Book Report

An author or publication will be assigned to each student for the attached list. On the indicated date a one sheet, typed report, single spaced, 12 Font will be submitted. The report shall explain who the author is, the affiliation and general characteristics, e.g. conservative economist, strategist, originator of the theory of relativity, etc. Choose and explain the author’s views as exemplified by a book or articles. Close with one sentence explaining your impression or response.

The papers will be reproduced and a full set handed out to each student at a subsequent session, at which time a random selection will be made and the students involved shall provide a verbal summary of their findings. Quality of the paper submitted will count strongly in grading, and will include the originality of thinking and content as well as grammar and spelling.
