MISSOULA---

Registration for 11 courses offered by the University of Montana extension division will be next week on the Missoula campus.

The courses, being offered for a fee of $16 per credit, will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. All classes begin at 7 p.m. and end at either 9 or 10 p.m. Most instructors for the courses are University faculty members.

Registration is at the first class meeting of each course.

Departments participating in the extension program during winter quarter on the Missoula campus include art, education, English, health and physical education, history, microbiology and sociology.

Mary Margeret Courtney, director of the UM extension division, has further information on the course offerings.
