Estate Planning Course
Offered at U

Missoula---

A lawyer's short course emphasizing modern estate planning is among the programs to be offered during the University of Montana Summer Session. The two-part course will be from July 22-26 on the Missoula campus.

Lester R. Rusoff, professor of law at UM, and Wendell M. Basye, professor of law at the University of Oregon, will present the first part. Discussions will concern, trusts, wills, future interests, federal taxation and estate planning.

The second part of the course emphasizes practical problems in estate planning, choices among estate planning devices and the drafting of instruments. It will be presented by William J. Bowe, professor of law at the University of Colorado, and James F. Farr, member of a Boston law firm and author of several books on estate planning.

The program is part of Continuing Legal Education for Montana. It is cooperatively sponsored by the Montana Bar Association and the UM School of Law, under the direction of Robert E. Sullivan, law school dean.
