MISSOULA---

A Conference on Medical-Legal Problems, sponsored by the Montana Bar Association and the University of Montana School of Law, will convene Aug. 15-16 at the College of Great Falls.

The conference has been arranged in conjunction with the Big Sky Medical Pow Wow arranged by the Cascade County Medical Society (CCMS). Doctors and lawyers will meet jointly for evening addresses.

The two-day program includes a lecture on "The Official Investigation of Sudden, Suspicious and Violent Death," given by Milton Helpern, M.D., Chief Medical Examiner and chairman of the forensic medicine department, New York University School of Medicine, New York City. Addresses on "Psychiatry and the Law" and "Medical Cross Examination" also will be heard.

A mock examination of a medical expert witness is scheduled for Friday afternoon.

The conference is a part of Continuing Legal Education--Montana (CLEM) and is sponsored in cooperation with the Cascade County Medical Society and the Cascade County Bar Association.

Robert E. Sullivan, UM law school dean, is in charge of conference arrangements.
