MISSOULA--

A Kansas educator will discuss "Psychiatry and the Law" Friday (Aug. 16) during the two-day Conference on Medical-Legal Problems in Great Falls.

Dr. Donald C. Greaves, M.D., who is chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Kansas Medical Center, will discuss that topic beginning at 10 a.m. Friday in the McLaughlin Memorial Center (MMC) on the College of Great Falls campus.

The conference is sponsored by the Montana Bar Association and the University of Montana School of Law through a University program, "Continuing Legal Education--Montana."

The two-day meet gets under way at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the MMC with a program entitled "The Official Investigation of Sudden, Suspicious and Violent Death." Dr. Milton Helpern, M.D., chief medical examiner for New York City, will lead the opening discussion. He also will highlight the closing program of the conference at 8:30 p.m. Friday, "The Role of the Forensic Pathologists in the Administration of Justice."

Lawyers from throughout Montana are slated to attend the conference. Communities represented include Great Falls, Billings, Shelby, Bozeman and Missoula.
