MISSOULA---

First meeting of the Missoula Mendelssohn Club will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 23, in room 218 of the Music Building at the University of Montana.

Army Maj. Jerome L. Haupt, who is membership chairman for the Mendelssohn group, said that all interested men in Missoula and vicinity are invited and encouraged to participate in the club's music season, which ends in March.

The Mendelssohn Club will be under the direction of Dr. Joseph Mussulman, associate professor of music at UM. The group meets weekly.

Maj. Haupt said main purpose of the Mendelssohn organization is to provide "enjoyment through song" for members of the group, which will give three public performances next spring, one on campus and two in adjoining communities.

A Christmas television special has been scheduled and the group also will perform at local rest homes and hospitals.

Maj. Haupt said he expects about 50 men to participate in the singing club this season.
