MISSOULA--

Lt. Col. Keith Angwin, an Army officer for more than 25 years and the professor of military science at the University of Montana since 1965, retired Thursday (Oct. 31).

Col. Walter A. Pashley Jr. replaced Angwin as the UM professor of military science. Between 1956 and 1959 Pashley was assigned to Ft. Missoula as an artillery adviser for the Montana National Guard Armory.

A native of Coral Gables near Miami, Fla., Pashley has been in the Army for more than 26 years. He and wife live at Ft. Missoula. Their son, Richard, is a senior majoring in physics at the University of Colorado, Boulder. Mrs. Pashley is the former Jane Kraft of Washington, D.C.

Angwin, a native of Mountain View, Wyo., said he and his family will continue to live in Missoula at 600 Evans Ave. His wife is the former Dorothy Mae Long of Minneapolis, Minn. They have three children, John, 19; Yvonne, 18, and Mary, 8.

Angwin received his bachelor's degree in 1941 from the University of Wyoming and his master's degree from the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., in 1961.

Pashley received his bachelor's degree from The Citadel at Charleston, S.C., in 1943. He has served in Europe. Before returning to Missoula, Pashley served in Korea for a year as chief of the 8th Army Plans Division.

Pashley has been recipient of the Bronze Star, with two oak leaf clusters, and the Army Commendation Medal.
