FIVE AREA STUDENTS WIN SCHOLARSHIPS IN TESTING AT UM

MISSOULA---

Five high school students representing Missoula and Ravalli Counties have been awarded $100 scholarships to pursue teaching at any of the six units of the Montana University System.

The five winners and each of their alternates were selected on the basis of interviews and examinations conducted during the weekend at the University of Montana. Thirty senior students competed.

Winners from Missoula of the Montana Federation of Women's Clubs (District 2) scholarships were David C. Perry, Hellgate High School, and Terry Lynn Boyer, Sentinel High School. Cheryl Ann Johnson and Pauline M. Melvin, both of Hellgate, are the first and second alternates, respectively.

The Ravalli County Chapter of the Montana Education Association, in cooperation with the MEA Chapters in Corvallis and Hamilton, awarded scholarships to Deborah Joyce Clarke, Victor High School, and Kathryn Rae Lambert, Stevensville High School. First and second alternates, respectively, are Laurie Rhein, Stevensville High, and Linda Carol Dunbar, Corvallis High.

Recipient of a scholarship from the University of Montana chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, men's professional education fraternity, is Terry G. Sehestedt of Missoula, a Hellgate senior. Perry was named alternate for this scholarship.
Those administering the testing and interview program at UM included Elaine White, instructor and executive secretary in education; Dr. William G. Stoner, associate professor of education; Dr. George H. Millis and Dr. James J.R. Munro, professors of education; James W. Cox, assistant professor of chemistry and education; Dr. Linus J. Carleton, professor of education; Dr. Robert H. Jay, associate professor of education; N. Norman Jacobson, assistant professor of education; Dr. J. Francis Rummel, dean of the UM School of Education; Karl Bell, superintendent of schools in Missoula; Royal Barnell, director of instruction at Missoula County High School, and Mrs. Margaret Lockridge, Ravalli County superintendent of schools.
