French conversation course to be taught by native speaker at U of Montana

Follow this and additional works at: http://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases

Recommended Citation
http://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases/5127
MISSOULA--

An advanced course in French conversation will be offered to the public without credit during fall quarter at the University of Montana.

The course is under the auspices of the UM Office of Continuing Education, directed by Dr. James F. Hall.

Classes will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7-8:30 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Building, room 342. Classes begin Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. and will continue through Nov. 13.

The course is designed for those who have a basic knowledge of French but who wish to improve their pronunciation and conversational ability. Conversational topics will include aspects of French contemporary life.

Both registration and payment of $30 tuition may be completed at the first class session next Tuesday. Course text, available in the UM Bookstore, is France de Nos Jours by Charles Carlut and Germaine Bree.

Mrs. Laure Bier, a native of Toulouse, France, will conduct the course. She received her bachelor's degree in 1944 from the University of Toulouse. She has resided in Missoula for the last 14 years with her husband, Dr. Jesse Bier, a UM professor of English.

Keith A. McDuffie, chairman of the UM foreign languages department, and Mrs. Bier are course coordinators.

###