Leslie H. Brown, a former chief agriculturist in Kenya, East Africa, will give two seminars Monday at the University of Montana.

One seminar, which will be at noon in room 207 of the Health Science Building (HSB), will deal with the range management problems of Africa with special reference to wildlife versus domestic stock.

A second seminar headed by Brown is scheduled for 4 p.m. Monday in HSB 207. The second program will concern conservation problems in Ethiopia and in Africa in general.

Both programs are open to the public. Dr. Albert G. Canaris, acting chairman of the UM zoology department, and Dr. Ludwig G. Brownman, a UM zoology professor, are program coordinators. The two seminars are sponsored by the zoology department.
