Since it was chartered by the Third Legislative Assembly of Montana, February 17, 1893, the University of Montana has grown from an institution with 50 students and seven faculty members in 1895 to more than 6,000 students and 300 full-time instructional staff members in 1967. Fifty-nine percent of these faculty members hold doctoral degrees.

The University of Montana is fully accredited by the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools. The seven professional schools, including business administration, education, fine arts, forestry, journalism, law and pharmacy, are all accredited by appropriate national organizations.

More than 40 buildings are contained within the limits of the 116-acre main campus on the eastern edge of Missoula. The University owns an additional 624 acres on Mt. Sentinel. A short distance south of the main campus is a 154-acre area holding 394 married students housing units and a nine-hole golf course.

The University also owns 295 acres at Fort Missoula, plus 20,850 acres in the Lubrecht Experimental Forest, 35 miles northeast of Missoula and 167 acres on Flathead Lake, including a Biological Station at Yellow Bay, 90 miles north of Missoula.

Robert T. Pantzer was appointed President of the University of Montana on December 16, 1966 by the State Board of Regents, after he served as acting president since August 15, 1966.

A familiar figure on the Missoula campus, Pantzer has been associated with the University since 1957, serving as a professor of business administration and as financial vice-president.

He received his B.A. in business administration from UM in 1940 before serving 42 months overseas during World War II. He was discharged from the Army with the rank of major and a bronze star for meritorious service in the East Indies.

Following the war, Pantzer returned to graduate from the University of Montana law school in 1947 before serving as county attorney at Chester, Montana from 1947-50 and practicing law in Livingston, Montana until 1957.

Pantzer and his wife, the former Ann Prendergast, have three children.
ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Jack Swarthout is Montana’s new athletic director, and since assuming these duties as well as those of head football coach on February 1, 1967, he has taken a large step toward changing the athletic atmosphere at the University of Montana.

Swarthout, a native of Prosser, Washington, is well known in Montana sports circles. He came to the University of Montana and played football from 1940-42, seeing action at quarterback, halfback and end. His brother Bill was here at the same time, and the two played Grizzly football together for two of those three years. Bill Swarthout is now a high school administrator at Great Falls.

Swarthout was born February 23, 1920. He lettered in football, basketball and baseball in high school, and graduated from the University of Montana in 1942 with a bachelor’s degree in political science. He then served four years in the armed services as a lieutenant in the parachute infantry.

HEAD COACH

Ron Nord is starting his sixth year as head basketball coach at the University of Montana.

He came to Montana after being assistant coach at the University of Wisconsin, where he lettered for the Badgers in both basketball and football before graduating in 1950.

Nord’s main concern at Wisconsin was recruiting. He was chief scout and recruiter for three seasons and received much of the credit for Wisconsin’s rise in Big Ten Conference basketball circles. Since coming to Montana, he has recruited some outstanding individuals, but with the recent upswing in athletic emphasis at Montana, his opportunities for recruiting even more high calibre hardwood stars should expand. This year’s Grizzly team should already show signs of this trend.
THE STAFF

ASSISTANT COACH

Bob Cope, still the greatest scorer in University of Montana basketball history, is in his second season as the school's first full-time assistant basketball coach.

Cope scored 1,808 points in four varsity seasons from 1946-50, and brought 14 successful years of coaching at the high school, junior college and armed service levels back to Montana. His overall record as a head coach was 244-92.

At the end of his Montana career, Cope ranked 15th on the all-time collegiate career scoring ladder. He scored 701 points during the 1949-50 season for the school record and led Montana to a 27-4 record, the best in its history.

FRESHMAN COACHES

John (Doc) Holliday will be starting his second year as freshman basketball coach at the University of Montana. Last year, he coached the freshman Cubs to a 12-5 season record, with five members of that team moving onto the varsity this year.

Holliday starred for the University of Montana as a junior during the 1965-66 season, and now holds the record for the most points scored by a Grizzly in the Harry Adams Field House. He tallied 37 in a game against Chico State December 4, 1965.

Without a doubt one of the outstanding guards ever to play at Montana, Doc rolled up 428 points in 24 games with the 1965-66 contingent for a 17.8 average, hitting on 40.8 per cent of his field goal tries. He and Gary Peck formed one of the best backcourt teams in recent University history.

New on the UM campus this year, Del Carroll will work with Doc Holliday as freshman basketball coach.

A graduate student, Carroll comes to the University with a good collegiate and high school coaching background.

During the 1958-59 season, he coached varsity basketball at Eastern Washington State College. From 1961-64, he coached at Western Montana College, one year as varsity coach.

His latest assignment was as assistant basketball coach at Beaverhead County High School in Dillon from 1964-67 before coming back to Montana to do graduate work.

TRAINER

Familiar to most sports fans in the Rocky Mountain area is University of Montana trainer Naseby Rhinehart, now in his 33rd season as head trainer for University athletic teams.

Rhinehart began working as University trainer in 1935, following graduation from the Missoula school. Since that time, his hard work and drive have helped him build one of the finest, best-equipped training facilities in the nation today. Every University athlete receives the finest professional attention from Nase.

One of Montana's greatest all-time athletes, Nase won nine Grizzly letters, performing in football, basketball and track.

A lot of new faces, youth, and a tough schedule make any predictions on the 1967-68 Montana basketball team hard to come by.

Only four lettermen return from last year's 6-18 team which started out like a house on fire but went steadily downhill as the season progressed. These men will be joined by six sophomores and four junior college transfers, and from this 14-man squad coaches Ron Nord and Bob Cope hope to improve greatly on last year's disappointing record.

Three of the returning lettermen, 6-0 guard Rick Johnston, 6-6 center-forward Don Parsons, and 6-4 forward Greg Hanson were starters last year, and all three are seniors. They are expected to be pushed to maintain their starting positions.

The other returnee is 6-6 junior forward Steve Brown, who showed spots of promise as a soph last year, and finished the season ranked third in the Big Sky Conference in field goal percentage at .513, hitting on 39 of 76 attempts.

Parsons, Hanson and Johnston look like good bets for starting honors again this year. Parsons was the team's second best scorer last year, averaging 12.5 points per game, and was second in rebounding with 183. Johnston scored 10 points per game, ranking fourth, and Hanson was third with a 11.4 mark and was selected as the team's outstanding defensive man.

Nord and Cope feel their team will be able to run well this year, if forwards and centers can work on the boards. A lot of pressure will be on sophomore center Tom Jones, 6-8, and if he comes through, the Grizzlies could be in fine shape rebound-wise. If Jones doesn't work out, Nord will have to go with Don Parsons, possibly better as a forward.

Overall Grizzly size is better, with the team average at 6-4. Jones is tops at 6-8, with two at 6-6, two at 6-5, three at 6-4, two at 6-3, four at 6-2, and one at 6-0. This overall size should help Montana on the boards.

Leading the sophomore prospects are Jones, the Agather twins, Mark at 6-5 and Max at 6-4, and guard John Cheek, 6-2.

Other sophs counted on heavily are 6-2 guard Dave Gustafson and 6-3 forward-guard Ron Madeen, who has been a pleasant surprise after sitting out a year following freshman ball in 1965-66.

Heading the four new transfers, who average out at 6-3, is 6-4 guard Ron Moore of Northwest Community JC in Wyoming, expected to add scoring punch to the Grizzly offense, and 6-2 guard-forward Stan Yoder, a fine shooter outside who also vertical jumps 39 inches.

Expected to help are 6-5 forward-center Ray Dirindin of Northwest Community JC, and 6-3 guard Sid Rhinehart, son of Grizzly trainer Naseby Rhinehart, who spent one year at Columbia Basin JC.

At preseason time, the starting five looks like Parsons, Johnston, Hanson, Mark Agather and either Yoder or Moore, but with lots of time left until the opening game Dec. 2, Nord indicated that quite a battle could develop for first team honors.

MARK AGATHER, Forward
6-5, 195, So., Libby

Mark, twin brother of Max, developed an outstanding reputation as a high school basketball player for the Libby Loggers before coming to the University. At Libby, he was named to the All-Conference Second Team as a junior, then was named to the All-Conference and All-State first teams as a senior. As a Montana freshman last year, he was the leading scorer with 276 points and a 17.2 average, and the leading rebounder with 221.

Frosh 16 108-175 .617 60-80 .750 221 276 17.2

MAX AGATHER, Forward
6-4, 197, So., Libby

The Agather twins, Mark and Max, caused quite a stir in both high school and as freshmen at the University of Montana. Max, as a prepster, was, like his brother, second string All-Conference as a junior, and first team All-Conference as a senior, but had to settle for second team All-State his last year. As a freshman Cub last season, he was second in scoring with 209 points for a 12.3 average, and second in rebounding with 128, a 7.5 average.

Frosh 17 75-146 .513 59-72 .820 128 209 12.3

STEVE BROWN, Center-Forward
6-6, 180, Jr., Corvallis

Leading scorer for the freshmen two years ago, Steve also showed fine promise as a sophomore for the 1966-67 squad, in reserve and sometimes as a starter. Rangy, but strong, he has the ability and know-how to battle much bigger men under the boards. Steve can shoot well inside and out, and his flat, spinless shot can often drop when least expected.

Frosh 13 92-194 .474 59-78 .756 149 243 18.7
1966-67 22 56-130 .431 32-46 .696 66 144 6.5

JOHN CHEEK, Guard
6-1, 175, So., Anaconda

Actually sort of a surprise on last year's Cub team, the son of Anaconda Senior High School basketball coach John, Sr. was not a surprise addition to this year's varsity. An accurate outside shooter with quick moves and good dribbling ability, John, although not expected to start, should see plenty of work time as a reserve. As a high school player at Anaconda, he earned All-State honors as a senior.

RAY DIRINDIN, Forward-Center
6-5, 185, Jr., Lowell, Ind.

One of five junior college transfers added to the Grizzly roster this year, Ray brings a good basketball background to Missoula with him. As a high school player, he earned three letters, was captain senior year at Lowell High School, won the All-Sports Trophy at the school, and was honorable mention in the Calumet Conference. He won two letters at Northwest Community JC in Powell, Wyo.

DAVE GUSTAFSON, Guard
6-2, 178, So., Vaughn

Like John Cheek, Dave was a pleasant surprise as a frosh player last year. He wound up the season as the team's fifth leading scorer after a rather slow start. Also a javelin hurler for Harley Lewis' track squad, Gustafson, who played high school basketball at Simms High School, was All-District Class C as a senior and captain of his team both years.

Frosh 17 48-122 .393 51-59 .864 82 147 8.6

GREG HANSON, Forward
6-3, 210, Sr., Missoula

Probably one of the most outstanding student-athletes ever to hit the Montana campus, Greg is in his third and final year as a varsity performer for Coach Ron Nord. Greg finished third in scoring and rebounding last year, and is expected to have a great final effort. As a high school athlete, he was All-State second team as a junior, and All-State first team as a senior, as well as team co-captain. In college, he earned the Eaheart Memorial Award for defense as a sophomore and junior, won the KGVO Grizzly Den Leadership Award as a junior, the UM Grizzly Award as a junior.

RICK JOHNSTON, Guard
6-0, 165, Sr., Albuquerque, N.M.

In his final year as a Grizzly after transferring to Montana last year from New Mexico Military Institute, Rick seems a sure bet for starting honors. Although he is the shortest man on this year's team, he has great quickness, drives for the basket well, and is a good outside shooter. Coaches are counting heavily on a great performance from Johnston, who was last year's fourth leading scorer.

FRONT ROW, LEFT TO RIGHT—John Cheek, Dave Gust, Bob Sloan. BACK ROW, LEFT TO RIGHT—Ron Moore Agather, Max Agather, Ray Dirindin.

TOM JONES, Center
6-8, 210, So., Edina, Minn.

Biggest man on the Grizzly team, Jones showed good promise last year as a freshman after coming to Montana with a good high school background. At Morningside High in Edina, Jones earned All-Conference, All-District, All-Region and All-State honors as a senior, and then was the third leading rebounder and fourth leading scorer for the Cubs.

Frosh 17 69-149 .463 46-68 .677 126 184 10.8
RIO MADEEN, Forward
6-3, 190, So., Great Falls

Not even expected to try out after not turning out for last year's varsity after playing frosh ball in 1965-66, Ron put out with a good effort and cracked this year's squad. A rugged ball player and a good shooter outside and inside, Ron came to the University from Great Falls Public High School, where he was All-Division One second team as a senior, was named for honorable mention at the state tournament, and was voted to the Great Falls Tribune Coaches All-Conference second team.

PLAYER PROFILES

RON MOORE, Guard
6-4, 190, Jr., Indianapolis, Ind.

Another transfer addition this year, Ron stands an excellent chance of breaking into the starting five this year. Tall for a guard, he nevertheless displays outstanding mobility and quickness, plus being an outstanding outside shooter. At Decatur Central High in Indianapolis, he led the city and county in scoring, holds the single game scoring record in the county with 56 points, was All-County, All-Conference, honorable mention All-State, captain, Most Valuable Player, and winner of the Field Goal Trophy. At junior college (Northwest Community, Wyo.), he was All-Conference and got honorable mention at the national JC tourney last year.

DON PARSONS, Forward
6-6, 215, Sr., Richland, Wash.

Don, like Rick Johnston, is in his second year after transferring as a junior. He has a rather unusual background, since he didn't play any high school basketball before going to Columbia Basin Junior College, where he was the leading scorer in the league, made the Northwest JC first team, was Most Valuable Player, first team All-Conference, and first team All-State. As a junior at Montana, he was the second leading scorer and rebounder, and got All-Big Sky honorable mention. Coaches expect him to have a great year.

1966-67 ------------ 24 122-262 .466 56-78 .719 183 300 12.5

SID RHINEHART, Guard-Forward
6-3, 205, So., Missoula

Sid, son of Montana trainer Naseby Rhinehart, came back to Missoula after one year at Columbia Basin Junior College in Pasco, Wash., the same school Don Parsons attended. As a high school player at Missoula Helgate, Sid was named to the All-State first team as a senior. Big, strong and fast, with good outside shooting ability, Sid is expected to develop into a strong prospect with a little more experience. He was considered an outstanding prospect out of high school.

STAN YODER, Forward
6-2, 170, Jr., Fort Wayne, Ind.

The final junior college transfer on the Grizzly roster this year, Stan is expected to fight it out with Ron Moore for a starting slot, and the battle should be a great one. At Southside High in Fort Wayne, he was named to the All-City team and got All-State honorable mention. At Casper Junior College, Wyo., he was on the All-Conference team and was on the All-Regional JC Tournament team. A good shooter, his greatest asset, perhaps, is his jumping ability. Stan has recorded an amazing 39-inch vertical jump.

ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY
(Dec. 2 at Normal)

GENERAL INFORMATION

REDBIRD OUTLOOK

Illinois State is armed with four returning starters who led the Redbirds to a fourth place national finish last season. The Runnin’ Redbirds upset the nation’s third-ranked college division team, San Diego State, in three overtimes in the opening round of the NCAA tourney. Earlier, they had won their first NCAA Midwest Regional title, upsetting Louisiana Tech. Back are a trio of seniors headed for their third year as starters, and a junior center who took over the center post at mid-season last year. Coach Jim Collie, beginning his 11th season at Illinois State, had more than half a dozen candidates for the remaining forward position vacated by Don Feek.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY
(Dec. 4 at Marquette)

GENERAL INFORMATION

WILDCAT OUTLOOK

Coach Stan Albeck has six lettermen and two non-letter veterans returning from last year’s team, and all six held a starting position at some time during the 1966-67 season. To go with the experienced players will be a promising group of recruits, all freshmen. Northern opens the season Dec. 2 against NCAA runnerup Dayton on the road. Other major foes include Bradley, Purdue and NIT defending champion Southern Illinois, all on the road. In addition, the Cats face strong small college opponents North Dakota State, Lamar Tech, Pan American and North Dakota. Northern will also be making its first tourney appearance in several years.

VIKING OUTLOOK

New head coach Ed Stevens, who comes to Augie after being assistant coach at Nebraska, is taking over a ball club which returns three starters from last year. John Eggers, 6-5, Bob Floyd, 6-2, and Bill Squires, 6-5, were the leading scorers and rebounders on last year's team. Gary Baumann, a transfer from Glendive Junior College in Montana, will give the team strength at guard, after being 13th among JC scorers nationally last year. Other help will come from Roy Teas, 6-3, a good shooter, and Mike Backer, 6-2, a swing man who can play both forward and guard because of his ability to shoot and rebound.

WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY

GENERAL INFORMATION

COUGAR OUTLOOK

Washington State should be one of the strongest teams on the Pacific Coast this winter. The Cougars return four of their five starters from the 1966-67 squad that finished second in the Pacific Eight behind U.C.L.A., and have 10 lettermen overall. Top players are Jim McKean, 6-9 center, who was a District 8 NCAA All-America choice last year; forward Ted Wierman, 6-8 and 235 pounds, and guards Ray Stein and Lenny Allen, perhaps the fastest backcourt duo in the nation last year. Best up from the 20-1 frosh team are forward Gary Elliott, 6-6, and guards Rick Erickson, 6-0, and Steve Orme, 6-2.

FRESNO STATE COLLEGE

BULLDOG OUTLOOK

What are the chances for Fresno State College winning the California Collegiate Athletic Association crown in 1967-68? "If we can get the right people to strengthen the front line positions, we will be a contender for the title," says Coach Ed Gregory. He pointed out that rebounding was the weak point of last year's squad. "If we are able to pick up a few key junior college transfers to strengthen the front line and get a little better rebounding, we will be tough," said Gregory.

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY

(Dec. 28-29 at Evansville Classic)

GENERAL INFORMATION

Location: Tallahassee, Florida. Enrollment: 15,700.

SEMINOLE OUTLOOK

Coach Hugh Durham, in his second year as head coach at Florida State, sees vast improvement in this year's Seminole cagers. Five lettermen return including the second highest scorer on last season's 11-15 club, guard Jeff Hogan. However, the big help will come from a freshman group which had a 17-2 mark. Headlining the newcomers are center Dave Cowens, forward Larry Moore and guard Randy Cable. Cowens, 6-9, averaged 20 rebounds for last year's frosh while Moore had a 25 point average, five more than Cable. Durham will switch from the "shuffle" offense this season and go with the fast break. He feels he has enough speed to use a pressing defense. Morrison, a high school All-America at St. Petersburg, returns for his senior year and it should be his best. Presently, last season's starting center, Dick Danford, 6-10, will back up Cowens.

GENERAL INFORMATION
Assistant Coach: John Guthrie. Sports Information Director: Jack Zane.
Team Nickname: Colonials. Colors: Buff and Blue.

COLONIAL OUTLOOK
Coach Wayne Dobbs, in his first year at George Washington, inherits a squad that includes only four men back from last year and four candidates up from the freshman squad. Dobbs recruited three junior college transfers to round out the 11-man squad. Mickey Sullivan, 6-4 forward, appeared in all 24 games last year as the number six man on the squad. All five starters graduated. Sullivan and 5-11 sophomore guard Bob Dennis are the only two assured of starting roles. Roger Strong, 6-5, from Wesley JC and Detroit, Michigan, is a top center candidate with Wayne Wedemeyer, 6-5, from San Jacinto JC and Houston, Texas a top candidate at forward. Steve Loveless, Boise, Idaho JC, should join Dennis in the backcourt. Francis Mooney, a 6-8 letterman, could start at center if he withstands the challenge of Strong.

WEBER STATE COLLEGE
(Jan. 5-6 at Ogden, Utah; March 4 at Missoula)

GENERAL INFORMATION

WILDCAT OUTLOOK
Seven lettermen return for the 67-68 Weber State basketball season, but only two of them can be classified as regulars. Center Dan Sparks, 6-8, who led the team in scoring with 381 points (15.2) and an 11.4 rebound average is back to lead the club. Nolan Archibald, 6-5, also with a 15.2 average, returns but saw limited action at the tail end of last season. Forward Larry Bergh, 6-7, forward Ted Bryant, 6-7, forward Gary Strong, 6-6, guard Monte Vre-Non, 6-3, and guard Roger Reid, 5-10, all started at one time or another during the last season. Bergh was the most consistent starter. The Wildcats lost two men off last year's team.

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY
(Jan. 8 at Pocatello; March 1-2 at Missoula)

GENERAL INFORMATION

BENGAL OUTLOOK
This could be the finest year for ISU basketball since 1962, when the Bengals were 17-9. Coach Claude Retherford greets four starters from his fast-finishing 66-67 squad that won seven of its last nine games. Coach Retherford does not want the favorite's mantle. Heading the returnees are two All-Conference performers who are candidates for national honors this year. Ron Boone, who averaged 22.3 points last year, is two inches taller this year at 6-3. At 6-5 is forward Charles Parks, who averaged 19.2 points per game. Retherford is actually set at four positions, but the fifth is wide open.

GONZAGA UNIVERSITY
(Jan. 12-13 at Missoula; Feb. 26 at Spokane)

GENERAL INFORMATION

BULLDOG OUTLOOK
After tying for the Big Sky title last year and posting their best record, 21-6, under Hank Anderson, the Bulldogs are in a building year. Anderson has promised the toughest training season in his 17 years at Gonzaga, and he's delivering it. He will be depending upon four junior college transfers and sophomore promotions to replace the entire varsity frontcourt that he graduated last year. The big transfers are Bill Berger, 6-7; Ron Carlin 6-5; Steve Blaser, 6-4, and Howard Burford, 6-8. Burford is eligible second semester and is a sophomore. Joe McNair, 6-5, is the team's outstanding sophomore. He led his freshman team in scoring a 17.8 average, with 12 rebounds per game. He is a center-forward.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO
(Jan. 15 at Missoula; Feb. 23-24 at Moscow)

GENERAL INFORMATION
Location: Moscow, Idaho. Enrollment: 6,100.

VANDAL OUTLOOK
Lack of enough height worries Coach Anderson, and inexperience on the part of sophomores and lettermen who played just enough but did not figure as regularly last season. If Kaschmitter and Brown can handle the boards and the team can play defense, the Vandals will have a competitive team and should give a good account of themselves. Thacker and Christiansen should help quite a bit and Day and Noice will be good shooters. Waddell is a fine shot from outside. Both Thacker and Christiansen are JC transfers, Thacker a 5-11 junior guard and Christiansen a 6-5 junior forward.

BOBCAT OUTLOOK

Nobody is coming right out and saying it but the feeling on the Montana State campus is that the Bobcat basketball team is close to something big. There are enough valid reasons for optimism that Coach Roger Craft isn't trying to discourage such positive thinking, even if it puts him on a spot this winter. Craft, who led the Bobcats for the past five seasons, has been quietly corralling excellent talent to go with some good holdovers from last year's team which won the Big Sky championship. He knows what veterans Jack Gillespie, Greg Harris and Warren Daniels can do; but he can hardly wait to see how they blend with a half dozen choice junior college transfers and three youngsters up from the frosh.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON
(Jan. 27 at Seattle; Feb. 3 at Missoula)

GENERAL INFORMATION

Location: Seattle, Washington. Enrollment: 30,000.

HUSKY OUTLOOK

This year's outlook takes on a different complexion in one respect: the Huskies lost high-scoring center Gordy Harris. In effect, it would be reasonable to assert that the success of the team next season will depend heavily on the efforts to replace Harris with a reasonable facsimile. Unfortunately, there is no immediate replacement for the 6-10 pivot man, but there is help in other spots and a wealth of depth which could carry Washington to its finest basketball season in the past five or six years. Eight lettermen return, including three starters from last season: forward Dave Carr and guards Doug Westlake and Rick Slettedahl.

PHILLIPS 66 OILERS
(Feb. 5 at Missoula)

GENERAL INFORMATION

66ERS OUTLOOK
Coach Gary Thompson has lost all but five players off last year's Phillips squad including the leading scorer and the top rebounder. This loss in personnel could particularly effect the relatively inexperienced 66ers in their early games. As the season progresses, however, the 66ers could develop rapidly if they do not suffer too greatly from a lack of height which they hope to counter-balance with greater speed. The five returnees should give Thompson a sound nucleus to rebuild around. Supplementing the squad is a fine crop of rookies which includes Mickey Wittman (U of Miami), Gil Radday (St. Francis, Brooklyn), Tom Storm (Montana State), Mike Frink (Colorado), Jimmy Rose (Georgia Southern), and Ron Peyser (Indiana).

WINTER OUTLOOKS

SKIING

COACH GARY NELSON

"This year's team looks like it could be the strongest in University of Montana history."

That's how new ski coach Gary Nelson looks at the upcoming skiing season for the Grizzly skiers.

Nelson says he has four returning lettermen this year, coupled with some promising and impressive freshmen. There is only one senior on the entire squad.

He also says it will be the first year that the University has ever been manned to enter a complete four-way team—that is, to be able to compete in slalom, giant slalom, jumping and cross country, with specialists in each event.

WRESTLING

COACH GENE DAVIS

Facing one of the roughest schedules in University history, Coach Gene Davis, a Missoula native who was an NCAA national champion as a junior at Oklahoma State University, hopes to build a 16-man squad with only three seniors into a Big Sky Conference contender.

Davis has two Big Sky champions from last year, plus three others who placed at the conference meet, back to try again this year. But youth may present a problem, because nine of the 16 wrestlers are sophomores.

Top returnees are senior Bill Gilboe of Great Falls, last year's Big Sky champion in the 191-pound class, and junior Roy Harrison, last year's title winner in the 130-pound class.

Gilboe will stay at 191 pounds this year, while Harrison will jump to the 137-pound division.

Other conference place winners back are sophomores Bobby Williams, second at 115 pounds; junior Dan McDonnell, fourth at 123 pounds, and Terry Hamilton, fifth at 145 pounds.

SWIMMING

COACH FRED STETSON

The 1968 University of Montana swimming team will be after its third consecutive Big Sky Conference Championship this year, but Coach Fred Stetson, 1967 Coach of the Year, is as usual not overly optimistic about the team's chances of repeating.

"We came through in some clutch situations last year, and we've got a few good boys back from the championship squad," Stetson says.

Returning from last year are three members of the record-breaking foursome in the 400-yard medley relay, John Williamson, Phil Foley and Willard Anderson. Williamson will also be defending his titles in the 200- and 100-yard butterfly events.

Also returning are three of four from Montana's record-breaking 800-yard freestyle relay squad, Terry Stegner, Les Bramblett, and Anderson. Anderson will be defending his first place in the 200-yard freestyle event.
