O. E. "Babe" Hollingbery is now in his sixth year as director of the Washington State gridiron destinies. He has always been a hard worker at the Cougar school and is regarded with the highest esteem. Montana students and fans are always pleased to know that the Cougars under Hollingbery are on the home schedule. He has always brought to Dornblaser Field a fine squad of sportsmen. A brilliant record has been made by Coach Hollingbery at Washington State. In a total of 51 games played thus far under his coaching, the Cougars have won 37, tied 2 and lost 12. Last year he brought the first Pacific Coast championship to Washington State College.
Coach

"Bunny" Oakes

Montana State University

B. F. "Bunny" Oakes is now in his first year as mentor of Montana football. He is a deep student of athletics and physical education. Football is his major hobby but he likes swimming, wrestling, and other sports. He is a coach who demonstrated on the field what he desires his men to do. Coach Oakes brings a vivid style of play to Montana. He is an exponent of the Illinois system as tutored by Robert Zuppke. He comes well experienced to the ranks of the Pacific Coast conference after positions at the Universities of Tennessee and Nebraska. The students are behind him with that true "Montana Spirit."
The Grizzly Is Host to the Cougar

When the Washington State Cougars march onto Dornblaser field today they will be prepared to defend a string of victories that has been broken but once in the history of football relations with the Montana Grizzlies which started twenty-eight years ago.

Today's contest marks the eighteenth game to be played between the two institutions since their first meeting in 1913. Not since 1914 when the Grizzlies handed the Cougars a 10 to 0 beating has the Washington State team tasted defeat at the hands of Montana. Two years ago on Dornblaser field the Cougar was given a scare on the opening kickoff when Jimmy Morrow, Grizzly quarterback, returned the ball to the W. S. C. five-yard line. The game was hard fought throughout and although Montana gained more yardage from scrimmage in the contest, the sensational ball carrying of Schwartz, Washington State star back, brought a 13 to 0 victory to the Cougars.

Last year the Cougars handed the Grizzlies a stingning 61 to 0 defeat, the worst ever suffered in the history of the two schools, relations, and then marched on to a Pacific Coast championship and the right to represent the west in the Tournament of the Roses game at Pasadena.

The Crimson and Gray, coached by Orin (Babe) Hollingbery, point with pride to his record since his advent as mentor five years ago. Since then the Cougars have not only won a Pacific Coast championship in the history of the two schools, relations, and the right to represent the west in the Tournament of the Roses game at Pasadena.

The outstanding feature of the Missoula boys is that they are meeting the Cougars today under a new coaching regime following five years under Major Frank Milburn. The new Grizzly mentor is Bernard F. (Bunny) Oakes, and his assistants are Harry Adams, backfield coach; J. W. Stewart, line coach; A. J. Lewandowski, freshman coach; Ted Rule and Ted Mellinger, former Grizzly stars, assistants. Bunny came to Montana this year from the University of Nebraska with an enviable football record. He has served with teams in France during World War and upon his return enrolled at the University of Illinois. After graduation he went to the University of Tennessee as head line coach. In 1926 he resigned to take the same position at the University of Nebraska where he remained until this year.

Oakes faced the prospect of the loss of nine lettermen by graduation and in addition was found with the necessity of adapting his men to a new style of play when he took over the reins this year.

Today's contest will be the last appearance of the Grizzlies at home this year and when the wearers of Copper, Silver and Gold file off the field today it will mark the last appearance on Dornblaser of six regulars. They are Murray, Cox, McCarthy, LeRoux, Ryan and Peterson. These Grizzlies will be fighting hard to take with them the pelt of the Cougar.

It was at such a contest as the one today that the three lettermen in football wound up their college careers last year to give their Coach, Frank Milburn, a win as a parting gift as a windup to a successful season. Let us hope that the gun ending the game today will sound another victory for these outgoing men, and a first Pacific Coast conference win for Bunny Oakes. The students are sold on Bunny; he will make history for Montana.

Montana Songs and Yells

WHISTLE BOOM

When ball is kicked off Long Whistle until ball hits, then a big BOOM! RAH!!

UP WITH MONTANA, DOWN WITH FOE

| Up with Montana, boys, down with the foe,                 |
| Old Montana’s out for a victory;                          |
| She’ll shoot her backs around the foremen’s line,        |
| A hot time is coming up now, brother mine;                |
| With Montana, boys, down with the foe,                   |
| Good old Grizzly will triumph today,                      |
| And the squeal of the pig will float on the air          |
| From the tummy of the Grizzly Bear.                      |

SONG OF A GAMBOLEER

| Oh, here’s to old Montana, boys, where the color of blood is red. |
| For the Varsity we’ll rise up in our coffins when we’re dead,    |
| And when we pass the Golden Gates we’ll give St. Peter the cue |
| And we’ll join in the rollicking chorus, to hell with the Aggie blue! |

CHORUS

| I’m a son of a, son of a, son of a, son of a gamboleeer,        |
| Son of a, son of a, son of a, son of a gamboleeer,             |
| Like every honest fellow, I drink my whisky clear,             |
| I’m a student at Montana, and a son of a gun for beer.         |

| If I had a dollar and a gallon of gasoline,                   |
| I’d hie me up to Stevensville and buy a keg of stein.        |
| I’d drink to the Varsity so loyal and so true,                |
| And join the rollicking chorus, to hell with the Aggie blue! |

| Now if I had a daughter, boys, I’d dress her up in green,     |
| And send her over to Bozeman to coach the Aggie team;         |
| And if I had a handsome son, I tell you what he’d do.         |
| He would root for old Montana like his daddy used to do.     |

THE WARRIORS

| Hi Yi Hi Yi Hi Yi Hi Yi.                                     |
| Hi Yi, Hi Yi Yi,                                            |
| Hi Yi, Hi Yi Yi!                                            |
| With the thrumming drums,                                  |
| Like a chief Montana comes,                                |
| Wearing as an ensign bold,                                 |
| Copper, Silver, Gold!                                      |
| Hi Yi, the beating drums,                                  |
| Tell big chief Montana comes,                              |
| Hi Yi, the trumpets flare,                                 |
| Says big chief Montana’s here.                             |
| Hi Yi Yi Yi Hi Yi Yi.                                      |
| Yo Ho Ho Ho! Ya! Who? Who?                                  |
| Hi Yi, Yo Ho Ha Ha Ha,                                     |
| Montana, Montana!                                          |

YOU’RE NOT A GRIZZLY UNTIL YOU KNOW THE SONGS

MONTANA FIGHT

| Hail, Copper, Silver, Gold,                                |
| Home by our warriors bold;                                |
| ’Tis the flag of the Grizzly Bear.                        |
| See those Bruins tearing their way down the field;         |
| We know they never will yield, Montana;                   |
| On we’l go and trample down the foe.                       |
| Let’s go Montana, we love the fray,                       |
| The Grizzly fight, fight, fight will bring victory,       |
| Let’s go, Montana, we’ll win today.                        |

W. S. C. SCHOOL SONG

FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT for Washington State, Win the Victory.

WIN the day for Crimson and Grey, Best in the west, we know you’ll all do your best.

So on, on, on, on, fight to the end, Honor and glory you must win.

So flight, flight, fight for Washington State and Victory.

GRIZZLY BAND—Not a little of the colorful panorama will be supplied by the Grizzly Band today decked out in their flashy tri-colored uniforms of copper, silver and gold.

The tall gentleman with the high fuzzy topper serving in the capacity of drum major is Sergeant Peterson, “Sarge” to the boys, and he is responsible for drilling the men and is in command while on parade.

The Band will feature the Washington State college school song and the words to the music may be found in this program on the page devoted to songs and yells. As another speciality of today’s contest, the Grizzly musicians will march out on the gridiron and form an “M” and a “W” symbolic of the two schools.

Professor Roy Freeburg, director, has just returned to Montana from his sabbatical leave and he brought with him a complete series of new numbers which he is featuring today and on October 31, the date of the Grizzly-Bobcat game at Butte next Saturday. Freeburg is aided by George Bovingdon, assistant instructor, and Vernon Hoven, manager. While Freeburg was on leave of absence last year Bovingdon had complete charge of the band.

At the Butte game the boys will again perform in competition with the Bobcat Band with brilliant formations and maneuvers.

BEAR PAWS—Between halves the Bear Paws, sophomore honorary service organization, will tap new members of the class of 1934. This organization has held a place of prominence on Montana’s campus since its inception in 1920.

The new men are elected each year by the organization to carry on the work of reforming freshmen, enforcing traditions and officiating at University functions. Dick Fox, Grizzly triple-threat quarterback, is chief Grizzly and several other men in the organization are on the squad.

Notice how the boys, after working out on Green Material all fall, TAP the new men.

COUGAR’S GUARD—An organization at Washington State college which somewhat parallels that of the Bear Paws is the Cougar’s Guard.

This group of men is made up of three representatives from each fraternity, dormitory and the Independents. Two new men are taken in each year to represent each of the various organizations and one man of the previous year is retained.

They do not do any disciplining on the campus, which is left to the men of the Grey “W” who carry the paddles, but they have charge of the rallies and taking care of crowds at athletic contests.

YELL KING AND YELL DUDES—Billie “Keener” Burke, Yell King, and his assistant Yell Dukes, Dick O’Malley, Roy Woods and Scotty Stratton, have full charge of the program and cheering section. It is their wish and hope that all the spectators use their cheering apparatus to the utmost and give both elevens real support.

Yell King Burke has supplied all the students with mimeographed copies of popular Montana songs and yells to be used in case of a lapse of memory at a crucial moment.

SIGMA MU CHI—The Short Men’s Club, which was recently organized, is working with the Yell leaders and they have pledged their support. The group’s membership is limited to 35 men and all fraternities are represented as well as the Independents.

All of the field decorations were done by this group. “Smex,” the little brown mascot of the Grizzlies, will be christened today and President C. H. Clapp will officiate. “Smex” came down from Stevensville a short time ago to finish the season with the Grizzlies. He looks restless out there today but he is always like that during the game.

The club was organized this fall by President Milton “Trader” Horn, former Washington State college student, and it is their plan to promote school spirit on the Montana campus.

FROSH SQUAD—Seventy-four men turned out on October 1, for practice under the tutelage of A. J. Lewandowski, freshman coach. “Lew” came to Montana this fall from the Cornhusker school and is assisting Coach Bunny Oakes.

He has been putting the yearlings through a stiff workout since the beginning of the season and lately the youngsters have been given the opportunity of a nightly battle with the Varsity. Some of the men show fine work and will make excellent Varsity material next fall. Their “big game” with the Bobkittens is scheduled for November 7, to be played at Bozeman and there is no doubt but what they will more than hold their own with the future Aggie stars. Due to the fact that Lew played with the Nebraska squad and is thoroughly familiar with the Cornhusker tactics, the yearlings should have a good insight on Oakes’ methods when they come before him next fall.
The Grizzly-Bobcat Game Is Next

Next Saturday will bring together many great teams of the country in struggles likely to be famous, but Montana grid followers will have interest only for that colorful classic of the state, the Grizzly-Bobcat fray.

For the thirty-fourth time the Aggie feline will come primed for a supreme effort to stop the victorious charges of the Grizzly. With sharpened claws and a new trainer, the Grizzly will march from his western lair, determined that Montana State will fall before the same fierce attack that has forestalled them for many past seasons.

The State College is waiting for this athletic engagement, which it considers the most important on this year’s schedule. Still enthused over the first victory in 21 years, when in 1929 he nosed out the heavily favored Grizzly, 14-12, the Bobcat is being fed raw meat in hopes of opening the wound received by the Grizzly two years ago.

But while the Cat is prowling, the Grizzly will not be at rest. The Grizzly knows he must be alert and ready for to encounter his enemy. It was after a year of hibernation because of the disgrace of defeat that the Grizzly came from his den to trounce his old rival 13-6.

Reports from the Dyche camp this fall bring the news that the State College forces have “pointed” for the Bobcat-Grizzly game since they went in training.

The fact that the Aggies have bowed before the Gonzaga Bulldogs 38-0, the Wyoming Cowboys 32-16, and tied St. Mary’s College of Winona, Minn., has no bearing on the game next Saturday. In fact, a glance through the pages of history shows that while the State College has mussed the Grizzly den but few occasions, the annual clash has always been bitterly fought.

On the other hand, up to the present game, the Grizzlies have failed to win a victory this season having opened the season with the first defeat in the history of the State University at the hands of the St. Charles 2-0. Later the Washington Huskies turned back Montana 25-0 and two weeks ago our neighbor rivals, of the Pacific coast, the Idaho Vandals, saved the game with a 21-19 victory.

There is no means of comparative scores for the game at Butte. Neither school has won a game this season. However, the Grizzlies’ showing against Idaho two weeks ago has brought great hopes to Oakes’ camp.

The Grizzly will master the Bobcat this year. That much is certain because no Grizzly wants to take a second defeat from a state foe the same season. Then, too, Bunny Oakes deserves a winning start when pitted against the ancient state rival.

Since the game between the two rivals shifted to Butte, the Grizzlies have been on the short end of the odds. In 1926 the Aggies were overwhelming favorites only to have Wild Bill Kelly run through the entire team for four touchdowns and a 28-0 triumph.

The Bobcats have not yet recovered from that last minute score by Coyle, in 1927, when the speedy Grizzly end leaped into the air to take a pass from Eddie Chinske before stepping over the goal line to kill the Bobcats’ winning hopes.

The following year the Bozemanites were again favored to win with one of the strongest aggregations in the history of the agricultural school but the end of the final quarter found the game at a deadlock, 0-0. That was the year the Bobcats had such stars as Defrate, Penfield, Preston, Wylie, Breeden, Semingsen, Grady and Chez.

Then in 1929 came the crash. After 20 years of supremacy, the Grizzlies were forced to take the short end of the 14-12 count. It was the year that the State University put a strong lineup on the field. Worthington and Twilde played leading roles for the Bobcats. A pass from Defrate to Worthington brought the first touchdown, Twilde kicking the extra point. Worthington scored the second touchdown on a trick play and Twilde booted the extra point. Montana’s two encounters came when Carpenter and W. Ekegren slipped through the Cat’s line.

Last year the Bobcats’ hopes of adding another victory were shattered when Carpenter and W. Ekegren led an attack to bring a final score 13-6. McFarland, Bobcat end, caught a pass for the only marker for the State College.

Under the tutelage of Shubert Dyche, the Bobcats have always put a strong team before the Grizzly eleven. Since taking over the duties as head of the State College athletic system in 1928, he has earned the reputation of a football strategist and has had marked success.

Coach Oakes is moulding an eleven this season that will present a different system than the Bobcats have encountered before, a system that bids well to emulate the feats of the Pacific Coast schools, although it looks that his big season will not be this year. Inexperience will probably prove too much a handicap for the Grizzlies.

Preparations are under way already in the Mining City, where the game has been staged annually since 1926. All roads will lead to Clark park and the Milwaukee special will carry the State University fans this year while the Northern Pacific will carry the College backers from Bozeman.
