Crucial Conference Games This Week

Winners of eight of its last 11 games, the University of Montana continues its quest to host the 18th Annual Big Sky Conference Basketball Championships, an event the Grizzlies have hosted once before, in 1977-78.

"I said earlier that we needed a sweep at Northern Arizona and Nevada-Reno to have a chance to host the championships," said third-year coach Mike Montgomery, who has a career record of 45-31. "Well, we're still in the hunt, and now it's up to us to get the job done."

The Grizzlies will have their work cut out for them this weekend. Idaho State is only two games out of first place with a 6-3 Big Sky record (12-8 overall), and is one of the best shooting teams in the nation.

Weber State, despite struggling with a 2-7 (prior to last night's game) Big Sky mark (5-17 overall), knocked off front-runner Idaho 53-49 in Ogden last week, and proved they have the ability to defeat anyone in the Big Sky. The Grizzlies dropped a 47-44 overtime contest at home to Idaho earlier in the season.

"Idaho State is a team that could still win the conference," Montgomery said. "Mathematically they are still in it. They are an excellent shooting team. Weber State has the tradition, and is coming off a big win over Idaho. They have very good starters, but not great depth. This is an important weekend for us."

ISU, winner of 10 out of last 13 games (one of those setbacks was 53-49 to UM), was ranked nationally in field goal percentage and free throw percentage last week, and improved on those statistics in recent games. ISU is shooting 53.7 percent from the field and 78.0 percent from the line.

Another impressive statistic is that four ISU starters are hitting more than 80 percent from the line in Big Sky play. The Bengals leading scorer is 6-4% junior guard Robert Tate, who is averaging 16.2 points per game. Junior forward Dale Wilkinson is the team's leading rebounder (6.5).

The three other starters on Lynn Archibald's team and their averages:

Guard Terry Goddard, 11.5 points, 2.3 rebounds; center Chris Owen 2.6, 2.2 and Forward Byron Williams, 15.5, 3.9. Goddard, a 5-9 senior, leads the conference in assists, averaging 7.4 per contest.

Neil McCarthy's Weber State squad is led in scoring by junior forward Todd Harper with a 16.7 average. Sophomore Royal Edwards leads the Wildcats in rebounding with a 7.9 average. Harper was voted the Big Sky's Top Reserve last season.

Other Wildcats starters and their averages: Richard Escandon, 6.6, 1.8 at guard; center Steve Condie, 5.6, 4.9 and forward Gerald Mattinson, 7.2, 5.4.

Craig Zanon leads the Grizzlies in scoring (16.1), field goal percentage (.551), minutes played (32.1 a game) and free throw percentage (.824). Rod Brandon leads in rebounding (108 for a 5.4 average) and Blaine Taylor leads in assists with a 3.6 average (Please see page 14 for Grizzly statistics).

Zanon is now 10th on the all-time Grizzly scoring list with 934 points. He recently passed Ben DeMers (1973-77), who scored 927 points.

President Richard Bowers

Dr. Richard C. Bowers assumed duties as the 13th president of the University of Montana on July 4, 1974.

Bowers came to UM from Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, where he served as vice president and provost, and professor of chemistry.

As Northern Illinois’ provost, he was chief academic officer of the University and had overall responsibility for many other university activities, including computer services, admissions and records, and the library. He also represented Northern Illinois University to the Illinois Board of Regents, the Board of Higher Education of the State of Illinois, and the State Legislature.

Prior to being named vice president and provost in 1969, Bowers served as the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at NIU from 1965-69.

Bowers received his B.S. degree in chemistry from the University of Michigan in 1948 and his Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Minnesota in 1953. He taught at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., beginning in 1954 and became Director of Chemical Laboratories and associate chairman of the Department of Chemistry at Northwestern in 1963.

Athletic Director Harley Lewis

Harley W. Lewis was named athletic director at the University of Montana effective April 14, 1976. He had served as acting athletic director from July 1, 1975.

A 1964 graduate of UM with an M.S. in health, physical education and recreation, Lewis became track and cross country coach at UM in 1966. Prior to assuming coaching responsibilities at UM, the 1959 graduate of Butte High School coached two years at the University of Portland.

Lewis served as cross country coach until 1976 and won nine Big Sky titles until resigning the position. He served as track coach through the 1978 season. While track coach, Lewis won the conference title in 1972. He has been named Big Sky Coach of the Year in cross country and track, ten times. He has served on numerous national committees, worked with U.S. Olympic endeavors and coached several All-American performers at Montana.
Mike Montgomery begins his third season as head coach at the University of Montana, and his fifth year as a Grizzly mentor. He served as an assistant coach at UM for two seasons prior to becoming head coach.

Mike has taken the Grizzlies to the Big Sky Conference postseason playoffs both of his seasons as head coach. Last year his team was nine points away from qualifying for an NCAA Regional berth, bowing 50-42 to nationally ranked Weber State in the conference tournament finale in Ogden.

Montana's 17-11 record last season was the school's seventh winningest in 76 years.

The 33-year-old has 10 years of major college coaching experience. He served as an assistant coach three seasons at Boise State before coming to UM. He has also had coaching stints at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, Colorado State, the Citadel and the University of Florida.

He likes his teams to fast break on offense, and employs a structured, early offense, "designed for people who are disciplined and can shoot the ball. I stress high-percentage shots and tough rebounding, and patience for the good shot."

Defensively Montgomery likes his opponents "to beat themselves by playing tough and physical, forcing them to take poor percentage shots." He added that he uses many defensive looks, depending on the opponent.

The Grizzlies have led the Big Sky in defense the last nine straight seasons, and were ranked fourth in the nation in 1978-79 — Mike's first season as head coach.

Montgomery is a 1968 graduate of Long Beach State, and is a native of Long Beach, Calif. He played basketball at LBS for four years and volleyball and rugby for two. He earned his masters degree in Physical Education from Colorado State.

His wife's name is Sarah.
Stew Morrill is in his third season as the number one Grizzly assistant in charge of recruiting and scheduling. He was an assistant coach at former Big Sky Conference member Gonzaga University for three years.

Morrill was the number one coaching assistant at Gonzaga for three years, and was the school's recruiting coordinator for two seasons. He was a graduate assistant for the Bulldogs for one season.

He was an All-Big Sky center at Gonzaga his senior year in 1973-74, and was named team captain and Most Valuable Player for the Bulldogs that season.

Prior to playing at the four-year level he participated in basketball at Ricks College, where he averaged 23 points a game as a sophomore and was named a JC All-American.

He played pro basketball in Europe for a Division I team in Bordeaux, France, after his graduation from Gonzaga in 1974. After a few months with the team he was named player-coach.

From Provo, Utah, Morrill earned nine letters in basketball, football and track at Provo High School. The 28-year-old is single.

Bob Niehl
Assistant Coach

A newcomer to the Grizzly staff, Robert Niehl joined the basketball program in August of 1980. He will assist in varsity coaching, along with scouting and recruiting, as well as supervise the Grizzly junior varsity program.

Before coming to Montana he served as a part-time coach for head coach George Raveling at Washington State University in Pullman. At WSU he was head coach of the JVs, and assisted in varsity scouting and recruiting in 1978-80. He has also had a lot of experience in basketball camps.

Bob also served as a graduate assistant at WSU for a season. From 1975-77 he was the head basketball and girl’s and boy’s track coach at Sprague High School in Sprague, Washington.

He was a standout athlete at WSU, where he was a three-year letterman in basketball and team captain his senior season. He was a seven-foot high jumper for the Cougars, and qualified for the NCAAs all four of his collegiate seasons. He is a 1970 graduate of Bethel High School in Spanaway, Washington, where he was also a basketball and track star.

Niehl is a 1975 graduate of WSU, receiving a B.S. in physical education. The 29-year-old is single.

The University of Montana in Missoula is located in a mountain forest setting in beautiful Western Montana. It is halfway between Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks.

Four wilderness areas are located nearby Missoula. The natural surroundings offer excellent opportunities for hunting, fishing, backpacking, river floating, camping and other outdoor recreational pursuits. Two excellent winter ski areas are located within minutes of the University. Several other ski areas are only a couple of hours away by car. UM owns and operates its own golf course adjacent to campus.

The University of Montana is one of the West’s pioneers in education and was chartered February 17, 1893. The school opened in September, 1895, with 50 students enrolling the first day. Located on 201 acres at the base of Mount Sentinel, UM has grown from 50 students and seven faculty members to a present enrollment of 8,880 and approximately 450 fulltime state supported faculty positions.

Throughout its history, the University of Montana has sustained a high standard of academic excellence in teaching, research and service.

UM offers associate of arts degrees in two areas and bachelor’s degrees in 58 fields. It offers master’s degrees in 54 programs and doctoral degrees in 13.

The College of Arts and Sciences, which is the core of the University, includes a full range of programs and courses in the life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences and humanities. The College also offers curricula in interdisciplinary fields ranging from ethnic studies to interdepartmental studies.

Seven professional schools complete the academic program—Business Administration, Fine Arts, Journalism, Education, Forestry, Law, Pharmacy and Allied Health Sciences.

The aim of the University is to provide its students with a relaxing and meaningful learning experience with the best facilities possible. The administration, faculty and staff strive for this goal.

WRESTLERS IN HOME FINALE FEBRUARY 20th

Coach Jerry Hicks and the University of Montana wrestling team will have its final home match of the season, Friday, Feb. 20, when Northern Montana College visits Adams Field House and Dahlberg Arena. The match begins at 7:30 p.m.

The following week the Grizzlies will be competing in the Big Sky Conference championships, Feb. 28 in Flagstaff, Arizona.
Mr. Excitement in the Grizzly lineup, Craig Zanon was Montana's leading scorer last season, averaging 15.1 points a game. His 377 points last year ranks him 22nd in UM single season scoring records.

Zanon was also a second team All-Big Sky Conference guard, along with now-graduated center John Stroeder. Zanon was named all-tournament at University of Nevada-Las Vegas hosted Rebel Roundup Tournament. He was the only player off the third or fourth place team to make the squad.

“Craig is an extremely competitive, hard-working individual,” said coach Mike Montgomery. “He gets a whole lot of mileage out of his ability. Of course, he is talented, and has really improved at the guard position for as long as he has played it, which is about a-year-and-a-half.”

“Craig will probably be our leading scorer again this year,” Montgomery continued; “just because he finds ways to score. Craig, as well as being Academic All-American candidate, is also a legitimate all-conference candidate.”

Last season Zanon was the team’s leading scorer in 14 of 25 games, including a season’s high 25 points in a win over Montana State in Missoula. He led the team in rebounding three games and had a season high of eight against North Texas State and the University of Idaho.

In conference play “CZ” was 10th in scoring (15 points a game), sixth in steals (1.2) and third in free throw percentage (.852). He was given the Naseby Rhinehart Award in 1979-80, which is presented to the most inspirational player.

He played for Flathead High School in Kalispell, where he lettered three times in basketball and twice in football, and was all-state in both sports his senior year. He was the MVP in basketball in Divisionals in 1977, and made the all-state tournament team that season.

His prep coach was Jack McWhorter. His older brother, Rick, also a guard, lettered twice for the Grizzlies.

An accounting major, Craig plans to go to law school after graduating. He has been an All-Big Sky academic pick the past two seasons, and is bidding for an Academic All-American berth. He maintains a 3.72 GPA in accounting.

His hobbies are tennis, golf and water skiing.

Craig's parents are Robert & Adele Zanon of Kalispell.

Birthdate: March 14, 1959.

UM Publications and Media Relations

"A person can only know a foreign culture if he or she has a reasonable knowledge of their own."

Fernando Macotela is a good illustration of his own words. Recipient of a Fulbright grant to teach at the University of Montana, Professor Macotela brings to that position a rich history of experience and study in his own Mexican culture.

Since his arrival in Missoula last summer his activities have not been limited to teaching, however. Eager to know the Montana brand of American culture, Macotela has investigated many corners of the life here. A fourth of July rodeo at Charlo, a part in the chorus line of a musical comedy and an autographed copy of Jim Welch's "The Death of Jim Loney" are just a few parts of his accumulating Montana experience.

Macotela's career as a student of culture began when he was appointed head of Mexico's film censorship office at the age of 26. With a law degree and 15 published short stories behind him, Macotela had already had an artistic as well as a social sense of Mexico's make-up. Five years with the censorship office taught him additionally a lot about films and "a lot about politics."

Subsequent positions as counsellor and cultural attaché at the Mexican Embassy in Paris (where he was his country's representative to Radio Television France) and director of Mexico's National Film Office have culminated in a faculty appointment at Mexico's prestigious National University in Mexico City. He teaches film as an art form and part of culture.

Many professional distinctions have marked Macotela's career. He has directed the Cervantes festival — the main arts festival of Mexico; represented his country at the Cannes film festivals of 1967 and 1970 and at the Berlin film festival of 1976, received the French National Order of Merit, lectured at the Smithsonian Institution,... the list is long and impressive. The most recent addition is the Fulbright grant.

"I consider that a real honor and I'm proud of it," he said recently.

Fernando Macotela has been characterized by one student as "an acculturated example of the Mexican Revolution" and he feels that perhaps that helps him teach UM students something about Mexico today.

"From 1910 to 1921 Mexico was in a state of revolution and it was a very big one — no family was left untouched, including my own," explained Macotela. "Everything in Mexico today is a result of that revolution."

"It's good for the American people to know about Latin America, for the United States is related to the problems there. However, it is not easy to know any country well. If you compare with what you know best — your own country and its models — it won't work. People are the same all over, but the nuances of society are different. What's good for the eastern United States probably isn't good for the West. People from 'first' and 'second' worlds must realize that third world countries have their own unique problems."

A contradiction of his earlier words? Not really. Above all, what Fernando Macotela advocates and seems to possess himself is a 'sense' of culture, an understanding of the nuances. For example —

"If I make a joke in English I have to be very careful. I feel like I understand the American sense of humor — I read Mad magazine, I love Woody Allen. But even in Spanish, I have to be careful when making a joke to someone who is not Mexican. It is easy to misunderstand a sense of humor."

Professor Macotela tries to help his UM students understand Mexico in a variety of ways. His teaching method is not rigid; if a concern appears, he addresses it. And humor, however carefully used, seems to be an important ingredient in his lectures. His classes are punctuated by laughter — generated as much by his expressive and sympathetic style as by his choice of words.

This quarter he is lecturing in Spanish, and his class of 16 students is slightly larger than last quarter's class in English. Professor Macotela was surprised at his students' level of proficiency.

"I began talking like Tarzan and realized very quickly that I didn't have to do that."

Macotela uses slides (of paintings, architecture, and "Mexican faces"), records, and books to illustrate contemporary Mexico. Upon his departure at the end of the quarter, a collection of these resources will be donated to the University by his own institution.

The University of Montana gained additional benefit when Fernando Macotela was invited to teach here for six months. Catherine Block Macotela (Cati), an accomplished scholar of Mexican history, is splitting the Fulbright grant with her husband.

Studying under both Macotelas is a valuable experience, according to Tom Christy, a history and Spanish major who has lived in Uruguay and Spain.

"Having both of them here is an excellent opportunity," said Christy. "The fact that they are actually Mexican makes their lectures more personal and meaningful. And they present different perspectives on Mexico — Catherine Macotela's specialty is more the economic side and his is the artistic side, the humanities. The two complement each other very well. I only wish they could stay longer."

Upon first meeting Catherine Macotela, the only clue that she is not American is that her English is so good. She speaks with a quiet, controlled flow of words devoid of "uh's" and "you know's. That may be partly due to her education at Tulane University in New Orleans and the American University in Mexico City. But when lecturing on Mexican history and economics it is probably also due to her obvious thorough knowledge of her subject.

She has worked as a historical researcher for the Mexican ambassador to France, and as historian for a 24-volume work of contemporary Mexican history published by

“Up With Montana,” by Dick Howell
Up with Montana, boys, down with the foe,
Old Montana’s out for a victory;
She’ll shoot her backs around the foemen’s line;
A hot time is coming how, oh, brother mine.
Up with Montana, boys, down with the foe,
Good old Grizzly’ll triumph today;
And the squeal of the pig will float on the air,
From the tummy of the Grizzly Bear.

“Montana, My Montana,” by George H. Greenwood, ’04
Our chosen state, all hail to thee,
Montana, my Montana;
Thou hast thy portion with the free,
Montana, my Montana.
From shore to shore, from sea to sea,
Oh, may thy name full honored be,
Symbol of strength and loyalty,
Montana, my Montana.

“Fight, Montana,” by “Bill” Kane, 1920
Hail, copper, silver, gold,
Borne by our warriors bold,
’Tis the flag of the grizzly bear;
See those Bruins tearing their way down the field!
We know they never will yield, Montana.
On we’ll go and trample down the foe.
Let’s go, Montana, we love the fray.
The grizzly fight, fight, fight will bring victory.
Let’s go, Montana, we’ll win today.
the Colegio de Mexico. She currently does research for the National Institute for Social Security.

Her husband's English, while not as smooth, is very expressive. He needs only a spark to ignite an idea and he's off. When he momentarily falters it's not for lack of an English word for what's on his mind — he wants the best one. Cati supplies it.

"In English some of their conceptions for words are slightly different, and that's interesting, it becomes an experience of another culture," said Christy. "In fact, for us, their being here is a cultural experience."

The Macotelas have gone out of their way to make the most of their time here. They are great fans of the American musical comedy, and when Fernando heard that auditions were on for "The Music Man," he grabbed Cati and rushed to the Missoula Children's Theatre.

"They asked me to sing, but I can't read music and didn't know the tunes for this one. They asked me to dance, I said I couldn't dance. Finally they asked me to read this impossible passage and I had to say that I didn't speak English very well! They were all looking at each other thinking 'who is this guy?'"

Nevertheless, he managed to land a part in the chorus, and considers the whole thing — night after night of rehearsing with "River City, Iowans," 'father' of the blondest kid in the cast — a good experience.

"Not only was I able to be in a good production, but I met nice people and felt like I was part of the community. Also, I had a chance to see Americans 'in their own sauce' as we say."

The quiet of a small town and the people here are among the main attractions of Missoula for Fernando and Cati. But they have also enjoyed the things to do.

"I can show you my tickets for Nicanor Zabatela," said Fernando. "He is the greatest harpist in the world. He is a talent like Pablo Casals, and he was here in Missoula. I'm sure the University has a lot to do with a chance to hear his kind."

Fernando also displayed his membership cards to all the film clubs in town.

"You can see films from any country, there is a symphony, skiing, sports, drama ... there is as much here as you can do and good company while doing it."

The Macotelas would like to come back to Missoula.

"We feel we would be returning to friends."

Big Sky Conference

The Big Sky Conference was formed in February, 1963, when the presidents and athletic directors of six Rocky Mountain universities met in Spokane. The original conference members were Gonzaga, Idaho, Idaho State, Montana, Montana State and Weber.

The conference derived its name from a pair of Montanans and a Washington sports editor. A.B. Guthrie, Great Falls, Montana, wrote a novel entitled "The Big Sky" and Jack Hallowell, former Montana State Advertising director, promoted the Big Sky theme as a nickname for the state. Harry Missildine, Spokesman-Review sports editor, picked up the name and in a sports column promoted the name Big Sky as the name of the conference. On February 25, 1963, the conference adopted the name—Big Sky Athletic Conference.

In 1970 the conference expanded to include Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, Ariz., and Boise State College, Boise, Idaho. Both entered as football playing schools. Nevada-Reno became the newest member of the Big Sky July 1, 1979.

Jack Friel became the first commissioner in 1963, and the offices were established in Pullman, Wash., Friel's home. Following Friel's retirement in July, 1971, the offices were moved to Boise, Idaho, and John Roning was named commissioner. Steve Belko was named commissioner and assumed duties July 1, 1977 following Roning's retirement.
