Academics at UM Add Up To Success

The University of Montana was recently awarded its 25th Rhodes Scholarship. UM ranks 18th of all American colleges and universities in the number of Rhodes Scholars it has produced, fifth among public universities. Students are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, energy, community and political involvement and character.

The UM Biological Station at Flathead Lake, located about 85 miles northeast of Missoula, is the nation's oldest inland station. The UM research station is one of the finest facilities in the country for freshwater research.

KUFM, a non-commercial public radio station operated by the radio-television department of the School of Journalism, is the only National Public Radio station in Montana.

University of Montana education majors compete very successfully for jobs with 88 percent of those with bachelor's degrees and 95 percent of those with graduate degrees finding appropriate positions.

The Department of Social Work is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education and is the only Montana school that prepares its graduates to apply for advanced standing in graduate schools of social work.

The School of Journalism has had 25 of its students selected as Sears Congressional interns — more than any other journalism school in the country. During the four-month internship, students work for a United States Congressman or Senator and also attend classes.

The Department of Drama/Dance has a professional theater group — the Montana Repertory Theatre — based on campus. The Montana Repertory Theatre, which tours throughout the Northwest, is the only professional Actors Equity company between Minneapolis and Seattle.

Eight University of Montana students have been chosen to receive Truman Scholarships. The national scholarship is given annually to students committed to a government career who have superior academic ability and leadership potential.

The Department of Anthropology has the largest collection of artifacts and records of pre-history in the region.

The School of Business is the only business school in Montana to be accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business at the graduate level.

The Department of Geology has a national reputation. In cooperation with Purdue University, a field station has been set up in southwestern Montana. The department also provides hands-on experience for students in the minerals, rocks and paleontology laboratories at the University's Seismic Station and in the Earthquake Research Laboratory.

The Department of Geography has one of the region's best cartography laboratories where students learn to make maps and interpret aerial photography.

The Department of Health and Physical Education is one of a handful in the country that trains students to be athletic trainers. And it is the only program in the state to offer a Master of Science in Physical Education.

The Native American Studies program at the University of Montana is regarded by Indian educators as one of the four most outstanding in the nation.

The Grizzly basketball team (see next page) has also had a lot of success. Of the 15 Division 1 Academic All-Americans from the Big Sky Conference since 1980, seven have been from the University of Montana. The first player to gain that status was Craig Zanon in 1980, while the most recent was Scott Zanon (1987).

Bridget Clarke is the University of Montana's 25th Rhodes Scholar.

More than 55 percent of the business school's accounting graduates pass the Certified Public Accountant Exam on their first try. This is more than three times the national first-time success rate of 18 percent.

Former Grizzly basketball star Larry Krystkowiak, who now plays professionally for the Milwaukee Bucks, was a two-time 1st team Academic All-American.
Grizzlies Excel in Classroom, Too

Not only has the University of Montana not had a losing season in the past 13 years, but it has also been a very successful time for the Grizzlies in the classroom.

Of the 48 student-athletes in UM’s program during the past 13 years 39, or 90 percent, have graduated. Seven others will graduate. These seven include five transfers, all of whom will graduate at other colleges.

Montana has had five Academic All-Americans in the last 13 years. They include (from recent to past) Scott Zanon, Larry Krystkowiak, Marc Glass, Craig Zanon and Tim McCauley.

“We talk about our successes in the classroom all the time,” said Morrill. “There is a reason that college athletes are called student athletes — students first, athletes second. We are proud of our graduation rate.”

“We have a study hall at Montana and all of the first year players are required to go,” he continued. “We check on classes a minimum of every two weeks.”

Scott Zanon was a second team pick in 1987 and a third team All-American pick in 1986 and had a 3.21 GPA in Business and was an all-league academic choice four times. He is from Kalispell, Montana.

Krystkowiak was a first team Academic All-American in 1986 and 1985 and was a three-time All-Region and All-Big Sky academic selection. He maintained a 3.61 GPA. He is a local product from Missoula’s Big Sky High School. “Krysko” currently plays for the Milwaukee Bucks.

Glass was an honorable mention Academic All-American selection in 1984 and 1983, and a three-time Big Sky choice with a 3.20 GPA in Computer Science. The 6-3 guard from Battle Ground, Washington, was the 75th player picked in the NBA draft in 1984, chosen by the Los Angeles Clippers in the fourth round and works for an investment firm when not playing professionally overseas.

Craig Zanon was the Grizzlies’ first Academic All-American first teamer in 1981. The former All-Big Sky guard (6-6) was also an academic choice in 1980 and had a 3.62 GPA in Accounting. Both Craig Zanon and Krystkowiak earned prestigious NCAA postgraduate scholarships after their senior seasons.

From Sun Prairie, Wisconsin, Tim McCauley was a 3.3 student in Business Administration. The 6-1½ guard was an honorable mention All-American in academics in 1980 and an all-academic Big Sky selection in 1979 and 1980.
Griz basketball fans are among the best in the nation. Montana averages approximately 8,000 fans per Big Sky Conference home game.

The University of Montana in Missoula is located in a mountain forest setting in beautiful Western Montana. It is halfway between Glacier and Yellowstone national parks. Four wilderness areas are located near Missoula. The natural surroundings offer excellent opportunities for hunting, fishing, backpacking, river floating, camping and other outdoor recreational pursuits. Two excellent winter ski areas are located within minutes of the University. Several other ski areas are only a couple of hours away by car. UM owns and operates its own golf course adjacent to campus.

The University of Montana is one of the West’s pioneers in education and was chartered February 17, 1893. The school opened in September 1895, with 50 students enrolling the first day. Located on 201 acres at the base of Mount Sentinel, UM has grown from 50 students and seven faculty members to a present all-time high enrollment of 10,048 and approximately 450 full-time faculty positions.

Through its history, the University of Montana has sustained a high standard of academic excellence in teaching, research and service.

UM offers associate of arts degrees in two areas and bachelor’s degrees in 58 fields. It offers master’s degrees in 54 programs and doctoral degrees in 13.

The College of Arts and Sciences, which is the core of the University, includes a full range of programs and courses in the life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences and humanities. The College also offers curricula in interdisciplinary fields ranging from ethnic studies to interdepartmental studies.

Seven professional schools complete the academic program — Business Administration, Fine Arts, Journalism, Education, Forestry, Law, and Pharmacy and Allied Health Sciences.

The aim of the University is to provide its students with relaxing and meaningful learning experience with the best facilities possible. The administration, faculty and staff strive for this goal.

"For us to be a competitive, championship-caliber team we’re going to have to be at the top of the league defensively,” Morrill said. “Defense starts with heart and character and understanding fundamentals. It’s going to be an area of emphasis for us this year. Individual playing time will be largely determined by how good of a defender you are. I will not be afraid to start and play people who will make us better defensively.”

Stew Morrill’s 74 victories is the most ever by a Montana coach in his first four years of tenure. His winning percentage of 62.7 is the best of any current Big Sky Conference coach and eighth best in league history.

Since he was named Montana’s 19th head coach, his teams have gone 18-11, 18-11, 20-11 and 18-11. The Grizzlies’ 20 victories two seasons ago was the eighth time a UM team had reached that plateau, and Morrill became the fifth coach in school history to win 20 games.

When Morrill won 18 games in his first season (1986-87), it was the most wins ever for a first-year coach at Montana, and the third most by any coach in Big Sky history.

Stew was elevated to the head job when Mike Montgomery left UM to become the head coach at Stanford University. Morrill had been an assistant at Montana for eight seasons, and during that time UM had four 20-win seasons. The Grizzlies have not had a losing season during his 12-year tenure as an assistant and head coach, and have a record of 227-120 in that time span.

Prior to coming to UM he was an assistant at his alma mater, Gonzaga University, where he coached after he graduated in 1974. In 1974 he played professionally in Bordeaux, France, where he eventually became player-coach.

An All-Big Sky center at Gonzaga and team MVP in 1973-74, Morrill is one of the primary reasons the Grizzlies have had so much success with their big men. He worked with such former UM standouts as John Stroeder, Craig Larsen, Larry McBride, Larry Krystkowiak, and Wayne Tinkle.

“That (working with big men) is something that we feel we know how to do,” Morrill said. “We not only know how to improve the quality of play a young man comes in with, but also we evolve our offensive concepts around using big, strong, players. We’ve always had an all-conference caliber player playing inside, and sometimes we’ve had more than one.

“That’s one thing we go out and sell in our recruiting—the success of our big kids, and is something that I can look a big kid right in the eye and say we’ve had success with big people. It’s a credit to the kids, who have worked extremely hard in our program. We have had kids with heart who have wanted to improve and it’s paid off for them and us.”

Prior to his career at Gonzaga, Morrill was a junior college All-American at Ricks College in Idaho, averaging 23 points a game as a sophomore. He is originally from Provo, Utah, where he was a three-sport star and earned nine letters at Provo High School.

Stew Morrill’s 74 victories is the most ever by a Montana coach in his first four years of tenure. His winning percentage of 62.7 is the best of any current Big Sky Conference coach and eighth best in league history.

Since he was named Montana’s 19th head coach, his teams have gone 18-11, 18-11, 20-11 and 18-11. The Grizzlies’ 20 victories two seasons ago was the eighth time a UM team had reached that plateau, and Morrill became the fifth coach in school history to win 20 games.

When Morrill won 18 games in his first season (1986-87), it was the most wins ever for a first-year coach at Montana, and the third most by any coach in Big Sky history.

“I guess the best way to summarize my offensive philosophy is high percentage basketball. That is often mistaken to mean that you are going to slow the basketball down and pass it 15 times, that sort of thing, and that is not at all what I mean. By high percentage basketball I mean playing to the strength of your personnel over a given year.”

“For us to be a competitive, championship-caliber team we’re going to have to be at the top of the league defensively,” Morrill said. “Defense starts with heart and character and understanding fundamentals. It’s going to be an area of emphasis for us this year. Individual playing time will be largely determined by how good of a defender you are. I will not be afraid to start and play people who will make us better defensively.”

Stew and his wife, Vicki, have four children, Jesse, 12, Allan, 10, Nicole, 7, and Tiffany, 4.
Assistant Coach

Blaine Taylor
(Montana, 1982)

One of the first things Stew Morrill did when he was named the head coach at the University of Montana was bring back a familiar face to the Grizzly basketball program.

Blaine was a four-year letterman at Montana from 1977-81. He coached the UM junior varsity team from 1981-83 and had a record of 30-17.

Taylor is in his fifth year as an assistant at UM, where he is involved in scouting, recruiting, varsity coaching, and Grizzly Cage Camps. He has been a Grizzly as a player or coach 13 of the last 15 years.

Prior to coming to his alma mater he coached at Loyola High School in Missoula. In 1984 his Loyola team was 20-4, and in 1985 they were 21-5. Both of those seasons Loyola won district tournament championships.

As a Grizzly player Taylor was an honorable mention All-Big Sky Conference selection as a junior and senior. He was named to the league’s postseason all-tournament team his senior year.

He is UM’s number two career free throw percentage shooter at 81.9 percent. He is the sixth leading career assists man with 300, and had 753 career points.

A product of Missoula’s Hellgate High School, Taylor was a three time all-state player, and the “AA” most valuable player as a senior.

He earned his B.A. in Secondary Education at UM in 1982. He received a master’s in Athletic Administration in 1984 at Montana.

Blaine and his wife, Annie, have three daughters. Amber, 10, and Ashley, 4, and Alexandria, 7 months.
Skip Molitor (Gonzaga, 1974)

Skip Molitor was named assistant men’s basketball coach at the University of Montana in May of 1989.

Molitor, 37, has 13 years of coaching experience. He has coached at the Division 1 college level at three different schools, beginning at his alma mater, former Big Sky Conference member Gonzaga University, in 1974-75.

“We are very fortunate in our basketball program to have coach with Skip’s experience and expertise,” said UM head coach Stew Morrill. “Having been in three Division 1 programs gives him the credentials to add a lot to our situation in terms of recruiting, as well as coaching.”

Morrill and Molitor played together at Gonzaga from 1973-75 and began their coaching careers together at GU in 1975. Molitor earned his B.A. degree in English in 1974 and a master’s degree in Guidance and Counseling in 1978, both at Gonzaga.

From 1983-88 Molitor was the head coach at Gonzaga Prep High School in Spokane. Last year he taught and coached in Peru. Prior to that he served as an assistant coach at the University of Santa Clara (1981-83) and Washington State (1980-81). He was also a head coach at Frenchtown High School (1978-80) and Billings Central High School (1976-77) in Montana.

He is single.

He is a graduate of Plentywood High School (1969) and earned his B.A. degree in History and English at Northern Montana College in 1975. He was an all-state player as a prep and also played collegiately at Northern.

Joe Fischer

Joe is beginning his first year as a graduate assistant coach at Montana. He was most recently an assistant basketball coach at Carroll College in Helena, from 1987-90. He was also the Executive Secretary at Carroll for their Century Club, which involved fundraising and promotions.

He was a basketball letterman for the Fighting Saints. He earned a B.A. degree in Social Science in Secondary Education, and is currently pursuing a master's in Athletic Administration.

He is a 1983 graduate of Loyola Sacred Heart High School in Missoula. He lettered in basketball and football for the Rams. He was all-conference in basketball and football as a senior, and an All-State running back in 1982. As a player he played against current UM assistant Don Holst, who was the head coach at Florence High School.

Joe is single.
Veterans Need to Jell with Newcomers

A position-by-position breakdown:

CENTER

Junior Daren Engellant (6-10) led Montana in rebounding in 13 games, and was ranked third (tied) in the Big Sky in that statistic, averaging 7.2 boards a game. He started in 25 games and played in 28 of 29. He was the fourth (tied with Woods) leading scorer on the team, averaging 10.1 points a game.

The former Montana state MVP from Geraldine led the Big Sky in blocked shots with 50, and he is already 15th in league history with 76 career blocks.

"I expect a great two years from Daren Engellant at one of our inside positions," Morrill said. "He gained invaluable experience and maturity last year, and has added strength to go with that experience. Even though some people considered his sophomore year up-and-down, he was third in the league in rebounds, shot better than 60 percent from the field in conference, averaged in double figures in scoring — we know he is a quality player."

Redshirt freshman Josh Lacheur (La-Sure), a 6-9, 232-pounder, will also be vying for playing time at center. He came to UM from Casa Robles High School in Sacramento, where he was a McDonald's All-American as a senior.

"Josh gives us as strong a player as we've ever had inside, and we feel he can not only back up Daren, but there's also the potential to play them together," Morrill said. "As Josh develops finesse to go along with his strength, his playing time will certainly go up. Experience is what he needs, and he garners that experience by us getting him as much playing time as possible within the framework of winning."

FORWARD

Another returning starter is forward Kevin Kearney, last year's Big Sky co-Newcomer of the Year, who was twice named the Big Sky's Player of the Week. He was Montana's second leading scorer (12th in league) and rebounder (10th in the Big Sky), averaging 11.9 points and 6.2 rebounds a game.

"Kevin can do some amazing things for a player who is 6-4," Morrill said. "He came back to campus with a very determined attitude

With four returning starters the University of Montana Grizzly basketball team has an optimistic approach to the 1990-91 season. Along with those returning starters is only one other letterman. That means that two key junior college recruits and three redshirt freshmen will all be factors in Montana's success this year.

"I think when you look at this team you need to look back a year ago at the 1989-90 team. Appropriately named the 'Young Guns,' because of our inexperience and youth," said fifth-year head coach Stew Morrill, who has won 18 or more games every season during his tenure. "The fact that that team won 18 games and finished third in the Big Sky Conference by winning their last five league games, is why preseason prognosticators are approaching this year's team with so much optimism."

Last season the Grizzlies were 18-11 overall and 10-6 in the Big Sky Conference and finished third. Gone from that team are all-conference forward John Reckard, sixth man and guard-forward Andy Woods, and quality backup forwards Ossie Young and Tom Lytle. Reckard, Young, and Lytle graduated, while Woods, a junior, transferred.

Reckard led UM with 12.7 points a game, which ranked him ninth in the conference. He was also among the league leaders in free throw percentage (6th, 80.0%), steals (tie, 7th, 1.5 a game) and three-point field goals (tie, 5th, 1.9 a game).

Woods started eight games and played in all 29, averaging 10.0 a game. He walked on at the University of Washington, where his brother, Maurice, is a 6-10 redshirt freshman. Young and Lytle each played in all 29 contests last season and started in nine between them.

"With four starters returning and some immediate help from the JC ranks, plus the addition of three redshirt freshmen, we certainly feel like there is great potential for an outstanding year," Morrill said. "We take it as a great compliment when our program is healthy, and that this year's team is picked by some publications to win the Big Sky Conference.

"We certainly have that potential, but the thing about preseason picks is that it is a matter of going out day-by-day and reaching that potential as a basketball team," Morrill said. "Excited? Yes. Optimistic — very much so. But, this team certainly has unknowns in terms of chemistry and leadership, as well as establishing roles. These things will be the keys if we are going to compete with the top of the league.
about his senior year. He's worked very hard on his defense, as well as his perimeter skills. There is no question his bread is buttered at the post.

One of the junior college players Morrill was referring to is 6-8 forward Nate Atchison, from Carl Sandburg College in Illinois. As a sophomore he averaged 19 points and 11 rebounds a game, and set a school record with 312 career blocks in two seasons. Amazingly, he did not play high school basketball.

"Nate is an excellent athlete with good touch," Morrill said. "He has the ability to become a fine defender as he learns our system. He's a shot blocker and a high flyer, who our crowd will enjoy. As Nate gets tougher his playing time will increase."

"With the loss of Reckard we are looking for a consistent person at 'small forward,' and certainly the front runner is Delvon Anderson," Morrill said. "He plays the game with great zest. He's a slasher, a good shooter, and his toughness could greatly aid this team."

Anderson is a 6-4 transfer from San Francisco City College, where he was named MVP of the Golden Gate Conference as a sophomore. He averaged 22 points and 11 rebounds a game this year.

Another person vying for minutes will be redshirt freshman Al Brown. "Al has added 15 pounds, and has a completely different understanding of what it takes to be successful. If he continues to work as hard as he has he will find success in our program." Brown is from St. Mary's High School in Berkeley, and averaged 12 points and 9 rebounds a game as a senior.

GUARD

At point guard senior Eric Jordan (6-2) and junior Keith Crawford (6-2) started all 29 games between them. Crawford starting in the last 11. Jordan was among the league leaders in assists (5th with 4.3 a game) and steals (tie. 8th, 1.4 a game).

"In my mind we have two starters at the point guard position," Morrill said. "Eric and Keith both had shining moments last season, as well as some learning experiences. They are waging a battle for time, but realize that for this team to be successful we have to have a good performance from both of them. Keith's main asset is his explosiveness, while Eric lends stability and leadership when he is on the court."

Montana's remaining returning starter is 6-5 junior Roger Fasting, who started the last 21 games of the year and played in all 29. He was the fifth leading scorer on the team with a 9.8 average, and second in assists with 3.3 a game.

"Roger is one of the smartest basketball players I have had the privilege to coach," Morrill said. "He understands the game, and how we want to approach each situation. He's worked hard at being a consistent three-point threat, and he could be a defensive stopper for us."

Also at the "two guard" is redshirt freshman Gary Kane, "who is our best long-range, pure shooter," Morrill said. "We anticipate using Gary and Roger together versus the zone, and as Gary improves in other facets of the game, he will be looking at a lot of minutes." Kane was the Montana Player of the Year two years ago at Butte High School, where he averaged 23 points a game as a senior.

Travis DeCuire, a transfer from Chaminade, will redshirt this year. He was a starter at Chaminade and team MVP as a freshman. "He has great ability in the open court, has a true point guard mentality, and is developing into a defensive ace," Morrill said.

FRESHMEN

"True" freshmen Jeremy Lake, a 6-2 guard; Matt Kempfert, a 6-8 forward; and Anthony Mayfield, a 6-5 forward, "are certainly learning quickly, and we have high expectations for their future. As practice goes along we will determine the feasibility of redshirting some, or all of these young men," Morrill said.

Lake is from Lambert High School in Montana and was a three-sport star, and was all-conference in basketball for four seasons. Kempfert played for the "AA" champion Hellgate High School Knights and was named state tourney MVP. He averaged 23 points and 10 rebounds a game. Mayfield was an All-State player at Northside Senior High in Lafayette, Louisiana, where he averaged 25.5 points a game as a senior.

BIG SKY RACE

"On paper, Reno, Idaho and ourselves appear to have strong clubs, but I certainly don't see it as a situation that those teams are head and shoulders above the others," Morrill said. "I know it's common practice for coaches to blow smoke about their respective leagues, but I sincerely believe the Big Sky Conference will be greatly improved as far as talent, and will be much, much more balanced from top to bottom."

An excellent floor leader, "EJ" has started in 23 games in his career. He started the first 18 games of the season last year. He has made the transition from high school forward to college guard in a big way.

Eric suffered a leg injury late last season, but still managed to be one of the top assists men in the Big Sky Conference, ranking 5th with 104 assists in 24 games, averaging 4.3 a game. He was 9th in the conference in steals with a 1.4 average.

"Eric has come a long way during his career, and he's just been a pleasure to coach and a good person to know," Morrill said. "He's certainly contributed on the court, and is a very fine, solid young man off it.

"His ability has grown as he has grown into the point guard position," Morrill said. "His leadership is going to be vital for us in this, his senior year. Our other kids look to him for what is expected of them. It's going to be a real battle at point guard this year for playing time, but you can count on Eric Jordan being very critical in ball games for us this year."

Last season he had a career and team-high 9 assists in a home win over Pacific Lutheran. He scored a career-high 11 points in a road game at Wyoming. He is 14th at Montana in career assists with 138.

At Inglewood High School he was co-MVP of the Ocean League, second team All-C.I.F., McDonald's All-American honorable mention, team captain and All-South Bay at forward. His coach was Arthur Bias.

His junior and senior high school teams tied for the league championship. He was a two-year letterman at I.H.S. Jordan was an honors student as a prep.

Eric majors in Business Administration and plans to pursue a career in accounting.

Kevin was expected to be an impact player for the Grizzlies a year ago, and he lived up to that billing, starting in 24 games, and playing in all 29.

He was named the co-Newcomer of the Year in the Big Sky Conference, was honorable mention all-league, and named the conference player of the week two times.

Last year he was ranked among the Big Sky leaders in several categories. He was 7th in field goal percentage (54.4 percent), 10th in rebounding (6.2 rpg), and 12th in scoring (11.9 ppg). He led the Grizzlies in rebounding 11 times and in scoring in seven games.

“We couldn’t be more pleased with what Kevin accomplished last year,” Morrill said. “We expect great things from him his senior year. He is an undersized player at his position, as everyone realizes, and has to be an over-achiever. He just does some amazing things around the basket, for playing power forward at 6-4.

“His strengths are inside, but he has developed to where he is a competent shooter from mid-range, and he is comfortable shooting the ball from there.” Morrill said. “His defense must continue to improve, and he knows that. Kevin is another kid who is a quality player, who works hard every day in practice.

“I expect our other junior college kids to look at Kevin to find out how hard we expect them to play, and he will provide that type of guidance with his actions on the court,” Morrill said. “This year if we’re going to be successful, Kevin Kearney will have to be a large part of it, and I think he’ll do that.”

Kearney came to Montana from State Fair Community College in Sedalia, Missouri. As a sophomore there he averaged 18.2 points and 10.7 rebounds a game, and shot 52 percent from the field. He was named first team All-Region for coach Bill Barton.

As a prep star at South East High School in Kansas City he was All-District and all-league, averaging 26 points and 10 rebounds a game as a senior.

His father, Jim, was a safety for the Kansas City Chiefs for 10 seasons, and played in the National Football League for 13 years.

Kevin is majoring in Education.

Birthday: September 14, 1969.
24 Delvon Anderson
6-4, 199, JC
Junior Forward from
San Francisco, California

A possible impact player at Montana, Delvon was all-state, all-conference and MVP of the Golden Gate Conference last season at San Francisco CC, when he averaged 22 points and 11 rebounds a game. He shot 51 percent from the field, 71 percent from the line, and was team co-captain in 1989-90. His freshman team at SFCC was 29-10 and made it to the state semi-final game.

"One of the big things that Delvon Anderson can add to our team is toughness," Morrill said. "You don't teach toughness. It comes as part of the process of a kid learning what is expected, and he grows into a tough basketball player. I'm talking about not only in terms of toughness physically, but mentally, down the stretch in tight ball games.

"Brad Dugan, who is a coach I've known for years, coached Delvon as a freshman, and Harold Brown coached him last year. I know Harold from Gonzaga, and they both raved about his toughness, and we are hoping he can add that to our team," Morrill said. "He has the ability to shoot the ball from mid-range, and is an excellent rebounder for his size. He is a good kid, who I think will be very coachable, we are looking forward to what Delvon can contribute."

Anderson prepped at Woodrow Wilson High School, where he was twice all-city, a two-year letterman, and co-captain and team MVP as a senior for coach Bob Miles.

His uncle, William Dudley, lettered in football at Montana in 1966 and 1967. Delvon is majoring in Sociology.

His parents are Patricia Dudley and James Anderson of San Francisco.

44 Nate Atchison
6-8, 210, JC
Junior Forward/Center from Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Big things are expected of Nate, who was one of the premier shot blockers in the junior college ranks during his two seasons at Carl Sandburg College in Illinois. He was All-Region and all-conference for coach Steve Shearer his sophomore season, in 1989.

"Nate does not have a lot of background in basketball," Morrill said. "He did not play high school basketball, and blossomed as a player and person in junior college. He grew several inches when he got out of high school, and that certainly added to his potential. I think his best days may be ahead of him, and that's saying quite a bit when you look at his junior college stats."

"If I had to pinpoint one area for Nate, it would be learning how to play the game hard," Morrill said. "It's not that he's lazy. I don't mean that at all. It's just that he has to learn how hard you have to play if you're going to be successful on the Division I level. If he learns that, he will be a very fine player for us.

"He gives us another inside player with good size," Morrill continued. "He has excellent physical attributes in terms of quickness and jumping ability, and we're hoping he will be able to help us defensively. There are a lot of bright spots on the horizon for Nate, as I said earlier, if he learns what it takes."

In two seasons in junior college, Nate had 312 blocked shots. His sophomore year he was team MVP and captain, and set a school record by shooting 62.6 percent from the field. That season he averaged 19.0 points, 11.0 rebounds, and 4.6 blocks a game, blocking 151 shots.

He is majoring in Sociology.

Nate's mom is Dorothy Ramsey of Milwaukee.

30 Al Brown

A redshirt last season, Al has added weight and strength which he hopes adds up to playing time.

"Al has figured out what it takes to be successful at our level, and he's doing a lot of things to make himself a better basketball player," Morrill said. "He's got in the weight room, done a lot of individual work, and is a very bright young man. He must continue, as I've emphasized to him so much, to stay on this proper track of hard work and work ethic for several years to realize his potential.

"We are really excited about the direction he is headed, and what he can possibly accomplish. He is a very good rebounder, and very good around the basket. We think he can play either forward position, and he has some bright days ahead of him, if he can stay on track."

Brown came to Montana from St. Mary's High School, where he was coached by Myron Jordan. As a senior he averaged 17 points, 9 rebounds and 4 blocks a game for a team that was 25-4 and ranked first in Northern California. That season he was named to his league's all-defensive team. He was all-league as a junior and senior.

He lettered four times in basketball, and once in track. He also attended Robert L. Stevenson High School, and was team MVP there as a sophomore. As a junior he averaged 12 points and 9 rebounds a game.

He was selected to participate in the Superstar Basketball Camp, and the Nor-Cal B.C.I. Invitational in the summer of 1987.

His major is Business. He had a 3.3 GPA in high school.

10 Keith Crawford

Keith came on strong last year and started the last 11 games of the season, and will be instrumental for the Grizzlies at point guard. He scored a career-high 12 points in a home win over Nevada last year. His career rebounding high was 4 at Boise State, while his assists best is 7 in a home game with Weber State.

"He had not played basketball for several years," Morrill said. "He sat out his first year because of Proposition 48, and then redshirted the next year, and it took him awhile to adapt to game situations. When he started to blossom it was very exciting.

"We are just starting to see a few of the things that Keith Crawford can do," Morrill said.

"He can give our team an element that no other player in our program can, with his ability to penetrate and jet the ball up the floor. He causes problems by putting immediate pressure on the defense. He is a tough-minded young man, and is a very, very solid person on and off the basketball floor.

"We expect a very big year from Keith," Morrill continued. "He and Eric Jordan are very close friends and they are going to be in a real battle for the starting position and playing time. What they both need to realize is that we have to have both of them be good players for us to be successful."

"Craw" was an All-City player at Long Beach Poly High School his senior season. That year he averaged 13.5 points and 5.5 rebounds a game, and shot 50 percent from the field. His coach was Chris Kinder. He lettered three times in basketball, and his junior team won the league championship.

He is a Communications major and plans a career in Radio-TV.

Birthday: May 20, 1969.
32 Travis DeCuire

Travis is a fine addition to the Grizzly backcourt, and will redshirt this season since he transferred from Chaminade University in Hawaii. As a freshman at Chaminade he was a starter and team MVP for coach Pete Smith.

"Travis, unlike a lot of players we’ve had in our program, is a true point guard," Morrill said. "We’ve had to make kids point guards in the past, and often times that is quite a procedure. Travis has grown up playing point guard. He has leadership ability, the ability to run a backcourt, and understands what is expected at that position, and that’s very exciting for us."

"He will fit very well into our system, as he can jet the ball up the floor, passes the ball extremely well, and understands tempo," Morrill said. "He also, we think, has the ability to hit the three-point shot. That is certainly a bonus for him, and that is an area which we feel like we need to improve in. Travis will have to redshirt this season as a transfer, but he will certainly aid this team this year by providing us a good look in practice day in and day out."

DeCuire attended Mercer Island High School and played for Ed Pepple, the winningest coach in Washington prep history. At M.I.H.S. he was All-King County, All-State, Most Inspirational, and a McDonald’s All-American honorable mention as a senior. His 1987 and 1989 teams were conference and district champions, and ranked 14th and 15th in the nation, respectively.

He lettered three times in basketball and was team captain as a senior.

He is a Business major.

Birthday: November 21, 1970.

PRONOUNCED: Dee-Cure.

52 Daren Engellant

A returning starter, Daren has been one of the top rebounders, shot blockers and most accurate shooters in the Big Sky Conference the past two seasons. He was the Grizzlies’ leading rebounder in 12 contests. He was named the Big Sky Conference’s “Freshman of the Year” in 1989 as a “true” freshman.

"Daren expects and demands a great deal from himself, and that is why he is successful," Morrill said. "When you look at the fact that he was in the top three in rebounding, shot over 60 percent (64.1%), and really came into his own last year. I think Daren will be one of the top, if not the top, big men in the Big Sky Conference in the next couple of years. I expect big things from him."

Engellant was Montana’s leading rebounder and shot blocker with 201 (7.2 average) and 50 (1.8 average), respectively. That ranked him fourth in rebounding and first in blocks in the league.

He scored a career-high 21 points in the championship game in last year’s Forest Industries Classic (now the KYLT Classic). He was named the MVP of that tournament. He had a career-high 14 rebounds in a home win over Montana State last season.

Daren was the Montana Player of the Year in 1988 and a Converse All-American, while starring at Geraldine High School. He was named All-State twice, and all-league three times for coach Darrell Holland.

He is a Business major.

Daren’s parents are Ken and Mavis Engellant of Geraldine.

Birthday: April 15, 1970.
22 Roger Fasting 6-5, 183, 2V
Junior Guard from Glendive, Montana

Another returning starter, Roger is the only returning player to have started in all 16 Big Sky Conference games last season. He played in all 29 games, starting in 21.

He led the Grizzlies in scoring in five games last year, including the last two games of the season. He was named the Big Sky Player of the Week for his efforts in home wins over Nevada and Northern Arizona. He scored a career high 22 points in the win over NAU.

"Roger is getting more consistent and finished off last year very strong for us," Morrill said, "and I expect to see him continue to grow and become someone who is consistent night in and night out. He is a very smart basketball player—one of our smartest. If not our smartest player on the floor. He understands offenses and defenses, what you're trying to do, who needs to have the ball, and when.

"He is very unselfish, sometimes to a fault," Morrill said. "He will give the basketball up at every opportunity, and would just as soon make a good pass as score the thing himself. I've encouraged Roger to shoot more three-point shots and he's worked hard on it this past summer. I think that will be an added dimension to his game—to consistently be able to knock down a three-pointer. He is a very good jumper and we will lob the ball to Roger, and he gives us the exciting element of a slam dunk."

He was a three-time All-State selection for coach Don Boss at Dawson County High School, and the Class "A" MVP as a senior. That season he averaged 21 points and 9 rebounds a game, shot 52 percent from the floor and 78 percent from the line. He was the Gatorade Player of the Year and a Converse All-American in 1987. His high school teams won two state championships.

Roger is a Business major.

His hobbies are outdoor activities and listening to music.

His parents are Paul and Sandy Fasting of Glendive.

Birthday: June 1, 1968.

Freshman Guard from Butte, Montana

The Montana Player of the Year two seasons ago, Gary redshirted at UM last season. He will be vying for playing time at the off-guard spot, and because of his three-point shooting ability he should see action this season.

Gary is one of three former Montana prep stars on the current Grizzly roster who was a Player of the Year. Teammates Daren Engellant and Roger Fasting also received that distinction.

"People always talk about Butte people being good, solid people, and I had never experienced that on a daily basis until Gary Kane joined our program," Morrill said. "I'd like the folks in Butte to know that he represents them very well. He is just a wonderful human being, and a good basketball player who is doing nothing but getting better.

"I think one of the keys for Gary is going to be staying consistent emotionally," Morrill said. "He wants to do so well that sometimes he is too hard on himself. Gary is our best pure shooter. He will give us the three-point element that is so important to a basketball team these days. I think he understands to get more minutes, his defense, ball-handling and passing need to improve. We are excited about the dimension he will add to our team."

As a senior at Butte High School he averaged 23 points a game for a 21-1 team that suffered its only loss in the state tournament. His coach was Pat Foley. He was twice named to the All-State team.

He is a cousin of former Grizzly three-sport star Bob O'Billovich, who has been a coach in the Canadian Football League for several years. He is a Business major. He had a 3.5 GPA in high school.

Matt Kempfert
6-8, 210, HS
Freshman Forward from Missoula, Montana

Matt was the Most Valuable Player for the "AA" state champion Hellgate High School Knights in 1990. He was a two-year letterman for coach Eric Hays, a member of Montana's Basketball Hall of Fame.

He was the Gatorade Player of the Year, Montana's Mr. Basketball, a McDonald's All-American team MVP and picked to play for an A.A.U. team in competition against a Soviet all-star team last year. He was also twice first team All-State and all-conference, and team captain as a senior.

As a senior he averaged 23 points and 10 rebounds a game, shooting 64 percent from the field.

"Matt follows in the tradition of a lot of good inside players that we've had, and I'm talking about power forwards and center," Morrill said. "He has the ability to face up at the high post, which is something a lot of kids can't do at this stage of their careers. He needs to develop his low post skills and strength, which he is working on.

"We are excited about his potential," Morrill said. "Potential is a word you use a great deal, and the kids who realize their potential are successful. Matt has that potential. He has soft, soft hands, which is something that I demand from my recruiters. I think he also has the intelligence to be successful at this level, and he knows what it takes. He realizes his future is very bright, and now he needs to go out and realize that future."

A high school teammate, Scott Brown, plays football at Montana.
He is a general studies major.
His hobbies are outdoor sports.
Matt's parents are Al and Chris Kempfert of Missoula. Al is the executive director of the Grizzly Athletic Association at UM.
Birthday: March 7, 1972.

Josh Lacheur
6-9, 232, HS/RS
Freshman Center from Sacramento, California

Josh redshirted last season, and will no doubt be vying for playing time in 1990-91.

“We have to tone Josh down in terms of how much he can do physically, because he loves that part of the game,” Morrill said. “His success offensively will be understanding the finesse part of basketball that goes with the power part of basketball. If his finesse catches up to his ability to play power basketball, then watch out folks, he’ll have a great, great career.

“He does add a very physical element to our practices every single day,” Morrill said.

“Josh can run the floor, jumps extremely well, and along with that strength, we expect him to compete for minutes. How many games he plays as a freshman is going to be up to him and his development, but we’re excited about his contribution possibilities this year.”

Lacheur was named a McDonald's All-American and team MVP as a senior at Casa Robles High for coach Norm Ryan. That season he averaged 18 points, 11 rebounds and 4 blocks for a team that had a 20-11 record. He was first team all-league as a junior and senior. As a junior his team was 26-5.

He is a Business major.
Josh’s parents are Mike and Linda Lacheur of Sacramento.
PRONOUNCED: Luh-sure.
20 Jeremy Lake

A three-sport star at Lambert High School, Jeremy was named All-State and all-conference in basketball all four of his varsity seasons for coach Matt Schriver. He also earned four letters in football and track. He was captain of the football and basketball teams his junior and senior seasons.

His prep basketball teams won conference championships in 1988-89, 90, and he was team MVP as a junior and senior. As a senior he averaged 26 points, 9 rebounds, and 6 assists a game, shooting 57 percent from the field and 80 percent from the free throw line.

He was a member of the Montana-Wyoming All-Star team, and won the three-point shooting contest in the game, making 13 straight three-pointers.

"A lot of people from the smaller schools in Montana are aware of the success that some of the players have had in our program," Morrill said. "We've had a lot of kids from Class 'B' and Class 'C' schools be very successful. A large reason for that is they have an innate ability to succeed, and now all of a sudden they get an opportunity to compete every day against our level of player.

"And I expect Jeremy Lake to blossom as a Grizzly basketball player during his career," Morrill said. "The things you like about Jeremy are the intangibles. He has a big heart and will give you everything he has on a daily basis. He's an excellent three-point shooter, very good ball-handler, understands the game, and it will just be a pleasure to see how he comes along in our program.

"He's as smart a player as he is a student," Morrill said. "It was a surprise to some people when we recruited him, but not to us. We had him in (Grizzly Cage) camp, and I think he's going to prove that he can play Division I basketball."

A Pre-Med major, his hobbies include hunting, fishing and other recreational sports.

Birthday: April 1, 1972.

33 Anthony Mayfield

An All-State (called All-Parish in his home state) player at Northside High School, Anthony was a three-year letterman for coach Felix Johnson. He was an All-District selection his senior season, as well as team captain for his 29-8 team, which was district champion.

He averaged 25.5 points, 8.7 rebounds, and 6.0 assists a game as a senior. That year he shot 50 percent from the field and 78 percent from the free throw line. He was named to Team Louisiana, and "Mr. Northside."

"Anthony had an unbelievable high school career and (Montana) coach Skip Molitor did an excellent job with staying in touch with Anthony's progress," Morrill said. "He fell in love with this part of the country, which is a compliment to our area and the state of Montana.

"He is an excellent athlete with great quickness, and excellent hands." Morrill said. "At 6-5, unlike other kids coming out of high school who have always played underneath, Anthony has the ability to face up, and handle and pass the basketball.

"He needs to get stronger, needs to be more consistent from three; all things that I think will happen as Anthony works on his game," Morrill said. "Has some bright possibilities, and an equally bright future."

In 1989 he was named Mr. Basketball at his school, and scored 44 points in one game.

He has not decided on a major.

Big Sky Conference

The Big Sky Athletic Conference is currently in its 28th season of operation with championships being conducted in 12 sports including men’s and women’s cross country, basketball, indoor track and field, tennis, outdoor track and field, women’s volleyball and men’s football. The Big Sky Conference has nine member institutions and is affiliated with NCAA Division I in all sports. Football the league competes in Division 1-AA.

The 1988-89 athletic season in the Big Sky Conference was the first in which the league will sponsor championship competition in women’s sports. On July 1, 1988, the Mountain West Athletic Conference, located in Cheyney, Washington, merged with the Big Sky, moving and combining office staff in Boise, Idaho. The Mountain West Conference had been in existence since 1982.

The Big Sky Conference consists of Boise State University, Boise, Idaho; Eastern Washington University, Cheney, Washington; University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho; Idaho State University, Pocatello, Idaho; University of Montana, Missoula, Montana; Montana State University, Bozeman, Montana; Montana University, Missoula, Montana; Weber State University, Ogden, Utah. Formed in 1963, the Big Sky Conference consisted of charter members Idaho, Idaho State, Gonzaga (Spokane, Washington), Montana, Montana State and Weber State. Boise State and Northern Arizona joined the league July 1, 1970, in the Big Sky’s first expansion. Nevada-Reno was admitted to the league July 1, 1979, replacing former charter member Gonzaga. On July 1, 1987, Eastern Washington became the Big Sky’s ninth member. When all nine members of the Mountain West Conference and Big Sky Conference were parallel the way was paved to merge the two leagues.

The Big Sky Conference has member institutions in six states and covers more than 220,000 square miles (or almost 1/2d the total square miles in the continental United States). The six states included in the Big Sky Conference (Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah and Washington) span from the Canadian to Mexican borders. The Big Sky Conference is one of two major conferences located in the Rocky Mountain region.

The name BIG SKY originated in a division authorized in 1947 by A. B. (Bud) Guthrie, of Great Falls, Montana, entitled THE BIG SKY. Jack Hollowell, former Montana Advertising Director, promoted the Big Sky theme for the Treasure State. Harry Missildine, of the Spokane SPOKESMAN-REVIEW, called for the Conference to be named "The Big Sky Conference" in his column of February 20, 1963. On February 25, 1963, the Conference name was adopted by the presidents of the newly formed league during a meeting in Spokane, Washington.

Ron Stephenson is the current Conference Commissioner, taking over the post July 1, 1981, from Steve Belko, who had served since 1977. John Roning was the league’s second Commissioner, serving from 1971 until 1977. Jack Friel was the Big Sky’s first Commissioner, serving from 1963 to 1971. Dr. Sharon Holmberg currently serves as Co-Commissioner of the Big Sky Conference after guiding the Mountain West Athletic Conference from its beginning in 1982 until its recent merger with the Big Sky.

Arnie Sgalio serves as the Big Sky’s Information Director, and is beginning his 12th year in that position.

Art Mendini is in his third year with the Big Sky as the league’s first full-time Supervisor of Officials while Kay Johnson is in her third year as the Conference Administrative Assistant.

"With any team you have to look at the potential of that team when the season begins, and we certainly felt like this team continued improving and had a very satisfying season."

"Our future is bright, our players are excited about improving in the off-season, and they are setting high goals collectively and individually. This group wants to win a Big Sky championship and will strive to get it done."
