The Oregon State team that will face Montana here this afternoon is a much stronger outfit than scores this season would indicate. True—the Beavers lost to Michigan State, Stanford, Washington and California in their first four outings, but each of those clubs was rated among the top 10 in the nation when meeting OSC. What’s more, Coach Kip Taylor’s crew was tackling three opponents in succession equally favored for the Pacific Coast conference title.

Such a rugged early-season schedule leads one to believe the days of “breather” football games are over. The Orangemen expect another tough battle today with Montana, then must face UCLA, Idaho, WSC and Oregon on successive weekends.

Orange fans can’t remember when an OSC team has been handicapped by so many injuries in a single season. Several key performers missed the Spartan trip, and John Thomas and Sam Baker pulled up with badly sprained ankles just before the club met Stanford. And against Stanford, Quarterback and star passer Gene Morrow, suffered an eye concussion that kept him out of action against Washington. And so it has gone, all season long—one injury, then another.

Actually, the Beavers should be at their top physical strength for today’s encounter. Morrow is back for full-time action once again and Baker’s ailing ankle is finally responding to treatment. Fortunately, there were no new injuries in the Cal game, even though it was a viciously-fought affair.

Taylor was highly-pleased with several of his linemen against the Bears. Sophomore Clarence Womack showed tremendous improvement at tackle and Jim Clark and John Thomas played their usual fine game. Although guilty of occasional mental lapses, the Beaver line has held well against all opposition this fall.

Best bets for defensive duties are Jim Cordial and Dick Brand, ends; Doug Hogland and H. Clark, tackles; Zarosinski and J. Clark, guards; Al Gray and Redkey, linebackers; Thomas and Wick Skiles, halfbacks; and Bill Sheffield, safety. Taylor’s defense is unusual in that Thomas and Skiles, both offensive wingmen, play the halfback spots.

In 12 contests between the schools, Oregon State has won 10 and two ended in ties.

An Underdog Montana eleven invades Corvalli's Bell field for the 13th time today, hoping that this time it will pull the upset it has been dreaming about since 1925 when these two schools first started their football rivalry.

And this just might be the year. The Grizzlies started the season with a bang by defeating Eastern Washington and Idaho; then losing two close ones, that could have gone either way, to Oregon University and Washington State. Now back on the Victory beam after defeating Montana State College last Saturday, and at full strength the silvertips will be out to prove their worth to the Coast fans.

The Grizzlies have two of the finest passing combinations of the nation in quarterback Tommy Kingsford and End Ray Bauer, All Pacific Coast 1949. This twosome has made the Grizzlies one of the most dangerous aerial teams in the west.

Then comes Paul “Sonny” Wold and Bob “Lefty” Byrne, Left and Right halfback respectively. Sonny is a 5'6", 159 pound demon on two feet who currently has averaged 8 yards per try in rushing. Rated by Washington State as the most determined and aggressive back they have played against. Lefty has an average of 9 yards per plunge and one of the better blockers on the team. The Offensive line is made up of Captain Ken Campbell at Center, Bob Antonick and Gordon Jones at Guard. Classified by Coach Shipkey as two of the finest sophomore guards he has ever coached. Bob Lamley and Dick Reed, a 200 pound pair who are capable of playing 60 minutes of ball will hold down the tackle berths.

Ed Nearing, a transfer from Santa Ana JC, a fast and deceptive junior at left End. At fullback, any one of three sophomores may get Shipkey's nod to start. Bo Laird, Gene Carlson and Geo. Vucurovich all have proved themselves as capable of assuming starting assignments on the Varsity team.

Defensively, the Grizzlies came into their own against Washington State. Allowing the Cougars to trespass into Montana country only twice during the whole game. Stopping the team who just the week before played the powerful University of Southern California to a 20-30 stalemate was a feat that even the Montana’s could not believe. At the Ends the Roster will read Harold Maus, Dick Moomaw; Tackles Jim Murray, Dave Miller; Guards Bob Hanson and Mel Ingram; Line backers Gordy Stewart, Capt. Ken Campbell; Halfbacks Hal Sherbeck, Lloyd Thomas and Safety Charles Murphy.

Promising reserve strength on the traveling squad are Ends Andy Kafentzis, Don Gerlinger, Kicking Specialist, Bob Leonard and Jack Rothwell; Tackles Earl Merrill and John Holland; Guards Fred Volk and Don Orlich; Centers Hendry Watt and Bob Anderson. In the backfield John White, Jack King, Bill Baker, Carol Matye, Bob Graves and Don Campbell.

Shipkey's boys realize they will have to play 60 minutes of do-or-die football to stay in the game with the Beavers. In the twelve previous tilts O.S.C. has averaged over 27 points a game. Anyway the Grizzly isn't conceding the big Oregon Beaver a thing.

So, look out, Beavers!

Grizzly Coaching Staff

TED SHIPKEY, Head football coach, joined the Montana University Athletic Staff last year. Born in Montana (Great Fall, Sept. 28, 1904), Ted moved to California where he was raised and educated. Played three years of Varsity football under the all-time great Glen "Pop" Warner at Stanford, where he was selected All-American End in his senior year. Rated by "Pop" Warner as the greatest pass receiving end he ever coached, Ted still holds a berth on the All-time All-Star Pacific Coast Conference team. Started coaching career at Sacramento Junior College, 1927, moved to Arizona State at Tempe, 1930. Won one championship at the Border Conference school in three years. Won two more championships while head coach at University of New Mexico, 1937-42. His team once defeated Denver University in the Sun Bowl, then coached by Montana's new athletic director, Cac Hubbard. Ted was a Captain in the United States Air Corps in World War II. Returned to University in time for basketball winter of '45 and produced a fast squad that provided stiff competition with their fast breaking, aggressive style of play.

GEORGE P. DAHLBERG—Backfield coach, and football scout. Known better in the Northwest to his friends as "Jiggs", Montana's head basketball coach was graduated from the University, '25, with scholastic honors as well as athletic honors. He spent twelve years coaching high schools in Montana and Washington, then returned to his alma mater in 1937 to take up the reins as basketball coach. Jiggs was basketball mentor and assisted with football until 1942 when he was called into service in the Army. He coached Fort Lawton baseball team to the Washington State semi-pro championship along with putting out some fine basketball teams. He returned to Montana in time for basketball winter of '45 and produced a fast squad that provided stiff competition with their fast breaking, aggressive style of play.

EDWARD S. CHINSKE—Assistant football coach. varsity baseball coach, and freshman basketball and football coach. Eddie came to Montana four years ago with a very impressive high school coaching career. In sixteen years he had the reputation of being one of the best coaches in Montana high school history. At Miles City and Missoula County High his teams won both basketball and football championships. Eddie was a Grizzly athlete himself and captain of the 1928 football squad. He still holds the best percentage of free throws made in entire Varsity competition at the University for basketball. He graduated from the University in 1930.

DICK JOHNSON—End coach. Assistant to Montana's freshman coach last year, Dick played quarterback and halfback. A marine corps veteran of four years, Dick has had wide and varied coaching experience for a young man of 25 years. Now a candidate for his M.A. in physical education.

Beavers Open Basketball Workouts

Coach Slats Gill, now in his 23d season at the helm of Oregon State basketball, is drilling some 22 candidates daily in preparation for the 1950-51 campaign. Practice started Monday, October 16.

Although much too early to evaluate the team's chances this winter, most fans feel the Beavers will be improved over last year. But for that matter, practically every club in the N D will be stronger. Washington has virtually the same lineup back from last season and Oregon plans to use some prize transfers and sophomores. Idaho and WSC will be strong, also.

Outstanding transfers are Danny Johnston, Compton, Calif. Junior college; Bill Kahn, 6 foot 10 inch center from San Francisco City college; Ervin Gisler, Menlo, Calif. JC; Jim Sugrve, Placer, Calif. JC; and Don Koepke, Vanport college.

In early workouts, Gill had Kahn and Payne at forwards; Kinney, center; and Torrey and Johnston, guards, to form one unit. Much of the team's success depends upon the improvement of the stratospheric Kahn. Close battles are anticipated at every position.

The Beavers will play one of their stiffest pre-season schedules in history. They open the season against Canisius at Buffalo, followed by a Madison Square Garden clash with New York university. On December 7, the Orangemen tackle Bradley at Peoria, followed by games on successive nights with Illinois (at Champaign) and Indiana (at Bloomington).

The Phillips Oilers, national AAU champions, invade Corvallis December 16, which precedes Oregon State's Portland game with Portland university December 19. Pittsburgh university comes here for a two-game series December 22-23 and the Beavers close the pre-season slate at home against Stewart Chevrolet, another top AAU quint which boasts the services of Cliff Crandall, ex-OSC great.

Rooks Play at Seattle

The Oregon State Rooks, 23-7 victors over the University of Oregon Frosh, meet the strong Washington Freshmen at Seattle today in a game that may well decide first-year supremacy in the Pacific Northwest.

Coach Hal Moe's outfit has been sparked by Left Halfback Dave Mann, from Castlemont high school in Oakland. Other remaining games on the Rook schedule are against the Lewis & Clark college jayvees and the Oregon Ducklings again.

The Husky Pups steamrollered Idaho's Freshmen, 61-7, last Saturday and are reputed to be one of the strongest Washington first-year groups in many seasons.

Moe's assistants this fall are Raymond L. "Butch" Morse, Dick Gray, Jay Simon and Rudy Ruppe.
