Birthplace and hometown of author Norman McLean, who wrote A River Runs Through It, Missoula is also known as the "Garden City" for its dense trees and lush green landscape. Missoula is nestled in the heart of the Northern Rockies in western Montana. A community of approximately 57,000 residents, Missoula lies in a mountain forest setting where five valleys converge. Missoula is Montana's most culturally diverse city. It is 140 miles from Glacier National Park and 270 miles from Yellowstone National Park.

The search for gold in the West and the completion of the Mullan Road, which opened up travel from Fort Benton, Mont., to Walla Walla, Wash., brought people to the valley in 1860. Missoula began as a settlement called Hell Gate when C.P. Higgins and Francis Worden began a trading post to accommodate the travelers. The settlement was later renamed Missoula, taken from a Salish Flathead Indian word, Imisuletiku, "At the stream or water of surprise." (Missoula, the Way It Was, Lenora Koelbe, 1972).

Early settlers constructed Fort Missoula in 1877 to combat the perceived threat by Native American tribes. Today the Fort Missoula Museum remains a testament to the West.

Missoula offers a variety of recreational opportunities. Three major rivers run through the area: the famous Blackfoot River to the northeast, the beautiful Bitterroot River to the south, and the Clark Fork of the Columbia River, which flows adjacent to The University of Montana campus. Rock Creek, known for its blue ribbon trout fishing, is just a 20-minute drive from Missoula.

Fly fishermen, rafters, kayakers, and canoers thrive on the waters of western Montana. Flathead Lake, the largest natural freshwater lake in the western United States, is just 70 miles north of Missoula. Seeley Lake, Georgetown Lake, Placid Lake and Salmon Lake are an hour away.

Hiking, biking, camping, rock climbing, and hang gliding are a few activities enjoyed in western Montana. Mount Sentinel, Mount Jumbo, Lolo Peak, and Blue Mountain offer beautiful vistas. Blue Mountain Recreation Area, Pattee Canyon Recreation Area, and the Rattlesnake National Wilderness Area are nearby. The Bitterroot-Selway Wilderness Area, Bob Marshall Wilderness Area, the Mission Mountains, and the Seeley-Swan Range are a short drive from Missoula.

Missoula abounds with skiing opportunities. Snowbowl Ski Area is a 20-minute drive from downtown Missoula and features a continuous vertical drop of 2,600 feet, one of the steepest in the country. Marshall Ski Area, a short 10-minute drive from downtown, features night skiing and offers a good student program. Big Mountain, Discovery, Lookout, Lost Trail, and Silver Mountain ski areas--all within close proximity to western Montana--provide a variety of options for skiers.

Other area attractions include "A Carousel for Missoula" (one of the first fully hand-carved carousels to be built in America since the Great Depression), Garnet Ghost Town, the National Bison Range, the Ninemile Remount Depot and Ranger Station, the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation Wildlife Visitor Center, and the Smokejumper Visitor Center.

Missoula Parks and Recreation and the YMCA provide a variety of recreational opportunities in basketball, soccer, softball, tennis, volleyball, and ice skating. Little League baseball is popular for both boys and girls, and Missoula teams have consistently advanced to regional competition.

Missoula also serves as a center for education, health care, retail, and the arts. The University of Montana provides educational opportunities for more than 12,000 college students, and Missoula's five high schools are among the state's best in both academics and athletics. Community Medical Center and St. Patrick Hospital, along with many clinics, make Missoula one of the state's premier health care communities.

The Missoula community supports the arts in all its forms: theater productions, dance, art, and music. The Missoula Children's Theater, founded in 1970, moved into a renovated building near campus and produces plays and musicals by national and local playwrights for both adults and children. The theater also has an International Tour Project, bringing theatrical productions to audiences outside the Missoula area. The Garden City Ballet and Missoula Symphony, which is in its 50th season, bring performances and concerts to the community year round. The Art Museum of Missoula, located in the old Carnegie Library in downtown Missoula, sponsors changing exhibits and also has a permanent collection that focuses on Western contemporary art.

One of the most desirable places to live in the United States, western Montana has become an attractive residence for those looking for pristine beauty and serenity. Even some of America's famous people, such as Liz Claiborne, Tom Cruise, Emilio Estevez, Phil Jackson, and Charlie Sheen, have made western Montana their home.

American Heritage Magazine selected Missoula as the 1999 Great American Place, and Sunset Magazine selected Missoula as the "Best Community" in the West in 1999, and, according to the September 2001 issue of Outside Magazine, Missoula was selected as one of 10 "dream towns" in America.

Missoula is easily accessible by either Interstate 90 from the east and west or by Highway 93 to the north and south. Missoula International Airport has a number of flights daily in and out of Missoula by the major airlines Delta, Northwest, United, and Horizon. Big Sky Airlines also lands in Missoula several times a day. It serves throughout Montana, Spokane, Wash., North Dakota and Denver.

Out to Lunch is a popular summer pastime in downtown Missoula every week from early June through the last Wednesday in August. It features food venues and live music. (Photo by Mark Gorseth, courtesy Missoula Downtown Assoc.)

University (Main) Hall

The University of Montana was the state's first college. Chartered on February 17, 1893, the school opened its doors to its first 50 students in what is now called University Hall. More than 100 years later, The University of Montana-Missoula is the center of liberal arts education and research in the state.

The school has gone through numerous changes over the years. In 1913 the school was renamed the State University of Montana, and in 1935, it was renamed Montana State University. It wasn't until 1965 that the institution recaptured its original name, The University of Montana. In 1988 Western Montana College in Dillon became part of UM, and in 1994, the Montana Board of Regents approved a restructuring plan to create two universities within the Montana University System. Along with The University of Montana-Western, The University of Montana also includes Montana Tech in Butte and the Helena College of Technology.

The University of Montana provides a high-quality, well-rounded education to students and a wide range of services to Montanans. UM is a major source of research, continuing education, economic development, civic engagement, fine arts and entertainment, and serves as a driving force in strengthening Montana's ties with countries throughout the world.

UM's Missoula campus comprises the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate School, the Davidson Honors College, the College of Technology, and seven professional schools: business administration, education, fine arts, forestry, journalism, law, and pharmacy and allied health sciences. The University of Montana also has an excellent physical therapy department and offers two-year programs in business, trades and industry, and technical and health occupations.

UM continues to grow with 12,668 students. The student body is 52 percent female and 48 percent male. Last year Montana enrolled 315 foreign students from 60 countries.

Located at the base of Mount Sentinel and on the banks of the Clark Fork River, the 200-acre campus is one of the most scenic in the nation.

Campus life offers a variety of choices for UM students. Dormitory living provides nine halls with various options on campus. Elrod Hall is the male dorm; Turner Hall is the female dorm; and Aber, Craig, Duniway, Jesse, Miller, and Knowles halls are co-ed. Pantzer Hall, which provides four-person suites, was completed in 1995.

Family housing can be found just three blocks south of the main campus in University Villages and Toole Village. Students interested in the Greek life have four sororities and seven fraternities from which to choose.

The University of Montana has a nine-hole golf course, located just south of the main campus. The Grizzly Pool is a seven-lane, 25-yard indoor swimming pool that is used for numerous classes and programs and has been recently upgraded. The Fitness and Recreation Center, adjacent to the Adams Center, has undergone a major renovation. Finished in Fall 2001, it provides students with three levels of state-of-the-art exercise equipment, racquetball, handball and basketball courts, and a two-story glass enclosed climbing wall, "the wall with a view."

The Outdoor Program provides opportunities for the campus community to participate in recreational activities such as rafting, kayaking, climbing, hiking, backpacking and skiing.

UM owns and operates Lubrecht Experimental Forest, a 28,000-acre teaching and research forest. Located approximately 30 miles northeast of Missoula, Lubrecht Forest provides students the opportunity to learn tree thinning and harvesting techniques in addition to forest and ecological projects.

The Flathead Lake Biological Station, located at Yellow Bay on the east side of the lake, is a year-round research facility and academic center for the ecological sciences. The freshwater research laboratory encompasses 80 acres.

UM also has had 47 international Fulbright Scholars, nine Truman Scholars, 10 Goldwater Scholars, 13 Udall Scholars, and 28 Rhodes Scholars.

The University was listed among the top 25 universities and colleges in the nation for Peace Corps recruiting, was named one of the nation's best paddling colleges in Paddler magazine and is profiled in America's 100 Best College Buys and Barron's Best Buys in College Education.

The University of Montana offers 14 intercollegiate athletic programs for student-athletes in football, men's and women's basketball, women's volleyball, soccer and golf, men's and women's cross country, tennis, and both indoor and outdoor track & field.

Montana is a charter (1963) member of the Big Sky Conference, which consists of eight teams: Cal State-Sacramento, Eastern Washington, Idaho State, Montana, Montana State, Northern Arizona, Portland State and Weber State.

The Montana Grizzlies have always been a force to reckon with, particularly in the revenue sports. The Grizzly football team has had unprecedented success in the 1990s and early 2000's, winning the NCAA Division I-AA National Football Championship title in 1995 and 2001, and advancing to the title game in 1996 and 2000.

Montana's gridders have registered 16 winning seasons in a row, and set a Big Sky record by making their ninth straight appearance in the playoffs in 2001.

The Griz had 19 players named to the All-Big Sky team in 2001, and senior safety Vince Huntsberger was named the MVP on defense. Montana had eight different players named to All-American teams last season.

The Grizzly basketball team has posted 23 winning seasons in the past 25 years. Guard David Bell was a first team all-conference selection following the 2001-2002 season, while forward Dan Trammel was an honorable mention pick for the second year in a row.

Montana won the Big Sky's post-season tournament in Bozeman last season, beating Eastern Washington 70-66 in the title game and advancing to the NCAA tournament for the fifth time in school history, losing 81-62 to Oregon in a first round game played in Sacramento, California's ARCO Arena.

The Griz hoop teams own five Big Sky trophies, including back-to-back titles in 1991 and 1992.

Lady Griz head coach Robin Selvig (UM 1974), who played hoops for the Griz, has a 24-year record of 555-158. In 1999-2000 he became the seventh coach in NCAA Division I women's basketball to win 500 games at one school.

Last season, senior guard Cheryl Keller and freshman center Hollie Tyler were named to the all-conference first team, with Tyler also garnering the Outstanding Freshman Award.

The Lady Griz basketball team was ranked 26th in the nation in attendance in 2001-02 with an average of 3,468 fans and has been among the top 20 for 17 of the past 19 years.

The Lady Griz basketball team recorded their 20th 20-win season in the past 22 years in 2000-01, going 21-9. They have won 14 Big Sky titles and advanced to the NCAA tournament 14 times.

The 2001 Grizzly volleyball team of second-year head coach Nikki Best was decimated with injuries. Last year sophomore outside hitter Lizzie Wertz was an honorable mention all-conference pick. Montana has advanced to the Big Sky Championships 11 times in the 15-year history of the tournament.

UM's women's soccer team has gone 101-47-4 since head coach Betsy Duerksen took over the inaugural program eight seasons ago. Last season, defenders Kerri Houck and Elisa Scherb were chosen first team all-conference, along with mid-fielders Nikki Boldstad and Liz Roberts. Midfielder McKenzie Zajonc was tabbed the league's "Defensive MVP."

In 2000, Montana's women's soccer team advanced to the NCAA Championships and made it to the second round before losing to second-seed Washington in Seattle.

Coach Kris Nord led the men's and women's tennis teams to the 2002 Big Sky Championships, where they faced tough competition. Freshman Lindsey Torgerson was an honorable mention all-league selection last season.

Montana's women's golf coach, Joanne Steele, has consistently put together competitive teams for the past six years. This past year the Lady Griz placed second in the Big Sky championships -- their highest finish ever. Montana sophomore Katie Jacobson won the individual title, also a first for the Griz.

The Grizzly cross country women and men's teams both finished fourth in the conference championships last season.

The Griz track and field teams had a solid 2002 season, with coach Tom Raunig and his assistants sending 39 athletes to the outdoor Big Sky championships, which were hosted by Montana.

The men's team had a lofty second-place finish, while the women's squad finished fourth.

For the second year in a row Adam Bork earned All-America honors at the outdoor championships by placing sixth in the decathlon. He is UM's fourth All-America decathlete in five years. Junior Scott McGowan earned All-America honors in the outdoor 1500 meters after earning All-America honors in the indoor mile.

Athletic facilities at Montana have improved dramatically over the last few years. One of those improvements was a $14.3 million renovation to the field house, which created Adams Center. The Adams Center features two new auxiliary gyms, a major facelift for Dahlberg Arena, a new weight center, an athletic treatment center, locker rooms, and an academic center for student-athletes.

Washington-Grizzly football stadium was completed in 1986 and can accommodate a total of 19,005 fans. The natural-grass stadium gave way to SprinTurf for the 2001 season. A million dollars was given by an anonymous donor for the new playing surface, which is named "John Hoyt Field."

Dornblaser Stadium, located on the UM south campus, recently went through a complete refurbishing and is now one of the nicest outdoor track facilities in the conference.

UM's South Campus Soccer Stadium was completed in 1996 and features a fully fenced venue, scoreboard, remodeled locker rooms, and seating for 1,000.

The University also has its own golf course, several soccer fields, and a newly remodeled swimming pool.

A renovated state-of-the-art campus recreation facility, which is adjacent to Adams Center, opened in the fall of 2001. It features racquetball and basketball courts, aerobic/cardio-vascular workout rooms, expanded weight room, locker rooms, a climbing wall, and a juice bar and sandwich counter. The facility is located on four floors.

Grizzly athletes receive outstanding support services in the areas of academics, athletic treatment, equipment, financial aid, and sports information.

The University of Montana has had 28 Rhodes Scholars. UM ranks 15th among American colleges and universities in the number of Rhodes Scholars it has produced, fifth among public universities.

UM's School of Education graduates compete very successfully for jobs. A high percentage of those with bachelor's degrees and graduate degrees find teaching, administrative and other education-related positions in Montana and many other states.

The Department of Social Work is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education, making UM the only Montana public school that prepares its graduates to apply for advanced standing in graduate schools of social work.

The Department of Drama/Dance has a professional theater group—the Montana Repertory Theatre based on campus. The Rep, which tours throughout the nation, is the only touring professional actors equity company between Minneapolis and Seattle.

KUFM, a non-commercial public radio station operated by the UM Broadcast Media Center, reaches an estimated 400,000 Montanans in central and western Montana. KUFM-TV is a non-commercial public television station also operated by the Broadcast Media Center. KBGA Radio is a student-run campus radio station.

Nine UM students have received Truman Scholarships. The national scholarship is given annually to students committed to a government career who have superior academic ability and leadership potential.

The Department of Anthropology has the largest collection of artifacts and records of prehistory in the region.

UM's Montana Museum of Art and Culture has the largest art collection in the state.

The School of Business is the only business school in Montana to be accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business at the graduate level. Year in and year out, a high percentage of the school's accounting graduates pass the Certified Public Accountant Exam on their first try.

The Department of Geology has a strong nationally known program in traditional geology and environmental geoscience.

The Department of Geography has one of the Northwest's best cartography laboratories, where students learn to make maps and interpret aerial photography.

The Flathead Lake Biological Station, located about 80 miles north of Missoula, is the oldest biological station west of the Mississippi. The UM research station is one of the finest facilities in the country for ecological studies and freshwater research.

The Department of Health and Human Performance is one of a handful in the country that prepares students to be athletic trainers.

The School of Journalism has had seven Pulitzer Prize winners. UM journalism student Bruce Ely was named College Photographer of the Year in the 1998 national competition for the Hearst Journalism Awards Program.

UM's graduate creative writing program, started in 1919 by H.G. Merriam, is the second oldest program of its kind in the country and is consistently ranked among the top 10 programs nationwide. Well-known Montana writer and poet James Welch is a graduate of the program.

A significant sign of UM's commitment to academics came in 1993 when former faculty athletic representative Dr. Robert O. Lindsay developed a program at UM to honor student athletes who excel in the classroom. Since then, UM has recognized student athletes who earn a 3.0 grade point average or higher at the annual Lindsay Academic Awards Dinner. Last year, a record 140 student-athletes were recognized at the awards function.

The Big Sky Conference has had 47 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship selections since 1965, and of those players, 13 have been Grizzlies. Last season, football player Vince Huntsberger received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship, becoming the 11th Montana student-athlete so honored in the last 11 years. During the 2001-02 season, 81 UM athletes from all sports earned Big Sky All-Academic honors, including four from volleyball.

The volleyball team has one of the top team grade point averages in the UM athletic department. The volleyball team has won two of the last four Montana Athletic Director's Academic Awards, given annually to the team with the highest GPA in the athletic department. In addition, Inga Swanson (1994 and 1995) and Katy Kubista (2000, 2001, 2002) have received the Montana President's Athletic Director's Award for having the athletic department's highest individual grade point average.

Athletic Performance Center

As part of the recent renovation to the Adams Center, a 7,000-square foot Athletic Performance Center was created. The current facility is approximately twice as large as the previous weight room that had been used in the Adams Center over the years.

The new center, which is home to the Griz student-athletes, is geared to enhance the overall athletic performance of the teams.

The Athletic Performance Center staff designs, implements and evaluates strength and conditioning programs for all Grizzly athletes.

Chris Wieseman, director of the Athletic Performance Center, oversees the volleyball team's training efforts.

The department has the team participate in a number of ground-based exercises combined with various agility and on-court drills to develop strength, speed and explosiveness. "This comprehensive approach to training provides the athletes with the stimuli they need to maximize their performance on the court," said Wieseman.

The team continues to work out during the season and spring practices. However, maintenance training, which lacks the volume and high intensity of off season training, is performed during competitive cycles. This form of training allows athletes to focus their efforts to the court, as opposed to their training in the weight room.

Wieseman said the goal of the Athletic Performance Center is to be as sport specific as possible. He added the program

Chris Wieseman enters his fourth season at the University of Montana as the director of the Athletic Performance Center. He holds an undergraduate degree in community health education from the University of Nebraska.

He spent three years at Nebraska as a student assistant strength coach, developing and implementing various strength and conditioning programs with the Cornhuskers' athletic teams.

A native of Stromsburg, Neb., Wieseman's wife's name is Tara.

Lacey Degnan

Asst. Director of Athletic Performance Center

Lacey Degnan is in his fourth year as the Assistant Director of the Athletic Performance Center.

A native of Athens, Ga., Degnan received a bachelor's degree in psychology from Barry College in Rome, Ga., in 1996. He then completed an internship with the Miami Dolphins, in addition to spending two summers as a volunteer at the University of Georgia.

Degnan worked as a graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska in its athletic performance center from 1998-99 before coming to Montana.

is scientifically-based and periodized, intended to increase one's athleticism, as well as decrease an athlete's susceptibility to injury.

The squad undergoes an extensive off-season program in the summer as well as an eight-week program from January until spring practice sessions begin. "Training for volleyball has become a 12-month endeavor. The program evolves through several cycles over the course of the calendar year, building towards the climax of the fall season," according to Wieseman.

"Our goal is not to make them world class weightlifters, but to provide the athletes the tools they will need to excel in the game of volleyball," said Wieseman.

Naseby Rhinehart Athletic Training Center

Completed in the fall of 1999, the newly-remodeled Rhinehart Athletic Training Center boasts 7,200 square feet of space and includes an enlarged rehabilitation area. Also included are athletic trainers' offices, six hydrotherapy units and a consulting office where nutritionists and doctors can meet with athletes. There are also classrooms for the athletic training curriculum.

Jennifer Mason, an assistant certified athletic trainer, serves as the primary contact for volleyball. She is in her fifth year working at Montana.

Naseby "Doc" Rhinehart came to Missoula in 1931 from Milwaukee, Wis., to play football and basketball. He also competed in track and field where he had bests of 23 feet in the long jump and 140 feet in the discus.

After graduating in 1935 from the University of Montana, Rhinehart was asked if he was interested in becoming the UM head certified athletic trainer. He did and stayed at the University for 47 years, retiring in 1982. He was one of the first people in the nation to develop an athletic training curriculum (1971) at a university.

Jennifer Mason

Asst. Certified Athletic Trainer

As an assistant certified athletic trainer, Jennifer Mason's responsibilities include primary athletic training duties for volleyball and women's basketball in addition to teaching various athletic training courses.

Mason spent a year as an assistant athletic trainer at Vanderbilt from 1997-98. She received a B.S. in kinesiology and biology from Colorado in 1995 and earned a master's degree in physical education and kinesiology from Cal State-Hayward in 1997. While working on her M.S. degree, she served as a graduate assistant athletic trainer at Cal-Berkeley from 1995-97. She also served as a student athletic trainer at Colorado from 1992-95.

A native of Genoa, Nevada, Mason was a middle hitter for the Colorado women's volleyball team in 1990 and 1991. She received a NACDA Sears Directors' Cup Postgraduate Scholarship in 1995. She has been certified by the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA) since 1995.

jury and renders whatever care is needed. Depending on the extent of the injury, the student-athlete visits the center daily, at least two to three times, for treatment and rehabilitation exercises. The athletic training staff works together with the Athletic Performance staff to monitor the student-athlete's strengthening exercises. Once student-athletes have regained strength and function, they are allowed to return to the playing field or court.

Although athletic trainers provide injury care, they also promote injury prevention. Preventative maintenance occurs in the form of injury-screening processes, flexibility, taping and strengthening exercises.

Montana has a well-established athletic training curriculum which allows instructors to work directly with the student-athletes.

Jacobson Academic Center

The latest addition to academic services for student athletes is the Jacobson Academic Center. Thanks to the generous contributions of Curt and Lanni Jacobson, student-athletes now have a computer lab/study room to use during the day.

The Jacobson Academic Center has six computers and a laser printer. In addition, there are five additional spaces for individual studying. A small conference room is available for group studying.

The Jacobson Academic Center is a key component in the success of Grizzly student-athletes in the classroom. In addition to student-athletes independently using the Jacobson Academic Center, Athletic Academic Services uses the facility for several of its programs.

Under the guidance of coordinator Jean Cornwall, Athletic Academic Services offers tutoring, advising and study tables at the center.

The Jacobson Academic Center is located on the Adam Center's ground floor, down the hall from the weight room.

George M. Dennison, President

George Dennison, the 16th president of The University of Montana, begins his 13th year at the University. He served on the NCAA Division I Board of Directors from 1997-2000, and chaired the Big Sky Conference Presidents' Council in 1992-93.

Dennison, a native Montanan, came to UM from Kalamazoo, Mich., where he served as the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs of Western Michigan University from 1987-90. In earlier years, he spent time at the universities of Arkansas and Washington prior to 18 years at Colorado State University in Fort Collins.

At Colorado State, he started as a history professor then served in numerous other positions. He simultaneously held the positions of Associate Dean of the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences and Associate Dean of the Graduate School for International Development Studies. He also served as Acting Academic Vice President, Associate Academic Vice President and Director of Admissions and Records.

An historian by training, Dennison received his bachelor's degree with high honors in history from UM in 1962. He received his master's degree from UM in 1963, then earned his Ph.D. in history from the University of Washington in 1967. He has written numerous publications and made several professional presentations in both history and higher education.

Dennison serves on several boards. He chairs the Montana Commission on Community Service and serves on the Board of the International Heart Institute of Montana, the Community Medical Center Advisory Committee, the Campus Compact Executive Committee, the Board of Directors of the International Student Exchange Program, and the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Foundation.

George and his wife Jane have two sons, Rick and Robert. Rick played college football at Colorado State then joined the Denver Broncos. He played linebacker for Denver for nine years and now serves as the offensive coach. Robert teaches math and computer programming in Tecumseh, Kansas, and coaches football, wrestling, and track. The Dennisons have four grandchildren.

Wayne Hogan, Athletic Director

Montana Athletic Director Wayne Hogan, who is beginning his seventh year at the helm, has indoctrinated Griz fans to the constant hum of progress and a well-documented desire for success. Wayne has been called the "champion of change," and he has been undeterred in leading the Grizzly program to levels of greatness never imagined by Grizzly faithful as recently as 15 years ago.

The 46-year-old native Floridian has an association with intercollegiate athletics for more than 25 years. Hogan has known nothing but victories and championships. Hogan's six-year stint has included two football National Championships and a myriad of conference titles and NCAA appearances. He solidified his commitment to Montana and 1-AA Football by accepting a four-year appointment to the powerful eight-member NCAA 1-AA Football Committee in 2000. Meanwhile, physical improvements and additions to the athletic facilities at Montana have been all-encompassing since his arrival.

Hogan's career spans over two decades, including a 20-year association with Florida State University, his alma mater. He played an integral role in that program's rise from relative mediocrity in the 1970's to one of the nation's premier athletic programs today. In true "rags-to-riches" form, Hogan's first job at FSU was that of an unpaid student intern in 1974. Twenty years later he became the school's interim Athletic Director, overseeing 15 sports and a $28 million budget. During his time in Tallahassee the Seminoles won an incredible 190 football games, 14 of 16 bowl games and a National Championship in 1993. The basketball program reached the Sweet 16 and the Elite Eight in successive years, and Hogan was instrumental in the school's acceptance into the prestigious Atlantic Coast Conference.

Since his arrival in Missoula, the success of the football program has reached new heights. Three different head coaches – two of whom were hired by Hogan – have led the Grizzlies to an incredible 73-15 record since his arrival at mid-season in 1995. Four times the Grizzlies have appeared in the 1-AA National Championship game, bringing home titles in 1995 and 2001. Hogan counts six Big Sky Conference football championships and Grizzly teams have been in the 1-AA playoffs every year. Other sports have flourished as well. On two occasions, 1996 and 1999, UM won conference championships in football and men's and women's basketball. A sweep of the "big three" in a single year had never been accomplished in league history.

Prior to 1995, outright gifts to athletics at UM for more than $10,000 were virtually non-existent. By comparison, in just the last 24 months individual benefactors have provided a gift of $1 million for synthetic turf (Griz Grass) and other improvements at Washington-Grizzly Stadium; a gift from the late John C. Hoyt of $650,000 for completion of the athletic offices that bear his name; a donation of more than $500,000 from Mark and Anne Timmons of Missoula for a complete overhaul of the Dornblaser Track complex; and a collective gift approaching $300,000 raised by the National Advisory Board for Grizzly Athletics to design and construct the Hall of Champions, a display of Grizzly memorabilia and history to adorn the south concourse at Adams Center.

Hogan's personnel moves have also been highly visible. Early on, he was saddled with the responsibility to replace the legendary Don Read as head football coach. His choice of Mick Dennehy proved to be on target as the Grizzly program continued its Big Sky dominance and its 1-AA playoff run. When Dennehy left for Utah State in 2000, Hogan plucked Joe Glenn, a two-time National Champion at Division II Northern Colorado. Glenn, quite simply, was the perfect fit for UM. His 28-3 start and back-to-back title game trips say it all. Hogan has also added popular track coach Tom Raunig, whose team has returned Montana to the top of the Big Sky heap after a lengthy hiatus. Nikki Best, top recruiter and assistant coach at powerhouse Nebraska, also jumped on Hogan's team as volleyball coach. Most recently, Hogan coerced Pat Kennedy, a winner of nearly 400 Division I basketball games at Iona, Florida State and DePaul to take up residency at Montana – a move that shook the basketball world and put Montana squarely in the national basketball spotlight. Kennedy is the most successful men's basketball coach ever to work in the Big Sky Conference.

Hogan's path to Montana is an interesting one. He received a Bachelor's Degree in Communication from Florida State in 1979 and then worked for two minor league baseball teams as a broadcaster and public relations specialist. He spent one year in Charleston, W.Va., with the Houston Astros AAA farm club before moving to Albuquerque and a stint with the Los Angeles Dodgers Triple A affiliate. While in Albuquerque, Hogan was coaxed back into college athletics, becoming the assistant sports information and marketing director at the University of New Mexico. He returned to Florida State in 1982 as the school's sports information director. Hogan was promoted to assistant athletic director in 1992 and became the interim athletic director for the 1994-95 year.

In Missoula, Hogan has been active and serves on the Convention and Visitor's Bureau Board as well as the executive board of the Missoula Rotary Club. Wayne is married to the former Dawn Dewberry of Treasure Island, Fla., and they have three children: Lindsay, Kelly and J.P., a sixth-grader at Meadow Hill School.

Marie Porter

Associate Athletic Director

Marie Porter oversees the Olympic and all women's sports plus the areas of academics and rules compliance. Entering her 11th year at UM, she is the department's senior woman administrator and is a member of several Big Sky Conference committees.

She has served as tournament director for several events, including the 1997 NCAA Women's West Regional Basketball Championship, and currently serves on the NCAA Division I Championships and Competition Cabinet.

Porter was UM's first-ever coordinator of athletic academic services from 1992-96, developing and implementing the inaugural Academic Services program for Grizzly Athletics. She served as the assistant women's tennis coach from 1993-95 and was a freshman seminar instructor from 1992-96. She currently advises UM's Student-Athlete Advisory Board and directs the Griz A.C.E.S. life skills program.

Before arriving at UM in 1992, Porter served as an academic counselor at Washington State University from 1990-92. She is a graduate of the University of Kansas, receiving her B.A. in psychology with honors (1988) and her M.A. in social psychology (1990).

The former Marie Hibbard was a four-year standout on the Jayhawk tennis team. She was the KU Outstanding Woman Student-Athlete in 1986, 1987, and 1988, plus a two-time GTE Academic All-American (1987, 1988).

Marie is married to Mark Porter. Marie and Mark have two sons, Henry and Grant.

James Bandy

Assistant Athletic Director, Compliance

James Bandy begins his fourth year as Assistant Athletic Director for Compliance. He oversees the day-to-day operations of maintaining the athletic department's compliance with NCAA, Big Sky Conference and University rules and regulations.

Bandy came to Montana after serving in the same position at the University of Houston for almost four years. Prior to working at Houston, Bandy was a graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln from 1991 to 1993 before being promoted to assistant compliance coordinator and serving in that role from 1993 to 1995.

He received a bachelor of arts in journalism from Georgia State in 1988 and a M.Ed. in athletic administration from Nebraska in 1993. Before entering collegiate athletics administration, Bandy worked for public relations agencies in Orlando, Fla., and Nashville, Tenn.

James and his wife, Kate Sandy, have a son Parker.

Kevin Ludwig

Assistant Sports Information Director

Kevin joined sports information in December of 2000. He handles media relations and publications for women's basketball, volleyball, soccer, men's and women's cross country, and track and field.

Kevin came from Wayne State College in Wayne, Neb., where he was the sports information director from October of 1996 until coming to UM. While there, he was the sports information contact for 15 NCAA Division II varsity programs.

Prior to his position at Wayne State, he was the assistant sports information director at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley from 1992-96. He was also the sports information director at Midland Lutheran College in Fremont, Neb., from 1990-92.

Ludwig graduated from Midland with a B.A. degree in journalism in 1990. He earned a Master of Arts degree from Northern Colorado in 1994. Kevin and his wife Molli have a daughter Brittani.

Dan Hawley

Marketing and Promotions Director

Dan Hawley joined the athletic department as its marketing and promotions director in July 2001. He is responsible for the development and production of promotional themes to enhance interest and awareness of UM's athletic teams. He oversees the logistics for radio, television and print advertising for all athletic events, and coordinates game-day events.

Hawley came to UM from the University of Wyoming, where he served as the assistant director of marketing for more than a year. Prior to that he was an intern at Wyoming in 1998 and 1999.

While at Wyoming he was responsible for organizing and coordinating the "Sixth Man Club," a student group that supported and promoted Cowboy basketball. The "Sixth Man Club" was the largest student group on UW's campus.

At UW, he also assisted in day-to-day marketing, development, event management, as well as ticket and public relations issues. He developed game-day and halftime promotions for football, basketball, and Olympic sports.

Hawley is a 1999 graduate of the University of Wyoming, majoring in marketing.

Jean Cornwall

Coordinator of Athletic Academic Services

Jean Cornwall was appointed UM's Coordinator of Athletic Academic Services in January, 1999. She oversees UM student-athletes in academic progress, advising on course curriculum, tutoring, referring to campus support services, overseeing completion of general education requirements, and upholding NCAA academic regulations.

Cornwall previously served as UM's Coordinator of the Four Bear Four-Year Graduation Program from 1995-99. She served as an academic advisor, program assistant, assistant to the director and receptionist since she began work at UM in 1991.

A native of Lewistown, Cornwall received a B.A. in psychology from UM in 1995 and is pursuing a master's degree in public administration.

WEST AUXILIARY GYM (WAG)

The Adams Center auxiliary gymnasiums were completed in 1998, providing Grizzly Athletics with two additional facilities for athletic events and practices.

The auxiliary gymnasiums are located just south of the newly-renovated Adams Center and north of the Grizzly Pool. The facility is split into two separate venues. The West Auxiliary Gymnasium (WAG) is the playing venue for the Montana volleyball program. The East Auxiliary Gymnasium (EAG) is a practice facility for all UM programs, particularly during the winter months when indoor training is needed.

The WAG is large enough to set up three volleyball courts, allowing it to be conducive to regular-season tournaments, summer camps and other events as needed. It also has been used as a practice area for both UM basketball teams.

The Griz christened the WAG in 1999 with an impressive 10-1 record, highlighted by a season-opening eight-match win streak.

The WAG features a permanent maple wood floor and a high-intensity lighting system. A scoreboard from Dahlberg Arena was mounted on the south side of the WAG and permanent shot clocks for basketball were mounted behind the backstops. A state-of-the-art public-address system is in place, and eight speakers were installed at ceiling height to provide quality sound throughout the facility. The volleyball program also purchased nets, standards, pads, and transport carts to aid in the transition to the facility. During the summer of 2002, the playing surface was repainted, providing a more intimate atmosphere for matches.

With a seating capacity of 1,218, the WAG provides a home-court advantage for the Grizzlies. Four of the 10 largest crowds in the WAG's three-year existence came during the 2001 season. That included a record 723 for a match against Montana State.

The Grizzlies attracted 723 fans last year for their match against Montana State. It was the largest crowd to see a volleyball match in the WAG's three-year history. Four of the top 10 crowds at the WAG came during the 2001 season.

The entire facility is handicap accessible from both the east and west sides. The connecting south concourse of the Adams Center is used for ticket sales, food and beverage sales, and restrooms.

Montana's main facility, the Adams Center, opened in the fall of 1999 after nearly two years and $15 million of renovation. The improvements, along with the addition of the auxiliary facility, make The University of Montana one of the best places to play volleyball in the Big Sky Conference.

Nikki Best, Head Coach

Success has been a part of life for Nikki Best for as long as she can remember.

While attending Lincoln East High School (Neb.), she was the first Spartan athlete to earn 12 letters in her high school career. Best won two volleyball state championships, one basketball state championship and was a multiple state track meet qualifier and place winner each of her four years as a Spartan. In 1990, Best was named the State of Nebraska's "Athlete of the Year" by the Lincoln Journal Star and the Omaha World-Herald for her athletic exploits. She was inducted in to the Lincoln East High School Athletic Hall of Fame in 1994.

Her storybook career continued after enrolling at the University of Nebraska. The Huskers posted a 106-20 record with three league titles and a trip to the Final Four during her four seasons. She capped her career as the 1993 Big Eight Conference Player of the Year and an AVCA All-Midwest Region selection. Best completed her career with a then school-record 3,786 assists and also ranked among the school's leaders in block assists.

A three-time all-conference performer in the classroom as well as on the court, Best graduated with a Bachelor of Science in elementary education from Nebraska in 1994. She then was named the head coach at South Dakota School of Mines and Technology in Rapid City, S.D. She led the Hardrockers to a 53-33 overall record in the 1994 and 1995 seasons. In her first campaign, Best directed her squad to the Dakota Athletic Conference title.

Best then returned to the University of Nebraska as assistant coach and recruiting coordinator. The Huskers recorded a 116-20 overall record to go with a 71-9 Big 12 Conference record in four seasons. Nebraska won three league titles and advanced to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen, twice reaching the Final Four. She recruited and coached all the players who led Nebraska to the 2000 NCAA Division I national championship. The Huskers, led by AVCA Player of the Year Greichaly Cepero, compiled a 34-0 record. It marked only the second time in NCAA Division I history that a team has gone undefeated.

Now Best has turned her attention to the University of Montana volleyball program. The Grizzlies have competed in 17 of the past 19 post-season Big Sky Conference Tournaments and have qualified for the NCAA Division I Tournament three times.

In her first season, Best guided the Grizzlies to a 16-14 overall record and has a two-year mark of 21-20. But that record is a little deceiving. Midway through the 2000 season, Montana had a 12-6 record and led the Big Sky Conference with a 4-1 mark. But season-ending injuries to two starters in early October took their toll.

Again in 2001, injuries dictated the lineup. Junior starters, Katy Kubista and Teresa Stringer missed most of the season with torn ACL ligaments in their knees. Sophomore Lizzie Wertz was sidelined with a stress fracture in her leg for half of the conference season. In addition, senior Joy Pierce missed several matches due to an illness.

Now, Montana has regrouped and is ready for a successful campaign in 2002. If Best's playing career is any indication, Montana will again return to one of the Big Sky Conference elite programs for years to come.

Best and her husband Dave were married in July, 1994. Together, they have hopes of becoming one of the top coaching tandems in the country.

Dave Best, Head Assistant Coach

Dave Best, in his third season on the Grizzly staff, looks to make the Montana volleyball program one of the elite programs in the Big Sky Conference.

As the head assistant coach, Best came to Montana after spending three seasons at the University of Nebraska as a volunteer coach. The Cornhuskers recorded two Big XII Conference championships to go with a 52-8 league mark, one Final Four appearance and an overall record of 86-15.

His primary on-court duties include training the outside hitters, primary passers, team defensive tactics and training the student-athletes for the game's mental challenges. Best's time off the playing floor is spent serving as liaison for marketing the program and as camp director.

As the team's defensive coordinator, Best has implemented his philosophy of team defense, stressing the importance of individual movements to create a well-balanced unit. In order to prepare the team mentally for competition as well as practice, the squad conducts mental training sessions to enhance the team chemistry and create dynamic problem-solving techniques.

Best began his collegiate coaching career in 1994 as an assistant coach at South Dakota School of Mines and Technology. In two seasons, the Hardrockers posted a 53-33 overall record and won the Dakota Athletic Conference title in 1994.

Best was an assistant coach for the elite Nebraska Juniors club team in 1997 and coached many players who would continue their careers at Nebraska.

The past two years, Best has taken his talents to Europe. Best served as head coach for a professional all-star team in the GALA Tour 2001 Spring European Cup. Team USA, comprised mostly of former U.S. collegiate players including former UM standout Katie Almquist, played seven matches in the Czech Republic, Slovenia and Austria. This spring, Best served as a training coach for the U.S. Expansion Team in the 2002 Spring European Cup in Croatia. Among the players on that team was UM standout Lizzie Wertz.

A native of Dodge, Neb., Best played club volleyball at Nebraska for three seasons. He earned a bachelor's degree in recreation administration (1994) as well as a master's degree in athletic administration (1999) with an emphasis in team psychology, both from Nebraska.

Allison Weston, Second Assistant Coach

Nikki Best and Allison Weston first worked together as teammates on the University of Nebraska volleyball team in the early 1990's. They have now been reunited on The University of Montana volleyball coaching staff. Weston, a former captain of the U.S. Olympic volleyball team, joined UM's coaching staff in February. Weston will work with the middle blockers. Off the court, she will break down video and handle home events.

Weston is one of the premier players in NCAA and U.S. Volleyball history. She was a three-time American Volleyball

Coaches Association (AVCA) First Team All-America selection at Nebraska, the first player in school history to achieve that honor. A two-time Big Eight Conference Player of the Year, Weston led the Cornhuskers to a 32-1 record and the 1995 NCAA Division I national title. In the process, she was named the AVCA National Co-Player of the Year along with Stanford's Cary Wendell. She was also a two-time GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American.

Weston capped her collegiate career by etching her name throughout the Nebraska record book. She is the school's career kills leader with 1,778. She also set the record for kills in a four-game match with 35. She ranks in the top 10 in several other career categories.

After earning a bachelor's degree in natural resources from Nebraska in 1997, Weston joined the U.S. National Team in May of 1997. Named the team's captain in January of 1999, Weston directed the team into the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia, and helped the squad advance to the bronze medal match. In October of 2000, Weston left the national team and played professionally in Italy for one season. She helped her team, AGIL, to a second-place finish in the Italian Championship.

This past summer, Weston helped train the USA Volleyball A2 Team in Colorado Springs, Colo.

"I am excited to be here," Weston said. "When Nikki approached me with this idea, I was unsure about what I wanted to do. It was hard to envision me making the transition into coaching. It took awhile for it to sink in. This is a good opportunity for me to come and coach with my best friends. We were fortunate to play at Nebraska, where there is a lot of tradition and success. Here we are laying the foundation for a powerful volleyball program."

Prior to the 2002 season, The University of Montana volleyball team made several commitments. The upperclassmen committed themselves to making it through the season healthy. The younger players committed themselves to taking their experience last year and improving their skills, while the incoming players committed themselves to making key contributions wherever they can.

While the individual commitments are different, the team has a common goal — to show people that last year's 5-16 record wasn't an indication of the Grizzlies' talent level, but rather the result of numerous uncontrollable setbacks.

In 2001, Montana never fielded a complete lineup. Senior Natalie Jacksha and junior Katy Kubista missed the entire season due to injuries. Senior Joy Pierce was slowed the first few weeks of the season due to illness. Prior to conference play, sophomore Lizzie Wertz was sidelined with a stress fracture in her leg. Then in the conference-opening match, junior Teresa Stringer tore her ACL.

"The most difficult part about last season was we were never whole," third-year head coach Nikki Best said. "That has been very motivating for our players this spring. They are looking forward to a healthy, fresh start this year."

Best described her 2002 roster as one with a core of experienced players combined with a splash of young talent. The Griz return seven letterwinners, including four players with starting experience. Headlining the returning players are the three veterans, seniors Kubista and Stringer, along with Wertz, a junior.

"All three of them have encountered and gone through various injuries," Best said. "As a result, they've bonded. Because they haven't been able to accomplish their goals, they are even more committed this year. They are committed to go through the season with no injuries. That should have a real positive influence on the rest of the team."

The trio of Kubista, Stringer and Wertz form a strong nucleus for the Griz. Kubista, who returns to the court after missing the past season and a half, figures to start at right side hitter, where she started the first half of the 2000 season. Stringer was UM's top middle blocker last year, averaging 2.43 kills and almost a block per game prior to her injury. Wertz, an outside hitter, averaged a team-high 3.83 kills and 3.40 digs per game last year. As a result, she received All-Big Sky Conference honorable mention accolades despite missing half of the conference matches.

The remaining four returning letterwinners all saw extensive playing time last season and should see their roles expand in 2002. Outside hitter Audra Pearce and middle blocker Mary Forrest, both juniors, will vie for starting jobs at their respective positions. Pearce started 18 matches last year, while Forrest started nine. Junior Claire Thompson figures to be the starting setter after being a part-time starter in 2001, while sophomore Alice Myers will compete for playing time at middle blocker and right side hitter.

"The young players got a great deal of experience last year," Best said. "They matured as a group and became tougher. We want to use that to our advantage this year. They learned the collegiate game by being thrown into the fire. Short term, it was a struggle, but in the long run it might be beneficial for our program."

Best also said she feels confident that the six newcomers can make immediate contributions. Redshirt freshman Ashley Gorham will compete for playing time at outside hitter and right side hitter, while sophomore transfer Danae Thorsness assumes the role as defensive specialist.

Four freshmen will also vie for court time. Whitney Pavlik has the potential to crack the starting lineup at outside hitter, while Audrey Jensen will push for playing time at middle blocker. An intriguing battle shapes up at setter where Diana Thompson will battle her older sister Claire for playing. The final freshman, Evalyn Whitehead, will likely red shirt this fall.

The Grizzlies' schedule is filled with three tough non-conference tournaments, including one tournament on their home court. UM opens the season at home in the Ruby's Montana Volleyball Invitational against Boise State, Eastern Kentucky and Mississippi.

"We are looking to set the tone for a successful season," Best said. "Preparing for our home tournament is very exciting. We're looking forward to our home opener."

Montana will also play in invitationals at San Diego and Central Florida before opening Big Sky Conference play. On paper, the conference race figures to be hotly contested.

"The Big Sky continues to get stronger," Best said. "As we continue to grow as a program, we'll become more competitive on a national level because we play in such a strong conference."

According to Best, the team's goal is to return to the Big Sky Conference Tournament. But in order to do that, she said the Griz need to improve in a couple of areas. Last year, the Griz ranked near the bottom of the league in hitting percentage and blocking.

"We need to generate more offense," Best said. "Offensively, we need to improve our hitting efficiency. Last year we were unable to score consistently. This year we are looking to step that up. Defensively, we were pretty good last year. We played with an aggressive defensive mentality, but we had trouble when we were ineffective blocking the ball. With our added height, we are looking to make strides in that area as well."

Entering her third season at Montana, Best is confident that the Grizzlies could turn more than a few heads in 2002.

"It takes time for everyone to buy into what you're doing, to share that vision," Best said. "Going into our third year, more people believe in what we're trying to do. That's progress. There has been a re-commitment into rebuilding this program."

2001 SEASON REVIEW

University of Montana head volleyball coach Nikki Best isn't one to look for excuses. But when looking back at the 2001 volleyball season, it's hard to ignore the impact that injuries had on the Grizzlies.

Entering the season, Best knew she would be without the services of returning starters Natalie Jacksha and Katy Kubista. Both were lost for the entire season re-at full strength heading into the Michigan Invitational, the team's final tuneup before beginning Big Sky Conference play. However, the Griz did not travel to Michigan as a result of the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11.

After an unexpected week off, the Griz were set to open conference action. However, the schedule was a little unkind as UM had to play five of its first seven matches on the road.

The Grizzlies were dealt a serious blow before their first Big Sky match at Eastern Washington on Sept. 21. Wertz, who had been battling a sore leg the entire season, was diagnosed with a stress fracture, sidelining her for four weeks.

Then, early in UM's match against Weber State on Sept. 28, junior middle blocker Teresa Stringer landed funny and tore her ACL, ending her season.

Without Wertz and Stringer, the Grizzlies went 1-6 during the first half of the Big Sky schedule. The lone win came against Weber State as the Griz rallied around the loss of Stringer to sweep the Wildcats.

"We played some very competitive matches," Best said. "One of our better wins was against Weber State here at home. We played some close matches, especially on the road, even though we struggled in the win column."

Despite finishing seventh in the league standings with a 2-12 record, the Grizzlies were competitive in most of those matches, particularly their road matches. In four of seven road matches, Montana won the first game. However, the Grizzlies lost all four of those matches, including three four-game set-backs.

"That showed we had the mental toughness to compete," Best said. "After that, it came down to physical strength. We weren't able to maintain the high level of play we needed to in order to win those matches."

The Griz picked up an important victory midway through the conference schedule. UM dropped the first two games at home to Portland State by identical 30-27 scores. However, sparked by the return of Wertz to the lineup, the Grizzlies rallied to win the next three games to defeat the Vikings in five games.

Wertz's play didn't go unnoticed. Ranked fourth in the conference in kills and third in digs, Wertz received all-conference honorable mention accolades.

"That speaks highly of Lizzie, considering she missed half of the conference season," Best said.

Montana's two seniors, Pierce and Lindsay Kaiser, ended their collegiate careers on a positive note. Pierce was third on the club in kills at 2.89 per game and was second in digs at 2.87 per game, which was also ninth in the Big Sky.

Kaiser proved to be the only Griz to play in all 78 games during the season. The right side hitter was second on the team in kills at 2.97 per game and third in digs at 2.54 per game. Her 36 service aces helped her to lead the Big Sky in aces at 0.46 per game.

Middle blocker Alice Myers was one of several freshmen who saw extensive playing time in 2001.

covering from offseason surgery. But Best could not have foreseen losing three other starters for extended periods of time.

During the week of the Grizzlies' first tournament, Joy Pierce, one of two seniors expected to lead a young squad, became ill and missed the team's first four matches. She returned to the lineup for the Kansas Invitational, but she wasn't at 100 percent.

One player who got off to a strong start was sophomore outside hitter Lizzie Wertz. The team's leader in kills and digs, she was named to the all-tournament teams at both the Eastern Illinois and Kansas invitionals. She capped her strong start with a career-high 22 kills against Kansas.

With a 3-4 record, Montana appeared

Outside hitter Joy Pierce overcame an early season illness to have a solid senior season.

The 2002-2003 athletic season marks the 40th year of the Big Sky Conference and, although still youthful in the world of NCAA Division I athletic conferences, The Big Sky has solidified itself as one of the strongest leagues in the West as well as the nation. Cal State Northridge entered the conference in 1996 and left it in the spring of 2001.

With its roots established in 1963, the Big Sky Conference began with six charter members: The University of Idaho, Idaho State University, Gonzaga University, The University of Montana, Montana State University and Weber State University.

On July 1, 1970, the league experienced its first expansion, adding Boise State University and Northern Arizona University to the fold to create an eight-member league. On July 1, 1979, charter member Gonzaga left the league and was replaced by the University of Nevada. In 1987, Eastern Washington was admitted to the league to create the first version of a nine-member Big Sky Conference. The University of Nevada's departure in 1992 moved the league to eight members until July 1, 1996 when both Boise State and Idaho left the Big Sky, but the three additional institutions moved the league into a nine-member scenario for the second time.

The Big Sky conference sponsors championships in 15 sports, including men's and women's cross country, golf, basketball, tennis, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, in addition to football, women's volleyball and soccer. The Big Sky is a NCAA Division I member in all sports, with member institutions classified as I-AA in football.

The 2002-2003 athletic season also marks the 14th year in which the Big Sky Conference will sponsor championships in women's sports. Twelve years ago the Big Sky Conference merged with the Mountain West Athletic Conference, forming one league for both men's and women's athletics. The Mountain West had been in existence since 1982, sponsoring championships for women's athletics at the same institutions the Big Sky had sponsored men's programs.

The eight Big Sky Conference member institutions are located in seven states that span from the Pacific Ocean to the Rocky Mountains and from the Canadian to the Mexican borders. The entire west coast is now represented by the Big Sky with members in Washington, Oregon and California, and of the eight western-most states in the contiguous United States, only one (Nevada) does not contain a Big Sky member. League members can be found in Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Utah.

The name BIG SKY originated in a novel written in 1947 by the late A.B. (Bud) Guthrie of Great Falls, Mont., entitled The Big Sky. Jack Hollowell, former Montana advertising director, promoted the Big Sky theme for the Treasure State, and Harry Missildine of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review called for the newly formed league to be named "The Big Sky Conference" in his column dated Feb. 20, 1963. Five days later, on Feb. 25, the name Big Sky was adopted by the six presidents of the newly formed league.

On July 1, 1995, Doug Fullerton became the fifth commissioner of the Big Sky Conference and was given the reins to lead the league into the changing world of intercollegiate athletics. Fullerton replaced longtime commissioner Ron Stephenson, who retired after 14 years in the position. The first commissioner of the Big Sky was Jack Friel, who served from the league's inception until 1971. After Friel, John Roning directed the conference for six years until 1977 when Steve Belko assumed the commissioner's role. Belko was with the league for five years.
