

University of Montana

ScholarWorks at University of Montana

Communique, 1953-2020

Journalism

Winter 1958

Communique, Winter 1958

Montana State University (Missoula, Mont.). School of Journalism

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.umt.edu/communique>

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Montana State University (Missoula, Mont.). School of Journalism, "Communique, Winter 1958" (1958). Communique, 1953-2020. 23.

<https://scholarworks.umt.edu/communique/23>

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Journalism at ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in Communique, 1953-2020 by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.

Newsweek's Kenneth Crawford to Speak Here

Kenneth G. Crawford, senior editor and manager of the Washington Bureau of Newsweek magazine, will be the 1958 Professional Lecturer and Dean Stone Night speaker at the J-School on May 8.

Crawford, 56, one of the nation's most versatile and broadly experienced newsmen, has crowded several journalistic careers into the 30 years since he was graduated from Beloit College in his native Wisconsin.

His first job was as a roving reporter and bureau manager for the United Press in the Chicago area. He covered such events as the prohibition enforcement battles, Southern Illinois gang wars and the great Mississippi flood.

After running United Press bureaus in St. Paul, Lansing, Indianapolis, Columbus, Milwaukee and St. Louis, he was transferred to Washington toward the end of the Coolidge era, became a White House and Senate reporter, and covered the Smith-Hoover campaign of 1928. After an interval as political editor for the Buffalo Times, he returned to Washington as correspondent for the New York Post, Philadelphia Record and other newspapers.

Shortly after the outbreak of World War II, Crawford went to North Africa as a war correspondent and worked on assignments there, in the Middle East, Italy, England and France through 1945. As a correspondent for Newsweek, he was the first newsman ashore on D-Day with the initial assault wave of the Fourth Infantry Division.

After his return to the United States, he worked in Newsweek's Washington Bureau and later was transferred to New York to take charge of the magazine's national news coverage. He was then appointed manager of the Washington Bureau and a senior editor of the magazine.

Crawford is the author of two books, "Report on North Africa" and "The Pressure Boys." He has been a prolific contributor to many national magazines and has been a frequent participant on such radio and television programs as "Meet the Press," "Man of the Week" and "Behind the Headlines."

He holds B.A. and Litt.D. degrees from Beloit and an LL.D. from Olivet College.

WHERE THE UNIVERSITY MUSEUM USED TO BE

New Radio Studios Opened

The new radio studios on the third floor of the Journalism Building were opened in February, marking another step in the development of radio-television instruction at MSU.

The studios, furnished with the latest broadcasting equipment, are in rooms formerly occupied by the University Museum. The Museum was opened in new quarters in the Fine Arts Building on Charter Day.

The new facilities include a large studio for production of live programs, a smaller studio, a large control room with complete teaching aids, and a combination storeroom-workshop.

Work is progressing on television studios in the building which was formerly the women's gymnasium. Telecasting equipment has been delivered and will be installed as soon as remodeling is completed. Instruction is scheduled to begin in the television studios during spring term.

Opening of the radio studios almost completed the first three phases of a plan to offer MSU students outstanding radio-television instruction.

The first step was reorganization and development of the curriculum last spring. The second step—increasing the staff to handle instruction in the program—was taken when Dr. Erling S. Jorgensen became associate professor of journalism and acting director of the University Studios last September. The third step will be completed when the television studios are ready for classroom use.

No target date has been set for radio or television broadcasting on University stations because the staff does not want production requirements to dictate the kind of instruction given in classes. The fourth phase of the long-term development plan calls for investigation of various means of going on the air to provide programs for listeners and viewers in Montana.

Recognition of the strength of the new curriculum and facilities came in March when the University was unanimously approved for membership in the Association for Professional Broadcasting Education, an organization of educational institutions and the National Association of Broadcasters.

Alums Continue to Keep J-School Office Posted

Reporter-photographer for the San Jose Mercury-News is Joe F. (Jose) Stell '50, who covers municipal activities of five cities within the San Jose metropolitan area. He also is the author of an article, "Wanted: Country Stringer," in a recent issue of Page One, publication of the Pueblo (Colo.) Newspaper Guild.

Marjorie Mitchell Culum (Mrs. Anthony J.) '47 has joined the news staff of the Helena Independent Record.

Crediting Dugan's advice in class for helping get the job, Marvin McArthur '51 is now assistant director of advertising for Permanente Cement Co., a division of Kaiser Industries, in Oakland, Calif.

Sue Munn (Mrs. Donald G.) '56 now in Ft. Collins, Colo., is a parent of Donna Kay, born Nov. 26, 1957.

Ken Byerly Jr. '56 is managing editor of the weekly Tidewater News in Franklin, Va.

Back at MSU doing graduate work in sociology is Bill Thompson '56.

Dorothy Elliott Hopkins (Mrs. Charles L.) '29 has left her job as assistant to the managing editor of American Peoples Encyclopedia and plans to be a housewife in Albuquerque, where her husband is an editor at Sandia Corp.

Ronald J. Rice '48 resigned as sports editor of the Great Falls Tribune to do sports publicity for Montana State College. He quit shortly, however, and returned to Great Falls to become an agent for the Equitable Life Insurance Co.

Gordon E. Nelson '48, city editor of the Fresno (Calif.) Bee, attended the seminar for city editors at the American Press Institute, Columbia University last December.

John R. Hallowell '42 is state advertising director of the Montana Highway Commission in Helena.

Bill Carroll '42, living in Butte, is general manager and executive vice president of KBOW in Butte and KGEZ in Kalispell.

J-School Praised in Accreditation Report

The School of Journalism received a glowing report from the accreditation team of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools which inspected the University last fall.

William J. Cooney '49 is in the Display Advertising Dept. of the Montana Standard-Butte Daily Post.

In the Advertising Dept. and editor of two publications for the Carter Oil Co. in Billings is Vinton A. Corwin '49, who also is secretary of the Billings Chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

Wallace Donker '48 is advertising manager of the Skagit Valley Herald in Mount Vernon, Wash.

Pro at the Municipal Golf Course in Great Falls is Mike A. Dudik '49.

A representative in the Montana Legislature's 1957 session was Ralph (Edgar) Evans '48 wire editor of the Bozeman Daily Chronicle. He also is editor of the quarterly Treasure Acres on soil conservation.

Ray W. Fenton '43, telegraph editor for the Great Falls Leader, and wife Mary Bukvich Fenton '43 are trying to keep up with their four youngsters. Mary does correspondence work for Fairchild Publications and Ray handles publicity for the Montana Grain Growers Assn.

Frank R. Donaldson '47 is regional director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in New York City.

Edward J. Dolan '47 is a reporter on the Sacramento Bee.

Delwin H. Enzminger '49, assistant manager of the Pacific Coast Plans Dept., Hearst Advertising Service in San Francisco, welcomed second son Jeffrey Dana in February.

Maj. James C. Gasser '44 has returned from Marine Forces duty on Okinawa and has been assigned to Washington, D.C. The Gassers now live at 661 Hopewell Ave., Springfield, Va., according to Dr. W. P. Clark, Martha Gasser's father.

William A. Barbour '48 is managing editor of Distribution Age in Philadelphia.

Donald R. Coe '47, publisher of the Plainsman in Plains, was elected third vice president of the Montana State Press Association. He was later elected treasurer of the Sanders County Chamber of Commerce.

Dorothy Brovan Francis (Mrs. Charles D.) '48, now secretary to executive administrator, Washington Physicians Service in Seattle, Wash.

Donald A. Bartsch '40 is on the copy desk of the Great Falls Tribune.

Frank Kurtz '48 is advertising copywriter for Bozell & Jacobs in Omaha, Neb.

Barbara Mellott Tidyman (Mrs. Thomas C.) '56 is the mother of Todd Stephen, born July 28, 1957.

Joy R. McElroy (Mrs. Richard R.) '48 was society editor of the Wyoming Eagle in Cheyenne until moving to Billings last year and becoming a housewife in a brand new home. (Ed. Note: No, Joy, there is no charge for Communique. It is a service of your School of Journalism.)

Tom Mather '41, with Tom Mather Distributing Co., was director of the Great Falls Community Chest last year and is advance gift chairman for the campaign this year.

William D. James '41 edits the Montana Parade supplement of the Great Falls Tribune and is a correspondent for Time magazine.

David C. Martin '47, rewrite on Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, was elected president of the Newspaper Guild of Pittsburgh.

Paul A. Hawkins '49, senior staffer in west coast office of Carl Byoir in Los Angeles, says to tell Dugan: "He never had it so good—I have to drive 300 miles to go trout fishing and then it isn't worth a d -- -."

Martin A. Heerwald '48 is Washington state news manager of United Press in Seattle.

Ralph A. Jackson '40 is senior interviewer for Montana State Employment Service in Kalispell.

Marine Maj. Richard H. Kern '43 is assistant professor of naval science at the University of Southern California.

E. Jean Swenson Knights (Mrs. Richard P.) '43 is a housewife and publicity chairman for the AAUW in Medford, Ore.

Richard D. Ladders '49 started his own advertising agency last year—R. D. Ladders & Associates—in Denver. He handles several major accounts, publishes two house organs and provides complete advertising and publicity services.

(Continued on Page 3)

WITH GRADS AFIELD . . .

(Continued from Page 2)

Gerald T. Lester '45 is assistant editor of California Farmer in San Francisco.

Herb Jillson '47 resigned as northwest editor of the Record Stockman of Denver when his part-time life insurance business in Jackson Hole "topseyed." He is now general agent for Old Faithful Life Insurance Co. in Jackson and Laramie, Wyo.

Kenneth B. Kizer '41, assistant city editor of the Salt Lake Tribune is on the board of directors of the Headliners Chapter of SDX.

Mollie Burke Herrin (Mrs. Keith W.) '48, Helena housewife, had fifth daughter, Laura, in April, 1957.

Judson N. '48 and Mary Kidd Moore '48 are in Helena where Jud is program director of the Montana Tuberculosis Assn.

Astrid Wetzsteon Morris (Mrs. Jack O.) '49 is a housewife and stringer for the Ravalli Republican in Corvallis.

Willis Keith Wuerthner '56 is now a private in the army stationed at Fort Lawton, Wash.

Thomas E. Roberts '50 is a wandering electronic's magician. He is one of six men in the public and employee relations services of General Electric Co. demonstrating the "House of Magic" science stage show to high school students across the country in an attempt to interest them in careers of science and engineering.

Don Graff '51 resigned from the United Press Bureau at Newark and went to Munich, Germany as news writer and analyst for Radio Free Europe.

Kenneth G. Payton '51 went from the staff of the Missoulian to the Great Falls Tribune.

Helen Lenhart Martin (Mrs. Richard O.) '53 is a housewife in Nampa, Ida. where her husband is a general assignment reporter for the Idaho Free Press. Both formerly were reporters for the Idaho Falls Post-Register. Daughter Deborah Louise was born March 7, 1957.

Capt. George A. Hoyem '50 is aide de camp to the chief of staff of HALFSEE (Headquarter, Allied Land Forces, Southeast Europe in Izmir, Turkey.

Sports publicity director for Montana State University is J. D. Coleman '56 and delighted, he says, to be back on campus.

Ward A. Fanning Jr. '50 is assistant manager of New York Life Insurance Co. in Spokane.

Armund (Art) Foley '51, press representative for the American Broadcasting Co. television network in New York, had a by-lined article on motion picture photography in the November, 1956, Popular Photography magazine. He is a member of the Overseas Press Club and the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Elmer O. Freedle Jr. '55 teacher and principal of School District No. 32 in Clinton, Mont., reports he is "dabbling in amateur radio and a masters degree in psychology."

George S. Friedman '51 is radio-TV news editor for the Columbia Broadcasting System in Chicago.

Thomas C. Ambrose '52 reporter on the Spokane Daily Chronicle, is director of the Spokane Press Club and moderator of the Spokane Junior Press Club.

James E. Farrell '56 is a 2nd Lt. at Fort Knox, Ky.

Bernard Kim Forman '56, Navy pilot, married Mary Travis, daughter of Havre publisher Jack Travis.

After more than a two-year tour of duty in Korea and Japan, Thomas E. Anderson '52 is a 1st Lt., U.S. Army, Fort MacArthur, Calif.

Robert E. Fader '50 is vice president and director of sales promotion and public relations for Electronic Distribution Co. in St. Paul Minn.

Frank Cocco '50 is copy writer and advertising assistant of the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. in Hartford, Conn.

Ann Thomson Beaman (Mrs. Robert L.) '55 worked at KBMN in Bozeman before becoming a housewife in Whitefish and helping her husband work on the microwave which sends television to Kalispell and Missoula.

Don Weston '49, news director of KGVO and KSMO-TV in Missoula, was awarded an $8,000 CBS Foundation Fellowship for a year of advanced study in public affairs at Columbia University.

"In looking over recent Communiques," writes Normamae Milkwick Lamberg (Mrs. Edward S.) '51, "I note that no gal grads seem to be working in agencies in the media side. In San Francisco nearly all space and time buyers and media people are women, and I think it is the department with the best chances for advancement and real career work. The production side is also wide-open for women here and these jobs are exciting to the nth degree." She is office manager and media di-

(Continued on Page 4)

Special COMMUNIQUE Mention:

About 8:30 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 31, Vern Haugland '31 and other Associated Press writers boarded a bus that took them and other newsmen into the guarded precincts of the missile test center at Cape Canaveral. A little more than two hours later, from the roof of a building 1½ miles from the launching pad of a Jupiter-C rocket, they saw the United States launch its first satellite.

The AP Log for Jan. 30-Feb. 5, said:

"Haugland's bulletin hit the AAA wire at 10:48 PES. For well nigh an uninterrupted 57 minutes thereafter, Haugland's dictation flowed onto the wire in a remarkable display of pressure reporting. The 1,900-word story was brilliant, colorful and dramatic, bearing evidence of broad knowledge and experience in skilled delineation of differences from other launchings. It was so polished a job that the New York General Desk advised editors it would stand untouched until word came whether the satellite was in orbit."

* * *

New president of the MSU Alumni Association is Robert Bennetts '46, vice president and sales manager of the Electric City Printing Co. in Great Falls. He succeeded B. G. (Dub) Paige, who was named to the State Board of Education to replace A. B. (Bud) Guthrie Jr., '23, resigned.

* * *

Given the Distinguished Service Award by the Ronan Area Junior Chamber of Commerce was Ray M. Loman '49, publisher of the Ronan Pioneer. Ray has filed for the Republican nomination for one of Lake County's two seats in the Montana House of Representatives.

* * *

New publisher of the Missoula County Times is Walter R. Larson '49. Walt turned over the Judith Basin Press, Belt Valley Times and Geraldine Review to younger brother Audrey, and moved his family to Missoula. At Communique press time came a bulletin: A fourth child, daughter, for the Larsons.

WITH GRADS AFIELD . . .

(Continued from Page 3)

rector for Charles Bowes Advertising in San Francisco.

Lewis Parker Keim '53 is in the public relations division of Allis-Chalmers in Milwaukee, Wis., and has been successful in his free lance writing, including articles to Sports Afield and Family Circle.

Francis R. Norberg '52 reporter on the Great Falls Tribune, reports a third child, second son, born July 29, 1957.

Theodore R. '53 and Carla Wetzsteon Hewett '55 are in Missoula, Ted as wire editor for the Missoulian, Carla as housewife and summer vacation replacement reporter on the Missoulian.

"The packaging field offers a tremendous future for the advertising sequence major," writes Richard G. Lillie '54, assistant to the head of the Marketing and Product Development Dept. of Container Corporation of America in Los Angeles.

1st Lt. Thomas E. Mendel '50, on a three-year overseas tour, is in Yokohama, Japan.

E. D. (Ed) Lewis '51, executive editor of Southern Textile News in Charlotte, N. C., also has an interest in a semi-weekly paper in Shelby, N. C.

Robert W. Newlin '55 is out of the Air Force and with the Citizen-News in Hollywood.

William Jones '54, after staking baled hay on his dad's cattle ranch in Miles City during the summer, returned to MSU Law School.

Fred B. Hunnes '51, commercial manager of radio KATL in Miles City, was elected president of the Miles City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

James Donald (Brick) McElwain '50 is a technical writer for Military Manuals, Inc. in Renton, Wash.

Frank Milburn Jr. '54, assistant editor of "Musical America," is a member of the Music Critics' Circle of New York and has published articles in several magazines.

Mary Lu Zimmerman Nelson (Mrs. Gerald E.) '55 doubles as a housewife and secretary for the Mental Hygiene Clinic in Missoula.

Bonnie Hamman Hintzman (Mrs. Davis E.) '50 is a stenographer in the MSU Clerical Service.

More than 400,000 copies of a bi-

(Continued on Page 5)

How Many Pages Today?

24 HOURS NOW: "I hope you've got a lot of space today," says outgoing Kaimin Editor Gale Brammer as he threatens Business Manager Mary Ellen Brown with yards of copy off the United Press machine in the Kaimin office. A 24-hour news wire is in operation after a trial period, replacing a former radio wire.

New Staff Named to Take Over Kaimin

Ted Hulbert, sophomore from Cut Bank, and Anne Thomas, junior from Butte, were appointed editor and business manager respectively of the Kaimin for the next year, beginning spring term.

Named associate editors were Robert Reagan, junior from Brockton, Mass.; Vera Swanson, sophomore from Idaho Falls, Ida.; Toni Richardson, sophomore from Flagstaff, Ariz.; Zena Beth McGlashen, freshman from Butte; and Marilyn Lundin, freshman from Cut Bank.

ASSISTANTSHIPS

Graduate assistant scholarships in journalism now are available for study in the School of Journalism. The stipend is $1500.

Persons interested in applying should write to Dean Ellis Waldron of the Graduate School for details.

Journalism School Sets Up Research Bureau

The Bureau of Press and Broadcasting Research has been established in the School of Journalism.

Frederick T. C. Yu will serve as director until June, when he begins a one-year leave of absence for study at Harvard University under a Ford Foundation International Relations Fellowship. Richard A. Garver will serve as director during Prof. Yu's absence.

The Bureau will be responsible for publication of the Montana Journalism Review, with the first issue scheduled for issue before June. The Review will contain articles written by the staff and students of the School of Journalism.

The Bureau also plans to undertake service projects for newspapers, other periodicals and radio and television stations in Montana. Graduate students in journalism and other disciplines will be encouraged to engage in research activities under direction of the Bureau.

"Establishment of this Bureau is a step we have carefully planned for many months," Dean Blumberg said. "The School of Journalism, through the Montana State Press Association offices located in its building, traditionally has been the journalistic information center of the state. We hope to be able to expand our services to the newspapers and begin to provide research facilities to radio and television stations."

Doherty Relaxes, Ole and Ed Write

When Charlie Doherty went on a two-week vacation shortly before selling the Missoula County Times, Ole Bue and Ed Dugan took over his front-page spot for guest editorials on successive weeks.

The second-page editorial columns were handled by students in Dean Blumberg's Senior Seminar.

Press Hall of Fame Urged for Montana

A plan for a Montana Journalism Hall of Fame will be brought up for vote by the general membership at the Montana State Press Association 1958 convention.

Mel Ruder, president of the MSPA, suggested the idea at a meeting of the organization's executive committee in Missoula in January. Ruder and Dean Blumberg will work out details of the plan.

Ryan to Head SDX

Plans to establish professional chapters of Sigma Delta Chi in Montana moved forward when Jack Ryan '27, distribution manager for the University Press, was appointed state chairman.

Ryan will serve as counselor and organizer for state chapters.

WMPA Meets in J-School

The School of Journalism served as host for a mechanical conference sponsored by the Western Montana Press Association in January.

Sixty-four persons registered in the J-Building for the winter meeting. Dorothy Johnson and Claud Lord, superintendent of the University Press, did most of the work.

Dean Visits With J-Alums In Denver, Albuquerque

Several J-School alums attended alumni meetings in Denver, Colo., and Albuquerque, N. M., addressed in January by Dean Blumberg.

Running the show in both places, preceding MSU basketball games with the Universities of Denver and New Mexico, was Alumni Secretary Ross Miller '49.

Among those who attended the Denver meeting were Ross Hagen '52, Pat Brennan Taylor (Mrs. F. H.) '38, Richard D. (Denny) Lodders '49, and Mrs. Tom McFarland ex '32.

Chief organizer and principal reason for the success of the Albuquerque meeting was Eileen Roy Lommasson (Mrs. Tom) '49. Also attending was John D. Jones, '06, one of the first editors of the Kaimin and a charter member of Silent Sentinel.

With Grads Afield . . .

(Continued from Page 4)

ography on Lawrence Welk by Ted Hilgenstuhler '50 have been sold. A biography on Tennessee Ernie Ford also is selling well. Ted is news editor of TV-Radio Life magazine in Hollywood.

Joan Brooks Murray (Mrs. Marshall) '55 is busy caring for Marsha Jo, born in May, 1957.

Arthur Mathison '55 navigator at Malmstrom Air Force Base in Great Falls, recently took third place in a short story contest.

Fred Mills '50 in new home with new daughter, Susan Ann (Dec. 3, 1956), is administrator of the Anaconda Co. Smelter Health Insurance Program.

In his fifth year at the Ronan Pioneer, Floyd Larson '50, in addition to joining publisher Ray Loman in fighting the proposed Paradise Dam, runs a weekly column covering "politics, virtues of bachelorhood, politics, stolen stories, politics, women, and politics."

Robert L. Jordan '51 will move in May to San Francisco to travel in California, New Mexico and Arizona for the American Forest Products Industries. Bob set up an information and education program for the State Forester and has been president of the Missoula Jay Cees and executive director of the Keep Montana Green Assn.

Recently promoted to associate professor of Economics at Purdue University, Ralph Kirby Davidson was awarded a Ford Foundation fellowship for research of his own choice. His project is to study the wage structure of the printing industry.

Dorothy Rochon Powers (Mrs. Elwood) '43 was principal speaker at the luncheon of the All-Coast Press Clinic in February.

Outstanding Photos Shown

The 14th annual "News Pictures of the Year" photo exhibition was on display on the second floor of the Journalism Building in November.

-30-

Donna Ring Herrington (Mrs. Roscoe) '51 died of a heart attack in Ogden, Utah, on Dec. 1, 1957. She was 28.

Leroy Joe Kershner '22 died of cancer at the age of 62 on Feb. 28, 1958, in Veterans Hospital, Portland, Ore.

Yu Receives Ford Fellowship

J-Staff Shows Versatile Array of Activities

Frederick Yu has been awarded a post-doctoral International Relations Training Fellowship by the Ford Foundation for the 1958-59 academic year.

The fellowship will enable Fred to carry out a program of studies in international communications and public opinion research at Harvard University. He also has been invited to participate in the research program of the Center for International Studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He expects to finish a book on the mass media in Communist countries during his year leave of absence.

Fred will return to the World Desk of the Washington Post and Times Herald this summer for a second time. The Yus, barely settled in their new home in the Rattlesnake, plan to leave Missoula in June and return in September, 1959.

* * *

Dorothy Johnson delivered the Charter Day address in the University Theater in February as the University celebrated its 65th birthday. Her speech, "How Our People Lived," drew two rounds of applause at the end, forcing Dorothy to take a second bow.

Exciting news on the casting for the movie of Dorothy's "The Hanging Tree": Maria Schell has been named to go along with Gary Cooper in leading roles. Our gal also is very proud of her new copperplated wishbone—the wishbone that Gary chewed on when they shared a pheasant during his recent visit to Missoula.

Speaking engagements for Dorothy included a dinner address in Helena in connection with National Library Week and a speech to the Polson Chamber of Commerce. Upcoming are talks at the annual Administrators Conference for high school principals and county superintendents in Helena in April, at the Whitefish High School commencement (the triumphal return) in May, and at Bozeman in June.

* * *

Dick Garver has been kept busy with MIEA and the Kaimin laboratories, but has found time to do some writing on the side for future publication. Dick was selected to judge the journalism awards competition sponsored by the Louisville, Ky., professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

* * *

Ed Dugan once again participated in the MSU School of Public Administration. He is the author of two articles in the American Press and a forthcoming piece in Scholastic Editor. Ed served as judge of the state high school contest on newspaper articles concerning tuberculosis and the Minnesota Women's Press Association newspaper competition. He is booked for commencement talks at Havre, Conrad and Alberton.

* * *

Ole Bue was elected vice chairman of the National Council on Radio and Television Journalism, whose members are elected by the Association for Education in Journalism. He is producing a placement brochure for graduating seniors in journalism and is once again chairman of the Commencement Committee of the University.

* * *

Erling Jorgensen, in addition to playing mother hen to the newly-hatched radio and television studios, swung around the West Coast for a look at other college and university broadcasting setups and represented the University at a regional meeting of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters and the Western Radio and Television Conference in San Francisco. He addressed the Billings Advertising Club and spoke to the MSU Liberal Arts Club on "Television: Popular or Elite Art?"

Jorgie has been invited to take charge of a session on broadcasting education at the Los Angeles convention of the Association of Professional Broadcasting Education and the National Assn. of Broadcasters.

* * *

Nathan Blumberg served on the visitation team of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools at the University of Nevada in Reno in March. He was keynote speaker at College and Career Day meetings in Lewistown and Missoula, and addressed high school honor students at the invitation of the Helena Exchange Club in February. He also served as judge of entries in the annual Inland Empire Press-Radio Awards competition.

COMMUNIQUE

Published by the staff of the School of Journalism
At Montana State University in Missoula
For those who have left the campus
But cherish its memories.