THE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA

President George Dennison

George Dennison, the 16th president of The University of Montana, begins his 14th year at the University. He served on the NCAA Division I Board of Directors from 1997-2000, and chaired the Big Sky Conference Presidents' Council during 1992-93.

Dennison, a Montanan, came to UM from Kalamazoo, Mich., where he served as the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs of Western Michigan University from 1987 to 1990. In earlier years, he spent time at the Universities of Arkansas and Washington before working 18 years at Colorado State University in Fort Collins.

At Colorado State he started as a history professor, then served in numerous other positions. He simultaneously held the positions of Associate Dean of the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences and Associate Dean of the Graduate School for International Development Studies. He also served as Acting Academic Vice President, Associate Academic Vice President and Director of Admissions and Records.

A historian by training, Dennison received his bachelor's degree with high honors in history from UM in 1962. He received his master's degree from UM in 1963, then earned his Ph.D. in history from the University of Washington in 1967. He has written numerous publications and made several professional presentations in both history and higher education.

Dennison serves on a number of boards. He chairs the Montana Commission on Community Service and serves on the Board of the International Heart Institute Foundation of Montana, the Community Medical Center Advisory Committee, the Montana Campus Compact Executive Committee, the Board of Directors of the International Student Exchange Program, the Neuroscience Institute, and the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Foundation.

George and his wife Jane have two sons, Rick and Robert. Rick played college football at Colorado State then joined the Denver Broncos. He played linebacker for Denver for nine years and now serves as the offensive line coach. Robert teaches math and computer programming in Tecumseh, Kansas, and coaches football, wrestling, and track. The Dennisons have four grandchildren.

The University of Montana was the state's first college. Chartered on February 17, 1893, the school opened its doors to its first 50 students. More than 100 years later, The University of Montana is the center of liberal arts education in the state.

The school has gone through numerous changes over the years. In 1913 the school was renamed the State University of Montana, and in 1935, it was renamed Montana State University. It wasn't until 1965 that the institution recaptured its original name, The University of Montana. In 1988 Western Montana College in Dillon became part of UM, and in 1994, the Montana Board of Regents approved a restructuring plan to create two universities within the Montana University System. The University of Montana also includes The University of Montana-Western, Montana Tech in Butte; The University of Montana-Helena, College of Technology; and The University of Montana College of Technology in

The University of Montana provides a high-quality, well-rounded education to students and a wide range of services to Montanans. UM is a major source of research, continuing education, economic development, civic engagement, fine arts and entertainment, and serves as a driving force in strengthening Montana's ties with countries throughout the world.

UM's Missoula campus comprises the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate School, the Davidson Honors College, the College of Technology, and seven professional schools: business administration, education, fine arts, forestry and conservation, journalism, law, and pharmacy and allied health sciences. The University of Montana also has an excellent physical therapy department and offers two-year programs in business, trades and industry, and technical and health occupations.

UM continues to grow with 13,058 students. The student body is 53 percent female and 47 percent male. Last year Montana enrolled 381 foreign students from 76 countries.

Located at the base of Mount Sentinel and on the banks of the Clark Fork River, the 200-acre campus is one of the most beautiful in the nation.

Campus life offers a variety of choices for the UM student. Dormitory living provides nine halls with various options on campus. Elrod Hall is the men's dorm; Turner Hall is the women's dorm; and Aber, Craig, Duniway, Jesse, Miller, and Knowles halls are co-ed. Pantzer Hall, which provides four-person suites, was completed in 1995. Family housing can be found just three blocks south of the main campus in University Villages. Students interested in the Greek life have four sororities and seven fraternities from which to choose.

The University of Montana has a nine-hole golf course, located just south of the main campus. The Grizzly Pool is a seven-lane, 25-yard indoor swimming pool that features numerous classes and programs and has been upgraded recently. The Fitness and Recreation Center, adjacent to the Adams Center, has undergone a major renovation. Finished in Fall 2001, it provides the campus community with three levels of state-of-the-art exercise equipment, racquetball, handball and basketball courts, and a two-story glass-enclosed climbing wall, "the wall with a view."

The Outdoor Program provides opportunities for the campus community to participate in recreational activities such as rafting, kayaking, climbing, hiking, backpacking and skiing.

UM owns and operates Lubrecht Experimental Forest, a 28,000-acre teaching and research forest. Located approximately 30 miles northeast of Missoula, Lubrecht Forest provides the opportunity for students to learn tree thinning and harvesting techniques in addition to working on forest and ecological projects.

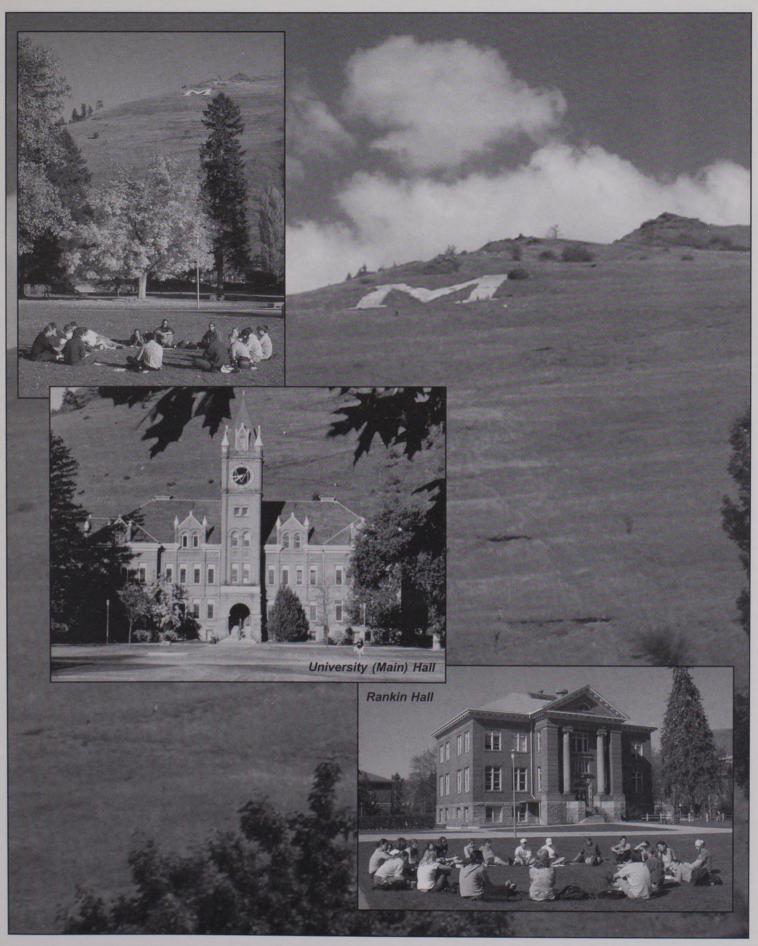

The Flathead Lake Biological Station, located at Yellow Bay on the east side of the lake, is a year-round research facility and academic center for the ecological sciences. The freshwater research laboratory encompasses 80 acres.

UM also has had 47 international Fulbright Scholars, nine Truman Scholars, 10 Goldwater Scholars and 28 Rhodes Scholars

The University was listed among the top 25 universities and colleges in the nation for Peace Corps recruiting and is profiled in America's 100 Best College Buys and Barron's Best Buys in College Education.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA

GRIZZLY ATHLETICS

The University of Montana offers 14 intercollegiate athletic programs for student-athletes in football, men's/women's basketball, women's volleyball, women's soccer, women's golf, men's/women's cross country, men's/women's tennis and men's /women's indoor/outdoor track and field.

The Grizzlies compete at the NCAA Division I level and are eligible for postseason competition in 13 sports, with the sole exception being football, where they participate at the I-AA level. There are currently 121 schools in Division I-AA football, which employs a 16-team playoff system.

Montana is a charter (1963) member of the Big Sky Conference, which now consists of eight schools: Cal State-Sacramento, Eastern Washington, Idaho State, Montana, Montana State, Northern Arizona, Portland State and Weber State.

Montana's gridders have registered 17 winning seasons in a row. UM has been the outright Big Sky champion or shared the league title the last five years in a row and eight of the past 10 seasons. The Griz tied the I-AA record for consecutive playoff appearances in 2002 with their 10th straight berth. Montana also tied the I-AA record for consecutive wins with 24.

Suzanne Krings (above) broke the UM record in the 100-meter hurdles and heptathlon in 2003. She placed 12th in the heptathlon at the NCAA Championships.

The Grizzlies had 15 players named to the All-Big Sky team in 2002.

The Grizzly basketball team has posted 23 winning seasons in the past 26 years. Guard David Bell was a first team all-conference selection following the 2002 and 2003 seasons, and an alldistrict pick last year. Guard Kevin Criswell was named the league's "Freshman of the Year" last season.

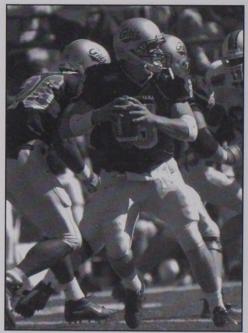

Lady Griz head coach Robin Selvig has a 25-year record of 575-168. In 1999-2000 he became just the seventh coach in NCAA Division I women's basketball to win 500 games at one school.

Last season Lady Griz junior Brooklynn Lorenzen and sophomore center Hollie Tyler were named to the all-conference first team with Tyler garnering tri-defensive player of the year honors.

Wendy Stuker received All-Big Sky Conference First Team honors.

The Grizzly football team won its second NCAA 1-AA national title in 2001.

The Lady Griz basketball team was ranked 26th in the nation in attendance last season with an average of 3,730 fans and has been among the top 20 for 17 of the past 19 years. The Lady Griz had their 21st 20win season in the past 23 years in 2002-03, going 20-10. They have won 14 Big Sky titles and advanced to the NCAA tournament 14 times

UM's women's soccer team has gone 109-58-5 since head coach Betsy Duerksen took over the inaugural program nine seasons ago. Last year forward Liz Roberts, defender Wendy Stuker, and midfielder McKenzie Zajonc were first team all-league picks, while UM had four second-team selections.

The past two years the Griz volleyball team of head coach Nikki Best has been decimated with injuries. Last year junior outside hitter Lizzie Wertz was a second team all-conference pick. Montana has advanced to the Big Sky Championships 11 times in the last 16 years.

Coach Kris Nord coached in his 21st Big Sky men's and women's tennis conference championships in 2003, where his squads once again faced tough competition. Sophomore Jan Harm Steenkamp had an excellent season, going 18-5 at the No. 1 singles spot.

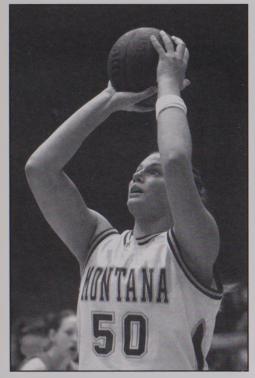

Montana's women's golf head coach Joanne Steele saw her team place second in the Big Sky championships two seasons ago, their highest finish ever.

The Grizzly women's and men's cross country teams both finished fourth at the Big Sky championships last season. Sophomore Antony Ford qualified for nationals and went on to place 16th in the NCAA Men's Cross Country Championships to earn All-America honors.

In 2003, Coach Tom Raunig and the Griz track and field teams sent 46 athletes to the Big Sky outdoor championships. The

GRIZZLY ATHLETICS

Hollie Tyler was named the 2002-03 Big Sky Conference Tri-Defensive Player of the Year.

Grizzlies set five school records at the Big Sky meet. Senior Suzanne Krings set standards in the heptathlon (5,299 points) and 100-meter hurdles (13.69); senior Renee Dunn in the triple jump (41-7); senior Ted Cordeiro in the hammer (208-8); and junior Doug Lefler in the javelin (221-2).

Four track athletes advanced to the 2003 NCAA outdoor national championships: Dane Brubaker in the javelin, Cordeiro in the hammer throw, Dunn in the long jump, and Krings in the heptathlon.

Athletic facilities at Montana have improved dramatically over the last few years. A $14.3 million renovation to the field house, the Adams Center, features two auxiliary gyms, a major facelift of the Dahlberg Arena, a new weight center, an athletic treatment center, locker rooms, and an academic center for student-athletes.

The Washington-Grizzly football stadium underwent an expansion prior to the 2003 football season, and will now accommodate 23,117 fans.

Dornblaser Field, located on UM's south campus, went through a complete refurbishing in the spring of 2002, and is now one of the nicest outdoor track facilities in the conference.

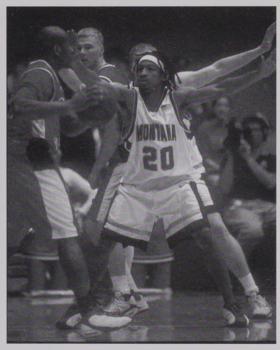

UM's South Campus Soccer

Stadium was completed in 1996 and features a fully-fenced venue, scoreboard, remodeled locker rooms, and seating for 1,000 fans.

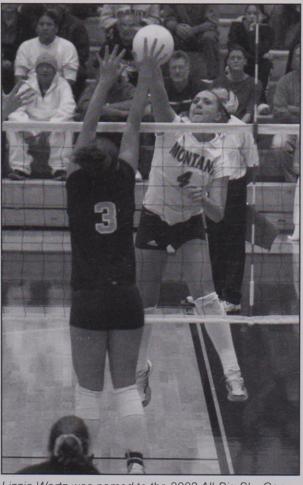

The University also has its own golf course, several soccer fields, and a newly remodeled swimming pool.

A renovated state-of-the-art Campus Recreation facility, adjacent to Adams Center, opened in the fall of 2001. It features racquetball and basketball courts, aerobic/cardio-vascular workout rooms, expanded weight room, locker rooms, a climbing wall, a juice bar and sandwich counter, and is located on four floors.

GRIZZLY ACADEMICS

The University of Montana has had 28 Rhodes Scholars. UM ranks 15th among American colleges and universities in the number of Rhodes Scholars it has produced, fifth among public universities.

UM's School of Education graduates compete very successfully for jobs. A high percentage of those with bachelor's degrees and graduate degrees find teaching, administrative and other education-related positions in Montana and many other states.

The Department of Social Work is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education, making UM the only Montana public school that prepares its graduates to apply for advanced standing in graduate schools of social work.

The Department of Drama/Dance has a professional theater group—the Montana Repertory Theatre based on campus. The Rep, which tours throughout the nation, is the only touring professional actors equity company between Minneapolis and Seattle.

KUFM, a non-commercial public radio station operated by the UM Broadcast Media Center, reaches an estimated 400,000 Montanans in central and western Montana. KUFM-TV is a non-commercial public television station also operated by the Broadcast Media Center. KBGA Radio is a student-run campus radio station.

Nine UM students have received Truman Scholarships. The national scholarship is given annually to students committed to a government career who have superior academic ability and leadership potential.

The Department of Anthropology has the largest collection of artifacts and records of prehistory in the region.

UM's Museum of Art and Culture has the largest art collection in the state.

The School of Business is the only business school in Montana to be accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business at the graduate level. Year in and year out, a high percentage of the school's accounting graduates pass the Certified Public Accountant Exam on their first try.

The Department of Geology has a strong nationally known program in traditional geology and environmental geoscience.

The Department of Geography has one of the Northwest's best cartography laboratories, where students learn to make maps and interpret aerial photography.

The Flathead Lake Biological Station, located about 80 miles north of Missoula, is the oldest biological station west of the Mississippi. The UM research station is one of the finest facilities in the country for ecological studies and freshwater research.

The Department of Health and Human Performance is one of a handful in the country that prepares students to be athletic trainers

The School of Journalism has had seven Pulitzer Prize winners. UM journalism student Bruce Ely was named College Photographer of the Year in the 1998 national competition for the Hearst Journalism UM's graduate creative writing program, started in 1919 by H.G. Merriam, is the second oldest program of its kind in the country and is consistently ranked among the top 10 programs nationwide. Well-known Montana writer and poet James Welch is a graduate of the program.

A significant sign of UM's commitment to academics came in 1993 when former faculty athletic representative Dr. Robert O. Lindsay developed a program at UM to honor student athletes who excel in the classroom. Since then, UM has recognized student athletes who earn a 3.0 grade point average or higher at the annual Lindsay Academic Awards Dinner. Last year, a record 140 student-athletes were recognized at the awards function.

The Big Sky Conference has had 47 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship selections since 1965, and of those players, 13 have been Grizzlies.

During the 2002-03 season, 73 UM athletes from all sports earned Big Sky All-Academic honors, including eight volleyball players.

The volleyball team consistently has one of the top team grade point averages in the UM athletic department. The volleyball team won the 2003 Montana Athletic Director's Award, given annually to the team with the highest team GPA in the athletic department. It was the third time in the last five years that the volleyball team has won the Athletic Director's Award.

In addition, Katy Kubista received the 2003 Montana President's Academic Award for having the athletic department's highest individual grade point average. It was the fourth straight year in which Kubista has received the President's Academic Award.

Inga Swanson is the only other volleyball player to receive the President's Academic Award, earning the honor in 1994 and 1995.

Jacobson Academic Center

A welcome addition to academic services for student athletes is the Jacobson Academic Center. Thanks to the generous contributions of Curt and Lanni Jacobson, student-athletes now have a computer lab/study room to use during the day.

The Jacobson Academic Center has 10 computers and a laser printer. A small conference room is available for group studying.

The Jacobson Academic Center is a key component in the success of Grizzly student-athletes in the classroom.

In addition to student-athletes independently using the Jacobson Academic Center, Athletic Academic Services uses the facility for several of its programs.

Under the guidance of coordinator Jean Cornwall, Athletic Academic Services offers tutoring and advising at the center

The Jacobson Academic Center is located on the Adams Center's ground floor, down the hall from the Athletic Performance Center.

Jean Cornwall

Coord. of Athletic Academic Services

Jean Cornwall has been UM's Coordinator of Athletic Academic Services for almost five years. She oversees UM student-athletes in academic progress, advising on course curriculum, tutoring, referring to campus support services, overseeing completion of general education requirements, and upholding NCAA academic regulations.

Cornwall previously served as UM's Coordinator of the Four Bear Four-Year Graduation Program from 1995-99. She served as an academic advisor, program assistant, assistant to the director and receptionist since she began work at UM in 1991.

A native of Lewistown, Cornwall received a B.A. in psychology from UM in 1995 and is pursuing a master's degree in public administration.

James Lopach

Faculty Athletics Representative

Jim Lopach has been UM's Faculty Athletic Representative since 1995 and a faculty member in the UM political science department since 1973. He has served as UM's associate provost as well as acting director of the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Center. In addition, Lopach served as the associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and special assistant to the President for the semester conversion project.

Lopach received his degree in philosophy and English from Carroll College in 1964. He has two master's degrees from Notre Dame: one in American Studies and one in English-Education. He received his Ph.D. from Notre Dame in American Government and Public Law in 1973.

A native of Great Falls, Montana, Jim has two children, Christine and Paul. Paul is a graduate of the UM law school.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE CENTER

As part of the recent renovation to the Adams Center, a 7,000-square foot Athletic Performance Center was created. The current facility is approximately twice as large as the previous weight room used in the Adams Center over the years. The new center, which is home to the Griz student-athletes, is geared to enhance the overall athletic performance of the teams.

The Athletic Performance Center staff designs, implements and evaluates strength and conditioning programs for all Grizzly athletes. Sport-specific weight training, coupled with movement-specific conditioning, results in a greater overall training effect that transfers to the field or court during the season.

Lifting is also a focus during the season. The student-athletes focus on several base lifts to maintain their strength levels during the long and grueling season. It is a comprehensive approach to training and provides the athletes with the stimuli they need to maximize their performance. The Athletic Performance Center is as sport specific as possible, and the program is scientifically based and intended to increase one's athleticism, as well as decrease an athlete's susceptibility to injury.

The squad undergoes an extensive offseason program in the summer as well as an eight-week program from January until spring practice sessions begin. Training for volleyball has become a 12-month endeavor. The program evolves through several cycles over the course of the calendar year, building towards the climax

As a student at UM, she graduated with a bachelor's degree in health and human performance. She then became a graduate assistant in the strength and conditioning program at the University of Nevada, Reno. ATHLETIC TRAINING CENTER

Completed in the fall of 1999, the newly-remodeled Rhinehart Athletic Training Center boasts 7,200 square feet of space and includes an enlarged rehabilitation area. Also included are athletic trainers' offices, six hydrotherapy units and a consulting office where nutritionists and doctors can meet with athletes. There are also classrooms for the athletic training curriculum.

ways to treat injuries: electrical stimulation units, whirlpools, free weights and balance boards. The primary goal of the athletic training staff is to provide quality care for student-athletes while helping them safely return to competition.

When a student-athlete is injured, an athletic trainer evaluates the severity of the injury and renders whatever care is needed. Depending on the extent of the injury, the student-athlete visits the center daily, at least two to three times, for treatment and rehabilitation exercises. The athletic training staff works together with the Athletic Performance staff to monitor the student-athlete's strengthening exercises. Once student-athletes have regained strength and function, they are allowed to return to the playing field or court.

Although athletic trainers provide injury care, they also promote injury prevention. Preventative maintenance occurs in the form of injuryscreening processes, flexibility, taping and strengthening exercises.

Naseby "Doc" Rhinehart came to Missoula in 1931 from Milwaukee. Wis., to play football and basketball. He also competed in track and field where he had bests of 23 feet in the long jump and 140 feet in the discus.

After graduating in 1935 from The University of Montana, Rhinehart was asked if he was interested in becoming the UM head certified athletic trainer. He did and stayed at the University for 47 years, retiring in 1982. He was one of the first people in the nation to develop an athletic training curriculum (1971) at a university.

Montana has a well-established athletic training curriculum which allows instructors to work directly with the student-athletes.

A native of Deer Lodge, Weida is a double graduate of The University of Montana. He received his B.S. degree in health and human performance with an emphasis in athletic training in 1992 and his M.S. degree in exercise sciences in 1995. He was certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) in June of 1992.

J.C. and his wife Renn have three children: twins Ezra and Isabella, and another daughter Maggie.

Karla Judge

MISSOULA, MONTANA

Birthplace and hometown of author Norman McLean, who wrote A River Runs Through It, Missoula is also known as the "Garden City" for its dense trees and lush green landscape. Missoula is nestled in the heart of the Northern Rockies in western Montana. A community of approximately 66,000 residents, Missoula lies in a mountain forest setting where five valleys con-Missoula verge. Montana's most culturally diverse city. It is 140 miles from Glacier National Park and 270 miles from Yellowstone National Park.

The search for gold in the West and the completion of the Mullan Road, which opened up travel from Fort Benton, Mont., to Walla Walla, Wash., brought people to the valley in 1860. Missoula began as a settlement called Hell Gate when C.P. Higgins and Francis Worden began a trading post to accommodate the travelers. The settlement was later renamed Missoula, taken from a Salish Flathead Indian word, Imisuletiku, "At the stream or water of surprise." (Missoula, the Way It Was, Lenora Koelbe, 1972).

Early settlers constructed Fort Missoula in 1877 to combat the perceived threat by Native American tribes. Today the Fort Missoula Museum remains a testament to the West.

Missoula offers a variety of recreational opportunities. Three major rivers run through the area: the famous Blackfoot River to the northeast, the beautiful Bitterroot River to the south, and the Clark Fork, which flows adjacent to The University of Montana campus. Rock Creek, known for its blue ribbon trout fishing, is just a 20-minute drive from Missoula.

Fly fishermen, rafters, kayakers, and canoers thrive on the waters of western Montana. Flathead Lake, the largest natural freshwater lake in the western United States, is just 70 miles north of Missoula. Seeley Lake, Georgetown Lake, Placid Lake and Salmon Lake are an hour away.

Hiking, biking, camping, rock climbing, and hang gliding are a few activities enjoyed in western Montana. Mount Sentinel, Mount Jumbo. Lolo Peak, and Blue Mountain offer beautiful vistas. Blue Mountain Recreation Area, Pattee Canyon Recreation Area, and the Rattlesnake National Wilderness Area are nearby. The Bitterroot-Selway Wilderness Area, Bob Marshall Wilderness Area, the Mission Mountains, and the Seeley-Swan Range are a short drive from Missoula.

Missoula abounds with skiing opportunities. Snowbowl Ski Area is a 20-minute drive from downtown Missoula and features a continuous vertical drop of 2.600 feet, one of the steepest in the country. Marshall Ski Area, a short 10-minute drive from downtown, features night skiing and offers a good student program. Big Mountain, Discovery, Lookout, Lost Trail, and Silver Mountain ski areas, all within close proximity to Missoula, provide a variety of options for skiers.

Other area attractions include "A Carousel for Missoula" (one of the first fully hand-carved carousels to be built in America since the Great Depression), Garnet Ghost Town, the National Bison Range, the Ninemile Remount Depot and Ranger Station, the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation Wildlife Visitor Center, and the Smokejumper Visitor Center.

Missoula Parks and Recreation and the YMCA provide a variety of recreational opportunities in basketball, soccer, softball, tennis, volleyball, and ice skating.

Missoula also serves as a center for education, health care, retail, and the arts. The University of Montana provides educational opportunities for more than 13,000 college students. Community Medical Center and St. Patrick Hospital, along with many clinics, make Missoula one of the state's premier health care communities.

The Missoula community supports the arts in all its forms: theater productions, dance, art, and music. The Missoula Children's Theater, founded in 1970, moved into a renovated building near campus and produces plays and musicals by national and local playwrights for both adults and children. The theater also has an International Tour Project, taking theatrical productions to audiences outside the Missoula area. The Garden City Ballet and Missoula Symphony, which is in its 50th season, bring performances and concerts to the community year round. The Art Museum of Missoula, located in downtown Missoula, sponsors changing exhibits and also has a permanent collection that focuses on Western contemporary art.

One of the most desirable places to live in the United States, western Montana has become an attractive residence for those looking for pristine beauty and serenity. Even some of America's famous people, such as Liz Claiborne, Tom Cruise, Emilio Estevez, Phil Jackson, and Charlie Sheen, have made western Montana their home.

American Heritage Magazine selected Missoula as the 1999 Great American Place, and Sunset Magazine selected Missoula as the "Best Community" in the West in 1999, and, according to the September 2001 issue of Outside Magazine, Missoula was selected as one of 10 "dream towns" in America.

Missoula is easily accessible by either Interstate 90 from the east and west or by Highway 93 to the north and south. Missoula International Airport has a number of flights daily in and out of Missoula by the major airlines Delta, Northwest, United, and Horizon. Big Sky Airline also lands in Missoula several times a day. It serves throughout Montana, Spokane, Wash., North Dakota and Denver.

MONTANA ADMINISTRATION

Wayne Hogan

Athletic Director

Montana Athletic Director Wayne Hogan, who is beginning his eighth year at the helm, has indoctrinated Griz fans to the constant hum of progress and a well-documented desire for success. Wayne has been called the "champion of change," and he has been undeterred in leading the Grizzly program to levels of greatness never imagined by Grizzly faithful as recently as 15 years ago.

The 48-year-old native Floridian has an association with intercollegiate athletics for more than 26 years. Hogan has known nothing but victories and championships. Hogan's seven-year stint has included two football National Championships and a myriad of conference titles and NCAA appearances. He solidified his commitment to Montana and I-AA Football by accepting a four-year appointment to the powerful eight-member NCAA I-AA Football Committee in 2000. Meanwhile, physical improvements and additions to the athletic facilities at Montana have been all-encompassing since his arrival.

Hogan's career spans over two decades, including a 20-year association with Florida State University, his alma mater. He played an integral role in that program's rise from relative mediocrity in the 1970's to one of the nation's premier athletic programs today. In true "rags-to-riches" form, Hogan's first job at FSU was that of an unpaid student intern in 1974. Twenty years later he became the school's interim Athletic Director, overseeing 15 sports and a $28 million budget. During his time in Tallahassee the Seminoles won an incredible 190 football games, 14 of 16 bowl games and a National Championship in 1993. The basketball program reached the Sweet 16 and the Elite Eight in successive years, and Hogan was instrumental in the school's acceptance into the prestigious Atlantic Coast Conference.

Since his arrival in Missoula, the success of the football program has reached new heights. Three different head coaches – two of whom were hired by Hogan – have led the Grizzlies to an incredible 84-18 record since his arrival at mid-season in 1995. Four times the Grizzlies have appeared in the I-AA National Championship game, bringing home titles in 1995 and 2001. Hogan counts seven Big Sky Conference football championships, and Grizzly teams have been in the I-AA playoffs every year. Other sports have flourished as well. On two occasions, 1996 and 1999, UM won conference championships in football and men's and women's basketball. A sweep of the "big three" in a single year had never been accomplished in league history.

Prior to 1995, outright gifts to athletics at UM for more than $10,000 were virtually non-existent. By comparison, in the last three years, individual benefactors have provided a gift of $1 million for synthetic turf (Griz Grass) and other improvements at Washington Grizzly Stadium; a gift from the late John C. Hoyt of $650,000 for completion of the athletic offices that bear his name; a donation of more than $500,000 from Mark and Anne Timmons of Missoula for a complete overhaul of the Dornblaser Track complex; and a collective gift approaching $300,000 raised by the National Advisory Board for Grizzly Athletics to design and construct the Hall of Champions, a display of Grizzly memorabilia and history to adorn the south concourse at Adams Center.

Hogan's personnel moves have also been highly visible. Early on, he was saddled with the responsibility to replace the legendary Don Read as head football coach. His choice of Mick Dennehy proved to be on target as the Grizzly program continued its Big Sky dominance and its I-AA playoff run. When Dennehy left for Utah State in 2000, Hogan plucked Joe Glenn, a two-time National Champion at Division II Northern Colorado. Glenn, quite simply, was the perfect fit for UM. His 39-7 record and 2001 national title say it all. Hogan has also added popular track coach Tom Raunig, whose team has returned Montana to the top of the Big Sky heap after a lengthy hiatus. Nikki Best, top recruiter and assistant coach at powerhouse Nebraska, also jumped on Hogan's team as volleyball coach. Most recently, Hogan coerced Pat Kennedy, a winner of 400 plus Division I basketball games at Iona, Florida State, DePaul and Montana, to take up residency in Missoula – a move that shook the basketball world and put Montana squarely in the national basketball spotlight. Kennedy is one of the most successful men's basketball coaches ever to work in the Big Sky Conference.

Hogan's path to Montana is an interesting one. He received a bachelor's degree in communication from Florida State in 1979 and then worked for two minor league baseball teams as a broadcaster and public relations specialist. He spent one year in Charleston, W.Va., with the Houston Astros AAA farm club before moving to Albuquerque and a stint with the Los Angeles Dodgers Triple A affiliate. While in Albuquerque, Hogan was coaxed back into college athletics, becoming the assistant sports information and marketing director at the University of New Mexico. He returned to Florida State in 1982 as the school's sports information director. Hogan was promoted to assistant athletic director in 1992 and became the interim athletic director for the 1994-95 year.

In Missoula, Hogan has been active and serves on the Convention and Visitor's Bureau Board as well as the executive board of the Missoula Rotary Club. Wayne was also instrumental in the Washington Grizzly Stadium expansion in 2003, which added an additional 4,000 seats to the stadium on the north end zone, taking the seating to 23,117.

Wayne was one of 25 winners of the Athletic Director of the Year Award in the spring of 2003, presented by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

Wayne is married to the former Dawn Dewberry of Treasure Island, Fla., and they have three children, Lindsay, Kelly and J.P., an eighthgrader at Meadow Hill School in Missoula.

COACHING STAFF

Nikki Best, Head Coach

Success in athletics has been a part of life for Nikki Best for as long as she can remember.

Best wants to continue that success at The University of Montana. Now in her fourth season with the Grizzlies, she is well on her way towards accomplishing that goal.

Inheriting a team that had one winning season in five previous years, Best was given command to reverse the Grizzlies' fortunes and return the program to Big Sky Conference prominence. In three years on the UM bench, Best has amassed a 28-48 record. But that record is a little deceiving as the Griz have had more than their fair share of misfortune and bad luck. Injuries plagued the Grizzlies in 2000 and 2001. In 2000, Montana had a 12-6 overall record and a 4-1 Big Sky mark. However, seasonending injuries to two starters in early October took their toll, and the Griz finished with a 16-14 record.

The Grizzlies went 4-7 in their final 11 regular season matches in 2000, but four of those losses came on the road.

Success in including five-game setbacks at Montana hletics has State and Idaho State.

Montana regrouped and ended the season on a positive note. The Griz won two of their final three matches to qualify for the Big Sky Conference tournament. At the tournament, the sixth-seeded Grizzlies gave Eastern Washington, the No. 3 seed, all it could handle before falling in five games.

In 2001, the Grizzlies never fielded their preseason starting lineup. Katy Kubista missed the entire season due to injury, Teresa Stringer suffered a season-ending injury in 11th match of the year, Lizzie Wertz was sidelined during the first half of the conference schedule with an injury, and Joy Pierce missed the first three matches of the year due to illness.

Expectations were high entering 2002. Although the team had only two seniors, the talent was there for the Grizzlies to be competitive in the Big Sky Conference. But the team suffered a setback before the season when Kubista suffered another injury, which forced her to miss 14 matches. Despite the loss of Kubista, the Grizzlies made great strides on the court, although the results didn't appear in the win-loss column. Montana finished the year with a 7-18 record, but eight of those losses came in five games.

If Best's career is any indication, Montana will remain one of the Big Sky Conference elite programs for years to come.

While attending Lincoln East High School (Neb.), Best was named the state's athlete of the year by two publications for her volleyball exploits. Her storybook career continued after enrolling at the University of Nebraska

The Cornhuskers posted a 106-20 record with three conference championships during her four seasons. She capped her career as the 1993 Big Eight Conference Player of the Year and an AVCA All-Mideast Region selection. Best finished her career with a then school-record 3,786 assists and also ranking among the school's leaders in block assists.

A three-time all-conference performer in the classroom as well as on the court, Best graduated and was named the head coach at South Dakota School of Mines and Technology in 1994. She guided the Hardrockers to a 53-33 overall record in the 1994 and 1995 seasons. In her first campaign, Best directed her squad to the Dakota Athletic Conference title.

Best then returned to Nebraska as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator. The Huskers recorded a 116-20 overall record to go with a 71-9 Big 12 Conference record in four seasons. Nebraska won three league titles and advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 four times, twice reaching the Final Four. She recruited and coached all of the players who led Nebraska to the 2000 NCAA Division I national championship.

Now Best has turned her attention to the Montana volleyball program, a program which has competed in 17 of the past 19 postseason conference tournaments.

A nationally-renowned recruiter, Best is molding the Grizzlies in her image -- a calm exterior masking an intense, driven interior. Best wants the Griz to play an aggressive style, one which will allow them to grab the game's initial momentum.

On the court, Best trains the middle blockers and setters, positions she played in college, as well as oversees the entire offensive attack.

Best earned a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Nebraska in 1994. She and her husband, Dave, were married on July 30, 1994.

COACHING STAFF

Dave Best, Head Assistant Coach

Dave Best, in his fourth season on the Grizzly staff, looks to make the Montana volleyball program one of the elite programs in the Big Sky Conference.

As the head

assistant coach, Best came to Montana after spending three seasons at the University of Nebraska as a volunteer coach. The Cornhuskers recorded two Big XII Conference championships to go with a 52-8 league mark, one Final Four appearance and an overall record of 86-15.

His primary on-court duties include training the outside hitters, primary passers, team defensive tactics and training the student-athletes for the game's mental challenges. Best's time off the playing floor is spent serving as liaison for marketing the program and as camp director.

As the team's defensive coordinator, Best has implemented his philosophy of team defense, stressing the importance of individual movements to create a well-

Dave Best, in season balanced unit. In order to prepare the team mentally for competition as well as practice, the squad conducts mental training sessions to enhance the team chemistry and create dynamic problem-solving techniques.

Best began his collegiate coaching career in 1994 as an assistant coach at South Dakota School of Mines and Technology. In two seasons, the Hard-rockers posted a 53-33 overall record and won the Dakota Athletic Conference title in 1994.

Best was an assistant coach for the elite Nebraska Juniors club team in 1997 and coached many players who would continue their careers at Nebraska.

In the spring of 2001-2002 Best took his talents to Europe. Best served as the head coach for a professional all-star team in the "GALA Tour, Spring European Cup". In 2001 Team USA, comprised mostly of former U.S. collegiate players including former UM standout Katie Almquist, played seven matches in the Czech Republic, Slovenia and Austria. In 2002 Best served as the training coach for the U.S. Expansion Team in the Spring European Cup in Croatia. Among the players on the 2002 squad was current UM senior Lizzie Wertz.

In 2001 Best started the "Montana Volleyball Club", an organization devoted to continued training for coaches and athletes for volleyball in western Montana. In 2002 Best continued with the growth of volleyball in Missoula with the edition of the "Missoula Juniors Volleyball Club". In its first ever season the "Missoula Juniors", the first official Junior Volleyball Club in the Missoula area, attracted 60 athletes who competed in four different tournaments.

A native of Dodge, Neb., Best played club volleyball at Nebraska for three seasons. He earned a bachelor's degree in recreation administration (1994) as well as a masters degree in athletic administration (1999) with an emphasis in team psychology, both from the University of Nebraska.

Allison Weston, Second Assistant Coach

Nikki Best and Allison Weston first worked together as teammates on the University of Nebraska volleyball team in the early 1990's. They have now been reunited on The University of Montana volleyball coaching staff. Weston, a former captain of the U.S. Olympic volleyball team, is now in her second season on the UM staff. Weston works with the middle blockers. Off the court, she breaks down video and handles home events.

Weston is one of the premier players in NCAA and U.S. volleyball history. She was a three-time American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) First Team All-America selection at Nebraska, the first player in school history to achieve that honor. A two-time Big Eight Conference Player of the Year. Weston led the Cornhuskers to a 32-1 record and the 1995 NCAA Division I national title. In the process, she was named Nikki Best the AVCA National Co-Player of the Year along di Allison with Stanford's Cary Wendell. She was also eston first a two-time GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-Americaed to-can.

Weston capped her collegiate career by etching her name throughout the Nebraska record book. She is the school's career kills leader with 1,778. She also set the record for kills in a four-game match with 35. She ranks in the top 10 in several other career categories.

After earning a bachelor's degree in natural resources from Nebraska in 1997, Weston joined the U.S. National Team in May of 1997. Named team captain in January of 1999, Weston led the squad into the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia, and helped the U.S. advance to the bronze medal match. In October of 2000, Weston left the national team and played professionally in Italy for one season. She helped her team, AGIL. to a second-place finish in the Italian Championship.

During the summer of 2002, Weston helped train the USA Volleyball A2 Team in Colorado Springs, Colo.

"The transition from playing to coaching has been good. I enjoy coaching and living in Montana. We have a great group of athletes with which to work everyday. Nikki and I were fortunate to play together at Nebraska, where there is a lot of tradition and success. Here we are laying the foundation for a powerful volleyball program."

BIG SKY CONFERENCE

The 2003-2004 athletic season marks the 41st year of the Big Sky Conference and, although still youthful in the world of NCAA Division I athletic conferences, The Sky has solidified itself as one of the strongest leagues in the West as well as the nation.

With its roots established in 1963, the Big Sky Conference began with six charter members: The University of Idaho, Idaho State University, Gonzaga University, The University of Montana, Montana State University and Weber State University

On July 1, 1970, the league experienced its first expansion, adding Boise State University and Northern Arizona University to the fold to create an eight-member league. On July 1, 1979, charter member Gonzaga left the league and was replaced by the University of Nevada. In 1987, Eastern Washington was admitted to the league to create the first version of a nine-member Big Sky Conference. The University of Nevada's departure in 1992 moved the league to eight members until July 1, 1996 when both Boise State and Idaho left the Big Sky, but the three additional institutions moved the league into a ninemember scenario for the second time. Cal State entered the Northridge conference in 1996 and left it in the spring of 2001

The Big Sky conference sponsors championships in 15 sports, including men's and women's crossi country, golf, basketball, tennis, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, in addition to football, women's volleyball and soccer, h The Big Sky is a NCAA Division I member in all sports, with member institutions classified as I-AA in football.

The 2003-2004 athletic season marks the 15h year in which the Big Conference will sponsor championships in women's sports. Thirteen years ago the Big Sky Conference merged with the Mountain West SACRAMENTO

Athletic Conference, forming one league for both men's and women's athletics. The Mountain West had been in existence since 1982. sponsoring championships for

The eight Big Sky Conference membe institutions are located in seven states that span from the Pacific Ocean to the Rocky Mountains and Room the Canadian to the Mexican borders. The entire west coast is now represented by the Big Sky with members Washington, Oregon and Califordia, and of the eight western-most states in the configuous United States, Only one (Nevada) does not contain a Big Sky member. League members can be found in Arizona, California, Idano. Montana, Oregon, Washington and Utah.

The name BIG SKY originated in a novel written in 1947 by the late A.B. (Bud)

Guthrie of Great Falls, Mont., entitled The Big Sky. Jack Hallowell, former Montana advertising director, promoted the Big Sky theme for the Treasure State, and Harry women's athletics at the same -Missildine of the Spokane institutions the Big Sky had (Wash.) Spokesman-Review sponsored men's programs. -called for the newly formed league to be named "The Big Sky Conference" in his column dated Eeb. 20, 1963. Five days later, on Feb 25, the name Big Sky was adopted by the six presidents of the newly formed league.

On July 1, 1995, Doug Fullerion became the fifth commissioner of the Big Sky Conference. Fullerton replaced longtime commissioner Ron Stephenson, who retired after 14 years in the position. The first commissioner of the Big Sky was Jack Friel, who served from the league's inception until 1971. After Friel, John Roning directed the conference for six years until 1977 when Steve Belko assumed commissioner's role. Belko was with the league for five vears.
