Grizzly Tracks

Grizzly Tracks is the official souvenir program for home basketball games at the University of Montana. They are produced by the Sports Information Director and the UM Printing Services.
Different Styles - But Talented Reno, NAU Visit Montana this Week

Their styles are as different as night and day, but this weekend's University of Montana opponents - Nevada-Reno and Northern Arizona are two good basketball teams. Both are considered to be in the hunt for the league title, with Reno tabbed second in preseason and NAU considered the darkhorse.

Most prognosticators saw the Grizzlies around third place in their crystal ball, with defending regular season favorite Weber State earmarked as the top team in 1985.

Meanwhile, Coach Mike Montgomery's (125-59 in his fifth season) Wolf Pack has defeated UM two out of the team's last three meetings. The biggie was last year's Big Sky finale, as the Pack's Dannie Jones stole a pass and scored a layup for a 71-69 win, the title, and along with it the NCAA automatic berth.

Jones is gone from that team, but the league's premier guard, Curtis High, is back after missing a few games with "legal" problems. High leads the Big Sky in scoring with 21.7 points a game, and assists with a 7.6 average. He also leads in steals with 3.4 a game.

High and his teammates have attempted 111 three point shot attempts and made 35.1 percent of their attempts. Guard Rob Harden is 13 of 30 from three-point range (19-feet-9 inches) and has taken only four from shorter range — in the last five games.

In two league games UNR is nine of 18 in three-pointers.

The Lumberjacks have racked up a 10-5 record in its first 15 games for 65.1 %. . . . Senior Tony Sommers leads the team in rebounds with 8.5 a game, but four other players average more than five a game. Four Wolf Pack players average in double figures in scoring.

Now in his seventh year as head coach, Mike Montgomery boasts one of the most successful collegiate basketball programs in the Northwest. He has the best winning percentage in Montana history (65.7%) and averages almost 19 wins a season.

In his first five years he guided Montana to the four-team, postseason Big Sky Tournament, and would have last year with a second place regular season finish. However, last season all eight Conference teams participated in the tourney.

"Monty," 37, has 111 victories — ranking him second, only behind the Dahlberg Arena namesake, Jiggs Dahlberg, in total number of wins. Montana has won 20 or more games only six times in its 77-year basketball tradition and Montgomery has two of those.

Last year's 23 wins was the second most in Grizzly history, only behind Dahlberg's 27 (and 4) in 1950. UM's back-to-back 20-win seasons in 1983 and 1984 was the first time in school history a coach and his teams have accomplished that.

Montgomery has 14 years of major college coaching experience and is beginning his 12th year in the Big Sky Conference. He served as an assistant at Boise State for three seasons before coming to UM. He has also had coaching stints at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, Colorado State, the Citadel and the University of Florida.

Sound defense has been Montana's forte over the past decade and Montgomery has continued that tradition. Last year UM was 10th in the nation in field goal percentage and led the Big Sky in defense. UM has led the league in defense 11 of the last 13 seasons.

"We take a lot of pride in having tough, hard-nosed players who are willing to sacrifice themselves for team success," Montgomery said.

"Basketball to me is a percentage game where you take advantage of your personnel and allow them to do the things they can do within a team concept," he said. "Our goal is to reach our potential as a team. This requires a very thorough approach to the game. Discipline and dedication from everyone within the program helps us reach that potential."

Montgomery is a 1968 graduate of Long Beach State where he was a four-year letterman in basketball. He also participated in volleyball and rugby. He earned his master's degree in Physical Education at Colorado State.

Mike and his wife, Sarah, have a two-year-old son, John, and are expecting their second child in February.

Assistant Coaches

Stew, 32, is in his seventh season as the number one Grizzly assistant in charge of recruiting and scheduling. He was an assistant coach at former Big Sky Conference member Gonzaga University for three years. During those three years he was the number one coaching assistant and was the school's recruiting coordinator for two seasons. He was a graduate assistant for the Bulldogs for one season.

He was an All-Big Sky center at Gonzaga his senior year in 1973-74, and was named team captain and Most Valuable Player for the Bulldogs that season.

Prior to playing at the four-year level he participated in basketball at Ricks College, where he averaged 23 points a game as a sophomore and was named a JC All-American.

He played pro basketball in Europe for a Division I team in Bordeaux, France, after his graduation from Gonzaga in 1974. After a few months with the team he was named player-coach.

From Provo, Utah, Morrill earned nine letters in basketball, football and track at Provo High School. His wife's name is Vicki. They have three children.

Bob Niehl is in his fifth season at UM. He assists in varsity coaching, along with scouting and recruiting, as well as supervising the Grizzly Cage Camps each summer.

Bob also served as a graduate assistant at WSU for a season. From 1975-77 he was the head basketball and girl's and boy's track coach at Sprague High School in Sprague, Washington.

He was a standout athlete at WSU, where he was a three-year letterman in basketball and team captain his senior season. He was a seven-foot high jumper for the Cougars, and qualified for the NCAAs all four of his collegiate seasons. He is a 1970 graduate of Bethel High School in Spanaway, Washington, where he was also a basketball and track star.

PEOPLE WHO CARE DO A BETTER JOB.

Helping people make informed choices about insurance is a big responsibility. It takes a special kind of person to do it well. Experience and creativity aren’t enough.

At Western States, our agents care about people. They understand that insuring a house is one thing—protecting a life-long dream is another. Knowing the difference has made us the largest insurance agency in western Montana.

Washington: Spark Plug in Griz Hoop 'Machine'

by Dave Guffey
Grizzly Sports Information Director

Every fine tuned machine, no matter what its function, has many vital parts to make it operate at peak performance.

The University of Montana Grizzly basketball program has had such a "part" for three-plus seasons now. His name is Leroy Washington. He hails from Long Beach, California, the home turf of seventh-year Grizzly coach Mike Montgomery.

So how did the 6-0, 180-pound point guard make the trek to Missoula and the Big Sky Country?

A college chum of Montgomery's, Jim Barnett, is the head football coach at Washington's alma mater, Long Beach Poly High School. He saw Washington's prep basketball ability and called to tell his old college buddy about him.

"Barney called and said he thought Leroy could play here and make the adjustment to Missoula and I thought I'd take a look," Montgomery recalled.

"After Leroy made the game-winner for Poly when they won the CIF championship I went down to talk to him."

Barnett had Washington in an English class and had told him about Montana and Missoula and its university, and of course Grizzly basketball.

All five of the starters on his Poly team were offered scholarships to major colleges, and Washington played against one of them when Cal-Irvine and Troy Carmen played in Missoula a few weeks ago.

"I remember meeting Barney and Leroy at a hamburger stand in Long Beach," smiled Montgomery; "and I remember it like it was yesterday. Barney had grown up in Missoula, leaving his sophomore year in high school, and Leroy knew a lot about the area and the school."

The rest, as they say, is history.

Washington has been the spark in Montana's 14-2 start in 1984-85, and has dished out a team-leading 71 assists and 24 steals. He currently ranks fourth in the Big Sky Conference in assists and fifth in steals.

The senior co-captain has paid his dues in earning a starting berth. He served as Montana's third guard the last couple of seasons, as the Grizzlies recorded back-to-back 20-win seasons, at 23-7 in 1984 and 21-8 in 1983.

He has already put himself in the Grizzly record book with 188 assists, ranking him sixth in school history. The school record is 372, set by Michael Ray Richardson, now a star with the New Jersey Nets.

"I knew I'd have to change my lifestyle going from the fast lane to the slow lane," Washington reflected. "It's been no problem adjusting. The weather is really no big deal. I thought I'd get a chance to play as a freshman (he played in 14 games) and the fans were great. They really made me feel welcome.

"Playing the third guard (he played behind Glass for three seasons) got me down sometimes, but I just hung with it," he said. "My sophomore year I came in lighter and got to play more and then last season I played in every game and contributed.

"It's fun, but I do feel a lot of pressure," he said when asked about his starting role. "The fans are used to seeing me in a sixth man role. I don't look to shoot. My main concern is to make everyone else better and to give up some things for the team to have success."

One of the key things Washington has done this season is get the ball to the open man, especially underneath to 6-9 All-American candidate Larry Krystkowiak, and 6-10 center Larry McBride. Washington is shooting 54.8 percent, including one-for-two in three pointers, and averaging almost six points per game.

"The fans haven't changed and that's one of the main reasons I came here," Washington said. "I play for the fans and my team. I need the fans support to play at my best for the team."

Washington said moving to Missoula away from his familiar surroundings, "gave me a lot more responsibility and really made me grow up. He also said being black in Missoula, 'is no big deal. People usually associate blacks with an athlete at the university and I like that. They are really friendly. People in the city are just always in a hurry. . . ."

Washington is earning a degree in Health and Physical Education and hopes to be a college coach some day.

Montgomery said having Washington in his program, "has been real positive for both of us. Of all five of the players on his high school team he has had perhaps the most success and that's something to be proud of.

"Leroy is a pure point guard and the better his supporting cast, the better he will be. He has always handled pressure well. He is quick and difficult to take the ball from. As co-captain he has earned his place on our basketball team and understands what needs to be done.

"I think he has a chance to be a pretty good coach some day," Montgomery continued. "He's worked hard for what he's got, and he'll be able to translate that well into a coaching situation. He's always had time to talk to people and that's helped him and our program."

Like a fine tuned machine Washington has kept the "Grizzly-Mobile" running smoothly for some time now. . . .

Named the Big Sky Conference’s Most Valuable as a sophomore, "Krysco" has already established himself as one of the premier players in Grizzly basketball history.

He led the Grizzlies in rebounding in 26 of 30 games and in scoring 16 times. His 18 points and 10.5 rebounds a game led the conference in both categories.

Not only did Larry have success in both phases of his game, but he also shot for high percentages. His 54.7 percent from the field ranked him third in the conference (along with UM’s Marc Glass) and his 80.5 percent from the free throw line rated him fifth.

A three-time Big Sky Player of the Week selection, his 33 points at Eastern Washington was the highest seasonal point total in the league. His 17 rebounds against Boise State placed him third in that category.

“Larry has improved every season and that has come with hard work and a love for the game, something that I think rubs off on the rest of the team,” Mike Montgomery said. “He proved with the success that he had at the Olympic Trials the high caliber of player that he is. He is also a great person and outstanding student. The type of player every coach would like to have in their program.”

He started in all 30 of Montana’s games last season and logged 1,067-plus minutes, averaging 35.6 minutes a game—leading the Big Sky in that category.

Consistency enabled Krystkowiak to have the season he had in 1984. He scored in double figures and that has come with hard work and a love for the game, something that I think rubs off on the rest of the team,” Mike Montgomery said. “He proved with the success that he had at the Olympic Trials the high caliber of player that he is. He is also a great person and outstanding student. The type of player every coach would like to have in their program.”

As a freshman he was named the Big Sky’s “Top Reserve.”

He was a two-time all-state player at Missoula’s Big Sky High School and “AA” MVP as a senior. He was a Converse All-American as a prep.

GET NATIONAL ATTENTION
IN THE BIG SKY CONFERENCE

National Car Rental is the official car rental company of the Big Sky Conference. And for good reason. We give you the kind of attention you deserve when you rent a car. Like great low daily, weekly and weekend rates. And no mileage charge when you return the car to the rental location. National attention means quick, efficient service with a personal touch. And a selection of comfortable, top-quality GM cars. For college students it means we make car renting convenient. If you're 18 or older, all you need is a valid driver's license, a current student I.D. and a small cash deposit (just call a few days in advance to cash qualify at corporate and participating licensee locations). Or use a major credit card if you wish.

With National, it's easy to follow the Big Sky Conference, to see the away games or just to get away for a weekend. Get the personal attention you deserve with National, and save money, too.
