Welcome “Classic” Fans

May I take this opportunity to welcome all University of Montana Grizzly basketball fans to the Champion Holiday Classic VII. The University is pleased to welcome all of the participants to this annual event. We are proud of the teams and the schools they are representing.

This tournament provides scholarships for the academic programs of the University and provides an opportunity for Grizzly basketball fans to see outstanding teams from throughout the country.

The University is appreciative of the continued support Champion International provides for the University of Montana.

Sincerely,

Krysko’s Number 42 to Be Retired

University of Montana fans will miss seeing Larry Krystkowiak this season, and they will also miss his number — 42. The University of Montana has retired that number, the first one ever in Grizzly basketball history and the second number enshrined in UM annals. (Terry Dillon’s No. 22 was retired in football.) "Krysko" is now playing for the San Antonio Spurs in the National Basketball Association. He was the 28th player selected in the NBA draft, the fourth pick in the second round, eventually traded to the Spurs.

The Missoula product (Big Sky High School) rewrote numerous Grizzly marks and is the No. 1 scorer and rebounder with 2,017 points and 1,105 rebounds. He is the Big Sky Conference’s number two career scorer, just two points behind former Weber State standout Bruce Collins (2,019). He is the league’s third-ranked career rebounder.

Not only was Krysko a three-time Grizzly Most Valuable Player, earning the Dragstedt Award — but he was an unprecedented Big Sky MVP three times and the league’s Player of the Week nine times. As a sophomore, junior and senior he was also an honorable mention All-American selection.

It didn’t stop with athletics for the Business major. He was a first team Academic All-American as a junior and senior, continuing UM’s fine tradition in academic excellence. He maintained a 3.61 GPA during his collegiate career.

A starter in 92 straight games at UM and the Big Sky’s “Top Reserve” as a frosh, Krystkowiak made the final 32 of the 1984 Olympic Trials and played on numerous touring all-star teams.

Classic fans will also miss Krysko. He was the tournament MVP in 1983-84-85.

Montanans will remember No. 42 not only as a great basketball player, but as a great person as well. It is fitting no other player wear his number....

No More Splinters!

After 18 seasons in the "temporary" Dornblaser football facility, Grizzly fans are finally enjoying the comforts of the new Washington-Grizzly Stadium — a stadium built entirely from private donations.

You can join those who have already contributed by sponsoring a stadium seat. By donating at the levels of $500, $1,000 or $2,500 or more, you will retire a Dornblaser seat and replace it with one in the new stadium. In appreciation for your contribution, each donor will be honored on a memorial wall at the stadium entrance and will receive an engraved piece of the Dornblaser bleachers.

You can give a one-of-a-kind gift by sponsoring a seat in the name of a friend or family member. And it is a rare gift, indeed, for Missoula and all of Montana.

The holiday season is a special time for remembering and giving. Take a moment and remember what the University means to us all. And remember how much your gift will mean to the Grizzly future.

Sponsor a seat today!

For more information, please contact the University of Montana Campaign Office at 243-6208. All gifts are tax deductible to the full extent as provided by law.

The University of Montana in Missoula is located in a mountain forest setting in beautiful Western Montana. It is halfway between Glacier and Yellowstone national parks.

Four wilderness areas are located near Missoula. The natural surroundings offer excellent opportunities for hunting, fishing, backpacking, river floating, camping and other outdoor recreational pursuits. Two excellent winter ski areas are located within minutes of the University. Several other ski areas are only a couple of hours away by car. UM owns and operates its own golf course adjacent to campus.

The University of Montana is one of the West's pioneers in education and was chartered February 17, 1893. The school opened in September, 1895, with 50 students enrolling the first day. Located on 201 acres at the base of Mount Sentinel, UM has grown from 50 students and seven faculty members to a present enrollment of 9,000 and approximately 450 full-time faculty positions.

Through its history, the University of Montana has sustained a high standard of academic excellence in teaching, research and service.

UM offers associate of arts degrees in two areas and bachelor's degrees in 58 fields. It offers master's degrees in 54 programs and doctoral degrees in 13.

The College of Arts and Sciences, which is the core of the University, includes a full range of programs and courses in the life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences and humanities. The College also offers curricula in interdisciplinary fields ranging from ethnic studies to interdepartmental studies.

Seven professional schools complete the academic program — Business Administration, Fine Arts, Journalism, Education, Forestry, Law, Pharmacy and Allied Health Sciences.

The aim of the University is to provide is students with a relaxing and meaningful learning experience with the best facilities possible. The administration, faculty and staff strive for this goal.
THE MAKING OF
HOLIDAY CLASSIC TROPHIES

The art of lost wax casting is almost as old as art itself. Probably the most complex of all casting techniques, it has been used throughout history to capture detail and intricately design in various metals.

When Missoula residents Don Olson and Ron Herron first tried their hands at this ancient technique, they used an old tomato juice can and plaster of Paris. That was in 1970 and both would have to admit they’ve come a long way since then.

Herron, who has since moved to Helena, has become a nationally recognized artist, famous for both his painting and sculptures, and Olson have perfected the techniques of casting in bronze to the point that artists from around the nation send their work to his Omega Bronze Foundry located in Stevensville.

Watching the technicians work on the two bronze trophies for the Champion Holiday Classic offers a glimpse into the history of this ancient art, a complex and time-consuming process which yields works in bronze that cannot be duplicated.

The process begins in wax. The two original trophies, which were sculpted by Herron in wax, were first photographed for reference and then brushed with several layers of latex to create a mold of the wax original. This latex mold is the permanent record of the artist’s original.

Next, wax is poured into the latex mold, the wax cooled, the mold disassembled, and in theory what emerges is an exact duplicate of the artist’s original. However, it is never that simple.

The wax replica must be transferred to the secondary wax room where technicians, who are artists in their own right, refine and perfect the wax, constantly comparing it to the original in the photographs.

Once the technicians are satisfied that the secondary wax is indeed identical to the artists original, it is fitted with a system of tubes, or sprue... gates, which serve as ducts for the molten metal and escaping air. This insures that when the bronze is eventually poured into the mold, it will flow evenly through the piece and into any extremities.

From the secondary wax to a secondary mold. From this wax replica of the artist’s original a silica and sand shell is created by dipping the replica first in a liquid silica and then into several layers of sand. Once the shell is thick enough, the entire piece, which now looks like something that has just been washed ashore, is placed in an oven. The wax, which is sealed inside the shell, is heated and runs out. Thus, the lost wax.

This empty sand shell is then reheated, molten bronze poured into it, the shell broken, and the bronze and metal allowed to cool, then the trophy is revealed.

At last! But not finally. For now it must go back to the technicians for refining and finishing.

The sprues, which are now made of bronze, must be removed along with any imperfections, such as air bubbles or cracks. Once again, the technician works from the photographs to insure the accuracy of even the smallest detail.

The entire piece is then heated with a torch until it is so hot it actually glows, and a chemical compound is sprayed onto the surface to achieve the finish, or patina.

Finally the piece is baked with a wax coating and then mounted, which brings to an end an estimated 150 man hours in the casting of one bronze trophy.

The winning team and most valuable player at this year’s Champion Holiday Classic will not only be taking home a trophy for their team and school, they will be earning a unique and valuable work of art, the likes of which will not be seen until the process begins again next year, when the fourth in the series of trophies is cast.

Champion Holiday Classic VII Features Experienced Teams

by Dave Guffey, Director
Grizzly Sports Information

The University of Montana basketball team will have its hands full in the 1986 Champion Holiday Classic VII tournament. All three visiting teams — Kent State, Houston Baptist and Rider College — have four returning starters.

Montana is shooting for its fifth consecutive classic title, but is doing so with a young team made up of 12 freshmen and sophomores. The two returning starters are guards Scott Zanon and Todd Powell.

First-year coach Stew Morrill's 3-2 team is coming off a couple of wins, and the starting five of Zanon, Powell, center Steve Vanek and forwards Wayne Tinkle and Mike Ahlers will face a good Kent State team in the opening round of the tourney.

The Golden Flashes are 3-1 (at press time) and have a guard-oriented team, as well as a solid center. Kent's guards, Bill Toole and Reggie Adams, are averaging more than 30 points a game between them, and center Terry Wearsch is averaging 11 points and 7.7 rebounds a game.

Coach Jim McDonald's squad has victories over Marshall (73-69), Robert Morris (79-51) and Wittenberg (64-47). The loss was 67-62 at Akron.

"Their (Kent State's) strength is definitely at guard and their center, (Terry) Wearsch, who could be the best center in the Mid-American Conference," Morrill said. "They play good, solid, fundamental basketball, like we try to do here at Montana. It should be kind of a battle of similar styles to a degree."

Wearsch, a 6-8, 222-pound senior, is fifth in career rebounding at KSU with 663 and has started in 80 straight games. Toole has made 30 of 33 free throws (91 percent) and his last 14 in a row.

The Grizzlies have four players averaging in double figures, led by Zanon, who was named to the Champion VI all-tournament team. "Z" is averaging 16.4 points and a team-leading 7.0 assists per game.

Other UM players in double figures are Vanek (15.2ppg), Powell (14.2) and Tinkle (11.2). Tinkle and Vanek lead in rebounding with 7.2 and 7.0 a game, respectively. Vanek is shooting a blistering 71 percent (31 of 44) from the field.

The Golden Flashes are coached by Jim McDonald who is in his fifth season at Kent State.

Houston Baptist is also very strong at the guard positions, with seniors Fred Goporo and Arthur Walton accounting for 36 points a game between them. Forward Bruno Kongawoin averages 10 rebounds a game for the 2-1 Huskies.

Houston Baptist is also very strong at the guard positions, with seniors Fred Goporo and Arthur Walton accounting for 36 points a game between them. Forward Bruno Kongawoin averages 10 rebounds a game for the 2-1 Huskies.

Kent State guard Bill Toole.

the Broncos are coached by John B. Carpenter who also is the school's athletic director. Carpenter has been at RC 21 years.

Forward Marshall Grier was an all-leaguer last season for the Broncos. He leads the team in scoring and rebounding (17.3p, 10.0r).

ABOUT CHAMPION

Champion International Corporation is a major forest products company and a pioneer in the building products, papers and paper packaging businesses. Headquartered in Stamford, Connecticut, the company's major domestic divisions include:

—Building Products
—Paper
—Packaging
—Timberlands

The company was formed in 1967 with the merger of Champion Papers Inc. and U.S. Plywood Corporation. The name Champion International Corporation was adopted in 1972.

Champion in Montana

Champion's investment in Montana is a substantial one. It includes 800,000 acres of timberlands; the largest softwood plywood plant in North America; several sawmills that produce a wide variety of lumber products; and the largest pulp and paper mill of Champion's packaging division. All together, there are some 2,100 Montana Champions employed by these operations located in Western Montana.

Champion's desire to sponsor a tournament for the University came as an outgrowth of an existing community interest in college basketball, and a need for additional academic scholarship programs at the University of Montana.

It is intended that any income from the tournament which is not required to pay the expenses of the tournament will be used for academic and scholarship programs at the University of Montana.

This community event enables individuals from divergent backgrounds and interests to have a common interest, that being the University of Montana.

This event is an example of industry and community participation, hosting an athletic event to provide assistance to academic and scholarship programs at the University of Montana.
