Curt Barclay (1931-1985)

When you talk about a person who was close to the Grizzly athletic department, as well as the sports information department, you’re talking about Curt Barclay.

Curt was my main man on the UM stat crew in football and men’s basketball, and once told me he hadn’t missed a football game at home in 20-plus years. It was Curt who did the final compilation of stats after each game.

He also had an uncanny ability to pick game scores. I remember many times late in a contest I’d ask him, “Well Curt, how are we going to get out of this one.” And he’d reply, “we’re OK, just watch,” and I’d feel reassured.

One thing that will always stick in my mind is the fall football season of 1984. I hadn’t seen Curt since basketball season ended in early March. I asked him how he was doing and he was unbelievably frank about his bout with cancer.

A couple of months or so later basketball had started and I asked him again. His response was the same, except he added, “I told my doctor I was going to hang around the rest of the basketball season.”

Unfortunately for those of us who loved him he was right. He made it through the hoop season — but succumbed just weeks later on March 25th.

The phone lines won’t quite reach that high, Curt, but keep an eye on the football field and basketball arena for me, will you?

The University of Montana in Missoula is located in a mountain forest setting in beautiful Western Montana. It is halfway between Glacier and Yellowstone national parks.

Four wilderness areas are located near Missoula. The natural surroundings offer excellent opportunities for hunting, fishing, backpacking, river floating, camping and other outdoor recreational pursuits. Two excellent winter ski areas are located within minutes of the University. Several other ski areas are only a couple of hours away by car. UM owns and operates its own golf course adjacent to campus.

The University of Montana is one of the West's pioneers in education and was chartered February 17, 1893. The school opened in September, 1895, with 50 students enrolling the first day. Located on 201 acres at the base of Mount Sentinel, UM has grown from 50 students and seven faculty members to a present enrollment of 9,288 and approximately 450 full-time faculty positions.

Through its history, the University of Montana has sustained a high standard of academic excellence in teaching, research and service.

UM offers associate of arts degrees in two areas and bachelor's degrees in 58 fields. It offers master's degrees in 54 programs and doctoral degrees in 13.

The College of Arts and Sciences, which is the core of the University, includes a full range of programs and courses in the life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences and humanities. The College also offers curricula in interdisciplinary fields ranging from ethnic studies to interdepartmental studies.

Seven professional schools complete the academic program — Business Administration, Fine Arts, Journalism, Education, Forestry, Law, and Pharmacy and Allied Health Sciences.

The aim of the University is to provide its students with relaxing and meaningful learning experience with the best facilities possible. The administration, faculty and staff strive for this goal.
There's Gold In Them Thar Hills!

The University of Montana was recently awarded its 22nd Rhodes Scholar. This ranks UM sixth in the nation of all public institutions. UM ranks sixth among schools west of the Mississippi. Rhodes Scholarships provide two to four years at Oxford University in England. Students are chosen on the basis of scholarships, community and political involvement, athletic ability and personal character.

The Yellow Bay Biological Station, located about 70 miles northeast of Missoula at Flathead Lake, is the nation's oldest inland station. Among some 70 inland units in the United States, the UM ranks fifth for its program facilities and student population.

KUFM, a noncommercial public radio station operated by the radio-television department of the School of Journalism, is the only National Public Radio station in Montana.

University of Montana education majors compete very successfully for jobs with 93 percent of those with bachelor's degrees and 100 percent of those with graduate degrees finding appropriate positions.

The Department of Social Work is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education and is the only Montana school that assures its graduates of a year of advanced standing in graduate schools of social work.

The School of Journalism has had 19 of its students selected as Sears Congressional interns — more than any other journalism school in the country. During the four-month internship, students work for a United States Congressman or Senator and also attend classes.

The Department of Art enjoys a national reputation for excellence in ceramics.

The Department of Drama/Dance has a professional theater group — the Montana Repertory Theater — based on campus. The Montana Repertory Theater, which tours throughout the Northwest, is the only professional Actors Equity company between Minneapolis and Seattle.

A University of Montana student has been chosen to receive a Truman Scholarship for six of the last eight years. The national scholarship is given annually to students committed to a government career who have superior academic ability and leadership potential.

The Department of Anthropology has the largest collection of artifacts and records of pre-history in the region.

The School of Business is the only business school in Montana to be accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. Nearly 47 percent of the business school's accounting graduates pass the Certified Public Accountant Exam on their first try. This is more than three times the national first-time success rate of 14 percent.

The Department of Geology has an outstanding national reputation. In cooperation with Purdue University, a field station has been set up in southwestern Montana. The department also provides hands-on experience for students in the minerals, rocks and paleontology laboratories at the University's Seismic Station and in the Earthquake Research Laboratory.

The Department of Geography has one of the region's best cartography laboratories where students learn to make maps and interpret aerial photography.

The Department of Health and Physical Education is one of a handful in the country that trains students to be athletic trainers. And it is the only program in the state to offer a master of science in physical education.

The Native American Studies program at the University of Montana is regarded by Indian educators as one of the four most outstanding in the nation.

Newly remodeled training facilities in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders are some of the finest in the region. People from all over the state come to the center for speech, language and hearing therapy.

Grizzlies Strike "Gold"

Grizzly head football coach Larry Donovan and his staff stress academic excellence, along with excellence on the playing field, and the success in the classroom during his tenure proves it.

Montana has had at least four players named to the All-Big Sky Conference Academic Team four of the last five seasons. In 1983 UM had four players named to the All-District 7 team. Those players then became eligible for the highest athletic/scholastic honor in the country — Academic All-American.

The impressive thing about UM's academic achievements is that UM is in NCAA Division I which includes almost 300 schools.

During Donovan and his staff's tenure, there have been two Academic All-Americans, including Brian Salonen in 1983 and Greg Iseman in 1982. Both players had 3.70 GPAs, Iseman earning a degree in Geology, while Salonen earned his in Business. "Obviously we strive for athletic excellence, but we also feel that if you're a winner in the classroom you'll be a winner on the playing field and in all aspects of life," Donovan said.
President Neil Bucklew

Neil S. Bucklew assumed his duties as the 14th president of the University of Montana in August 1981. Bucklew, 44, came from Ohio University in Athens, where he served as provost from 1976 until assuming his duties at Montana. Also in 1981 Donovan was honored by the Great Falls Optimist Club, which sponsors the annual Montana Sports Banquet, by naming him the state's Coach of the Year. In 1982 he was named the Boss of the Year by the Professional Secretaries International.

Clark, 37, has 14 years of coaching in college and secondary schools in the Midwest. He and Billy Mitchell started the Kentucky Wesleyan football program from scratch two years ago. Prior to taking the position at Owensboro, Clark was head football coach at Belkin High School in Illinois. He was there three years, from 1980-82. Clark received his B.A. degree at Indiana State in 1971 in Earth Science and Geography. He earned his master’s at Louisville in 1977. He began his college coaching career at Louisville as a graduate assistant coach. From Terre Haute, Indiana, he prepped at Garfield High School, where he was an all-state football player. He played offensive guard at Indiana State in 1966-67. Clark and his wife, Karen, have a two-year-old daughter, Jennifer.

Craig Fouhy
Running Backs

Former University of Montana football coach Craig Fouhy (pronounced Foo-EE), rejoined the Grizzly staff as running backs coach in February of 1985. He served as assistant offensive line coach at Montana during the 1982 season, the year the Grizzlies won the Big Sky Conference championship. Fouhy, 31, was most recently the head football coach at Tahoma High School in Maple Valley, Washington. He also served as assistant track coach there. He takes over the running backs from Jeff Reinebold, who now coaches the secondary. Fouhy has 10 years of coaching experience, starting at Lake Roosevelt High School in Coulee Dam, Washington in 1976. At Coulee Dam he served as head football and head track coach for three years. He then was head football coach at Coupeville High in Washington for two years, then Sumner High for four years, then UM and finally Tahoma. As a collegiate player Fouhy was a three-year starter at offensive tackle at Pacific Lutheran University, and all-league and all-district his junior and senior seasons. He was Little All-Coast in 1974 and 1975 and an NAIA honorable mention All-American in 1975. He prepped at Mt. Rainier High in Des Moines, Washington. He and his wife, Kristie, have a two-year-old son, John.

Jim Hogan
Inside Linebackers, Conditioning Coach

Jim Hogan, a former player at the University of Montana, was appointed inside linebacker coach and conditioning coach in March of 1985. Hogan, 28, played linebacker at Montana from 1977-80 and was a four-year letterman and three-year starter. He is a member of the UM Lettermen’s Club and the UM Weight Training Club. He served as a student assistant coach at Montana in 1981 and 1982 — the year the Grizzlies won the Big Sky conference title. In the fall of 1981 Hogan was an assistant football coach at Solano Community College in Suisun, Calif. He coached at UM in the spring of ’81 and then returned for the 1982 season. Hogan has also coached at Broadus High under coach Lloyd Boozer in football and was head wrestling coach and assistant track coach. Hogan is a 1981 graduate of UM and received his B.S. in Health, Physical Education. He prepped in Timberline High School in Lacey, Wash. He is single.

Marty Mornhinweg
Wide Receivers

A name synonymous with Grizzly football and the success of 1981 and 1982, Marty holds virtually all of the passing records, both single season and career, at the University of Montana. He was running back and safety coach at his alma mater, Oak Grove High, in 1983. In the summer of 1985 he was quarterback coach for the North in the North-South All-Star Game in Northern California. He was with the Grizzlies as wide receiver coach in 1985 spring practice and coached a football camp in California this past summer. As a player at UM he led the Grizzlies to a 7-3 record in 1981 and the Big Sky Conference title in 1982. He passed for 6,083 yards and 38 touchdowns during his career — shattering both standards. He was a three-time all-league pick at UM and honorable mention All-American in 1982. As a prep he was All-Northern California and set numerous state passing and scoring records. He earned his B.S. degree at Montana in 1985 in Health and Physical Education.

1985 Outlook: Wishbone Attack To Be Featured

A wishbone offense will be the biggest new wrinkle in the University of Montana game plan this season. Another will be the absence of quarterback Marty Mornhinweg, UM's all-time passer.

“We have experimented with the wishbone with the thought of using all of the backs in our offense,” said sixth-year Grizzly coach Larry Donovan. “If we can run the football the way we have passed it the last two years then we will have success.

“We must reestablish the run and have success on run-type downs to be a championship football team,” Donovan continued. “To be a championship football team you have to be able to complement the run with the pass and that is something we have got away from the past two seasons.”

One of the main reasons Donovan and his staff have implemented the wishbone is the return of fullbacks Scott Murray and Kraig Paulson, a pair of honors candidates, and a pair of tough, hard-running backs.

“The fullback tandem of Murray and Paulson, plus the return of LeRoy Foster add up to three players who we have confidence in moving the football; and in LeRoy's case, breaking the long one,” Donovan said. Foster was an honorable mention All-Big Sky conference selection last year.

Other backs who figure into the game plan include senior Alan Botzheim, sophomore Mike Ehlers and redshirt freshman John Huestis.

Another greatly improved area should be tight end where Paul Lamb proved his ability in the Mirage Bowl and Brad Salonen returns after a wrist injury sidelined him early in the '84 season. “They should be two of the best ever, and that's a mouthful when you look at the tight ends in the history of Montana football,” Donovan said.

A concern for Donovan is the graduation-hit offensive line, where honorable mention all-conference guard Eric Dawald is the only returning fulltime starter. However, tackle Larry Clarkson and center/guard Mark Smith saw considerable action last year. Donovan hopes sophomores Rusty Lohof and Darrin Reid can rise to the occasion, along with JC transfer Jack Metcalf at center. Perhaps the biggest key will be senior Scott Poole, who was moved from defensive to offensive tackle in the spring, and is a 1985 honors candidate.

“The offensive line made great strides in the spring, and must make even greater strides in fall camp to become as good as they need to be,” Donovan said.

Wide receiver was hit hard with the loss of Bob McCauley to graduation, but veterans Scott Moe and Terry White are sure-handed, along with JC transfer Mike Rice and soph Sherman Nelson. “Wide receiver is a talented group and Rice and Nelson give us good speed and athletic ability there.”

Defensively the Grizzlies will stick with the 3-4 alignment, with considerably more blitzing, especially from the inside linebackers.

“I think the defense regained its vitality and personality in the spring,” Donovan said. “With the defensive line having gone through a year of tough experience, they are now ready to come back. And with the return of Shawn Poole and the addition of transfer Nate Finch, our defensive front looks solid.

“The defensive line is the key to the defense, and their improvement in pursuit enables the linebackers to play a more loose, active role and once again make our front seven a viable part of our football team,” he said.

Along with Poole and Finch are lettermen Pat Foster, Ward Crawford and Larry Oliver at tackle, while Dave Seaman and Scott Moore, two more vets, are at noseguard.

Rick Dozier and Doug Sexe are honors candidates at inside linebacker and will hopefully take over for now-graduated Jake Trammell who had a team-leading 137 tackles last year. Speed will also be in the middle with Ed Apostol and Todd Koechlein, a pair of converted defensive backs. Soph Greg Gianinni will also battle for playing time.

At outside linebacker are four talented players in senior...
Grizzlies to Re-establish Running Attack In '85

lettermen Bill Tarrow and Tim Gillis, JC transfer Pat Hardiman and sophomore letterman J. C. Campbell. Gillis is the team’s leading returning tackler with 109 stops in '84. “This is a very good position for the Grizzlies,” Donovan said.

“In the secondary Ted Ray has great range and valuable experience as to knowing what to expect from certain offenses,” Donovan said. “This should be one of the most improved areas on the football team,” he said.

An important element in the secondary will be whether or not Tim Monterossi recovers from a knee injury he suffered in spring ball. Rob Meidinger and Nate Odden finished spring drills as the starters at corner, with JC transfers Reggie Brown and Brian Gimler as backups.

Strong safety will be a solid position as three-year starter Terry Shillam returns, and sophomore Tony Breland adds strong depth. Shillam is the second leading returning tackler in the secondary with 103 stops.

“The big defensive question mark is how fast the cornerbacks adjust to their new positions (Meidinger and Odden are converted safeties), as well as the play of the outside linebackers,” Donovan said. “We think that group could make us a sound defensive football team.”

Donovan added he is “still very concerned with the kicking game, although we feel with a junior kicker (Eby Dobson) it should be vastly improved.” He added, “With the addition of Rice it may eliminate Eby’s punting duties and help him to concentrate on the field goals and PATs.”

“We had a very, very outstanding recruiting class and it can have a strong impact on our two-deep roster,” Donovan said. “If they can learn fast and become a part of the team there is definitely some talent there that can help us in the early part of the season.”

Honors Candidates

Eric Dawald
Offensive Guard
6-3, 248, Sr.

An honorable mention All-Big Sky Conference selection in 1984, Eric is the leader on the offensive line. A walk-on as a freshman, extremely hard work and dedication boosted his weight almost 50 pounds, and the result is his third year as a starter. “Eric is extremely good as a pulling guard and as a deep snapper,” said Head Coach Larry Donovan. “He plays from snap to whistle and is the leader on the line with his attitude and work ethic,” Donovan added. Last year he was voted “Outstanding Junior” at UM by his teammates. A fifth-year senior, Eric is also a very effective pass blocker. (See sketch, page 17).

Rick Dozier
Inside Linebacker
6-3, 230, Sr.

Rick came on like gangbusters in the second half of the ’84 season after missing a few games with a leg injury, and will hopefully help fill the loss of now graduated Jake Trammell in the middle of the Grizzly defense. Despite missing three games he had 72 tackles. “Rick has the size (6-3, 230), talent and speed to be a premier Big Sky Conference linebacker,” Donovan said. “He is entering his third year as a starter and covers a lot of ground with his athletic ability.” (See sketch, page 18).

Scott Moe
Wide Receiver
5-11, 174, Sr.

When you talk about a great pair of hands and disciplined pass patterns you are talking about Scott Moe, a local product from Missoula’s Sentinel High School. He is the Grizzlies’ leading returning receiver yardage-wise with 248 on 16 receptions. “Scott is a sure-handed, dependable, must down receiver who is a scrapper and likes to compete,” Donovan said. Scott is known as a possession receiver, however he averaged almost 16 yards a catch last year and 21.5 yards the previous season. He will also see action as a punt returner. (See sketch, page 21).

LeRoy Foster
Running Back
5-5, 155, Sr.

The co-winner of the Terry Dillon Award, and co-Junior of the Year, LeRoy is perhaps the smallest running back in Division I football. He has 4.5 speed in the 40 and is extremely strong for his size. He was Montana’s leading rusher last year with 385 yards and three touchdowns. His first run from scrimmage was a 49-yard TD against Abilene Christian University in the 1984 season opener. He had seven receptions last year, including one for a score. “Pound-for-pound LeRoy is probably the best player in the Big Sky Conference,” Donovan said. “He may be the smallest, but he also may be the quickest, toughest back in the league too.” (See sketch, page 18).
Honors Candidates

Scott Murray
Fullback
6-0, 202, Sr.

Scott rushed for 291 yards and two touchdowns a year ago in 10 games and will be a crucial factor in Montana's new fullback-oriented wishbone offense. He is also a top-notch receiver and his 26 catches in '84 makes him the leading returner in that category. "Scott is a finesse runner with deceptive speed," said Head Coach Larry Donovan. "He can get you the extra yardage on each run and is a true program guy. He continues a long tradition of father-son players at UM, since his dad and grandfather played for the Grizzlies." Murray was the leading rusher in the prep ranks in Montana as a senior with 1,109 yards. (See sketch, page 21).

Kraig Paulson
Fullback
6-0, 202, Jr.

With a nickname like "barb-wire" it's not too difficult to figure out what type of a runner Kraig is — the kind who runs straight at you. He was leading UM in rushing after seven games but missed the rest of the season with a leg injury. He finished with 265 yards and a TD and had 16 receptions. As Murray, his success will be vital to Montana's wishbone offense. "Kraig is a rugged, dependable, rodeo-tough football player and earned that nickname," Donovan said. "He was one of the leaders in spring ball and will carry over that role entering his junior year. He leads by example." (See sketch, page 23).

Shawn Poole
Defensive Tackle
6-4, 268, Jr.

A smile finally returned to the face of defensive line coach Mike Van Diest this past spring, and one of the main reasons for it was the return of Shawn. Two years ago he was the second leading tackler on the team with 84 stops and is effective against the run and as a pass rusher. Overall he is one of the strongest players on the team in every weight lifting category. "Shawn is a premiere defensive lineman in the Big Sky Conference," Donovan said. "His size and quickness make him effective in all phases of the game and his strength and attitude will make him a leader on a rejuvenated defense." (See sketch, page 23).

Scott Poole
Offensive Tackle
6-7, 274, Sr.

Injuries have plagued Scott during his playing days at UM, but added strength and weight loss could add up to great success on the offensive line for the Grizzlies in 1985. He was moved to offense from the defensive line in the spring and responded by earning the starting spot. He has the power to block in short yardage situations, and the foot speed to be a solid pass blocker. "Scott is untested on offense, but has great tools and ability to be a valuable lineman for our football team and be one of the best in the conference," Donovan said. (See sketch, page 23).
Honors Candidates

Dave Seaman
Noseguard
6-1, 256, Jr.

A move from defensive tackle to noseguard, plus 20 pounds of added muscle make Dave potentially one of the strongest players at his position in the conference. He led the defensive line in tackles last season with 55, including six for losses of 36 yards. His freshman season he played linebacker at UM. “Dave has the temperament, ability and nastiness to be the best of a long line of good noseguards at the University of Montana,” said Head Coach Larry Donovan. “He is a dedicated football player with size and quickness to back him up.” (See sketch, page 25).

Terry Shillam
Strong Safety
5-11, 185, Sr.

Terry showed his toughness and durability last year, registering 103 tackles, and is the No. 2 returning tackle this season. He had a team-high 51 unassisted stops, including five for losses. He also had three forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries, and an interception for a 26-yard return. “Terry has battled knee injuries throughout his career and when he has been healthy he has been our most consistent performer in the secondary,” Donovan said. “He greatly improved over the last half of the season in ‘84, which has signaled he is ready for a big year. He has a good nose for the football and is an outstanding leader.” (See sketch, page 25).

Doug Sexe
Inside Linebacker
6-2, 221, Jr.

Doug added about 20 pounds and still maintained his 4.7-4.8 speed in the 40, which makes him steady against the run and pass. He had 47 stops in 10 games last year, and had three for losses of 23 yards. He was the Montana “AA” Player of the Year as a senior at C. M. Russell High School. “Doug is a run to the ball, come to play type of player who gives it his all every down,” Donovan said. “He follows in the tradition of good inside linebackers at the University of Montana. He is a good leader for us on defense.” (See sketch, page 25).

Ted Ray
Free Safety, Returns
5-11, 177, Sr.

The fastest player in recent Montana history, Ted ran under 4.4 last spring, around the 4.35 range. That speed along with his quickness and improved confidence should make him one of the finest safeties in the Big Sky. He has been nationally ranked in kickoff returns the past two seasons, including 33rd last year. He was tied for 26th in interceptions with five in ‘84 and with his move from cornerback to safety will have more opportunities for “picks.” “Ted has played all of the positions in the secondary and has finally found a home at free, which will better utilize his tremendous speed and total disregard for himself in his hell-bent-for-leather attitude,” Donovan said. “He is a leader and premiere player not only in the secondary, but also a returner.” (See sketch, page 24).

The Big Sky Conference was formed in February 1963, when the presidents and athletic directors of six Rocky Mountain universities met in Spokane. The original conference members were Gonzaga, Idaho, Idaho State, Montana, Montana State and Weber State. Gonzaga entered the conference as a non-football playing school.

The conference derived its name from a pair of Montanans and a Washington sports editor. A. B. Guthrie, Choteau, Mont., wrote a novel titled “The Big Sky,” and Jack Hallowell, former Montana State advertising director, promoted the Big Sky theme as a nickname for the state. Harry Missildine Spokesman-Review sports editor, picked up the name and in a sports column promoted the name Big Sky as the name of the conference. On Feb. 25, 1963, the conference adopted the name—Big Sky Athletic Conference.

In 1970 the conference expanded to include Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, Ariz., and Boise State College, Boise, Idaho. Both entered as football playing schools.

Nevada-Reno became the newest member of the Big Sky July 1, 1979.

Jack Friel became the first commissioner in 1963, and the offices were established in Pullman, Wash., Friel’s home. Following Friel’s retirement in 1971, the offices were moved to Boise, Idaho, and John Roning was named commissioner. Steve Belko was named commissioner and assumed duties July 1, 1977, following Roning’s retirement.

Ron Stephenson became the fourth Big Sky commissioner in May, 1981. A native of Idaho, Stephenson’s most recent position was Assistant Athletic Director at Boise State. He has 19 years of working experience in intercollegiate athletics as a student, coach and administrator.

Arnie Sgalio has served as league information director since 1979.

The individuals in front are, left, Thomas McGowan and coach Bernie Bierman, who would later win national acclaim at the University of Minnesota.

Represents the University on and off the playing field.

Dr. W. E. Schreiber, a long time head of the UM physical education department, began the University of Montana's oldest athletic award. The Grizzly Cup, first awarded in 1921, is given to the athlete who best represents the University on and off the playing field.

1958 Grizzly Cup

Grizzly Awards

Each year five outstanding University of Montana football players are recipients of awards. The Terry Dillon Award, honoring the outstanding back, was established in 1964 following the accidental death of former Grizzly Terry Dillon. Dillon played defensive and offensive backfield for UM from 1960 to 1962. He started at defensive halfback for the National Football League Minnesota Vikings. The award honors UM's outstanding halfback in memory of Terry Dillon.

The Paul Weskamp Award was established in memory of Paul Weskamp, a tackle on Ed Chinske's 1954 Grizzlies. The award honors UM's outstanding lineman and was established by the citizens of Ronan, Mont.

The Golden Helmet Award honors the hardest hitter on the team. It was set up on a nationwide basis by the Coca-Cola Company in 1967.

The Larry Miller Award is given in memory of the great Grizzly lineman and wrestler who competed for UM in 1969 and 1970. Miller died in an automobile accident in 1974. The award honors the team's outstanding defensive lineman.

The Steve Carlson award is given to the team's most valuable player in memory of the former Grizzly football player who died in 1977.
