The Denver team playing in Missoula today will be the youngest team ever to face the Grizzlies since the Montana-Denver series began back in 1951. In the Iowa State opener three weeks ago, Roning used 16 sophomores, 11 juniors and only two seniors and the ratio won't be much different today.

To date, the Pioneers have proven tough in the middle of the line, adequate offensively, but have left something to be desired with their end play and their defensive backfield play. Those are two problems that Roning and his staff have been striving desperately to overcome the last two weeks.

The top man in the line is Co-Captain Bob Huber at right guard. Huber is only a 170-pounder but, "pound for pound, he's the best player on our team," according to Roning.

Senior Al Yanowich will quarterback the Pioneers today and, as Roning puts it, "Yank is the most underrated player in the Skyline conference." Several halfbacks will carry the mail for the Pioneers, including such names as George Colbert, Eloy Mares, Jim Epperson, Jack Work and Melvin Johnson. You might see some top running out of Sophomore Paul Collins, also.

Look for the Pioneers to pass often with both the quarterbacks and halfbacks pitching the ball. If the going gets tough, look for the offensive fireworks to become even more intense for, as every Pioneer knows, "This is the game we've got to win."

127 N. Higgins Ave.
Missoula, Mont.
While today’s game is a must for the Pioneers, it is even more of a “must” for Montana’s Grizzlies. Denver, by virtue of a victory over Montana, conceivably could go on to make a real bid for the Conference championship.

For Montana, already loser in three conference tilts, a championship is out of the question. The Grizzlies must win, however, for a number of other important, but less definable reasons.

This is Montana’s first home game. After a severe bout with the flu when the season opened Sept. 1, the Grizzlies have fought back against almost insurmountable odds. They have tackled three foes on the road—each of the opponents have been mentioned conspicuously as title contenders.

A win today would mean that Montana has bounced back in the face of adversity and would serve notice that the Grizzlies are a team to be reckoned with.

A defeat could well mean a tremendous team morale problem and conceivably be the impetus that would send the Silvertips deeper and deeper into the defeat woods.

Although two of Montana’s top players are sidelined with injuries, the team still has never been in better condition. Last week, Montana displayed a tremendous pass defense, limiting BYU’s Carroll Johnston to just 36 yards in the air. But the pass defense came at the expense of Montana’s offense since it should have been mastered back in early September and not in the week prior to the Brigham Young game.

But with anywhere from 15 to 30 players sidelined with Asian Flu, Coach Jerry Williams scarcely had any choice in the matter.

This past week, with passing and rushing defense apparently improved, Williams has sent his charges through proportioned drills, aimed at producing a well-balanced squad.

Today look for the tremendous linebacking of Stan Renning, No. 67, Montana’s junior All-Skyline and All-America candidate. Stan has been named outstanding lineman of three consecutive games—a feat made even more spectacular because of the caliber of Montana’s foes and because the games were played away from home.

Other numbers to watch today include: No. 12, Earl Keeley, quarterback, a fine field general and good passer who was hampered by bursitis earlier this season; No. 40, Matt Gorsich, halfback, a tremendous runner, who today may really hit his stride; No. 32, Ervin (Tank) Rosera, fullback, a powerful ground gainer who can usually pick up that two or three yard chunk of turf when it really is needed; Nos. 82, 84, 86, 87, Pete Rhinehart, Terry Hurley, Lou Pangle and Larry Myers, great ends, both defensively and offensively.

Look for Montana to throw with more authority today. With Keeley coming back into form, the Grizzlies’ pass offense will be a thing to be reckoned with. Consequently, Montana’s rushing offense also will show marked improvement.

Today’s homecoming tilt should be a dandy. With both teams shooting for their first win, anything can and probably will happen.
Homecoming is accepted in intercollegiate realms as the occasion for the football squad of whatever institution is observing the day to show the alumni how good it is. Montana State University has had its share of ups and downs Homecoming afternoon, when the winning coach and team (if Montana) is toasted to the sky, fried to a frizzle if the visitors spoil the day by proving better gridders.

There was a time when Montana’s Homecoming was a November event, but unreliable weather brought better judgment to the lore to the extent that it is now observed in October. Once or twice an effort was made to assure Grizzly victory by bringing a none too strong foe here, but alumni protested so vigorously that now the Homecoming visitors get nothing but the toughest as to competition.

One of Montana’s most famed Homecomings was the 6-6 tie with the Big Orange of Syracuse, an event that shook national football back in 1915. But it was played in a blizzard and visitors almost froze stiff.

That happened also in Bernie Bierman’s last Montana game in 1921 when Grizzlies beat North Dakota State 7-6 on a field of ice.

Last year Utah State and Montana were tied into the last quarter in a 13-13 Homecoming thriller, then Ezra Smith, Utah’s flash, got away twice in the final moments.

The year before sent alumni into an alcoholic daze if inclined that way. Denver won 61-13, bombing for five tds in the first half, running away for four more in the second.

In 1954 Montana beat Utah State 20-13 in a great Homecoming game with runs of 60 and 50 yards by Dick Imer sparkling, with a pass interception by Dale Shupe saving the game in the last minute.

Nothing ever matched the 1953 Homecoming when Montana outscored Colorado Aggie Rams 32-31, taking a 32-13 lead early in the third quarter. Rams all but caught up, a wide place kick failing to tie it, the last period a wild but scoreless fracas.

In 1952 Brigham Young scored three tds in the last period to win 28-7.

The 1951 Homecoming show was a thriller, swift Christian of Idaho winning for Vandals with two pretty runs 12-9 and Montana just missing a last minute field goal by The Toe Gerlinger.

We remember the 1941 Homecoming against North Dakota Sioux, tied at 6-6 into the last period when Eso Naranche, who a year later died in the North African campaign, smashed through repeatedly for yardage and a td and then kicked goal.

So the history of Montana Homecoming goes back through the athletic annals of the institution. At one time an effort was made to have Homecoming at Butte as part of the Copper Bowl game but that ended quickly.

Denver is Montana’s Homecoming foe of this afternoon and the Grizzlies really want to win this one as the Denver loss of last year was marred by whistle blowing that was unique to say the least. And it was Denver that wrecked the 1953 Homecoming with a massacre of the Grizzlies. The Pioneers under John Roning are always tough competition and the Grizzlies have yet to win from Denver on Domblaser Field, though twice taking the Pioneers at Denver stadium. The series now stands four to two for Denver.

Grizzly Marching Band—Under the direction of James Eversole, has 66 marching musicians.

When he returned to the Montana Campus exactly six years ago today as the University’s first alumnus president, Dr. Carl McFarland brought with him special knowledge and concern for problems peculiar to this institution—coupled with 20 years of experience as a practicing attorney at law, assistant attorney general of the United States, law book author and professional lecturer.

Consequently the athletic and recreational facilities at Montana have had their greatest period of growth under Dr. McFarland’s dynamic, yet quiet, leadership. Under the McFarland philosophy intercollegiate athletics at the University are an integral part of the overall educational plan.

Dr. McFarland received three academic degrees at the University—a bachelor of arts degree in history and political science in 1928, a master of arts degree in 1929 and a bachelor of laws degree in 1930. In 1932, he completed his formal education when he received the degree of doctor of juridical science, after one year at Harvard University. In 1949, Montana State University awarded him the honorary doctor of laws degree.

University of Denver’s 12th chancellor is a 51-year-old Indiana-born businessman-educator. He came to D. U. in 1953 and quickly endeared himself to players and supporters of Pioneer athletics by his intense interest in the teams.

Dr. Alter was born on a farm near Rushville, Ind., and attended public schools there. He received a bachelor’s degree from Ball State Teachers College, a master’s from the University of Indiana and a doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard.

Prior to his appointment as D. U. chancellor he was a graduate instructor at Pittsburgh and Harvard, then rose through the academic ranks at Boston University to become head of the graduate college.

Dr. Alter is married and has a 17-year-old son, Richard David.

G. P. (Jiggs) Dahlberg
Montana Director of Athletics

When Montana needed a new director of athletics three years ago the logical choice was hard-working, dependable "Jiggs" Dahlberg, a man with 30 years coaching experience. Since he returned to his alma mater in 1937 Jiggs has been head basketball coach, assisted in football and baseball, and has been the department's top proselytizer.

Dahlberg graduated from the University in 1925 with athletic honors in basketball and football and was captain of the cage team. Following graduation he spent 12 years coaching high school teams at Miles City and Anaconda, Montana, and at Hoquiam, Puyallup and Chehalis, Wash. He spent two years in the service during World War II coaching baseball, basketball and boxing at Fort Lawton, Wash.

A full professor on the University staff, Jiggs was well-known in the mountain country for his hustling, fast-breaking basketball teams. He developed the Grizzly's greatest basketball squad in 1949. He is married and has a young son and daughter.

E. E. (Tad) Wieman
Denver Director of Athletics

One of the most respected figures in his field, Tad is a veteran of more than 35 years as coach and director of college athletics.

Tad lettered for four years and was captain of his team at the University of Michigan under the immortal Fielding Yost. He then took a line coaching post and later succeeded Yost as head mentor. He also coached at Minnesota, Princeton and Columbia and later was director of physical education and athletics at the University of Main. He came to D. U. in 1951.

He is a past president and honorary life member in the American Football Coaches Association, secretary of the NCAA football rules committee and last year further was honored by being selected for a place in the Football Hall of Fame.

Tad is married and has a son and a daughter, both of whom have completed their college careers.

When the 1957-58 edition of the Silvertip cage squad roll out onto the floor in December it will mark the third season that Forrest B. (Frosty) Cox has been at the Grizzly basketball helm. In his first season at Montana he finished in the Skyline cellar, a position he vowed never to occupy again. Last year, but for two extremely close games, the Grizzlies would have had the conference crown. As it was, the Silvertips upset the pre-season dopesters by landing in third place.

What will happen this year, only the future will tell. But one thing is an almost certainty—the Grizzlies won't spend much time in the conference basement. Frosty prefers the rarified air of the first division much too much.

Adams

Everything Montana's training facilities are today can be attributed to Naseby Rhinehart, athletic trainer, who took over the injury treating duties as a part-time job in 1935. His know-how and techniques make him one of the most respected among the training fraternity around the nation.

"Nase" came to the University from Milwaukee and was an outstanding end in '32, '33 and '34... he still is rated on the All-Time Grizzly team. He also lettered three years in basketball and track.

Cox

Serving his 26th year as head track coach at Montana is Harry Adams, noted in the west for his outstanding cinder squads and for the great track stars he has produced. He was graduated from Montana in 1921 after a spectacular collegiate career in track, football and basketball and still ranks as one of the school's all-time greats. He was a member of the 400-yard sprint-relay team that at one time held the world's record.

Rhinehart
The Golden Anniversary Grizzly football team, under F. W. Shule, then in his second year as head coach at Montana, had what could be considered a fairly successful season.

Led by Captain William Harriman (Petoskey, Mich.) the Grizzlies led off their season by defeating the Fort Shaw Indians 32-6. The following weekend the Silvertips scored a moral victory by holding a superior Washington State College team to a mere 5-0 win.

A subsequent 11-0 win over the Spokane Athletic Club team, which later defeated the WSC eleven, made the previous week's game with the Cougars even more impressive.

Then, as now, the Grizzlies had a tough time with the football teams of Utah University. This season the Utes dropped the Silvertips 42-0. Still smarting from that humiliating defeat, the Grizzlies bowed the next week to still another Beehive State team, the Utah State Aggies, by a score of 17-6.

The final game of the season, against a team of ex-collegians, ended in an 8-0 defeat of the Montana varsity.

The Silver Anniversary Grizzly football team experienced a season similar to the one suffered by the Silvertips last year in that it won only one game while losing six. The yearbook sportswriter had this to say about the team:

"Handicapped during the first season by newness here and not having had previous experience with the men, Bernard F. Oakes, varsity coach, completed his first year at the State University of Montana. The season was rather discouraging so far as the game scores were concerned, but the squad soon gained a reputation as a hard scrapping, fighting team.

"The three high spots of the football season were: The Idaho game, with Montana's phenomenal rally in the last period; the Washington State game, when Montana held the superior western team to a 13-0 score, and the following Saturday when it beat and trampled the Montana State players by a 37-6 score."

The Grizzlies led off with Mount St. Charles, now Carroll College, but dropped the tilt, 2-0. The following week at Seattle, the Montana team was slapped down by a powerful Washington Husky team, 25-0.

Then came the Idaho game when the Silvertips scored three touchdowns in the last 12 minutes of play but lost the game by two missed extra points. The final score was Idaho 21, Montana 19. Washington State and Montana State followed. Then the Oregon State Beavers downed Montana 19-0, the game played in a sea of mud.

In the final game of the season, at Los Angeles, the Trojans of Southern California showed Montana how the national champions played the game. Displaying overwhelming power drives with a good passing attack the Men of Troy downed the Grizzlies 69-0.

The Tenth Anniversary Grizzly team, loaded with talent and headed once again by Doug Fessenden, returning to Montana after a lapse of five years, racked up a 7-4 record against a powerful slate of opponents.

Led by co-captains Sam Leeper and Ben Tyvand, both of Butte, the Grizzlies scored successive 21-0 romps over Eastern Washington and Portland University. A 40-0 setback at the hands of the Arizona Wildcats followed by a 13-7 loss to the Utah State Aggies failed to dampen the Silvertips’ spirits.

The following Saturday, however, the Bobcats scored one of their infrequent wins over Montana, defeating a deflated Grizzly 13-12. A rebound was inevitable and the victim was the Cougar of Washington State. The final score was 13-12. On that WSC team was a halfback named Jerry Williams.

The battle for the Little Brown Stein followed and Montana took possession of the trophy with a 21-0 win over Idaho. The Golden Bears of Southern California were too much for the Grizzlies the next week and the game ended with California winning 60-14.

Montana finished strong with a 41-7 win over Colorado A & M, a 14-12 victory over the University of Hawaii and a 28-14 victory over the Hawaiian All Stars.

John Roning, head football coach, came to D.U. from Utah State where he coached from 1951 through the 1954 season, compiling a mark of 14-13-1 in Skyline play. He won the Skyline's "Coach of the Year" designation in 1951 and guided the Utags to an 8-3 season in 1953, one of the best in that school's history.

John is a 1935 graduate of the University of Minnesota. His overall record as head football coach is an excellent 49 wins, 32 losses, and 3 ties.

John Shelley, backfield coach, played for Army in the Davis-Blanchard era at West Point. He was frosh coach at the Point in 1950. He served as an assistant to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma in 1954 and is in his third D.U. season this fall.

J. D. Roberts, line coach, newest member of the D.U. football staff, was a former All-American lineman at Oklahoma. Previous coaching experience includes assistant work at Oklahoma in 1954 and two years coaching at Quantico, Va., Marine Base.

Bill Heiss, end coach, is a coaching "old timer" in Colorado. He formerly was head football coach for three seasons at Colorado College and two seasons at Adams State. After a year as an assistant at Iowa State in 1954, Bill joined the D.U. ranks for the 1955 season. He also coaches baseball at D.U. and guided the Pioneers to a Skyline championship in 1956.

Rusty Fairly, freshman coach, was an outstanding quarterback for Denver, ending his playing career in the Salad Bowl game Jan. 2, 1955. In that game of Skyline senior all-stars against Border Conference senior all-stars, Rusty was chosen as the game's outstanding player.

Grizzly Coaches ...

Jerry R. Williams, a 1949 Washington State College graduate, is in his third season as Montana University's head football coach. His coaching experience includes two seasons as player-coach with the Philadelphia Eagles, the spring of 1951 as an assistant with the University of Idaho, and 1953 as an assistant at Villanova.

He played both defense and offense as a halfback with the Los Angeles Rams for four seasons and was with the Eagles for two years following graduation from WSC. He was an all-conference halfback for WSC and dominated Cougar individual statistics.

Bob Zimny, assistant coach, also is in his third season at Montana. Bob came to the University after four years as head line coach at Washburn University of Topeka. Zimny played five seasons for the Chicago Cardinals after leaving Indiana University.

Lauri Niemi is in his second year as assistant coach. Niemi is a former teammate of Williams at Washington State College and is an ex-professional tackle with the Washington Redskins and the British Columbia Lions.

Hal Sherbeck, a highly successful high school coach at Missoula, also is in his second year as freshman coach. Hal also serves as frosh basketball coach and varsity baseball mentor.

Joe DeLuca, former Grizzly great at guard, returned this fall to assist Sherbeck with the frosh. DeLuca won All-Skyline honors for his play at guard in 1953 and 1954.

SEASON RECORD

Religion, forever one of the chief preoccupations of man as well a formidable condition of modern society, is finding an increasingly important place on university campuses. At Montana State University this interest takes tangible form in the efforts of students and churches to organize clubs, plan discussions, develop counseling centers and form the religious habits of adults. The students who participate in these activities exert an important general influence at the University.

The Alumni Association, through the Endowment Foundation of Montana State University has undertaken to raise sufficient funds to erect on the campus of the University a Religious Center to provide a home for these interests and activities. An all masonry structure in the best tradition of religious architecture, it is designed to serve the real needs of succeeding generations of students for as long as the American way of life may endure.

The Association solicits your aid in furthering this worthy purpose. If you are unable to contribute, perhaps you know of or can find others who are in a position to do so. Your efforts and good will in this enterprise are just as valuable—and will be just as much appreciated—as your money.

This then is a scene from the University's future. For a glimpse at the present, the scenes familiar to the Homecoming alum, The Spectator presents, on the following pages, several seldom seen pictures of the campus.
Looking east on University Avenue the tower clock on University Hall and, high above, the block letter "M" is framed beautifully by a luxurious stand of trees that line this approach to the Montana University campus. As Homecoming alums turn onto University Avenue from Higgins and catch their first glimpse of University Hall, they know that once again, they have come "home."

At right is an early summer scene from a point just east of the Law School. The stone steps, long a landmark of the home of the budding barristers, are just discernable at the right of the picture. Just beyond is the three-story Liberal Arts structure and in the background Turner Hall, women's residence hall.

Good Luck Grizzlies
Early Summer . . .
Captured by the camera on an early winter morn, Liberal Arts and the Library stand stark against the brittle sky as the newly-fallen blanket of snow softens the harshness of the Montana winter scene. Just visible at right is the M.S.U. Law School, a vivid contrast between the old and the new on the Montana campus.
Turner Hall...

Home to thousands of co-eds since its construction almost 20 years ago, Turner Hall, known to the "old-timers" (pre-1955) as New Hall, is shown here demurely hiding behind winter-denuded trees. This hall was named after Mrs. Belle Turner, the first head resident of University housing, and was constructed and financed entirely through dormitory income. It houses upperclass women.

A GAME YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS
New Mexico vs. Montana

GET YOUR TICKETS NOW
This magnificent structure was completed in 1953, the same time as the Field House. The classrooms are located on the three floors of the wing facing the oval, while the instructor's offices are in the wing of four floors parallel to "Hello Walk." One of the outstanding features of this building are the huge windows at the east and west ends of the building that serve as walls. The emblem on the front of the building was designed by President McFarland.
The centerpiece for the Montana campus, the oval has for years been the focal point of University extracurricular activities. Rallys, barbecues, parades, hand-holding, grass sitting and sky watching all are a part of the oval tradition. The oval also has been the object of a burning question, second in importance only to whether the United States should secede from the United Nations. This question, be-labored for years in the student newspaper, is: Should sidewalks be constructed across the oval?

UP WITH MONTANA
Up, with Montana, boys, down with the foe,
Old Montana's out for a victory.
She'll shoot her arrows around the foe men's line;
A hot time is coming now, oh, brother mine.
Up with Montana, boys, down with the foe,
Good old Grizzly's triumph today;
And the squeal of the pig will float on the air,
From the tummy of the Grizzly Bear.

MONTANA, MY MONTANA
Our chosen state, all hail to thee, Montana, my Montana;
Thou hast thy portion of the free, Montana, my Montana;
From shore to shore from sea to sea,
Oh, may thy name full honored be,
Symbol of strength and loyalty, Montana, my Montana.

HAIL COPPER, SILVER, GOLD
Hail copper, silver, gold, Borne by our warriors bold,
'Tis the flag of the grizzly bear;
See those Bruins tearing their way down the field!
We know they never will yield, Montana.
On we'll go and trample down the foe, Let's go, Montana, we love the fray...
The grizzly fight, fight, fight will bring victory,
Let's go, Montana, we'll win today.

MONTANA
Montana, Montana, Glory of the West,
Of all the states from coast to coast
