SOBA'S Mission Statement: The faculty and staff of the School of Business Administration at The University of Montana-Missoula are committed to excellence in innovative experiential learning and professional growth through research and service.

Marketing Communications is a course designed to help you understand the tools of Integrated Marketing Communications as they exist in business today. After completing this course, you should be able to make and justify decisions on how to best communicate with different types of consumers.

GRADING

Evaluation of your understanding of the material will occur throughout the semester. The final grade in the course will consist of

A total score based on three tests	75
Real world applications
Key terms quizzes & participation	25	You must be present to get credit for team participation
100

TESTING

Tests will be primarily M/C and short answer essay questions. Tests cannot be made up unless you have a doctor's excuse or some serious extenuating circumstances, e.g., an automobile accident. All make-up exams will be essay. All make-up tests must be arranged in advance.

My goal is to be fair in my grading. Because of this, I expect your careful consideration of all assigned materials and of information presented in class. I try not to repeat what you learn in your readings. Rather, I explain the material by discussing other readings and experiences relevant to marketing communications. Sometimes my lecture information may conflict with information in your readings. When in doubt about an answer, always be guided by the information in the lecture – it will be more current than the text. Please ask me about any information you find confusing.

CLASS ETIQUETTE:

1. Please let me know before the class begins if you must leave early. Sit in a seat close to the door and hold the door shut when you leave.
2. Please do not read, sleep or talk while other students are talking; it's rude. Class should be informative and challenging. If it isn't, pitch in and help make it worth your while for us all to be together for the semester.

I will do my best to make the class informative and enjoyable. This is your opportunity to practice your marketing skills so I hope you will share your ideas with us all.

REQUIRED READINGS:

Wall Street Journal Marketing Section

IMC: Using Advertising & Promotion to Build Brands by Tom Duncan

NOTE: If you haven't taken Mgmt 360 you have not completed the core requirements; therefore, you should not be registered for this class. Do not attempt to take this class out of sequence.

NOTE: This syllabus is a guide. Changes will be announced along the way, based on my assessment of student needs and performance. I frequently will recommend lectures or articles. I often change assignments to take advantage of visiting dignitaries. Therefore, if you are absent, it is your responsibility to check for announcements and to acquire notes from someone in the class. I do not read lecture notes, so I have none to give you. My PowerPoint is NOT an outline of what's covered in the text, I do not, therefore, post Power Point slides.

Please keep up on your reading. The course has many terms I expect you to apply in class. You can't apply terms unless you know them.

Most importantly, I hope you enjoy the class and find it a valuable component of your marketing education. If you have any questions about the materials, I encourage you to set up an appointment with me.
