The University of Montana was the state's first college. Chartered on February 17, 1893, the school opened its doors to its first 50 students in what is now called University Hall. More than 100 years later, The University of Montana-Missoula is the center of liberal arts education and research in the state.

The school has gone through numerous changes over the years. In 1913 the school was renamed the State University of Montana, and in 1935, it was renamed Montana State University. It wasn't until 1965 that the institution recaptured its original name, The University of Montana. In 1988 Western Montana College in Dillon became part of UM, and in 1994, the Montana Board of Regents approved a restructuring plan to create two universities within the Montana University System. Along with The University of Montana-Western, The University of Montana also includes Montana Tech in Butte and the Helena College of Technology.

The University of Montana provides a high-quality, well-rounded education to students and a wide range of services to Montanans. UM is a major source of research, continuing education, economic development, civic engagement, fine arts and entertainment, and serves as a driving force in strengthening Montana's ties with countries throughout the world.

UM's Missoula campus comprises the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate School, the Davidson Honors College, the College of Technology, and seven professional schools: business administration, education, fine arts, forestry, journalism, law, and pharmacy and allied health sciences. The University of Montana also has an excellent physical therapy department and offers two-year programs in business, trades and industry, and technical and health occupations.

UM continues to grow with 12,668 students. The student body is 52 percent female and 48 percent male. Last year Montana enrolled 315 foreign students from 60 countries.

Campus life offers a variety of choices for UM students. Dormitory living provides nine halls with various options on campus. Elrod Hall is the male dorm; Turner Hall is the female dorm; and Aber, Craig, Duniway, Jesse, Miller, and Knowles halls are co-ed. Pantzer Hall, which provides four-person suites, was completed in 1995. Family housing can be found just three blocks south of the main campus in University Villages and Toole Village. Students interested in the Greek life have four sororities and seven fraternities from which to choose.

The University of Montana has a nine-hole golf course, located just south of the main campus. The Grizzly Pool is a seven-lane, 25-yard indoor swimming pool that is used for numerous classes and programs and has been recently upgraded. The Fitness and Recreation Center, adjacent to the Adams Center, has undergone a major renovation. Finished in Fall 2001, it provides students with three levels of state-of-the-art exercise equipment, racquetball, handball and basketball courts, and a two-story glass enclosed climbing wall, "the wall with a view."

The Outdoor Program provides opportunities for the campus community to participate in recreational activities such as rafting, kayaking, climbing, hiking, backpacking and skiing.

UM owns and operates Lubrecht Experimental Forest, a 28,000-acre teaching and research forest. Located approximately 30 miles northeast of Missoula, Lubrecht Forest provides students the opportunity to learn tree thinning and harvesting techniques in addition to forest and ecological projects.

The Flathead Lake Biological Station, located at Yellow Bay on the east side of the lake, is a year-round research facility and academic center for the ecological sciences. The freshwater research laboratory encompasses 80 acres.

UM also has had 47 international Fulbright Scholars, nine Truman Scholars, 10 Goldwater Scholars, 13 Udall Scholars, and 28 Rhodes Scholars.

The University was listed among the top 25 universities and colleges in the nation for Peace Corps recruiting, was named one of the nation's best paddling colleges in Paddler magazine and is profiled in America's 100 Best College Buys and Barron's Best Buys in College Education.

Outlook
Senior Brandon Neill (6-3, 215) was 2-0 as a starter (St. Mary's and Weber State) and was 58-of-83-1 (.699 for 659 yards, but he had knee surgery last winter and did not participate in 2002 spring drills.

"If you have depth at quarterback like we do — we're national champions because of that depth," Glenn said. "Both of those guys (Edwards and Neill) took their turns rallying the team to victory. We are very fortunate to have two senior quarterbacks who played in huge games for Montana. We just hope that Brandon can come off that knee surgery and be as good as he was a year ago for us. Then throw in (senior) Brett Staninger (6-3, 208) as an insurance policy. That's as solid as you can get."

Junior Jeff Disney (6-2, 195) had impressive stats last season at Chaffey Junior College (Calif.) but is tabbed to redshirt this season. Redshirt freshman Kendall Selle (6-2, 200) also returns.

HALFBACK: This is a key position for the Griz, as they seek a replacement for Humphrey, a finalist for the Walter Payton Trophy in 2001. Unfortunately, junior Brandon Malcolm, who gained a modest 211 yards and 2 TDs last year, is also gone for personal reasons.

However, the cupboard is not empty, as redshirt freshmen David Gober (5-9, 190) and JR Waller (5-9, 197), who split time in the spring, showed a lot of promise. Both will see plenty of action this season.

"Yohance's gone, and he was the premier runner in the history of our school, and there's nothing we can do about it," Glenn said. "The good part is that we have some talented young kids, and they're running behind a veteran line and a veteran quarterback."

"They (Gober and Waller) have gone through two installations now in fall camp (2001) and spring ball. They'll have fall camp this year, and by the time we play Hofstra we feel pretty confident that either one of those kids can go into the game and get the job done, physically and mentally."

"We also had a pretty good spring out of sophomore Pete Hamill (5-11, 190), who gives us a little more experience there," Glenn said.

Glenn added that incoming freshmen Turril Engelman (5-10, 190) and walk-on Dana Knox (5-7, 180), "could make some noise. They are also both track kids with good times.

OFFENSIVE LINE: Montana lost two-time consensus All-American Thacher Szalay at guard to graduation, but McFarland (6-6, 290) was a second team All-Big Sky pick a year ago. Veterans Decker (6-5, 289), Pelc (6-4, 285), and Skinner (6-7, 315) return, as do talented young players Procter (6-5, 285) and Garth Enger (6-4, 250), who both saw action a year ago as "true" freshmen.

"This is a good hand to draw to right here," Glenn said. "We have great experience, great athleticism, great strength and size, and we feel this will be the strength of our offense, along with our veteran quarterbacks."

WIDE RECEIVER: This is an area hit hard by graduation, as Molden (76 catches for 1,145 yards and 14 TDs); Humphrey (40-398-2), Frederick (31-289-3), and Oelkers (26-372-2) have all departed.

"Once again, we lost championship-caliber players, and they are always hard to replace," Glenn said; "but we sure like the talent level and the skill level of some of our guys returning.

"Rory Zikmund (5-10, 192) returns after a very good year, and he had an outstanding spring, and he's a senior, and we expect him to be a leader," Glenn said. "We also feel that Tate Hancock (5-10, 170), Tyler Peterson (5-10, 170), Jefferson Heidelberger (5-10, 165), Jon Taimage (6-4, 190), and Dane Oliver (5-9, 165) are all guys who should contribute, and contribute well, in a pretty good passing scheme. We hope (junior college signee) Enrique Duncan can step in and help out right away."

TIGHT END: Veterans Frederick and John Fitzgerald both graduated, but sophomore Conor Molloy (6-5, 245) and redshirt freshman Ja'Ton Simpson (6-5, 230) are big targets and very capable receivers. Molloy underwent knee surgery after suffering an injury in the spring of 2001, which forced him to miss last season.

"Conor and Ja'Ton give us targets like we've never had before, and both should be major contributors this season," Glenn said.

Junior Brad Weston (6-1, 225) saw plenty of action last season but missed spring drills with a neck injury. Sophomore Colt Palmer (6-1, 230) and redshirt freshman Ben Winn (6-4, 225) are also vying for playing time. Palmer excels as UM's deep snapper.

DEFENSE

DEFENSIVE END: Pitcher (6-4, 230) and Bush (6-3, 240), both juniors, combined for 102 tackles and 19 sacks last season. Pitcher, a second team All-Big Sky selection in 2001, missed the last half of spring drills after undergoing minor shoulder surgery. Bush was an honorable mention all-league selection last year.

"That's a strength for us, no doubt," Glenn said. "Ciche is one of our premier guys on our defense, and Tim Bush just totally came out of nowhere and had a banner year. Then you back them up with two seniors (Herb Fernandez, 6-4, 238 and Ike Minico, 6-2, 230), who both had some playing time and excel on special teams. We feel our defensive end position is very solid, but again we need to have Ciche healthy; that's critical."

DEFENSIVE TACKLE: A veteran at tackle, Colter (6-2, 295) is UM's sixth (tie) leading returning tackle with 43 stops a year ago, but he also missed spring drills due to an ankle injury. Colter is UM's only senior at that position. The talented Varona (6-3, 280), only a sophomore, had 55 tackles in 2001, including 11 for losses and was a second team All-Big Sky pick last year as a redshirt freshman.

"One of the ingredients we don't know about going into fall camp is our defense because of injuries," Glenn said. "We have some players who could not play much in spring ball in order to get them healthy for the 2002 season. We are certainly counting on some of those guys, like Colter, (John) Cahill, and Pitcher. Cahill, a 6-2, 270-pound sophomore, started five games last season, and he also missed spring drills because of an ankle injury.

Sophomore Blake Horgan (6-3, 275) is also a quality player at this position, and redshirt freshman Alan Saenz (6-2, 285) could contribute right away.

"On our defensive line I think that our two-deep, possibly our three-deep if you include our redshirt freshmen in the scheme of things, could be outstanding," Glenn said. "It starts with that first layer of defense, and with those people returning, we feel very good about who we have up front. We just need to get those guys healthy."

LINEBACKER: Matt Steinau, who was UM's second leading tackler with 92 stops and a first team all-conference pick, graduated. Junior Joel Robinson (5-11, 230) started a few games, as did Thompson (6-3, 215). Sophomore Adam Hoge (5-11, 215) could also be in the mix.
Outlook

"In spring ball it looked like Robbie was right in his element, plus he stayed healthy," Glenn said. "He led the defense down the stretch last year. "We played spring ball with two linebackers and went nickel quite a bit, and that's probably what we'll do in the fall, looking at our schedule," Glenn noted. "I thought Adam Hoge came on strong in the spring, and he'll compete with Andy Thompson at 'Will' backer."

"(Redshirt freshmen) Shane MacIntyre (6-3, 222) and Kyler Noel (6-1, 214) continue to impress, with their play-making ability and their athleticism," Glenn continued. "The big question mark is sophomore Nick Vella (6-2, 204), who has had two shoulder surgeries."

Glenn said that Dustin Dlouhy (6-2, 217) may see action as a "true" freshman.

CORNERBACK: Peeples had a team-high 3 interceptions and 11 PDs and got stronger as the season went on and started in all four playoff games. Sophomore Levander Segars (5-9, 170) made his name as a returner last year, but he should see action at cornerback as Peeples' back-up. Junior Vernon Smith (6-1, 175) was starting mid-way through the season but missed several games with a wrist injury. He will start at the 'weak corner' spot. Senior Randyn Akiona was moved from wide receiver to cornerback last spring and is the back-up to Smith.

"We're a little thin at corner so we need to stay healthy there," Glenn said.

SAFETY: Young (6-0, 195), who might be one of the most underrated players in the league the past couple of seasons, is not only the Grizzlies' second leading tackler in 2001 with 76 stops, but he also had 12 tackles for losses and 9 sacks.

Talented junior Dave DeCoite (6-1, 190) is expected to start at strong safety, replacing Huntsberger, a four-year starter. However, DeCoite missed the last half of spring drills with a ruptured spleen.

"Trey Young is a competitor, a winner, and a leader," Glenn said. "Dave DeCoite is an excellent football player."

Sophomore Kyle Scholle (6-0, 190) redshirted a year ago as he recovered from an early-season knee injury and adds quality depth at free safety. Senior Joel Rosenberg (5-10, 185) will see action at strong safety, and he's also played cornerback.

"Once again it depends on our health at this position," Glenn said. "Dave DeCoite had the injury in the spring, and Kyle Scholle was still coming off his surgery from the injury that he suffered in the Hawaii game. "A pair of redshirt freshmen, Tyler Thomas (6-0, 190) and Kevin Edwards (6-2, 185) had good springs and might help us at some point of time," Glenn added. "We moved (junior)

Junior Strong Safety
David DeCoite

Brent Meyers (6-1, 195) to safety in an effort to get a tough guy on the field."

SPECIAL TEAMS

KICKER/PUNTER: Chris Snyder (6-0, 204) connected on 13-of-22 field goals with a long of 49, made 46-of-47 PAT attempts, and consistently had lengthy kickoffs.

Mark Spencer (6-5, 200) averaged 43.2 yards per punt on 51 attempts, had 14 inside the 20, and a career-long 77-yarder at Montana State last year.

"These two guys assured our team last year with field position," Glenn said. "They had a tremendous impact on field position in so many of our games, including the playoffs. Chris continued to knock the ball deep in the end zone, and Mark continued to get good distance and hang time."

"Our cover teams did a great job of pinning our opponents down, and many times they were looking at more than 80 yards to score," Glenn continued. "Our ability defensively not to give up big plays kept other teams at bay."

RETURNERS: Segars averaged 10.3 yards on 25 punt returns and was an honorable mention all-conference selection. Molden led UM in kickoff returns (20-1-yard average) last year.

"He's special, and he's a game-breaker," Glenn said of Segars. "Then you throw guys in there with him like Peterson and Heidelberger with the speed they have, along with players like Hancock, Zikmund, and Peeples, and there are some guys who make special teams special," Glenn said.

THE SCHEDULE: Montana opens the 2002 season on a Thursday night at Hofstra, a team that was 9-3 last season and ranked ninth prior to the playoffs a year ago. The Pride handed the Griz a 10-9 opening-season home loss in 2000.

"The match-up with Hofstra will be similar to two years ago when two veteran teams which had both been in the playoffs the previous year hook up the first game of the season," Glenn said. "We need to come out of the blocks quicker than two years ago. Nine points won't cut it. I think we've come a long way in two years, and hopefully we can prove that."

Montana also has nonleague match-ups with Albany (7-3 last season), Northern Colorado (7-4 a year ago), at Idaho (1-10), and against Southern Utah (2-9).

"Idaho will be much improved, and we have to go there and play a Division I team," Glenn said. "Idaho's depth is very strong. Northern Colorado just voted to go I-AA (from Division II), so they're moving in our direction, and they have a strong program. Southern Utah is scary because they run the option, and you need to prepare for them. I don't know a lot about Albany, other than they're a I-AA team (in the Northeast Conference).

"We are very excited about the fact that seven times we'll have our crowd here to help us win and go for another Big Sky championship and a chance to hopefully go back to the national playoffs," Glenn said.

The Griz open their Big Sky slate in an early Homecoming contest against steadily improving Idaho State on Sept. 21.

"In some instances we've had tougher games in our league than we've had in the playoffs," Glenn said. "I don't think you can throw anybody out when you try to guess who has a shot at it (the Big Sky title)."

"Idaho State has quality talent, and they will be a challenge," Glenn continued. "At the end of the (2001) year no one was playing better than Portland State. Obviously NAU (Northern Arizona) was solid and a playoff team a year ago. Montana State was one of the most improved teams last season and doubled their win total, and they have key people back. Weber State played us well last year, Eastern Washington is always tough, and you know Sac State will be better.

"They're all aggressive in recruiting and doing a great job, so I wouldn't count anyone out, not one team in our league," Glenn concluded. "We know we have a bulls-eye on our backs, but that's alright because it beats the alternative."

John Edwards

Year: Senior
Height: 6-1
Weight: 200 lbs.
Letters: Three
Position: Quarterback
Hometown: Billings
Birthday: August 14, 1979
Major: Communications
Parents: Cliff and the late Denise Edwards of Billings

CAREER HIGHS:
- 304 Passing Yards vs. Idaho, 1 1/24/91; 4 TD passes @Idaho State, 1999.
- Completions and Attempts: 24-of-46, @Hawai‘i, 2001.
- Rush Attempts: 18 @Cal Poly, 2001.

John had an exceptional junior season, guiding the Griz to the national championship game, a 13-6 victory over Furman.
"Dub" was selected Montana’s "Junior of the Year" on offense last season. He was an honorable mention All-Big Sky Conference pick in 2001. He started 14 of the Grizzlies’ 16 games last season, missing the St. Mary’s and Weber State games with injuries.
He begins his senior campaign ranked eighth in school history with 3,495 yards passing. He has thrown 22 touchdown passes the past two seasons and scored 8 times rushing.
His 2,160 passing yards last season rank him 15th in single-season history.
"Any time that you have a quarterback returning who took your team to the national championship you’ve got to be excited," said Montana Head Coach Joe Glenn. "The first thing you think of with John Edwards is he’s a winner. When you talk about him as a person or an athlete, he’s a winner on and off the field and in every sense. He has great charisma.
"He had a tremendous spring and really came into his own," Glenn said. "Last year we kind of thought John’s second read was with his feet. He was very efficient a year ago, throwing for 59 percent, but he had a propensity to take off and run with the ball. He’s a very good scrambler, but he really stepped up on his reads and passing skills this last spring. He delivered the ball on rhythm and with accuracy better than ever. It was a great spring for John."
He is 16-1 as a starter, dating back to his sophomore season, with his sole setback (30-12) coming last season at Hawai‘i.

He saw plenty of action as a sophomore, and he started in victories over Portland State, Northern Arizona, and Montana State. That year he played in seven regular-season games and all four playoff games.

He was voted UM’s co-Sophomore of the Year (with safety Trey Young). He passed for 211 yards and a TD against Georgia Southern in the 2000 I-AA title game after he had replaced injured senior starter Drew Miller.
At Billings West High School he led his team to the state “AA” title in 1997 as a senior and was the state’s offensive MVP. In ’97 he passed for 21 TDs and rushed for 16 more, gaining 2,700 total yards and completing 61% of his passes. He lettered three times in football and twice in track. His ’97 football team was 10-1.

Edwards was team captain in football and an all-state selection, and tabbed Montana’s Gatorade Player of the Year. He was also picked the state’s USA Today Player of the Year, and (Billings) Midland Roundtable Athlete of the Year following his senior season.

John was also chosen a USA Today honorable mention All-American in 1997. In his prep career he had 5,067 yards passing and scored 81 total touchdowns. His prep football coach was Paul Klaboe.

2002 MONTANA FOOTBALL - ALL-AMERICAN CANDIDATE
Dylan McFarland

Year: Junior
Height: 6-6
Weight: 290 lbs.
Letters: Two
Position: Offensive Tackle
Hometown: Kalispell
Birthday: July 11, 1980
Major: Business
Parents: Dylan's parents are Mike and Mary McFarland of Kalispell

A very talented player, Dylan was chosen second team All-Big Sky Conference by the league coaches following an outstanding 2001 season. He was selected Montana’s “Outstanding Sophomore” on offense last year.

The last two seasons he has been one of the key ingredients to Montana’s offensive success and helped the Griz rank among the national leaders in several offensive categories. Montana was ranked 21st in the country in total offense (419.2 yards a game) and 20th in scoring (33.8 points per contest) last season.

Over the past two seasons Montana has been ranked among I-AA’s top offenses. In 2000, Dylan’s freshman year, the Griz were 15th in the nation in total offense (455.9 ypg).

“We think that Dylan is one of the finer offensive linemen that we have had,” said UM Head Coach Joe Glenn. “He has the size, he has the strength, he has the athleticism, he has the desire, and now he needs to dominate at his position. We think he is capable of doing that.

“He has the whole package,” Glenn said. “He just received one of the top academic honors from the business school. He is just one of those people in life who is blessed, and he’s taken advantage of it.

“We have very high expectations of him,” Glenn said. “He’s an excellent pass-blocker. All he needs to do is continue to get stronger and smarter, which comes with experience and hard work. He’s a very talented athlete, and there are going to be some things that we do this year that will feature him on the perimeter and show how he can really run. We are fortunate to have a player of his caliber.”

Injuries forced Dylan into the lineup early in his young collegiate career, and he proved to be one of the reasons for Montana’s success in 2000. He came in early in UM’s win at Eastern Washington (Sept. 30 of 2000) and then started for the Grizzlies in their next six games.

Unfortunately for “Mac” and the Grizzlies, he was sidelined for the last part of the 2000 season when he broke his ankle at Weber State on Nov. 11.

He has worked hard in the off-season over the past two years and has gained more than 25 pounds. He has the ability to play all three spots on the offensive line and has played tackle and center for the Grizzlies.

He maintains a 3.64 GPA in business and was named to the Big Sky’s all-academic teams in 2000 and 2001.

McFarland was selected Scout Team MVP on offense following his redshirt season in 1999.

He was a three-sport standout at Flathead High School in Kalispell, where he lettered three times in basketball and track, and twice in football.

In football he was an all-state and all-conference pick following his junior and senior seasons. He was an all-conference pick at guard and defensive end as a junior.

Despite being injured his senior year, he was voted all-league and honorable mention all-state at guard.

He was team captain in football and basketball and received the Coaches Award in football. His high school football coach was Bob Applegate.

McFarland was a second team all-state and all-conference pick in basketball as a senior, and he led Class “AA” in rebounding that season.

He was an honors student and class Valedictorian.
Ciche Pitcher

Year: Junior
Height: 6-4
Weight: 230 lbs.
Letters: Two
Position: Defensive End
Hometown: Anaconda
Birthday: December 11, 1981
Major: Business
Parents: Pete and Beatriz Pitcher of Anaconda

CAREER HIGHS: 8 tackles vs. Idaho and 3 tackles for loss, Idaho, 2001; 2 sacks in three games.
NOTE:
Ciche had 4 sacks and 9 tackles in UM's opening-round playoff win over Northwestern State last season. He had 24 tackles, 9 tackles for losses, and 7 sacks in four playoff games in 2001.

Ciche had an outstanding sophomore season, when he was a second team All-Big Sky Conference selection, Montana's recipient of the Larry Miller Award (Outstanding Defensive Lineman), and tabbed UM's "Sophomore of the Year" on defense.
He put up impressive numbers last year when he had 59 total tackles, including team-highs of 17 stops for losses and 11 sacks.

He was ranked second in the Big Sky in fumbles recovered (tied with fellow Griz Tim Bush) with three, and he was also ranked second in the conference in tackles for loss, with 1.5 a game.
He is Montana's third leading returning tackler in 2002.
"Ciche blends great athleticism with a great motor," said UM mentor Joe Glenn. "He's a fierce competitor.
"He's hard to block because he is so quick off the ball," Glenn said. "He can speed rush you or get up under you and 'rip-and-dip,' and he's just too quick for a lot of the tackles that he is seeing at this point, indicated by his 11 sacks.

"Not only that, but he plays the game with a lot of discipline," Glenn said. "He stays within the defensive scheme, and a lot of times his sacks come with a four-man rush. He's a great athlete, and he is also a tremendous effort guy.
"He's also an excellent student, which carries over to the football field," Glenn said. "Oftentimes success in the classroom carries over to success on the field. He's a classy guy."

He missed the last half of 2002 spring drills after undergoing minor shoulder surgery.
Former teammate and 2000 Big Sky "Defensive Player of the Year" Andy Petek made a statement about Ciche when he passed down the coveted No. 37 jersey to him two springs ago. That tradition was started by 12-year NFL pro Tim Hauck, who also wore number 37.
Pitcher played as a "true" freshman two seasons ago and was UM's 10th leading returning tackler in 2001. As a freshman he had 16 tackles, five for losses, and three sacks and two forced fumbles (vs. Cal Poly and Idaho State).
He earned four letters in football and one in track at Anaconda High School. He was team captain in football and defensive "Player of the Year" as a senior. He was named all-state at defensive end twice and at tight end once. He was an all-conference pick three times at defensive end and once at tight end.
His high school football coach was former (1982-83) Griz offensive lineman Darryl Deeks.

2002 MONTANA FOOTBALL - ALL-AMERICAN CANDIDATE
All-American Candidate

Trey Young

Year: Senior
Height: 6-0
Weight: 195 lbs.
Letters: Three
Position: Free Safety
Hometown: San Diego, California
Birthday: April 2, 1980
Major: Business Administration
Parents: Ed and Pat Young of San Diego

Trey is Montana's leading returning tackler in 2002. Last season he had the third most stops on the team with 76. He also had an impressive 12 tackles for losses, which ranked him third on the squad, and his 9 sacks tied him for the second most on the team.

He started 12 regular-season games last season, missing the St. Mary's and Northern Arizona games due to injury.

He started all four playoff contests a year ago. In the 2001 playoffs Young had 20 tackles and 2 pass deflections.

"He is so special," said Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He is a real leader on our team. He is one of the premier blisters in the Big Sky Conference. He's very, very athletic. He can cover man-to-man and in our zone coverages. He just plays smart.

"He comes up with critical plays when you need them," Glenn continued. "His Eastern Washington interception (in 2001) was huge. A couple of years ago he had a big pick for us against Weber State. He just makes those plays. When the ball comes his way, you can count on him.

"He's always a threat to blitz from his safety position, and he can come at you from all sorts of different angles and about every gap there is out there," Glenn said. "He's a pure football player, and he's a winner on and off the field."

Following his junior year, he was voted Montana's co-"Junior of the Year," sharing the award with quarterback John Edwards.

Trey was a second team All-Big Sky Conference selection in 2001.

He's been a starter at free safety since his sophomore season, when he started all 11 regular-season contests. As a sophomore, he was Montana's fourth leading tackler with 63 stops.

Young was chosen Montana's "Sophomore of the Year" in 2000, sharing the honor with Edwards, and he was also an honorable mention All-Big Sky pick that season. He played the last third of his sophomore season with a broken hand.

He prepped at Helix High School, where he earned four letters: two each in football and wrestling. He was a two-time all-conference pick at safety and participated in San Diego's North-South All-Star Game. He was also an All-District choice in football.

Trey's junior football team won the conference championship. He served as team captain in football his senior year, when he averaged 9.0 tackles a game. His high school football coach was Jim Arnaiz.

He set a school record at his high school for defensive backs when he benched 325 pounds. He runs a 4.5 in the 40 and has a 32-inch vertical jump.

Tim had an outstanding sophomore season, and he was an honorable mention All-Big Sky Conference selection in 2001. He started in 11 of 12 regular-season games last year and is Montana's sixth leading (tie) returning tackler.

He was chosen Montana's "Most Improved Player" in 2001. Last season he had 43 tackles, including 13 for losses, which ranked him second on the team. He was the Grizzlies' fourth-leading sack man with eight.

He was ranked second (tie) in the Big Sky with three fumble recoveries. His 13 tackles for losses (1.18 a game) ranked him seventh (tie) in the conference, while his 8 sacks (.59 a game) ranked him sixth (tie) in the league.

"Tim Bush has proven to be a heck of a get for us," said Montana Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He was originally a walk-on and is an honorable mention All-Big Sky Conference selection in 2001. He's a former wrestler, so he's got those quick feet, good balance, and a great motor," Glenn said. "He has the ability to get past an offensive tackle. And yet, you can see it in the Furman game, when they ran a naked pitch play to Louis Ivory, he ran him down.

"He has really blossomed into one of our top players," Glenn continued. "Possibly you might see people slide their (offensive) front toward Ciche Pitcher, which may give Tim one-on-one opportunities a little bit more, which will be just fine with us."

As a redshirt freshman he registered 16 tackles, including five tackles for losses, and four quarterback sacks, and he was UM's 10th leading returning tackler that year.

As a prep, he earned six letters at Kellogg High School: three in football, basketball, and track. He served as team captain in football, basketball, and track. He was an all-state selection at linebacker as a junior and senior. He's a Health and Human Performance major. Birthday: April 3, 1981. His parents are Ken and Sharon Bush of Pinehurst, Idaho.

Curt is Montana's sixth leading (tie) returning tackler. He had 43 tackles last season in 11 regular-season contests (he missed the Eastern Washington game with an injury). He excelled in the 2001 playoffs, garnering 14 tackles, including 6 for losses, along with 3 sacks.

He did not participate in spring drills because of a foot injury but will be 100 percent for the 2002 season. He will start at defensive tackle.

"Curt is a rock for us inside," said Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn. "The whole key for him is to get healthy and stay healthy. He continues to play at a very high level for us," Glenn said.

"He had a big play for us against Idaho two years ago. He was a totally consistent player for us last year. We're looking for him to be a little more of a force for us in the pass rush. With his strength, size, and experience now he can collapse the pocket for us in a pass rush situation."

He had a very solid sophomore season when he was 13th (tie) on the team with 22 tackles (which made him UM's seventh leading returning tackler). He had six tackles, including two for losses in the 2000 playoffs.

Colter earned 12 letters at Hysham High School: four each in football, basketball, and track. He served as team captain in football and basketball as a junior and senior.

He was an all-state selection at linebacker as a junior and senior, and an all-state pick at fullback his senior year.

As a senior he led his high school football team to its first state playoff appearance in 18 seasons. Also as a senior, he averaged 13.5 tackles and 8.2 yards a carry for coach Shawn Hollowell. His junior year he averaged 16 tackles per contest. He was an all-state selection in basketball as a senior.

- Pre-Elementary Education major. Birthday: October 9, 1979.
- His parents are Bill and Cyndy Colter of Hysham.
- Misc.: His older brother, D.J., was a four-year letterman for the Griz at defensive tackle from 1996-99. His cousin, Jay Fagan, was an All-American at offensive guard for UM in 1989.
- Pronounced: COAL-ter.
Derek will start at right guard for the second season in a row. He is a member of one of the best offensive lines at Montana in recent years.

Decker is one of the key reasons Montana has been ranked among the national leaders in several offensive categories the past two seasons. In 2001, the Griz were ranked 21st in the country in total offense (419.2 yards a game) and 20th in scoring (33.8 points per contest).

The previous two years the Griz were also among I-AA’s top offenses. His freshman year, the Griz were 15th in the nation in total offense (455.9 ypg).

“Derek has improved with reps,” said Montana mentor Joe Glenn. “He’s gotten bigger and stronger each year that he’s been here. He has an excellent work ethic and continues to work hard.

“He’s a very athletic player, as you can see by the 11 letters that he earned in high school; I think that says a lot about him and why he’s having success,” Glenn said. “He’s a smart guy, and he continues to get better with age.”

He saw plenty of action in 2000 as a redshirt freshman, when he was one of five players who shared Montana’s “Outstanding Freshman” award.

He was a three-sport standout at Huntley Project High School, earning 11 letters: four in both football and track, and three in basketball.

Decker was an all-state selection as a sophomore, junior, and senior in football. He was an all-state pick at defensive tackle and offensive guard his senior season, and he was an all-state pick on defense at three different positions.

Derek served as team captain in football and track. His high school football coach was Jim Stanton.

His prep teams won state championships in football and basketball in the 1998-99 season. During his high school career, Huntley Project also won three league titles in basketball, two in football, and one in track.

His senior year he had 101 tackles and five sacks. Elementary Education major. Birthday: June 6, 1980. Derek’s parents are Eugene and Gaye Decker of Ballantine.

A factor since his freshman year when he was pressed into action as a “true” freshman, Dave was moved to strong safety last spring and earned the starting job there.

He ranked among the Big Sky Conference leaders a year ago. He’s the Grizzlies’ second leading returning tackler with 63 stops (5.2 a game) in 12 regular-season games. He has started at both outside linebacker and defensive back at UM.

DeCoite was impressive in Montana’s four 2001 playoff games when he had 18 tackles, including two for losses in the Sam Houston State game. He had interceptions in the Northern Iowa and Furman playoff games.

“He’s played several positions for us, but you’ll see him primarily at safety more than ever this year,” Glenn said. “He is just an outstanding football player with great natural instincts, and another very athletic player for us.”

He was an impact player as a “true” freshman in 2000, when he played both outside linebacker and defensive back. He started five regular-season games his freshman year. He also started and had a team-high 10 tackles and two stops for losses in UM’s 2000 I-AA title game against Georgia Southern.

His nickname is “The Missile” due to his knack for making hard-hitting tackles.

He shared Montana’s “Freshman of the Year” award with five of his teammates. He was UM’s 12th leading tackler as a frosh and was the team’s sixth leading returning tackler a year ago when he had 23 stops.

Dave was state and conference MVP in football in 1999 as a star at Truckee High School in Northern California. His junior grid team won the state championship, while his sophomore and junior squads lost in the semi-finals.

His baseball team placed second in the state in 1998. He earned three letters each in football and track at Truckee High School. He was voted team captain and MVP in football following his junior and senior seasons. He was baseball captain and MVP his junior year.

During his senior year he had 108 tackles, six interceptions, and blocked a kick which he returned for a touchdown. His prep grid coach was Bob Shaffer.

General studies major. Birthday: March 1, 1981. Dave’s parents are Dennis and Sue DeCoite of Truckee.

Dave’s older brother, Dan, was a two-year letterman and starter at middle linebacker for the Griz in 2000 and 2001.

CAREER HIGH: 8 (6 unassisted) tackles at Hawai‘i, 2001.

Honors Candidates

Brian Pelc
- #66
- Center
- 6'4, 285 • 3V
- Senior • Helena

Brian started at center for the Division I-AA National Champion Montana Grizzlies, and he'll be starting his third straight season in 2002. He also has the ability to play guard or tackle.

"Brian is our senior on the offensive line, and he had a great junior year," said Griz offensive coordinator Bill Cockhill. "He was injured last spring (2000) and got off to kind of a slow start because of that injury, but he really came on strong and was outstanding from the middle of the season through the playoffs. He's our quarterback on the offensive line and gives us outstanding leadership there. I expect him to have an outstanding senior year."

Pelc is one of the keys to Montana's offensive success the last three seasons. During that time the Griz have been ranked among the national leaders in several offensive categories. Last year UM ranked 21st in the country in total offense (419.2 yards a game) and 20th in scoring (33.8 points per contest).

"Brian has really come on," said Grizzly Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He struggled a little last year with our center and quarterback exchange. It wasn't easy for him to go to center (from guard), but that's the direction we went.

"To his credit he kept working and working, and never looked back, and never complained," Glenn said. "To have to snap the football and then go block your guy and make all of the calls was a real challenge for Brian. We are very happy and proud of the way that he picked it up and ran with it. He's done nothing but improve. Throughout the spring (of 2002) his snaps, his timing, and his calls were excellent. We are lucky to have a player of his caliber."

The previous three years the Griz were also among I-AA's top offenses. During his sophomore year, the Griz were 15th in the nation in total offense (455.9 ypg), while his frosh team was ranked 21st in the country in total offense (419.2 yards a game) and 20th in scoring (33.8 points per contest).

"He is one of the most exciting special teams players I have ever been around," said Griz mentor Joe Glenn. "When he touches the football, he is electric. He has very good natural strength, plus he's got good quickness and good speed. He just loves to play. "He's very elusive and very confident," Glenn continued. "He will play for us in the secondary this year. He's improving, and he can make plays for us. He'll play a lot of football for Montana."

As a senior at Rampart High School he was chosen All-Colorado, and he was also all-state and first team all-conference in football. He was a four-time all-conference pick in football.

As a senior he had 64 catches for 757 yards, along with 80 tackles on defense. He also punted for his team and averaged 39.8 yards a punt. He returned 3 kickoffs for touchdowns.

He earned 8 letters as a prep: 3 each in football and basketball. He was team captain in football and basketball as a senior. He was track MVP as a junior.

He started both ways in football his junior and senior seasons. His junior team was a playoff participant and went 11-2, while his senior team advanced to the semi-finals and was 13-1. Careerwise he had 150 receptions for 2,181 yards. His prep football coach was Mike Sirko.

His major is Exercise Science. Birthday: February 6, 1983. Levander's parents are Harold and Linda Segars of Colorado Springs.

Levander Segars
- #1
- CB/Returns
- 5-9, 170 • 1V
- Sophomore • Colorado Springs, Colo.

Levander was a special player for the Griz as a punt returner last season as a "true" freshman, and he is expected to be a impact return man for Montana again this season, and he is also expected to be a contributing factor at cornerback. He starts the 2002 season as the back-up at "strong corner" behind senior Johnnie Peeples.

Last year he was third in the Big Sky Conference averaging 10.3 yards per punt return, which ranked him 35th in the nation. He averaged 19.2 yards on 5 kickoff returns. He was selected as Montana's "Freshman of the Year." He was an honorable mention All-Big Sky pick as a returner.

"He is one of the most exciting special teams players I have ever been around," said Griz mentor Joe Glenn. "When he touches the football, he is electric. He has very good natural strength, plus he's got good quickness and good speed. He just loves to play. "He's very elusive and very confident," Glenn continued. Jon had an exceptional sophomore season and started in several games for Division I-AA champion Montana.

He was another key reason that the 2001 Grizzlies were ranked 21st in the nation in total offense (419.3 yards a game) and 20th in scoring (33.8 points a game) last year.

"Jon is an excellent football player," said Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He's a very smart player. Not only is he a big guy, but he's a big guy who plays with a lot of toughness. He loves to compete. He loves to get it on.

"The bigger the game, the bigger he plays, it seems like to me," Glenn said. "He's capable of stepping up his level of play, whatever that level needs to be. He's another one of the reasons that I have so much confidence in our offensive line. Jon is rock solid. He's a good football player, and it's critical that he stay healthy."

He also had an outstanding freshman season, playing in several games, and he started in three contests at guard and in UM's final five contests (counting the playoffs) at tackle.

In 2000, Montana led the Big Sky in passing offense and was sixth in the country at 313.0 yards a game. That season the Griz led the league in total offense and were 15th in the nation in that category (455.9 yards a game).

Skinner was a three-sport letterman at Beaverhead County High School in Dillon. He lettered three times in both football and track and two times in basketball.

"Skinny" was an all-state selection at offensive tackle as a senior and a two-time all-conference pick.

He was elected team captain in football and track. His prep hoop teams won division titles in 1998 and 1999, and his senior basketball team had a record of 24-2. His high school football coach was former (1978-80) Griz defensive back Terry Thomas.

Jon is a mathematics major. Birthday: December 12, 1980. His parents are Art and Janet Skinner of Dillon.

Vernon is Montana's eighth leading returning tackler, despite missing four regular-season games with an injury. He had 41 tackles last year, 30 of which were unassisted.

He will start at the "weak" cornerback position.

He was expected to be an impact player last year, and he did not disappoint anyone. He had to sit out the 2000 season to concentrate on academics, but then he earned a starting job at one of the cornerback slots in 2001. Unfortunately he injured his wrist in the Portland State game last season and missed UM's next seven games with that injury.

"Vernon is a very talented guy, who has everything that you look for in a corner," said UM mentor Joe Glenn. "He's got the height; he's got the speed and quickness; he's got the hands; he's got the leaping ability; and he's got the good back-pedal. He can really break on the ball. He's also got a 32-inch vertical jump.

"All that remains for Vernon is experience," Glenn said. "He got hurt last year when he broke his hand but came back and played in the championship game.

"He's got some experience, but he'll just get better game-by-game," Glenn continued. "He's one of our go-to guys on defense. He's a very, very talented athlete. He'll get the coverage assignment on the opponents' best receiver. You'll feel his presence on the field. He has the ability to dominate. He'll be an exciting player to watch."

He came to Montana from Mission Bay High School in San Diego, where he earned letters in four sports: four in football, three in basketball, two in track, and one in baseball.

He was all-state and all-county selection in football and an all-county and all-league pick in basketball.

Smith was chosen team MVP in football, basketball, and track (field events). He was elected team captain in football, basketball, and track.

His senior season he had 39 catches for 800-plus yards and nine touchdowns on offense. Defensively, he had 90 tackles and five interceptions. His prep football coach was Dennis Pugh.

CAREER HIGHS: 9 tackles vs. Eastern Washington and @Northern Arizona, 2001. He had 7 unassisted tackles at Hawaii and at NAU last season. NOTE: He returned to action in the 2001 title game against Furman, registering 3 unassisted tackles.
Chris had a fine sophomore season and was a first team All-Big Sky Conference pick by the league coaches. He made 13-of-22 field goals (including a long of 49), 46-of-47 PATs, and many of his kickoffs were deep in the end zone and unreturnable.

His 163 career points already rank him 11th on Montana's career scoring list.

"He hit 7-of-7 field goals in our spring scrimmage (in 2002), and he's for real," said Montana Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He's mentally tough, and he's physically tough."

"One of his strengths is putting the other team in tough field position," Glenn said. "He will definitely affect the field position in a game and that will help us. He and (UM punter) Mark Spencer are both capable of dominating field position in a game."

Snyder was expected to be an impact player for the Grizzlies as a freshman, and he came through with flying colors, earning honorable mention All-Big Sky recognition.

In 2000, he connected on 13-of-21 field goals (61.9 percent) and made 39-of-42 points after touchdown (PAT) attempts. He had a career-long field goal of 52 yards at Portland State in 2000, which was the longest in the conference that year.

As a "true" freshman at UM, Chris led the league in scoring for kickers with 78 points, averaging 7.1 per contest, which ranked him fifth overall in the Big Sky. His 13 field goals in 2000 were the second most in the conference. He made 3-of-4 field goals in the 2000 playoffs.

He earned six letters at Mt. Spokane High School: three each in football and soccer. He was an all-state selection at kicker as a junior and senior in 1998 and 1999, and team captain in soccer his senior season.

In football, he was a Greater Spokane League all-conference selection following his junior and senior seasons. He was a two-time all-state pick in soccer as a junior and senior in 1998 and 1999, and team captain in soccer his senior season.

In high school, Snyder averaged more than 40 yards per punt, and had two field goals of 50 yards or more, including a career-long 54-yarder. His high school football coach was Mike McLaughlin.

He is a business education major. Birthday: November 7, 1981. Chris' mom is Sharon Snyder of Mead, Wash.

Mark had one of the most dramatic turn-arounds in UM history last season. He started his Griz career in ominous fashion. In Montana's 2001 opener at Cal Poly last season he mishandled the snap on his first punt and got off a 25-yarder. That was his only attempt of the game, as Chris Snyder took over the punting chores after that early miscue.

The following week Spencer did not make the trip to play Hawaii on the island of Maui.

A week later, special teams coach Chris Knutsen gave Mark another opportunity early in the Western Washington contest, and Spencer won his job back.

"The rest, as they say, is history."

He went on to average 43.16 yards per punt, which ranked him fourth in the nation in Division I-AA. He not only averaged 43-plus yards on 51 attempts, but 14 of his punts were inside the opponents' 20-yard line.

He had a 77-yarder at Montana State last year which landed on the Cats' 4-yard line. MSU fumbled on its first play preceding that play, and Montana scored four plays later. In that MSU game Spencer averaged 52.5 yards on six punts, including three inside the 20.

He was named to the Big Sky Conference's second team, and he was selected a first team All-American by Don Hansen's Football Gazette.

Mark was also a standout in the 2001 playoffs. In those four games he had 21 punts for a 41.4-yard average and had seven of his kicks inside the 20-yard line, three of which came in the title game against Furman.

"His impact on field position will be huge," said Griz mentor Joe Glenn. "He'll be one of the top punters in our league. His consistency continued to develop through spring football. He's got confidence now, and he's going to have an outstanding senior season."

"If he can improve his hang time and consistency, he might have a chance to play at the next level," Glenn said. "He has the potential to get a look."

He came to Montana from Palomar Junior College in San Marcos, Calif. Spencer's freshman team at Palomar JC won the Junior College National Championship.

His junior college teams won two Mission Conference titles, and his JC teams also won championships in the "1st Down Bowl" and "Shrine Bowl." His junior college football coach was Tom Craft.

He attended Fallbrook Union High School where he earned letters in football and soccer.

Jonny had a banner freshman season, starting 10 games at noseguard. He was a second team All-Big Sky Conference selection.

He was Montana's sixth leading tackler last season and is UM's fourth leading returning tackler this year. In 2001, he had 55 tackles and was fifth on the team with 11 stops for losses. He was tied for the second most sacks on the team last year with 9.

He ended spring drills in a tight battle with fellow sophomore John Cahill for the starting noseguard position.

"Jonny is another player who was a great wrestler in high school, and he has great balance," said Montana Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He's got great feet and good hands. He's also very aggressive and very tough. When you mix all of that in, you've got a D-lineman. You've got a guy who weighs around 285 pounds and can do all of the above. He can really play."

He was a redshirt in 2000 at Montana.

Varona earned 10 letters at Medical Lake High School: four in wrestling and three each in football and track.

His 1997 and 1998 football teams won conference championships. He was an all-state selection in football and wrestling as a senior. He was an all-conference pick in football following his junior and senior seasons. He was chosen MVP in wrestling. His high school football coach was John Giannandred.

He is a General studies major. Birthday: April 23, 1982. Jonny's mom is Darcy Varona of Medical Lake.

Rory had an excellent spring and emerged as a starter at Montana's "X" wide receiver position. He is also a key special teams player and top-notch kickoff returner.

Last season he started in 11 of 12 games. He is the Grizzlies' leading returning receiver in 2002. Last year he had 24 catches for 242 yards (10.1-yard average).

"It was a big spring (2002) for Rory," said Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He was really our go-to guy in the spring. Rory has worked and worked to make himself into an excellent receiver. He's really come into his own."

"He's another guy who can make something happen after he catches the ball," Glenn said. "With his confidence and experience, we look for him to have his best year ever."

When he came to UM, he made the difficult transition from high school running back to college wide receiver.

He was chosen Montana's “Scout Team Player of the Year” on offense with two of his teammates in 1998. He was a redshirt at UM in '98.

Rory was a standout athlete at Harlowton High School where he earned 12 letters: four each in football, basketball, and track.

His track teams won state championships his junior and senior seasons.

In football he was an all-state pick at tailback, safety, and a kicker in 1996 and 1997. He served as team captain in football and basketball and was selected MVP in hoops.

He was a four-time all-conference selection in football. As a senior he rushed for 2,500 yards, had 800 receiving yards, and scored 48 touchdowns. Career-wise he scored more than 120 career touchdowns. His high school football coach was Jon Wrezesinski.

NOTE: He had 7 catches for 104 yards in UM's four 2001 playoff games.

Coaching Staff

Senior Cornerback Johnnie Peeples

Sophomore Wide Receiver Jefferson Heidelberger

Junior Offensive Guard Derek Decker
Head Coach Joe Glenn

Joe Glenn came to The University of Montana with impressive credentials, and he has lived up to those credentials and more going 28-3 (.903) overall the past two seasons. He also guided UM to two straight Division I-AA title games and has compiled a perfect 15-0 in the Big Sky Conference mark.

In 2001, the Griz won a school-record 15 games, going 15-1 en route to the NCAA Division I-AA national championship, defeating Furman 13-6 in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Glenn was recognized for UM’s success as he was voted the AFCA Region 5 Coach of the Year as well as the Big Sky “Coach of the Year,” sharing the award with Eastern Washington mentor Paul Wulff.

In his first season at UM in 2000, Montana went 13-2 overall and 8-0 in the Big Sky Conference. The Griz advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA title game and won a feat they repeated in 1998 and in 1999.

Glenn was named the AFCA Division II National Coach of the Year following the 1996 and 1997 seasons. He was twice named the American Football Quarterly Division II National Coach of the Year, and, in 1997, earned North Central Conference Coach of the Year honors.

In 1998 he was chosen the AFCA Regional Coach of the Year, an award he had won earlier in his career. In ’98 he was once again named NCC Coach of the Year. He was also the 1999 AFCA Regional Coach of the Year.

Glenn was named one of Colorado’s “Greatest Coaches of the 1900s” by the Denver Post in the spring of 2000, and he was one of 12 college coaches in seven different sports in the college team division so-honored.

UNC’s quarterback in 1999, senior Corte McGuffey, led Division II with 31 passing touchdowns and received the Harlon Hill Award, given annually to Division II’s “Player of the Year.” He is a two-time GTE Academic All-American of the Year in the college division with a 3.86 GPA in Bio-Chemistry.

Glenn went to UNC as its quarterbacks coach in 1987. In 1989, he was going to become an assistant with the British Columbia Lions of the CFL, but turned down the job when he was offered the head coaching duties with the Bears.

Glenn coached at Montana from 1980-85, serving as the quarterback/receivers coach in 1980-81, and he was UM’s offensive coordinator from 1982-85. In ’82 the Griz won the Big Sky title and earned their first-ever Division I-AA playoff berth. During his tenure at Montana, the Grizzlies broke or tied 89 offensive school records.

In 1976, at the age of 27, he took over the coaching reigns at Doane (Neb.) College, becoming the youngest collegiate head coach in the nation, and in four seasons he was 21-18-1.

Glenn began his coaching career in 1974 at South Dakota, his alma mater, serving as the offensive backfield coach for one season before heading to Northern Arizona University where he held the same position.

A 1971 graduate of South Dakota, Glenn earned a bachelor’s degree in health, physical education, recreation and athletics. As a quarterback and wide receiver, he served as team captain for the Coyotes as a senior.

After graduation, he got a ROTC military commission and served two years in the U.S. Army. In 1975, he earned his master’s degree in education from South Dakota.

Joe and his wife, Michele, have two adult children, Erin and Casey. Casey is a senior at Carroll College and football team member there.

Assistant Coaches

Mike Breske

Defensive Coordinator/Assistant Head Coach • Third Season

In just two seasons as the defensive coordinator at The University of Montana, Mike Breske has established himself as one of the best defensive minds in Division I-AA.

Under Mike's leadership the Grizzly defense ranked among the best in the Big Sky Conference in 2001. The Griz "D" was ranked in the top two in the league in scoring defense (20.3 ppg); rushing defense (125.5) and total defense (385.8 ypg). Montana led the Big Sky and was 26th in the nation in scoring defense.

Following the 2000 season at Montana, Head Coach Joe Glenn promoted Breske to the position of assistant head coach.

In 2000, Montana led the Big Sky Conference in six different defensive categories: total defense (265.0); scoring (19.3 ppg); rushing (76.6); passing (188.4); sacks (46); and opponents third down conversion percentage (30.0%).

Breske came to UM from the University of Northern Colorado, where he had coached for 13 seasons with Glenn.

He began his coaching career at Northern Iowa in 1981 and 1982, working with the secondary. He then coached the secondary at Yankton (SD) College in 1982 and 1983. He was the defensive coordinator at Wayne State (Neb.) from 1983-86, before going to UNC.

Mike played collegiate football at South Dakota State, where he was a three-year letterman at cornerback and team captain.

Billy Cockhill

Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks • Ninth Season

Billy's first year as Montana's "official" offensive coordinator was outstanding, as the Grizzlies finished ranked 21st in the nation in total offense and 20th in Division I-AA in scoring, averaging 33.8 points a game en route to a national championship.

Last season senior running back Yohance Humphery shattered UM's rushing records, gaining 1,658 yards and scoring 17 touchdowns. He ended his brilliant career with a school-record 4,074 career rushing yards, which ranks him fifth in Big Sky Conference history.

Following the 2001 season, Montana had six offensive players named first team.
Assistant Coaches

Chad Germer

Chad begins his sixth season of coaching at his alma mater. He has served as Montana's offensive line coach the previous three years. He had an illustrious college football career at UM, where he earned All-American status at center in 1991.

During his tenure the past three years, the Grizzlies have had three different offensive linemen gain All-America status. The past two seasons Montana has had four different linemen receive all-conference recognition.

Guard Thatcher Szalay has been a 1-AA consensus All-American the past two seasons and signed a free agent contract with the Cincinnati Bengals last spring.

Offensive Line • Sixth Season

Chad had served as a restricted earnings coach at his alma mater during the 1997 and 1998 seasons, working primarily with the offensive line.

Germer was a three-year starter at center for the Grizzlies from 1989-91. During his stint at center he started in 36 consecutive games. He was first team All-Big Sky selection in 1991, a second team pick in 1990, and an honorable mention choice in '89.

In 1991, Chad was named to two Division I-AA All-American teams. He was also selected to, and participated in, the 54th Annual Blue-Gray All-Star Football Classic.

He was the co-recipient of UM's Weskamp Award in '91, which is given annually to the team's "Outstanding Offensive Lineman."

As a prep at Three Forks High School, Germer was all-state in football and basketball.

Germer earned his B.A. degree in Business at UM. Chad's wife, Amy, is a pharmacist. They have a three-year-old son Nicholas.

"I think Chad is the architect of the strength of our team — our offensive line," said Griz mentor Joe Glenn. "He's a relentless recruiter for the type of player that he wants. He searches high-and-low for exactly the type of athlete he wants, and he gets them.

"Chad is a hard worker, and that work ethic carries over to the guys he coaches," Glenn said. "He is a technician and that is reflected on how our offensive line plays. His players play hard and with intensity. He is a very conscientious, highly competitive person, and that's the way that he coaches."

Tom Hauck

Tom Hauck is a veteran football coach with more than 30 years in the profession. He is in his third season at his alma mater. Beginning last year he worked exclusively with the defensive tackles.

Last season two of Coach Hauck's tackles (Jonny Varona and Curt Colter) received All-Big Sky Conference status.

A former (1961-63) Grizzly football player, Hauck coached at Billings Senior High School (Montana) for 19 years (1968-87).

Defensive Tackles • Third Season

Prior to coming to Montana, Tom coached at Rocky Mountain College for 13 seasons, where he worked exclusively with the defense and special teams.

The Hauck name is synonymous with football in the state of Montana. His brother Bob, was a long-time successful coach and administrator in the high school ranks.

His nephews, Bobby and Tim Hauck, are both football professionals. Bobby is an assistant coach at the University of Washington, while Tim, a former (1988-89) All-American safety for the Griz, has played in the National Football League the past 11 seasons.

Tom graduated from Montana in 1964 with a B.A. in mathematics and was a graduate assistant coach at the high school ranks.

Tom graduated from Montana in 1964 with a B.A. in mathematics and was a graduate assistant coach at Montana in 1964. Tom is single.

"He has numerous contacts throughout the state of Montana which help us tremendously in recruiting student-athletes from Montana," Glenn said.

PRONOUNCED: HOWK.
Assistant Coaches

Chris Knutsen

Chris Knutsen is in his third season as the Grizzlies' special teams and linebackers coach.

Last year middle linebacker Matt Steinau was named to the Big Sky Conference's first team, as was kicker Chris Snyder. Punter Mark Spencer was a second team all-league pick, while punt returner Levander Segars was an honorable mention selection. Last season Montana was ranked 10th in the nation in net punting, averaging 36.79 yards per punt.

Before coming to UM, Chris had coordinated the special teams at the University of Wyoming from 1997-99. He worked with the special teams and outside linebackers in '99.

Prior to the stint at Wyoming, Knutsen was at Northern Colorado, where he served as defensive line coach and assisted with the special teams in 1995 and 1996. He was also the linebackers coach and assistant offensive line coach at UNC from 1992-94.

In addition to his coaching positions at Wyoming and UNC, Chris was the offensive line coach at Illinois State, defensive coordinator at Valparaiso, defensive coordinator/offensive line coach at Montana Tech, and a graduate assistant coach at Kansas State.

A middle linebacker at Valparaiso (Ind.) University from 1973-76, he was all-conference, team MVP, and co-captain his senior year there.

Harvey Patton

Harvey Patton is now in his third season at The University of Montana coaching the running backs.

He coached Montana's all-time leading rusher, Yohance Humphery, the past two seasons, and Humphery established numerous career, season, and single-game records.

Humphery was ranked eighth in the nation in rushing last season when he set school records by gaining 1,658 yards and scoring 17 touchdowns, and was named to several I-AA All-American teams.

The affable and out-going Patton came to UM from the University of Nevada, where he was the running backs coach in 1999. Nevada's '99 grid team was second in the nation in total offense, and Patton coached one of Division I-A's all-time rush touchdown leaders in Chris Lemon.

Prior to his stint at Nevada, Patton was an assistant for Montana Head Coach Joe Glenn at Northern Colorado from 1995-98, where he also worked with the running backs.

At UNC, he coached the MVP of the 1996 and 1997 Division II national championship games, running back Billy Holmes.

A four-year letterman at UNC for Head Coach Joe Glenn, Patton was an all-league fullback at UNC three times, two-time team captain, and offensive MVP as a senior.

He earned a degree in business administration at UNC in 1994, and is currently working on his Master of Arts degree in physical education. Patton is single.

"There's no doubt that Yohance Humphery set all of our rushing records and is probably the premier back in the history of our school," said Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn. "But, I think, and I've heard Yohance say it, give some of the credit of Yo's success to Harvey. Maybe not so much for his running style, but for his toughness and his ability to block.

"Harvey knows and understands what it takes to be a good football player," Glenn said. "He tries to make all of his players be tough and physical, and I think that shows. He's one of the most spirited and emotional coaches I've worked with. He's passionate when it comes to football and coaching. Harvey brings a real toughness to our offense."
Assistant Coaches

Lance Robinson

Lance Robinson is one of the "vets" for the Grizzlies, as he is now in his sixth season at The University of Montana.

Robinson has worked exclusively with UM's defensive ends the past couple of seasons. He also oversees the important logistics of Montana's game film exchange.

He was a two-year letterman in football at Montana Tech and then transferred to UM. He earned a B.A. degree in exercise science at Montana in 1997.

Lance and his wife, Shoni, have two children: a daughter Taylor and a son Wynn.

"It's obvious in how hard that his kids play for him that he is a very effective football coach," Glenn said. "He coaches with a lot of excitement and pizzaz.

"One of the reasons our defensive front had the success that it had last year is a direct reflection of Lance and Tom," Glenn said. "They are a great Butte one-two punch, Robinson and (Tom) Hauck. They're a youth and veteran mix and a great combination."

Ron Wisniewski

"Wiz" is in his third year with the Grizzlies, and he's in his second season working with the wide receivers. In 2000 he coached the tight ends.

Ron came with Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn to Montana from the University of Northern Colorado, where he was an assistant coach for Glenn from 1994-99, working with the tight ends and offensive line.

Prior to that position, Wisniewski was an assistant coach at East Stroudsburg University (Penn.), 1990-91-93, coaching the tight ends and running backs. He served as offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at Kean College of New Jersey in 1992, and the team set nine single-season records. His first coach job was at Boulder High School in Boulder, Colorado.

Wisniewski earned a B.A. degree in physics at Rutgers in 1987. He received an M.S. in aerospace engineering from the University of Colorado in 1990. In May of '98 he got his Ph.D. at UNC in mathematics and mathematics education.

The past two academic years he has taught part time in the mathematics department at UM.

Ron and Kelli Keeley are engaged to be married in July of 2003.

"This is my 28th year of coaching, and Ron Wisniewski is the finest teacher who I have observed in all of those years, in regards to teaching the game and getting our players to understand a rather complicated passing attack," Griz head coach Joe Glenn said. "Ron's ability to connect, to coach and teach, and get kids to play at their highest level is special.

"He couldn't spend that much time with us at Northern Colorado because of his teaching duties," Glenn said. "But now that he's involved as our recruiting coordinator, he's done a tremendous job. He is a dogged recruiter. We are very lucky to have a guy with not only his intelligence, but with his excellent work ethic. Ron has been a real plus for Montana football."

PRONOUNCED: Wis-ness-ski.
Assistant Coaches

Ron Kowalski
Tight Ends • Second Season

Ron is now in his second season at Montana, working with the tight ends. He came to UM after a successful 35-year career of teaching and coaching at the high school level. For 32 years, Kowalski had been a teacher and the head football coach at Cut Bank High School in Montana. He was the head coach there for 29 seasons. His overall record is 206-80-1, and his teams won state championships in 1985, 1989, 1990, and finished runner-up four times.

A native of Roundup, Montana, Kowalski is a 1966 graduate of Eastern Montana College in Billings.

John Hefty
Safties • First Season

was named special teams MVP following his sophomore, junior, and senior seasons. "It made sense to bring John on since he worked with us last year as a student-assistant," said UM Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He won our admiration and did a great job for us as a student assistant and he knows and understands what we are doing. He is a very personable up-and-coming young coach. He has a real understanding of the position and works well with (defensive coordinator Mike) Coach Breske. He will help us with our continuity and stability."

Ron and his wife of 36 years, Diane, have two sons: Pete and his wife Lara of Missoula and granddaughter Bradyn, and son Mike, who lives in Denver. Mike played football for the Grizzlies from 1992-95. "It's a real coup to have Ron Kowalski on our staff," said Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn. "He brings a wealth of experience and a real sense of tough football. He's been in the trenches. I think what Tom Hauck is to our defense, Ron is similar to our offense. He really knows and understands the game and knows and understands people. We're lucky to have someone of his caliber."

A former University of Montana defensive back, John Hefty, was named secondary coach in February of 2002 and will work primarily with safeties.

Hefty played strong safety at Montana, and earned letters in 1998 and 1999. His football career was shortened because of a shoulder injury.

Originally from Laguna Niguel, Calif., Hefty signed with the Griz in 1997.

He attended Aliso Niguel High School, where he was a three-time All-Pacific Coast League selection at defensive back and wide receiver. As a senior, he led Orange County with 8 interceptions, and he was named to the all-county team by the Los Angeles Times and the Orange County Register. He was first team All-C.I.F. for his 14-0 championship team as a senior.

He set a school record with more than 1,000 yards in kickoff and punt returns and...

GAME NOTES: The Grizzlies were solid in most phases of the game to register an expected win at Cal Poly, a Division I-AA Independent.

It was a far cry from the Grizzlies’ 53-3 home win over Cal Poly the previous season, when UM racked up 629 yards and held the Mustangs to 195.

It was also a much better season opener for Montana than the previous year, when visiting Hofstra stunned the home-standing Grizzlies with a 19-10 win. After that opening-season setback to Hofstra in 2000, the Griz reeled off 13 straight wins en route to the I-AA title game.

Junior quarterback John Edwards completed 14-of-25 passes for 209 yards, and although he did not throw a touchdown pass, he did score twice running the ball.

It was Payton Trophy candidate Yohance Humphery who was the big difference on offense, as he rushed 30 times for 159 yards and a TD.

"They pressured our passing game and knocked us off our routes," Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn told the media after the game.

"So we relied on our running game a little more. We came out in the second half and established the run, and that was the difference in the game."

Montana scored first when senior Buchanan Award finalist Vince Huntsberger scooped up a fumble by Cal Poly halfback Paki Gordon and raced 27 yards untouched for a touchdown.

Montana opened the third quarter with a 10-play, 80-yard scoring drive and Cal Poly never really threatened after that. The Griz out-gained the Mustangs 224 to 102 in total yards in the second half.

GAME NOTES: The Grizzlies snapped a 10-game win streak with an impressive passing game and Division I-A Hawai'i opened its season with a win at a "home" game at Maui's Memorial Stadium. Maui is an island which is about an hour flight from Honolulu, UH's home base.

Montana's last road loss had been Oct. 2, 1999 in overtime at Portland State. The loss also snapped the Grizzlies' 11-game regular-season win streak, which began exactly a year ago with a 45-38 win over Idaho.

Montana took an early, but short-lived lead on a pair of long field goals of 47 and 49 yards in the first quarter by sophomore kicker Chris Snyder. That was all of Montana's scoring until the final quarter. Hawai'i scored 23 unanswered points after Snyder's two field goals. The Grizzlies scored their only TD of the game with 9:25 left on a screen pass from John Edwards to Etu Molden from 12 yards out.

Sophomore quarterback Timmy Chang, who was injured a couple of games later and slotted to redshirt in 2001, was 31-of-45-2 for 435 yards and two touchdowns. The 435 passing yards came a week after the Grizzlies allowed just 104 passing yards by Cal Poly.

Junior receiver Ashley Lelie, who reportedly runs a 4.27 second in the 40, haulled in eight passes for 163 yards, including a 26-yarder for a TD in Hawaii's 20-point second quarter. Chang completed 9-of-13 passes for 179 yards and two touchdowns in the quarter.

All-time leading rusher Yohance Humphrey gained 133 hard-earned yards on 22 carries, Edwards passed for 232 yards and a score, and Molden had a career-high 11 catches for 94 yards and a TD.

Montana was slated to play another I-A team, Idaho, the following Saturday, but due to the events of Sept. 11, 2001, the game was rescheduled for Nov. 24 (in Missoula).

GAME NOTES: Quarterback John Edwards threw for a career-high 277 yards, and Montana and the rest of America tried to return to some sort of normalcy after the terrorists' attacks of September 11. The Grizzlies had been scheduled to play Idaho the previous week, but the game was postponed and then rescheduled for Nov. 24. Thousands of fans dressed in red, white, and blue, and a ceremony honoring the victims and heroes of the attack was held before kickoff. The new playing surface was dedicated to John C. Hoyt, a Grizzly benefactor who died in March 2001.

Second-ranked Montana dominated the game defensively and registered its first shutout since a 46-0 win over Idaho State early in the 1997 season. That was 49 games ago. It was the Grizzlies' first blanking at home since a 43-0 thrashing of Cal Poly in 1996.

Western Washington, one of the top-rated teams in Division II, had scored 77 points the previous week in a 77-0 pounding of NAIA foe Western Montana. The Griz held the Vikings to 181 total yards and 11 first downs and limited them to 44 net yards rushing on 37 attempts.

Senior halfback Yohance Humphrey had a one-yard scoring run in the closing seconds of the first half. It was his 31st career touchdown, tying the school record set by quarterback "Wild" Bill Kelly from 1924-26. Humphrey finished with 105 yards on 19 carries. It was his third straight 100-yard game and the 14th on his career.

Linebacker Matt Steinle led the "D" with 8 tackles. Montana had 11 tackles for losses. Freshman returner Levander Segars debuted with nine punt returns for 122 yards.

GAME 4
at Montana 29, Eastern Washington 26—Double Overtime
September 29, 2001
Washington Grizzly Stadium - 19,198
Weather: 55 Degrees, Cloudy

GAME NOTES: Montana led 23-9 after three quarters, but it took a 20-yard touchdown pass from John Edwards to Etu Molden in the second overtime for the Grizzlies to pull this one out of the proverbial hat against long-time nemesis Eastern Washington.

The Eagles unleashed the “8 ball,” also known as halfback Jesse Chatman, and the quick, powerful back rushed for 56 yards in the final quarter and scored twice, including a 12-yarder which eventually led to a 23-all score at the end of regulation.

Molden drew single coverage on the left side of the field and caught the ball in the back of the north end zone. The touchdown capped a surreal final few minutes and was like deja vu for Griz fans, considering the Griz won five games in the closing minutes of the 2000 season.

An errant snap fooled Montana’s 27-yard field goal attempt in the first overtime. EWU ran the ball three straight times, but kicker Troy Griggs was wide right on the potential game-winner from 36 yards out. Griggs hit a 42-yarder in the second OT to give the Eagles a 26-23 lead.

The game-winner came on a 3-and-5 from the 20, as Edwards floated a perfect pass to Molden and the third-ranked Grizzlies escaped with the victory.

Yohance Humphrey rushed for a career-high 201 yards and scored twice, while Molden had UM’s other two scores. Junior free safety Troy Young had eight tackles, an interception, a forced fumble, a sack, and three pass deflections. UM’s defense forced three turnovers inside the red zone.

Chatman rushed 36 times for 177 yards and all three Eagle touchdowns.

Receiving: UM-Scott Frederick: 6-54.0; Molden: 5-68.2; Humphrey: 5-68.2. EWU-Kyle Randall: 7-118; Lamont Brightful: 5-129.

GAME NOTES: The Grizzlies had a nail-biter at home a couple of weeks earlier in the season against Eastern Washington, but this one wasn't like that. Montana dismantled St. Mary's, a Division I-AA Independent, scoring all 49 of its points in the first half. The Griz scored eight of their nine possessions in the first 30 minutes en route to an unsurmountable 49-12 halftime advantage.

It was the Grizzlies’ Homecoming contest and 19,242 sun-baked fans, the fourth biggest crowd in Washington Grizzly Stadium history, was on hand.

Quarterback Brandon Neill, subbing for fellow junior John Edwards, passed for 281 yards and 5 touchdowns in the first three quarters, and he rushed for 72 yards on eight carries. Neill, a transfer from the University of Wyoming, led the Griz to touchdowns on their first six possessions. His 5 TD passes tied him with five others for the second most scoring passes in a game at UM.

GAME NOTES: When senior strong safety Vince Huntsberger literally took the ball out of the hands of NAU quarterback Preston Parsons and scored from 65 yards out to give Montana a stunning 38-0 lead over the Lumberjacks at their annual “Family Day” game in Flagstaff, this one looked like it was over.

It wasn’t, though, as the Jacks scored 27 unanswered points and took advantage of Griz turnovers.

Quarterback John Edwards returned after a one-week injury hiatus and looked unstoppable in the first half, going 14-of-20 for 199 yards and 3 TDs. The Griz defense forced four NAU turnovers, and the Griz recovered all four, and three of them resulted in touchdowns.

In the final half, the No. 18 Lumberjacks out-gained the Grizzlies 211 to 58 total yards and took advantage of those Grizzly turnovers. NAU’s comeback started when Edwards dropped back to pass and was tackled for a loss, the fumble, and defensive end Inoke Taula scooped up the loose ball and scored. Edwards was 2-of-8-for 17 yards passing in the second half and was picked off twice.

Etu Humphrey picked up some critical first downs for UM in its final couple of possessions of the game. He gained 127 hard-earned yards on 29 carries. Etu Molden had a team-high 6 catches for 63 yards and a TD.

There was a war of words leading up to the game, as NAU offensive lineman Nick Verton told the Arizona Daily Sun following the Jacks’ win at Weber State: “The big thing is we just came in knowing Montana was going to watch our film. We had a big game last year, and we wanted to keep that this is the best line in our conference.”

GAME NOTES: Like last season, this game was expected to be a showdown between two of the Big Sky Conference’s title contenders, but Eту Molden set the tone when he took a screen pass from QB John Edwards and raced 66 yards for a touchdown on Montana's (7-1/4-0 in league) first possession of the game as the Griz defeated visiting Portland State. Last year’s Griz-Viking clash marked the return of halfback Yohance Humphrey, who had not played in a month due to a hamstring pull he suffered early in the Eastern Washington game. Yo rushed for a school-record 37 times and gained a career-high 194 yards in UM’s 33-21 win at PSU in 2000.

Humphrey gained 153 yards on 21 totes in the 2001 meeting with the Vikings, and his 24-yard burst late in the first quarter put the Griz on top 21-7. It was Yo’s seventh 100-yard effort of the season and 18th in his career.

It was arguably Edwards’ best career outing, as he completed 23-of-32 (72%) passes for 270 yards and two TDs. (Last season Edwards also was the winning QB at PSU, subbing for the injured Drew Miller).

Molden was once again impressive, hauling in 10 passes for 142 yards and a score. He also rushed for his first career TD, a 2-yarder which gave the Griz a 31-10 cushion.

Sophomore ends Ciche Pitcher and Tim Bush both had big games. Pitcher had 5 tackles, an interception, a forced fumble and a sack. Bush had three of UM’s six sacks.

Two days after the PSU victory, Montana was voted the No. 1 team in Division I-AA, as Georgia Southern dropped a 19-16 contest to visiting East Tennessee State.

Receiving: UM - Molden: 10-142/1; Spencer Frederick: 6-47/1. PSU - Terry Charles: 8-114/0; Levin: 5-82/1.

GAME NOTES: The No. 1-ranked Griz struggled early in this one, but a momentum-swinging defensive break, the solid play of junior QB Brandon Neill and senior running back Yohance Humphrey, along with the “D,” helped Montana pull this one out against the upset-minded Idaho State Bengals.

Idaho State set the tone early, as it marched 80 yards in seven plays en route to an early 7-0 lead. The Grizz answered on its first drive with a 48-yard field goal by sophomore kicker Chris Snyder. That was to be all of the scoring in the half, however.

Junior QB John Edwards had to leave the game late in the first quarter with a rib injury. It was the second time in 2001 that he’d been knocked out of a game, as he suffered a concussion and neck injury at Sac State on Oct. 6.

After a so-so second quarter, Neill led the offense to a five-play, 69-yard scoring drive on UM’s first possession — he hit Humphery for a 57-yard TD pass to give Montana its first lead.

That lead was short-lived, though, as ISU scored again on a 14-yard TD pass to give Montana its first lead.

Montana (8-1-1) lost for the first time in 2001 after giving up eight unanswered points in the final four minutes.

Humphrey had his eighth 100-yard rushing game of the season, gaining 112 yards on 19 carries. Senior receiver Eту Molden had a TD catch for the sixth game in a row.

GAME NOTES: Senior halfback Yohance Humphrey broke several records, as the Grizzlies defeated the Wildcats to give Montana a record-setting fourth Big Sky Conference championship in a row. It was the Grizzlies’ seventh Big Sky title in nine years and 10th in school history.

The top-ranked Grizzlies improved to 6-0 in the Big Sky and 9-1 overall. Montana has now won 19 consecutive league games and eight games in a row.

The league crown also assured the Griz of their ninth straight trip to the FCS playoffs, a streak that started in 1992.

Humphrey had his eighth 100-yard rushing game of 2001 and 15th of his career. He rushed a school-record 38 times and a school-record 265 yards. He broke the single-game record of 227 yards set by Lees Kent at Portland State in 1969.

That yardage total gave Yo 1,444 for the season, shattering the mark of 1,277 yards that he set in 1999. Humphrey’s 3,680 career yards rank him fifth in conference history.

Junior quarterback Brandon Neill rushed 11 times for 102 yards and a TD and passed for 167 yards. He started his second game of the season (the other start was against St. Mary’s) for injured (ribs) junior QB John Edwards.

Neill’s rushing of the century mark was the first time since 1978 that a Griz QB had rushed for more than 100 yards in a game. In 78, Rocky Kleve was moved from his usual tailback spot to quarterback against intra-state Montana State, and Humphrey since 1978 that a Griz QB had rushed for more than 100 yards in a game. In 78, Rocky Kleve was moved from his usual tailback spot to quarterback against intra-state Montana State, and he gained 119 yards in a 24-8 Griz win.

Junior free safety Trey Young had a team-high 13 tackles, three for losses, along with two sacks and a forced fumble.

GAME NOTES: THE STREAK continued, but the Grizzlies’ 16th win in a row in this 101st match-up was difficult. UM’s ninth straight win of the 2001 season was once again due in a large part to two big plays: a fake field goal and a Bobcat turnover.

Midway through the second quarter the Grizzlies regained the lead when T.J. Oelkers, UM’s holder, raced 19 yards for a touchdown on a fake field goal. It was Oelkers’ first career rushing TD. MSU tied the game 17-all at halftime on a field goal.

The Griz got a break on MSU’s first possession of the second half when junior halfback Ryan Johnson fumbled on the Cat 13-yard line. Four plays later Yohance Humphrey scored on a one-yard run, and Montana took the lead (24-17) for good.

Humphrey rushed 35 times for a hard-earned 101 yards and scored twice.

Junior quarterback John Edwards started his second Griz-Cat game in a row and improved to 2-0 vs. MSU with the win. Edwards was an efficient 13-of-28 for 162 yards and a scoring pass and had a critical one-yard run for UM’s final touchdown.

Montana State out-gained Montana 351 to 297 total yards, but the Grizzlies had almost 11 more minutes of possession time and held the Cats to 3-of-12 on third down conversions.

Yohance Humphrey ended the game quick, scoring on a 25-yard sweep around left end for the winning points. Humphrey’s 4,074 career rushing yards rank him fifth in Big Sky Conference history.

It was a record day for Humphrey, as he broke the career record for points (290) and single-season rushing touchdowns (17). He added to his single-season rushing yards list, finishing the regular-season with 1,658, as well as his career touchdown mark (48).

Molden ended 7th on UM’s career receiving yards list with 2,300, while his 1,145 receiving yards this season are the second most in school history. Edwards threw for a career-high 304 yards.

GAME NOTES:

The last three times these teams have met, it’s come down to the final seconds of the game, and fortunately for Montana, they came out on top. This 1st meeting in this long-standing rivalry – the second oldest for each school, featured all sorts of momentum swings.

Two years ago, when the Vandals won on a last-second field goal, it looked like the Griz would win in the same fashion, but Chris Snyder’s 41-yard field goal was wide left, due in large part to strong, swirling winds, forcing overtime.

The Griz struck first blood in overtime, as Etu Molden caught a fade pass in the right side of the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown. Trading points and facing a 4th-and-14 from the 19, Idaho QB John Welsh found Etu Jones in the right side of the end zone, and he made an improbable catch between two Griz defenders. Brian Pope’s PAT knotted it at 27-27.

Idaho had the first possession in the second OT, but Pope missed a 30-yard field goal attempt, which meant Montana just had to score in any fashion for the win.

Lavrond Segars started UM on the NSU 39. This time it took five plays, as quarterback Brandon Neill connected with wide receiver T.J. Oelkers for an 11-yard scoring pass. Chris Snyder’s PAT gave Montana a 14-13 lead, and the Griz never trailed again.

Montana scored its 21st unanswered point early in the fourth stanza when John Edwards hit Humphrey on a 44-yard touchdown pass. Edwards had left the game in the first half after suffering an injury. The Demons cut the lead to 21-19 on a 35-yard touchdown run by Clinton Roy.

Griz linebacker Matt Steinau forced a fumble after a catch by Fred Harrison, and it was recovered by sophomore D.C. Pitcher in the end zone for a TD, giving Montana some breathing room. Pitcher had 9 tackles, four sacks, two forced fumbles, and the fumble recovery for a TD.

GAME NOTES:

In this tight contest the first and second halves were like two different games, but fortunately for Montana, the second half belonged to the Grizzlies, as they defeated a good Northwestern State Demons team to advance to an I-AA quarterfinal game for the sixth time.

For the first time at home this season, Montana trailed at halftime. The Demons’ 13-0 lead at intermission looked almost insurmountable to the 17,289 Griz faithful, as UM was out-gained 230 to 137 in total yards and completed just five passes.

But, after a 38-yard kickoff return by freshman Jefferson Heidelberger, Montana started on the NSU 45-yard line, and eight plays later Yohance Humphrey scored on a 12-yard run, and the Griz were finally on the board. Humphrey’s 120 rush yards was the 12th time he’s reached the century mark this season and the 23rd in his career.

The Demons went three-and-out on their next possession, and a punt return of 37 yards from fresh...

GAME NOTES: Griz quarterback John Edwards rebounded from a lackluster performance from a week earlier, as the Griz blitzed the visiting Northern Iowa Panthers 38-0.

It was the 13th straight win for Montana, which is making its second consecutive trip to the I-AA title game. It was just Montana's second shutout in 27 playoff games. (The Griz defeated Georgia Southern 45-0 in Missoula in a 1995 quarterfinal game.)

Edwards, who rushed for 94 yards on nine carries in the first half, scored on touchdown runs of 12 and 6 yards in the first quarter, to give Montana a 17-0 lead.

The Griz roared to a 31-0 halftime lead on an 18-yard end-around scoring run by T.J. Oelkers and an 8-yard TD run by Humphery.

The game was marred by many UNI personal foul penalties. Panther star receiver Jake Soliday was ejected just before halftime after he punched Montana sophomore safety Dave DeCote below the belt after an incomplete pass in the Grizzly end zone.

UNI starting junior quarterback Griff Jurgens injured a knee early in the second quarter and was replaced by freshman QB Tom Petrie.

Humphrey gained 142 yards for his 13th 100-yard rushing game of the season. Last week Yo was held to a season-low 39 yards rushing in a quarterfinal win over Sam Houston State.

Montana rushed 48 times for 283 yards and 5 TDs. It was their second highest rushing total of the season, as they had 377 yards on 54 carries in a win over Weber State on Nov. 10.

I-AA NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

GAME NOTES: Senior halfback Yohance Humphery capped his illustrious career off with a 142-yard rushing effort on 30 carries and scored the Grizzlies' only touchdown as No. 1-ranked and top-seeded Montana captured its second I-AA championship with a 13-6 decision over No. 4 Furman (12-3).

It was Humphery's 14th 100-yard rushing game of the season.

Junior QB John Edwards was instrumental in UM's 16-play, 99-yard game-winning scoring march in the second quarter. Humphery gained 37 yards on seven carries on the drive, while Edwards picked up 22 yards on the ground and was 4-of-5 passing for 34 yards. Furman forced UM to attempt a field goal in the drive, but was called for an offside, and two plays later Humphery scored.

It was also another Herculean effort by UM's defense, which was just seconds away from registering the first shutout ever in this, the 24th I-AA title game. Just a week earlier the Griz had blanked visiting Northern Iowa 38-0 in a semi-final game.

This contest was like night-and-day compared to Montana's 22-20 nail-biting win in the 1995 championship game over host Marshall.

The Griz defense dominated the Paladins, forcing three turnovers, and held the Paladins to just 121 rushing yards, 124 under their season average. Furman, which averaged 33.6 points a game, didn't score until the final play of the game, when junior quarterback Billy Napier threw a Hail Mary pass that was batted down by Griz senior safety Vince Huntsberger, and James Thomas grabbed the ball and raced along the right sideline for a meaningless TD.

It was the 14th straight win for the Griz, which have gone 28-3 and 15-0 in the Big Sky Conference the last two seasons, advancing to the I-AA championship game in 2000 and 2001.

Rushing: UM-Humphery: 30-142/1; John Edwards: 11-32/0. FU-Eric Emerson: 7-34/0; Louis Ivory: 12-33/0; Napier: 12-30/0. Passing: UM-Edwards: 18x28-0=124/0. FU-Napier: 10x26-2=172/1.

2001 National Champs
Griz Have Had Nine Straight Playoff Appearances

The University of Montana Grizzlies again proved why they were one of NCAA Division I-AA's premier programs, as they won their second national championship in 2001 with a 13-6 defensive gem over Furman University in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Last season Montana won a school-record 15 games, going 15-1 overall and a perfect 7-0 in the Big Sky Conference. The past two seasons UM has gone 28-3 overall and 15-0 in league.

"We inherited a great program," said Griz Head Coach Joe Glenn. "You look at all of the things that we have -- the support from our crowd and from our administration. When you can get ship in the past seven seasons. In the last eight seasons, the Griz have won six league titles and finished second the other two years.

Montana began last season ranked second in the nation by The Sports Network, and moved to first nine weeks into the season, ending up there after garnering the title. The Grizzlies' final No. 1 ranking in 2001 was its best ever. UM's previous high was a second-place ranking in 1996, following a 14-1 season.

Over the past nine seasons Montana has been ranked in The Sports Network's top 25 for 125 of the past 128 weeks.

18,000-19,000 people at a game, who love to compete, as Grizzles, against the other team, it makes it hard to come here and win. The program is strong."

The 2001 season was Montana's 16th winning season in a row and the ninth straight season the Griz have advanced to the I-AA playoffs.

The Griz have been a dominant team in the new millennium, winning the national title last year and playing for the championship in 2000 (a 27-25 loss to Georgia Southern).

Montana's 2001 Big Sky title was its sixth league champion-

THE ROAD TO THE 2001 CHAMPIONSHIP

Montana began the year with three non-league opponents, starting with a 31-17 lackluster win at Cal Poly. The Griz took an early lead over I-A Hawaii, but lost 30-12. It proved to be the only setback of the season. Following the events of 9-1-1, a game with Idaho was postponed, and two weeks later UM had an emotional 30-0 blanking of Western Washington in its home debut.

The Big Sky opener against Eastern Washington was a draining double-overtime affair, as QB John Edwards hit Etu Molden for a 20-yard touchdown pass for a 29-26 Griz win.
Griz in the NCAA

Edwards, Molden, record-setting halfback Yohance Humphery, the Griz D, and the team’s 12 seniors carried out the year’s theme “Unfinished Business” for the rest of the 2001 season.

Montana cruised with wins at Sac State (42-7), over St. Mary’s (49-19), at Northern Arizona (38-27), and versus Portland State (33-13). The Griz had led NAU 38-0 early in the third quarter, but the Jack scored 27 unanswered points to make that game interesting.

Down late in the third quarter, UM salvaged the season by outscoring host Idaho State 14-0 in the final quarter to pull out a 32-28 win.

Homestanding Montana won its 19th Big Sky game in a row with a 38-23 win over Weber State. The victory also gave the Griz their fourth consecutive league title.

Next the Griz racked up their 16th straight win over intra-state rival Montana State in a hard-fought 38-27 decision in Bozeman. The regular-season ended with a 33-27 double-overtime, heart-stopping win over Idaho on a 25-yard run by Humphery.

The opener in the 2001 playoffs proved to be a litmus test for the Griz, as they had to overcome a 13-0 halftime deficit, but came back to beat visiting Northwestern State (of Louisiana) 28-19.

Edwards led his team to five touchdowns in their first six possessions and the defense forced six turnovers which resulted in a 49-24 quarterfinal win over visiting Sam Houston State.

UM had its third shutout in 27 playoff games with a 38-0 blanking of Northern Iowa in the semis, earning its fourth trip to the title contest in seven years.

In Chattanooga, the Grizzlies were just one play away from the first shutout in 24 I-AA championship games, registering a 13-6 victory over Furman University.

2000: GRIZ FALL SHORT ON 2ND TITLE BID

When Glenn took over at Montana, the Griz faithful expected league titles and trips to the I-AA championship game. Glenn and his team got off to an an ominous start, though, as they suffered a 10-9 rare opening-season home loss to Hofstra.

“It’s tough from the expectations standpoint, but you wouldn’t want it any other way,” Glenn said. “It beats the opposite, and we have big expectations of ourselves too.”

After the setback to Hofstra it looked as though an 0-2 start for the first time in 15 years was feasible, as long-time foe Idaho was up next. But, senior quarterback Drew Miller passed for a career-best 505 yards, and senior Jimmy Farris made a miraculous, one-handed catch in the closing seconds for a dramatic 45-38 win over the Vandals.

That win over Idaho (in Pullman) was followed by a convincing 53-3 win over visiting Cal Poly. A week later the Griz were hit with numerous injuries but beat Eastern Washington 41-31 victory in Spokane.

In Homecoming 2000 against Sacramento State, Griz cornerback Damon Parker picked off an errant Hornet lateral and returned it 40 yards for the winning touchdown for an improbable 24-20 win.

Miller, plagued with injuries throughout the season, was knocked out of the Northridge contest, but enter Edwards, who scored late on a one-yard run, and UM pulled out a 34-30 win.

Next was a 17-7 victory over Northern Arizona, which guaranteed Montana its 15th straight winning season. A week late came a crucial 33-21 win over Portland State in Hillsboro, as Humphery returned from a leg injury that he suffered against EWU and gained 194 yards on 37 carries.

Montana beat Idaho State 38-21 next as senior end Andy Petek’s registered his school-record 15th sack of the season. At Weber State, Montana dominated the game statistically, but two WSU kickoff returns for TDs made this one close (UM, 30-28).

The 100th Griz-Cat intra-state showdown was marred by penalties, but Montana’s 28-3 win gave the Griz the conference title and automatic playoff berth.

The Grizzlies’ third trip to the I-AA championship opened with a 45-13 win over visiting Eastern Illinois. A quarterfinal home contest against run-oriented Richmond (Virginia) turned into a second half defensive struggle, but Montana prevailed 34-20. Against scrappy Appalachian State it took another Miller to Farris hook-up, this time in overtime, to give the Griz a shot at the crown.

Soon after a 27-25 championship loss to Georgia Southern, Montana began focusing on a return trip to Chattanooga.

12 TRIPS TO THE PLAYOFFS

Montana has now participated in 12 Division I-AA playoffs in nine consecutive years, 1993 to 2001. In ’93 UM suffered a last-second, 49-48 first-round home loss to Delaware.

That letdown turned to elation in ’94, when the Grizzlies squeaked by Northern Iowa 23-20 and then beat McNeese State on Andy Larson’s last-second field goal (30-28).

All-American quarterback Dave Dickerson was injured early in the McNeese win ’94, a factor in a subsequent 28-9 loss at Youngstown State in the semi-finals.

But, Montana was close to reaching the pinnacle of I-AA, and they reached it a year later.

The Grizzlies won the national championship in 1995 with a last-second, come-from-behind victory (22-20) over host Marshall. UM had returned just 12 starters in 1995, but looked like a team of destiny.
"Dicky," passed for 1,219 yards and 11 touchdowns in UM's first three playoff wins in '95, and the Griz out-scored their opponents 163-14.

In the title game at Marshall, despite an injury to his (right) passing shoulder, Dickenson orchestrated a 12-play, 72-yard scoring drive. That drive culminated with a 25-yard field goal by Larson with 39 seconds left as Montana eked out the win in a hostile setting.

With Dickenson gone to the CFL and 10-year head coach Don Read's surprising retirement, the Griz did not have a letdown in 1996 — far from it. Montana reeled off 14 straight wins and advanced to the title game again at Marshall. This time I-A transfers Eric Kresser and Randy Moss prevailed, Marshall winning 49-29.

It was the first time in playoff history that two 14-0 teams had squared off for the national crown.

The Griz had a winning drought in the playoffs from 1997-99. In 1997 host McNeese State revenged its 1994 playoff loss at Montana with a 19-14 come-from-behind victory. In '98 Montana suffered its worst playoff loss in history, losing 52-9 at Western Illinois. In a first-round 1999 playoff game in Missoula, the Griz hosted the Youngstown State Penguins, YSU eking out a 30-27 victory. That setback to the Penguins was Montana's third first-round playoff loss in a row.

In 1999, Montana made its seventh consecutive appearance in the playoffs, setting (since extended to nine by UM) a Big Sky record. The old mark of six straight was set by Idaho from 1985-90.

About a week after the YSU loss, Head Coach Mick Dennehy left UM to become the mentor at Utah State. On December 6, 1999, Joe Glenn was introduced as Montana's 32nd head coach.

Prior to its current nine-year run in the playoffs, Montana had been in the playoffs three times. Its first playoff game was in 1982, a 21-7 loss at Idaho. The second came was six years later, in 1988, the Griz once again traveling to Idaho, losing 38-19.

The 1989 was a watermark season, as the Grizzlies hosted their first ever playoff game, beating Jackson State 48-7. A week later the Griz hosted Eastern Illinois, winning 25-19. Montana played a eventual national champion Georgia Southern in Statesboro in a semi-final game, losing 45-15.

The 2002-2003 athletic season marks the 40th year of the Big Sky Conference and, although still youthful in the world of NCAA Division I athletic conferences, The Sky has solidified itself as one of the strongest leagues in the West as well as the nation.

With its roots established in 1963, the Big Sky Conference began with six charter members: The University of Idaho, Idaho State University, Gonzaga University, The University of Montana, Montana State University and Weber State University.

On July 1, 1970, the league experienced its first expansion, adding Boise State University and Northern Arizona University to the fold to create an eight-member league. On July 1, 1979, charter member Gonzaga left the league and was replaced by the University of Nevada. In 1987, Eastern Washington was admitted to the league to create the first version of a nine-member Big Sky Conference. The University of Nevada's departure in 1992 moved the league to eight members until July 1, 1996 when both Boise State and Idaho left the Big Sky, but the three additional institutions moved the league into a nine-member scenario for the second time.

Cal State Northridge entered the conference in 1996 and left it in the spring of 2001.

The Big Sky conference sponsors championships in 15 sports, including men's and women's cross country, golf, basketball, tennis, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, in addition to football, women's volleyball and soccer. The Big Sky is a NCAA Division I member in all sports, with member institutions classified as I-AA in football.

The 2001-2002 athletic season marks the 13th year in which the Big Conference will sponsor championships in women's sports. Thirteen years ago the Big Sky Conference merged with the Mountain West Athletic Conference, forming one league for both men's and women's athletics. The Mountain West had been in existence since 1982, sponsoring championships for women's athletics at the same institutions the Big Sky had sponsored men's programs.

The eight Big Sky Conference member institutions are located in seven states that span from the Pacific Ocean to the Rocky Mountains and from the Canadian to the Mexican borders. The entire west coast is now represented by the Big Sky with members in Washington, Oregon and California, and of the eight western-most states in the contiguous United States, only one (Nevada) does not contain a Big Sky member. League members can be found in Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Utah.

The name BIG SKY originated in a novel written in 1947 by the late A.B. (Bud) Guthrie of Great Falls, Mont., entitled The Big Sky. Jack Hallowell, former Montana advertising director, promoted the Big Sky theme for the Treasure State, and Harry Missildine of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review called for the newly formed league to be named "The Big Sky Conference" in his column dated Feb. 20, 1963. Five days later, on Feb. 25, the name Big Sky was adopted by the six presidents of the newly formed league.

On July 1, 1995, Doug Fullerton became the fifth commissioner of the Big Sky Conference. Fullerton replaced longtime commissioner Ron Stephenson, who retired after 14 years in the position. The first commissioner of the Big Sky was Jack Friel, who served from the league's inception until 1971. After Friel, John Roning directed the conference for six years until 1977 when Steve Belko assumed the commissioner's role. Belko was with the league for five years.

2002 MONTANA FOOTBALL
Missoula, Montana

Birthplace and hometown of author Norman McLean, who wrote A River Runs Through It, Missoula is also known as the “Garden City” for its dense trees and lush green landscape. Missoula is nestled in the heart of the Northern Rockies in western Montana. A community of approximately 66,000 residents, Missoula lies in a mountain forest setting where five valleys converge. Missoula is Montana's most culturally diverse city. It is 140 miles from Glacier National Park and 270 miles from Yellowstone National Park.

The search for gold in the West and the completion of the Mullan Road, which opened up travel from Fort Benton, Mont., to Walla Walla, Wash., brought people to the valley in 1860. Missoula began as a settlement called Hell Gate when C.P. Higgins and Francis Worden began a trading post to accommodate the travelers. The settlement was later renamed Missoula, taken from a Salish Flathead Indian word, Imisuletitiku, “At the stream or water of surprise.” (Missoula, the Way It Was, Lenora Koelbe, 1972).

Early settlers constructed Fort Missoula in 1877 to combat the perceived threat by Native American tribes. Today the Fort Missoula Museum remains a testament to the West. Missoula offers a variety of recreational opportunities. Three major rivers run through the area: the famous Blackfoot River to the northeast, the beautiful Bitterroot River to the south, and the Clark Fork of the Columbia River, which flows adjacent to The University of Montana campus. Rock Creek, known for its blue ribbon trout fishing, is just a 20-minute drive from Missoula.

Fly fisherman, rafters, kayakers, and canoers thrive on the waters of western Montana. Flathead Lake, the largest natural freshwater lake in the western United States, is just 70 miles north of Missoula. Seeley Lake, Georgetown Lake, Placid Lake and Salmon Lake are an hour away.

Hiking, biking, camping, rock climbing, and hang gliding are a few activities enjoyed in western Montana. Mount Sentinel, Mount Jumbo, Lolo Peak, and Blue Mountain offer beautiful vistas. Blue Mountain Recreation Area, Pattee Canyon Recreation Area, and the Rattlesnake National Wilderness Area are nearby. The Bitterroot-Selway Wilderness Area, Bob Marshall Wilderness Area, the Mission Mountains, and the Seeley-Swan Range are a short drive from Missoula.

Missoula abounds with skiing opportunities. Snowbowl Ski Area is a 20-minute drive from downtown Missoula and features a continuous vertical drop of 2,600 feet, one of the steepest in the country. Marshall Ski Area, a short 10-minute drive from downtown, features night skiing and offers a good student program. Big Mountain, Discovery, Lookout, Lost Trail, and Silver Mountain ski areas, all within close proximity to western Montana, provide a variety of options for skiers.

Other area attractions include “A Carousel for Missoula” (one of the first fully hand-carved carousels to be built in America since the Great Depression), Garnet Ghost Town, the National Bison Range, the Ninemile Remount Depot and Ranger Station, the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation Wildlife Visitor Center, and the Smokejumper Visitor Center.

Missoula Parks and Recreation and the YMCA provide a variety of recreational opportunities in basketball, soccer, softball, tennis, volleyball, and ice skating. Little League baseball is popular for both boys and girls, and Missoula teams have consistently advanced to regional competition.

Missoula also serves as a center for education, health care, retail, and the arts. The University of Montana provides educational opportunities for more than 12,000 college students, and Missoula’s five high schools are among the state’s best in both academics and athletics. Community Medical Center and St. Patrick Hospital, along with many clinics, make Missoula one of the state’s premier health care communities.

The Missoula community supports the arts in all its forms: theater productions, dance, art, and music. The Missoula Children’s Theatre, founded in 1970, has recently moved into a newly renovated building near campus and produces plays and musicals by national and local playwrights for both adults and children. The theater also has an International Tour Project, taking theatrical productions to audiences outside the Missoula area. The Garden City Ballet and Missoula Symphony, which is in its 50th season, bring performances and concerts to the community year round. The Art Museum of Missoula, located in the old Carnegie Library in downtown Missoula, sponsors changing exhibits and also has a permanent collection that focuses on Western contemporary art.

One of the most desirable places to live in the United States, western Montana has become an attractive residence for those looking for pristine beauty and serenity. Even some of America’s famous people, such as Liz Claiborne, Tom Cruise, Emilio Estevez, Phil Jackson, and Charlie Sheen, have made western Montana their home. American Heritage Magazine selected Missoula as the 1999 Great American Place, and Sunset Magazine selected Missoula as the “Best Community” in the West in 1999, and, according to the September 2001 issue of Outside Magazine, Missoula was selected as one of 10 “dream towns” in America.

Missoula is easily accessible by either Interstate 90 from the east and west or by Highway 93 to the north and south. Missoula International Airport has a number of flights daily in and out of Missoula by the major airlines Delta, Northwest, United, and Horizon. Big Sky Airlines also lands in Missoula several times a day. It serves throughout Montana, Spokane, Wash., North Dakota and Denver.

Glacier National Park is located 140 miles north of Missoula.
The University of Montana offers 14 intercollegiate athletic programs for student-athletes in football, men's and women's basketball, women's volleyball, soccer and golf, men's and women's cross country, tennis, and both indoor and outdoor track & field.

Montana is a charter (1963) member of the Big Sky Conference, which consists of eight teams: Cal State-Sacramento, Eastern Washington, Idaho State, Montana, Montana State, Northern Arizona, Portland State and Weber State.

The Montana Grizzlies have always been a force to reckon with, particularly in the revenue sports. The Grizzly football team has had unprecedented success in the 1990s and early 2000's, winning the NCAA Division I-AA National Football Championship title in 1995 and 2001, and advancing to the title game in 1996 and 2000.

Montana's gridironers have registered 16 winning seasons in a row, and set a Big Sky record by making their ninth straight appearance in the playoffs in 2001.

The Griz had 19 players named to the All-Big Sky team in 2001, and senior safety Vince Huntsberger was named the MVP on defense. Montana had eight different players named to All-American teams last season.

The Grizzly basketball team has posted 23 winning seasons in the past 25 years. Guard David Bell was a first team all-conference selection following the 2001-2002 season, while forward Dan Trammel was an honorable mention pick for the second year in a row.

Montana won the Big Sky's post-season tournament in Bozeman last season, beating Eastern Washington 70-66 in the title game and advancing to the NCAA tournament for the fifth time in school history, losing 81-62 to Oregon in a first round game played in Sacramento, California's ARCO Arena.

Lady Griz head coach Robin Selvig (UM 1974), who played hoops for the Griz, has a 24-year record of 555-156. In 1999-2000 he became the seventh coach in NCAA Division I women's basketball to win 500 games at one school.

Last season senior guard Cheryl Keller and freshman center Hollie Tyler were named to the all-conference first team, while Tyler was named Freshman of the Year.

The Lady Griz basketball team was ranked 24th in the nation in attendance in 2001-02 with an average of 3,468 fans and has been among the top 20 for 17 of the past 18 years. The Lady Griz basketball team recorded their 20th 20-win season in the past 22 years in 2000-01, going 21-9. They have won 14 Big Sky titles and advanced to the NCAA tournament 14 times.

The 2001 Griz volleyball team of second-year head coach Nikki Best was decimated with injuries. Last year sophomore outside hitter Lizzie Wertz was an honorable mention all-conference pick. Montana has advanced to the Big Sky Championships 11 times in the 15-year history of the tournament.

UM's women's soccer team has gone 101-47-4 since head coach Betsy Duerksen took over the inaugural program eight seasons ago.

Last season defenders Kerri Houck and Elisa Scherb were chosen first team all-conference, along with midfielders Nikki Bolstad and Liz Roberts. Midfielder McKenzie Zajonc was tabbed the league's "Defensive MVP."

In 2000, Montana's women's soccer team advanced to the NCAA Championships and made it to the second round before losing to second-seed Washington in Seattle.

Coach Kris Nord led the men's and women's tennis teams to the 2002 Big Sky Championships, where they faced tough competition. Freshman Lindsey Torgerson was an honorable mention all-league selection last season.

Montana's women's golf coach, Joanne Steele, has consistently put together competitive teams for the past six years. This past year the Lady Griz placed second in the Big Sky championships, their highest finish ever. Montana sophomore Katie Jacobson won the individual title, also a first for the Griz.

The Grizzly cross country women's and men's teams both finished fourth at the conference championships last season.

The Griz track and field teams had a solid 2002 season, with coach Tom Raunig and his assistants sending 39 athletes to the Big Sky outdoor championships, which was hosted by Montana. The men's team had a lofty second-place finish, while the women's squad finished fourth.

For the second year in a row Adam Bork earned All-America honors at the outdoor championships by placing sixth in the decathlon and is UM's fourth All-America decathlete in five years. Junior Scott McGowan earned All-America honors in the 1500 meters, after earning All-America honors in the mile during the indoor season.

Athletic facilities at Montana have improved dramatically over the last few years. One of those improvements was a $14.3 million renovation to the field house, which created Adams Center. The Adams Center features two new auxiliary gyms, a major facelift for Dahlberg Arena, a new weight center, an athletic training center, locker rooms, and an academic center for student-athletes.

Washington Grizzly football stadium was completed in 1986 and can accommodate a total of 19,005 fans. The natural-grass stadium gave way to SprinTurf for the 2001 season. A million dollars was given by an anonymous donor for the new playing surface, which is named "John Hoyt Field."

Dornblaser Stadium, located on the UM south campus, recently went through a complete refurbishing and is now one of the nicest outdoor track facilities in the conference.

UM's South Campus Soccer Stadium was completed in 1996 and features a fully fenced venue, scoreboard, remodeled locker rooms, and seating for 1,000.

The University also has its own golf course, several soccer fields, and a newly remodeled swimming pool.

A renovated state-of-the-art campus recreation facility, which is adjacent to Adams Center, opened in the fall of 2001. It features racquetball and basketball courts, aerobic/cardio-vascular workout rooms, expanded weight room, locker rooms, a climbing wall, and a juice bar. The facility is located on four floors.

Grizzly athletes receive outstanding support services in the areas of academics, athletic treatment, equipment, financial aid, and sports information.
The University of Montana has had 28 Rhodes Scholars. UM ranks 15th among American colleges and universities in the number of Rhodes Scholars it has produced, fifth among public universities.

UM’s School of Education graduates compete very successfully for jobs. A high percentage of those with bachelor’s degrees and graduate degrees find teaching, administrative and other education-related positions in Montana and many other states.

The Department of Social Work is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education, making UM the only Montana public school that prepares its graduates to apply for advanced standing in graduate schools of social work.

The Department of Drama/Dance has a professional theater group—the Montana Repertory Theater-based on campus. The Rep, which tours throughout the nation, is the only touring professional actors’ equity company between Minneapolis and Seattle.

KUFM, a non-commercial public radio station operated by the UM Broadcast Media Center, reaches an estimated 400,000 Montanans in central and western Montana. KUFM-TV is a non-commercial public television station also operated by the Broadcast Media Center. KBGA Radio is a student-run campus radio station.

Nine UM students have received Truman Scholarships. The national scholarship is given annually to students committed to a government career who have superior academic ability and leadership potential.

The Department of Anthropology has the largest collection of artifacts and records of prehistory in the region.

UM’s Museum of Art and Culture has the largest art collection in the state.

The School of Business is the only business school in Montana to be accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business at the graduate level. UM accounting students rank number one in the nation in passing the CPA exam on the first attempt.

The Department of Geology has a strong nationally known program in traditional geology and environmental geoscience.

The Department of Geography has one of the Northwest’s best cartography laboratories, where students learn to make maps and interpret aerial photography.

The Flathead Lake Biological Station, located about 80 miles north of Missoula, is the oldest biological station west of the Mississippi. The UM research station is one of the finest facilities in the country for ecological studies and freshwater research.

The Department of Health and Human Performance is one of the Northwest’s best programs in kinesiology and related exercise science.

The School of Journalism has had seven Pulitzer Prize winners. UM journalism student Bruce Ely was named College Photographer of the Year in the 1998 national competition for the Hearst Journalism Awards Program.

UM’s graduate creative writing program, started in 1919 by H.G. Merriam, is the second oldest program of its kind in the country and is consistently ranked among the top-10 programs nationwide. Well-known Montana writer and poet James Welch is a graduate of the program.

A significant sign of UM’s commitment to academics was initiated in 1993 when former faculty athletic representative Dr. Robert O. Lindsay developed a program at UM to honor student athletes who excel in the classroom. Since then, UM has recognized student athletes who earn a 3.0 grade point average or higher at the annual Lindsay Academic Awards Dinner.

Last year a record 140 student-athletes were recognized at the awards function, including 45 from the Griz football team.

Following the 2001 season, Vince Huntsberger received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship. Huntsberger was also named a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete, joining fellow gridders Dave Dickerson (1995) and Josh Branen (1997) in that elite group.

In 2001, for the third season in a row, Huntsberger was named a Verizon Division I first team academic All-American. Sophomore defensive end Ciche Pitcher was a second team selection. Last season Huntsberger, Pitcher, and wide receiver Dane Oliver were named to the All-District VII Academic team.

Two years ago, football player Matt Thuesen and Huntsberger were chosen to the Verizon Academic All-American first team.

The Big Sky has had 47 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship selections since 1965, and of those players, 13 have been Grizzlies. Thuesen received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship two years ago.

Since 1970 the Big Sky has had players named to the Academic All-America first or second teams 72 times, and during that time 18 different Montana players have been selected 29 times (44 percent).

NOTE: Montana had the most Division I Academic All-Americans (4) in 1988.
The University of Montana Alumni Association serves the needs of more than 80,000 alumni and friends. Our motto, “Get Involved... Stay Involved,” reflects the loyalty and support our programs and their participants enjoy.

“The University of Montana Alumni Association was founded in 1901. We celebrate the accomplishments of our scientists, teachers, professors, business leaders, diplomats, parents, spouses, brothers, sisters and athletes. Grizzly Football is a very positive way to showcase our University. I hope that you enjoy all that Coach Glenn, his coaches, and the team have to offer. In a very similar way, we are proud to recognize our former students, some of whom are highlighted in this press guide.”

Athletics Director Wayne Hogan

Montana Athletic Director Wayne Hogan, who is beginning his seventh year at the helm, has indoctrinated Griz fans to the constant hum of progress and a well-documented desire for success. Wayne has been called the “champion of change,” and he has been undeterred in leading the Grizzly program to levels of greatness never imagined by Grizzly faithful as recently as 15 years ago. This year nearly 13,000 season tickets will again be sold providing a complete pre-season sellout of Washington Grizzly Stadium for the second straight season.

The 46-year-old native Floridian has an association with intercollegiate athletics for more than 25 years, Hogan has known nothing but victories and championships. Hogan’s six-year stint has included two football National Championships and a myriad of conference titles and NCAA appearances. He solidified his commitment to Montana and 1-AA Football by accepting a four-year appointment to the powerful eight-member NCAA 1-AA Football Committee in 2000. Meanwhile, physical improvements and additions to the athletic facilities at Montana have been all-encompassing since his arrival.

Hogan’s career spans over two decades, including a 20-year association with Florida State University, his alma mater. He played an integral role in that program’s rise from relative mediocrity in the 1970’s to one of the nation’s premier athletic programs today. In true “rags-to-riches” form, Hogan’s first job at FSU was that of an unpaid student intern in 1974. Twenty years later he became the school’s interim Athletic Director, overseeing 15 sports and a $28 million budget. During his time in Tallahassee the Seminoles won an incredible 190 football games, 14 of 16 bowl games and a National Championship in 1993. The basketball program reached the Sweet 16 and the Elite Eight in successive years and Hogan was instrumental in the school’s acceptance into the prestigious Atlantic Coast Conference.

Since his arrival in Missoula, the success of the football program has reached new heights. Three different head coaches — two of whom were hired by Hogan — have led the Grizzlies to an incredible 73-15 record since his arrival at mid-season in 1995. Four times the Grizzlies have appeared in the 1-AA National Championship game, bringing home titles in 1995 and 2001. Hogan counts six Big Sky Conference football championships and Grizzly teams have been in the 1-AA playoffs every year. Other sports have flourished as well. On two occasions, 1996 and 1999, UM won conference championships in football and men’s and women’s basketball. A sweep of the “big three” in a single year had never been accomplished in league history.

Hogan oversees a football game experience that is perhaps as enjoyable as any in college sports. Grizzly football games are one of the biggest shows in Montana in the fall, with many fans driving in from miles around to enjoy the excitement of a Griz Football weekend. Those who can’t make the games are treated to the Grizzlies via television and radio as Hogan has negotiated the most comprehensive media package in the school’s history. Every Grizzly football game, home and away, is televised statewide and the radio network reaches every corner of this massive state.

This year UM’s program will generate nearly $5 million from its own sources — a figure unheard of for a 1-AA institution and more than twice as high as any other school in the Big Sky Conference. This figure also translates into fewer general fund dollars being expended on athletics, leaving a bigger pool for other University priorities. Those numbers back up President George Dennison’s declaration that Hogan presides over “the most efficient 1-AA program in America.” With the program’s success, Grizzly sports infuse nearly $40 million annually into the local economy.

Prior to 1995, outright gifts to athletics at UM for more than $10,000 were virtually nonexistent. By comparison, in just the last 24 months individual benefactors have provided: a gift of $1 million for synthetic turf (Griz Grass) and other improvements at Washington-Grizzly Stadium; a gift from the late John C. Hoyt of $650,000 for completion of the athletic offices that bear his name; a donation of more than $500,000 from Mark and Anne Timmons of Missoula for a complete overhaul of the Dornblaser Track complex; and a collective gift approaching $300,000 raised by the National Advisory Board for Grizzly Athletics to design and construct the Hall of Champions, a display of Grizzly memorabilia and history to adorn the south concourse at Adams Center. This unique advisory board was also Hogan’s brainchild, bringing together more than 30 highly-successful businessmen and women from across the United States for the purpose of enhancing Grizzly athletics and re-connecting alumni, former athletes and friends to the University.

Hogan’s personnel moves have also been highly visible. Early on, he was saddled with the responsibility to replace the legendary Don Read as head football coach. His choice of Mick Dennehy proved to be on target as the Grizzly program continued its Big Sky dominance and its 1-AA playoff run. When Dennehy left for Utah State in 2000, Hogan plucked Joe Glenn, a two-time National Champion at Division II Northern Colorado. Glenn, quite simply, was the perfect fit for UM. His 28-3 start and back-to-back title game trips say it all. Hogan has also added popular track coach Tom Raunig, whose team has returned Montana to the top of the Big Sky heap after a lengthy hiatus. Nikki Best, top recruiter and assistant coach at powerhouse Nebraska, also jumped on Hogan’s team as volleyball coach. Most recently, Hogan coerced Pat Kennedy, a winner of nearly 400 Division I basketball games at Iona, Florida State and Depaul to take up residency at Montana — a move that shook the basketball world and put Montana squarely in the national basketball spotlight. Kennedy is the most successful men’s basketball coach ever to work in the Big Sky Conference.

Hogan’s path to Montana is an interesting one. He received a Bachelor’s Degree in Communication from Florida State in 1979 and then worked for two minor league baseball teams as a broadcaster and public relations specialist. He spent one year in Charleston, W.Va., with the Houston Astros AAA farm club before moving to Albuquerque and a stint with the Los Angeles Dodgers Triple A affiliate. While in Albuquerque, Hogan was coaxed back into college athletics, becoming the assistant sports information and marketing director at the University of New Mexico. He returned to Florida State in 1982 as the school’s sports information director. Hogan was promoted to athletic director in 1992 and became the interim athletic director for the 1994-95 year.

In Missoula, Hogan has been active and serves on the Convention and Visitor’s Bureau Board as well as the executive board of the Missoula Rotary Club. Wayne is married to the former Dawn Dewberry of Treasure Island, Fla., and they have three children: Lindsay, Kelly and J.P., a sixth-grader at Meadow Hill School.
President George Dennison

George Dennison, the 16th president of The University of Montana, begins his 13th year at the University. He served on the NCAA Division I Board of Directors from 1997-2000, and chaired the Big Sky Conference Presidents' Council in 1992-93.

Dennison came to UM from Kalamazoo, Mich., where he served as the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs of Western Michigan University from 1987-90. In earlier years, he spent time at the universities of Arkansas and Washington prior to 18 years at Colorado State University in Fort Collins.

At Colorado State, he started as a history professor then served in numerous other positions. He simultaneously held the positions of Associate Dean of the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences and Associate Dean of the Graduate School for International Development Studies. He also served as Acting Academic Vice President, Associate Academic Vice President and Director of Admissions and Records.

An historian by training, Dennison received his bachelor's degree with high honors in history from UM in 1962. He received his master's degree from UM in 1963, then earned his Ph.D. in history from the University of Washington in 1967. He has written numerous publications and made several professional presentations in both history and higher education.

Dennison serves on several boards. He chairs the Montana Commission on Community Service and serves on the Board of the International Heart Institute of Montana, the Community Medical Center Advisory Committee, the Campus Compact Executive Committee, the Board of Directors of the International Student Exchange Program, and the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Foundation.

George and his wife Jane have two sons, Rick and Robert. Rick played college football at Colorado State then joined the Denver Broncos. He played linebacker for Denver for nine years and now serves as the offensive coach. Robert teaches math and computer programming in Tecumseh, Kansas, and coaches football, wrestling, and track. The Dennisons have four grandchildren.

Marie Porter

Associate Athletics Director

Marie Porter oversees the Olympic and all women's sports plus the areas of academics and rules compliance. Entering her 11th year at UM, she is the department's senior woman administrator and is a member of several Big Sky Conference committees.

She has served as tournament director for several events, including the 1997 NCAA Women's West Regional Basketball Championship, and currently serves on the NCAA Division I Championships and Competition Cabinet.

Porter was UM's first-ever coordinator of athletic academic services from 1992-96, developing and implementing the inaugural Academic Services program for Grizzly Athletics. She served as the assistant women's tennis coach from 1993-95 and was a freshman seminar instructor from 1992-96. She currently advises UM's Student-Athlete Advisory Board and directs the Griz A.C.E.S. life skills program.

Before arriving at UM in 1992, Porter served as an academic counselor at Washington State University from 1990-92. She is a graduate of the University of Kansas, receiving her B.A. in psychology with honors (1988) and her M.A. in social psychology (1990).

The former Marie Hibbard was a four-year standout on the Jayhawk tennis team. She was the KU Outstanding Woman Student-Athlete in 1986, 1987, and 1988, plus a two-time GTE Academic All-American (1987, 1988).

Marie is married to Mark Porter. Marie and Mark have two sons, Henry and Grant.

Chuck Maes

Associate Athletics Director for Internal Operations

Chuck Maes is in his 15th year with Grizzly Athletics, having joined the department in June 1988 as Business Manager. Now as Associate Athletic Director for Internal Operations, he is in charge of event and facilities management. He also supervises various internal operations including the strength and conditioning areas, the equipment room and the Rhinehart Athletic Training Center.

He recently coordinated the installation of the new turf added to Washington Grizzly Stadium in the spring of 2001 and the remodel of the Hoyt Athletic Office Complex in 2000.

Maes is a 1985 graduate of UM with a B.A. degree in business administration, earning degrees in accounting and management. He began his career at UM as an accountant in the controller's office following graduation.

A 1978 graduate of Anaconda High School, Maes was a track letterman as a prepster.

Chuck and his wife, Brenda, have a daughter Lauren and a son Chance.

Al Kempfert

Assistant to the Athletics Director, Corporate Scholarships

Al Kempfert is in his 25th year with Grizzly Athletics and his fifth year as Assistant to the Athletic Director. His duties include the identification and solicitation of potential corporate sponsors and chairperson of the Athletic Scholarship Committee.

Kempfert formerly served as the Executive Director of the Grizzly Athletic Association for 19 years.

He came to UM from California Lutheran University, where he served as the Director of Alumni/Parent Relations from 1971-77. He served in the U.S. Army from 1968-71 and in Vietnam from 1969-70, receiving many commendations. He is an alumnus of CLU, where he was a three-sport letterman and the Outstanding Senior Athlete in 1967.

Al has three children: Kim, Matthew and David. Matt played center for the Grizzly basketball team from 1991-95. David played center for the Grizzly football team from 1993-96. Al is married to the former Penny Lyons.
Jim O'Day
Director of Development

Jim O'Day is in his second year as the Director of Development for Intercollegiate Athletics at The University of Montana. Before that, he served for almost three years as Assistant Director of the Grizzly Athletic Association. O'Day is responsible for major gift development as it pertains to athletics and serves as the liaison between UM Athletics and The University of Montana Foundation.

Prior to returning to his alma mater in 1998, O'Day was the owner and publisher of the family-owned Western Breeze newspaper in Cut Bank, Montana, for 10 years. During the period 1982-87, he was a reporter and editor of the twice-weekly publication. From 1980-82, he was the sports editor of the Daily Interlake newspaper in Kalispell, Montana.

O'Day was a charter member of the Cut Bank Education Foundation and Alumni Association. He was Cut Bank's Citizen of the Year in 1992. O'Day organized the Golden Triangle Chapter of the GAA in 1992 and served as president until his appointment at UM.

A 1980 Montana graduate, O'Day received a B.A. in journalism. He was the 1991 recipient of The University of Montana Service Award.

Jim and his wife Kathy have three sons: Chris, Kevin and Brian.

Dave Guffey
Assistant Athletics Director for Media Relations

Dave Guffey is in his 25th year with Grizzly Athletics. In 1997 he was promoted to assistant athletic director for media relations and oversees UM's sports information department.

He also handles football and men's basketball, plus he has taken on the additional duties of assisting with the negotiation of radio and television contracts.

Guffey has won 23 district and national awards for his football and basketball guides, game programs and features.

He has served as Media Coordinator for numerous Big Sky Conference tournaments and NCAA events.

He has served on the UM Hall of Fame committee since its inception and was on the Board of Directors for the Missoula Mavericks Legion Baseball program from 1997-2001.

He co-authored with sportscaster Mick Holien the book Montana Grizzlies - Odyswell as ticket and public relations issues. He developed game-day and halftime promotions for football, basketball, and Olympic sports. Hawley is a 1999 graduate of the University of Wyoming, majoring in marketing.

Bryan Newton
Executive Director
Grizzly Athletic Association

Bryan Newton became the Executive Director of the Grizzly Athletic Association (GAA) in June of 2002. Newton came to UM from Boise, Idaho, where he worked for Boise Hawks Baseball Club, a minor league franchise of the Chicago Cubs. While in Boise he served in three different positions for the Hawks. He had been the general manager for approximately the last year.

His duties with the Boise Hawks included corporate sales, marketing, sales strategies, media buys and advertising, and he oversaw all other facets involved with running a minor league baseball team.

Newton, who was born in Butte and raised in Dillon, worked in insurance and real estate in Dillon for 10 years before coming to school at UM.

Newton and his wife, Lisa, have twin boys, Austen and Hunter, and an infant daughter, Brynlee. Bryan earned his B.S. degree in health and human performance at UM in 1995.

Steve Hackney
Equipment Manager

Steve Hackney is in his 22nd season as the Grizzly equipment manager. He oversees all facets of the athletic equipment room operation. In addition, he is directly involved in the upkeep of Dahlberg Arena, Washington Grizzly Stadium, Dornblaser Track & Field and the UM South Campus soccer field, as well as all practice facilities.

A native of Hamilton, "Hack" received his B.S. degree from UM in health and physical education with an emphasis in athletic training and physical therapy in 1972. He also earned a master's degree in health and physical education from Indiana State in 1974.

Hackney served three years in the Navy from 1962-65 and was a Spanish linguist. Steve and his wife Larae have two children: Tyler and Meghan.

Rob Edwards
Fiscal Manager

Rob was named the new fiscal manager for intercollegiate athletics in September of 2001, filling a newly created position in athletics.

He is responsible for providing management information to the athletic director on the financial status of the athletic department and related activities through analytical review and cost analysis. He also oversees finances for the Grizzly Athletic Association.

Edwards is a Missoula native and a 1987 graduate of Missoula's Big Sky High School. He completed his B.S. degree in finance and accounting in 1991 along with a minor in economics and is currently working to complete a master's degree in public administration.

Prior to joining the athletic department, Edwards was an accountant for UM business services responsible for auxiliary, agency and athletic accounting.

Athletic Performance Center

As part of the Adams Center renovation, a 7,000-square foot Athletic Performance Center was created. The current facility is twice as large as the previous weight room that had been used in the Adams Center over the years.

The Center, which is home to Grizzly student-athletes, enhances the overall athletic performance of the teams.

The Athletic Performance Center staff designs, implements and evaluates strength and conditioning programs for all Grizzly athletes.

The program incorporates exercises and drills that are specific to the needs of The University of Montana’s athletes in an effort to increase their performance capabilities.

Chris Wieseman, director of the Athletic Performance Center, begins his fourth year. He came to UM from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, from where he graduated in 1999 with a B.S. degree in community health education.

He spent three years at Nebraska as an assistant strength coach, developing and implementing various strength and conditioning programs with the Cornhuskers’ athletic teams.

A native of Stromsburg, Neb., Wieseman’s wife’s name is Tara.

Lacey Degnan, the assistant director, also begins his fourth year. He graduated from Beery College with a B.S. degree in psychology in 1996. Before coming to UM, Lacey worked as an intern strength and conditioning coach for the Miami Dolphins in Nebraska and at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Jacobson Academic Center

The Jacobson Academic Center is a key component in the success of Grizzly student-athletes in the classroom. In addition to student-athletes independently using the Jacobson Academic Center, Athletic Academic Services uses the facility for several of its programs.

The Jacobson Academic Center has six computers and a laser printer. In addition, there are five additional spaces for individual studying. A small conference room is available for group studying.

Under the guidance of coordinator Jean Cornwall, Athletic Academic Services offers tutoring, advising and study tables at the center. The Jacobson Academic Center is located on the Adam Center’s ground floor, down the hall from the weight room.

Thanks to the generous contributions of Curt and Lanni Jacobson, student-athletes have a computer lab/study room to use during the day with this addition to academic services for student athletes.

Jean Cornwall
Coord. of Athletic Academic Services

Jean Cornwall has been UM’s Coordinator of Athletic Academic Services for three and a half years. She oversees UM student-athletes in academic progress, advising on course curriculum, tutoring, referring to campus support services, overseeing completion of general education requirements, and upholding NCAA academic regulations.

Cornwall previously served as UM’s Coordinator of the Four Bear Four-Year Graduation Program from 1995-99. She served as an academic advisor, program assistant, assistant to the director and receptionist since she began work at UM in 1991.

A native of Lewistown, Cornwall received a B.A. in psychology from UM in 1995 and is pursuing a master’s degree in public administration.
The Rhinehart Athletic Training Center, which boasts 7,200 square feet of space and includes an enlarged rehabilitation area, was remodeled in 1999. Also included are athletic trainers’ offices, six hydrotherapy units and a consulting office where nutritionists and doctors can meet with athletes. There are also classrooms for the athletic training curriculum.

The RATC provides numerous ways to treat injuries: electrical stimulation units, whirlpools, free weights and balance boards. The primary goal of the athletic training staff is to provide quality care for student-athletes while helping them safely return to competition.

When a student-athlete is injured, an athletic trainer evaluates the severity of the injury and renders whatever care is needed. Depending on the extent of the injury, the student-athlete visits the center daily, at least two to three times, for treatment and rehabilitation exercises. The athletic training staff works together with the Athletic Performance staff to monitor the student-athlete's strengthening exercises. Once the student-athletes have regained strength and function, they are allowed to return to the playing field or court.

Although athletic trainers provide injury care, they also promote injury prevention. Preventative maintenance occurs in the form of injury-screening processes, flexibility, taping and strengthening exercises.

Montana has a well-established athletic training curriculum which allows students to work directly with the student-athletes.

Dennis Murphy
Head Certified Athletic Trainer

Dennis is in his 21st year as head athletic trainer at UM. He oversees the Rhinehart Athletic Treatment Center, serves as the primary athletic trainer for men's basketball, and serves as an instructor for the Department of Health and Human Performance.

"Murph" received his B.S. degree from UM in HPE with a specialization in athletic training and adaptive physical education in 1975.

He has been certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association since 1975. He served as the assistant athletic trainer and lecturer at the University of Arizona from 1978-80 prior to his appointment at UM.

Murphy has taught numerous training-related classes, has been a guest speaker at sports clinics and has written articles for athletic training publications. Murphy is a native of Ovando.

J.C. Weida
Asst. Certified Athletic Trainer

J.C. Weida is in his seventh year as assistant athletic trainer for Grizzly Athletics. His primary responsibility is the treatment of UM football players, but he also assists in all daily activities in the athletic training center.

Weida returned to Montana after spending the 1995-96 school year as the assistant athletic trainer at Pepperdine University in Malibu, Calif.

A native of Deer Lodge, Weida is a double graduate of The University of Montana. He received his B.S. in health and human performance with an emphasis in athletic training in 1992 and his M.S. in exercise sciences in 1995. He was certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) in June of 1992.

J.C. and his wife Renn have three children: twins Ezra and Isabella and newborn Maggie.

Jennifer Mason
Asst. Certified Athletic Trainer

Jennifer Mason is beginning her fifth year as an assistant certified athletic trainer. Her responsibilities include primary athletic training duties for volleyball and women's basketball in addition to teaching various athletic training courses.

Mason spent a year as an assistant athletic trainer at Vanderbilt from 1997-98. She received a B.S. in kinesiology and biology from Colorado in 1995 and earned a master's degree in physical education and kinesiology from Cal State-Hayward in 1997. While working on her M.S. degree, she served as a graduate assistant athletic trainer at Cal-Berkeley from 1995-97. She also served as a student athletic trainer at Colorado from 1992-95.

A native of Genoa, Nevada, Mason was a middle hitter for the Colorado women's volleyball team in 1990 and 1991. She received a NACDA Sears Directors' Cup Postgraduate Scholarship in 1995. She has been certified by the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA) since 1995.

Naseby "Doc" Rhinehart came to Missoula in 1931 from Milwaukee, Wis., to play football and basketball. He also competed in track and field where he had bests of 23 feet in the long jump and 140 feet in the discus.

After graduating in 1935 from the University of Montana, Rhinehart was asked if he was interested in becoming the UM head certified athletic trainer. He did and stayed at the University for 47 years, retiring in 1982. He was one of the first people in the nation to develop an athletic training curriculum (1971) at a university.
The University of Montana Adams Center is the star host for the Montana Grizzlies and Lady Griz basketball teams as well as many other sports and special events. July of 1998 inaugurated a four-year, $15-million renovation on the Harry Adams Fieldhouse and Dahlberg Arena. The result brought a sophistication to the facility that has boosted its demand among a variety of sports, public entertainment and educational events.

"We are excited about the amenities our facility offers our guests," said Mary Muse, Executive Director of the Adams Center. "We continue to get great feedback regarding our expanded venues and the professionalism of our talented staff. Folks who bring events to the Adams Center know our goal is to help them be successful."

Sporting Events
Among the sports events hosted at the Adams Center are UM basketball, Campus Recreation Intramural sports, UM volleyball, high school basketball tournaments, and martial arts tournaments. In addition, all UM athletic programs use the facility for training, and many UM and community sports clubs enjoy using the facility. This past year, the Adams Center also hosted the state Club Boxing tournament.

Academic Events
Missoula County High School Commencement, The University of Montana Commencement, the UM Science Fair and Educator’s Fair are just a few of the Adams Center’s academic uses.

Special Events
The Adams Center is a very popular venue for entertainers and trade shows. A variety of gun and antique, home and garden, and sports shows return every year, as do the ski equipment swap meet, the Shrine Circus, First Night Missoula (the city’s New Year’s celebration extravaganza) and, bi-annually, the International Choral Festival. Other events in the planning are a horse show, a monster truck show, and an NBA exhibition game.

In addition, the Adams Center draws a variety of concerts, such as Weezer, Lord of the Dance, Harry Connick, Jr., the Beach Boys, and Kenny Chesney. A calendar of events, can be viewed online at adamscenter.com.

Varsity Club
The Varsity Club, a 4,000 square foot lounge overlooking the arena floor, is open only to major donors during UM football and basketball games. Complete with elevator access, upscale food and beverage services and its own restrooms, it is also available at reasonable rates to community patrons for private functions, such as business meetings, cocktail parties, wedding rehearsal dinners, or receptions. Catered events are serviced by UM’s award-winning Dining Services.

Box Office
The Adams Center Box Office (243-4051) provides superb service from football and basketball season tickets to single-ticket events such as concerts and boxing and locally hosted special events. For extra convenience, Tic-T-E-Z outlets are located at Worden’s Market, Southgate Mall, and the University Center.

Concessions
Adams Center concessions proudly offers an array of food and beverage choices to fit any occasion and please any palate. Quality products and cheerful, efficient service means satisfied customers.

Adams Center Outlook
"Our long-range plan includes training and capital improvements which will augment our ability to expand our calendar, increasing the number and variety of events we attract," said Muse. "We actively seek local, state and national entertainment and trade shows with wide-audience appeal. To that end, we are committed to providing a rich atmosphere and quality service with a personal touch—all at competitive prices."

2002 MONTANA FOOTBALL
Washington Grizzly Stadium

Washington Grizzly Stadium: The Home of The Grizzlies

This will be the 17th season Washington Grizzly Stadium has been home for The University of Montana Grizzly football team.

Last season Montana was once again among Division I-AA's national leaders in attendance, averaging 18,899 fans a game, which ranked them seventh in the nation.

The Griz began playing in Washington Grizzly Stadium midway through the 1986 season. Since then they have a record of 97-13 — a lofty .882 winning percentage. Montana has won 66 of its last 72 games played in the stadium, dating back to the middle of the 1992 season — a .917 winning percentage.

Montana reeled off 30 straight victories beginning at the start of the 1994 season to Oct. of 1997. That win skein is the fourth longest home winning streak in Division I-AA history.

The first game played in the stadium was on October 18, 1986, the Grizzlies registering a 38-31 come-from-behind win over Idaho State.

The long-time dream of an on-campus football facility was initiated in August of 1985, as Missoula businessman Dennis R. Washington and the employees of Washington Corporations provided a gift of $1 million. In December of 1985, excavation crews began work. In recognition of the gift by Washington and his company, UM's new facility was named Washington Grizzly Stadium.

The natural-grass stadium gave way to TurF for the 2001 season. A million dollars was given by an anonymous donor for the new playing surface. The field was named "John Hoyt Field," at the request of the anonymous donor.

The stadium was expanded in the spring of 1995 with end zone seating on both the north and south sides, and a few more additional seats were recently added, bringing the capacity to 19,005. Prior to the '95 expansion there were 12,500 permanent seats. (When the grass end zones were available, the capacity was approximately 15,000).

In the stadium excavation, 70,000 cubic yards of dirt was moved and the playing surface is about 20 feet below ground level. An estimated 4,500 yards of concrete were poured in the project. The field area inside the stadium is 182 feet wide by 402 feet from end-to-end.

In conjunction with the building of the stadium, additional parking and practice fields were built. The Grizzlies are able to practice on the campus on an area which has the dimensions of four, full-size football fields. A 200-space parking lot south of the stadium was also added.

At the peak of construction there were 180 craftsmen employed and 27 contractors, 24 of whom were from the state of Montana.

There are 48 private boxes located on the east and west sides of the stadium. They are individually decorated and furnished by their respective owners.

The press box located above the private boxes on the west side includes radio and television broadcast booths, an area for the scoreboard operators. The Missoula Homebuilders Association built the press box, primarily with volunteer labor.

Former Montana President Neil Bucklew, former Athletic Director Harley Lewis, and the board of directors of the UM Foundation were all instrumental in the construction of the stadium.

Coca-Cola donated the original scoreboard, which was retrofitted and expanded in 1996. A new north end zone "mini" scoreboard, which is three feet high and 40 feet long, was added prior to the '96 season.

A new public address system was added for the 1996 season. The system provides a maximum of 103 decibels at each seat, as well as in each private suite. The expansion also included a 17-foot by 10-foot 65,000 full color SoundBurst@message center. The message center features game statistics, player profiles, statistics, and digital replays during live television broadcasts.

In April of 1996 new men's locker rooms housing football, basketball, track and cross country were completed. The new locker rooms are located below the entry level on the west side of the stadium and cover more than 4,000 square feet.

When Adams Center, which is adjacent to the stadium, was renovated, also added was a new 7,000 square foot weight room, a 4,500 square foot athletic treatment center, the Jacobson Academic Center and meeting room with big screen videos. Also added were a new women's locker room covering 4,000 square feet, a 3,200 square foot equipment center, and three new meeting rooms totaling 2,000 square feet.

The “Voice of the Grizzlies”
Mick Holien

Mick Holien is now in his 10th year as the “Voice of the Grizzlies” and his 18th season overall as a play-by-play announcer at The University of Montana.

For the fifth straight year, KGVO (AM 1290) of Missoula, Montana, is the flagship station of the Grizzly football and men’s basketball teams. Stations KGVO, KYSS-FM, KBIZ-FM and KLCY are owned by Clear Channel Radio of Covington, Kentucky.

KLCY serves as the radio voice of the Lady Griz, The University of Montana’s women’s basketball team.

Holien will call his 600th Grizzly game in 2002. Prior to calling men’s football and basketball games, Holien called Lady Griz basketball games for eight seasons, a time during which he also was the public address announcer for Grizzly football.

He has called the play-by-play for all four of the Grizzlies’ Division I-AA championship games in 1995-96 and 2000-01.

In 2001, Holien was presented the “Ed Chinske Award,” given annually to the outstanding sports professional from the Missoula area. He is past president of the Missoula Food Bank and the Missoula Mavericks American Legion baseball board, and served as president of the Associated Press Broadcasters. In 1999, Mick received the Good Neighbor Award from the American Red Cross.

In 1998, the National Exchange Club gave him a community service award for “Unselfish Devotion to the Principle of Good Citizenship.”

With a vote of his peers in 2001, he was tabbed the National Sportswriters and Sports Broadcasters Association “Montana Sports Broadcaster of the Year” — the fifth time he has been so-honored.

He received the inaugural Montana Broadcasters Association “News Enterprise Award” in 1988. His coverage of the 1995 national Championship game, was tabbed “Program of the Year.”

A news reporter for the local newspaper, The Missoulian, since 1992, Holien’s work has been recognized by the Society of Professional Journalists and the Montana Newspaper Association.

Holien has two children, a son Chris and a daughter, Stephanie Landers. He has two grandchildren: Christopher and Justin.

Mick’s e-mail address: mholien@missoulian.com, or he can be reached at KGVO, 1290 AM; Miles City: KMTA, 1050 AM; Hardin: KHDN, 1230 AM; Helena: KGVO, 1340 AM; Kalispell: KOFI, 1180 AM; Laurel: KGVO, 1240 AM; Lewistown: KXLO, 1230 AM; Livingston: KPPR, 1340 AM; Miles City: KMTA, 1050 AM; Plentywood: KATO, 1070 AM & 101.1 FM; Poplar: KGVO, 102.3 FM; Scobey: KGVO, 95.7 FM; Shelby: KSEN, 1150 AM & KZIN, 96.7 FM; Wolf Point: KGVO, FM 102.3; and in Missoula, flagship station KGVO, 1290 AM.

Scott Gurnsey

Scott is now in his fifth season serving as color commentator for Grizzly football.

He is a former (1991-94) Griz receiver and punter. “Gurnsy” is second on Montana’s all-time receiving list with 2,574 yards.

He works locally for the Coca-Cola Bottling Company as a sales representative.

Scott received his B.S. degree in business administration from UM in 1995. He is single.

Greyson Davis

Hosts the “Joe Glenn Show”

For the seventh year in a row KPAX-TV/Channel 8 of Missoula will broadcast the “Joe Glenn Show,” which airs initially on Sunday, August 24.

KPAX-TV Sports Director Greyson Davis serves as the host of the show which airs every Sunday at 10:30 p.m. on KPAX and other Montana Television Network (MTN) stations.

KCEI-TV to Air Four Games

KCEI-TV and Eagle Communications will air four Griz home football games this year: Albany, Northern Colorado, Southern Utah, and Northern Arizona.

KCEI Sports Director Todd Reed will call the play-by-play.
