‘Air Show’ Expected in Grizzly-Viking Clash

It may not rain or snow today in the University of Montana football team's 1979 finale with the Portland State Vikings — but by the second half you might think it's raining footballs.

Both teams like to put the ball up in the air. Montana has thrown the ball with a lot of success this year, behind the throwing of senior quarterback Bob Boyes (see page 12). The 6-3, 200-pounder from Sacramento, CA has set several Grizzly passing records this year, and should break a couple of more today.

However, PSU QB Neil Lomax (see page 28) has passed for a bundle of yards in 1979. He has passed for 3,176 yards in ONE season. He has thrown 22 touchdown passes, connecting on 242 of 409 attempts. He needs only 170 yards passing today to break the NCAA record in that category.

Last week against Idaho State he was 34 of 44 for 347 yards and two TDs. That gave him 8,425 yards in total offense during his career, which established an NCAA record. To top all of his accomplishments off — he is only a junior.

Jim Hard (see page 12), the Grizzlies' spectacular wide receiver, who averages a circus catch a game, has grabbed 39 for 597 yards, and could break both the single season reception (42) and yardage (607) records today. Not bad for a guy who had open-heart surgery his senior season in high school.

On the other hand, the Vikings' Stu Gaussoin is the nation's leading receiver. He has caught 90 passes for 1,132 yards and 8 TDs. Hard, who has 41 less catches, is still ranked second in the nation.

Today's game could be very important for PSU, which is 5-4, with two games remaining. Two more wins could give them a shot at the NCAA Division 1-AA playoffs. They recently received national attention in a three-page spread in Sports Illustrated's latest issue. Lomax's assault on the record books has not gone unnoticed either by the media, or more than likely, the playoff committee.

If PSU doesn't get the playoff nod, it could go to the winner of the Northern Arizona-Nevada-Reno game Nov. 24th in Flagstaff. But, league champion Montana State can't be counted out either.

The Bobcats won the Big Sky Conference title with a 6-1 record, however they dropped their season finale last week (21-7) to North Dakota State. That gives them a 6-4 overall record, which isn't exactly impressive.

Boise State finished conference play with a 7-0 record, and has a nine-game winning streak, but is on probation this year and not eligible for the playoffs.

Reno lost 28-27 to Boise last week, but could finish with an 8-3 mark if they beat Missouri-Southern and NAU in its last two games. (The Wolf Pack lost 12-10 to MSU earlier this season.)

Meanwhile, the Big Sky is hoping one of its teams gets selected for the playoffs. It means a lot of money ($50,000 to $100,000) for each school.

Dr. Richard C. Bowers assumed duties as the 13th president of the University of Montana July 4, 1974.

Bowers came to UM from Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, where he served as vice president and provost, and professor of chemistry.

As Northern Illinois' provost, he was chief academic officer of the University and had overall responsibility for many other university activities, including computer services, admissions and records, and the library. He also represented Northern Illinois University to the Illinois Board of Regents, the Board of Higher Education of the State of Illinois, and the State Legislature.

Prior to being named vice president and provost in 1969, Bowers served as the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at NIU from 1965-69.

Bowers received his B.S. degree in chemistry from the University of Michigan in 1948 and his Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Minnesota in 1953. He taught at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., beginning in 1954 and became Director of Chemical Laboratories and associate chairman of the Department of Chemistry at Northwestern in 1963.

Athletic Director Harley Lewis

Harley W. Lewis was named athletic director at the University of Montana effective April 14, 1976. He had served as acting athletic director from July 1, 1975.

A 1964 graduate of UM with an M.S. in health, physical education and recreation, Lewis became track and cross country coach at UM in 1966. Prior to assuming coaching responsibilities at UM, the 1959 graduate of Butte High School coached two years at the University of Portland.

Lewis served as cross country coach until 1976 and won nine Big Sky titles until resigning the position. He served as track coach through the 1978 season. While track coach, Lewis won the conference title in 1972. He has been named Big Sky Coach of the Year in cross country and track, ten times. He has served on numerous national committees, worked with the U.S. Olympic endeavors and cochaed several All-American performers in Montana.
Gene Carlson was named head coach of the Montana Grizzlies, December 13, 1976. Carlson, an assistant coach and executive secretary of the Montana Century Club for two years, stepped into the head coaching position following Jack Swarthout's resignation after nine years at UM.

Carlson's three-year record at UM is 13-18 including a 4-2 conference record last year, UM's best finish in eight seasons.

Carlson, 47, is a native of Great Falls and 1949 graduate of Great Falls High. He has a health and physical education degree from the University of Montana (1954) and earned his M.S. in public administration from George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

Carlson played linebacker and fullback for the 1950, '51 and '52 Grizzlies. He also played varsity baseball at UM and spent two years in the New York Yankees' organization after college. He served two years in the Air Force.

Carlson coached football at Great Falls High for 15 years, winning five class AA championships and posting a 108-32-8 record before coming to UM in February of 1974.

Gene and his wife Kathy have five children, Jeff, Bruce, Wendie, Kim and Stephanie.

UM's Midgets: Top-Notch Receivers

Some of their teammates call them "midgets."
Their opponents don't call them much of anything. They are too busy trying to cover them on the football field.
"They" are University of Montana wide receivers Jim Hard, Pat Sullivan, Bill Lane and Bill Dolan, the Grizzlies' talented core of wide receivers.

Offensively, the skeptics had their doubts prior to the 1979 football season. Many thought UM was in trouble, especially at wide receiver.

A couple of years ago the Grizzly staff thought about cutting Lane because they didn't know if he could play major college football. They also had their doubts about Dolan's speed.

Thanks to some crucial catches and consistent pass-catching ability, the coaches are glad to have them in the Grizzly program.

"I think we have the best overall group of wide receivers in the Big Sky Conference," praised receiver coach Pat Dolan, a former Grizzly defensive standout himself during UM's unbeaten years in 1969 and 1970. "Two of them can go deep, and two can catch the short passes. They all have excellent hands," said Dolan, who was the one who tagged his receivers the "midgets."

"I was self-conscious about my size when I first came to Montana to play college football," admitted Lane, who is 5-10, 160 pounds. "But, when I started playing I found out I could do it. I've always been one of the smallest guys. I found that if you work in your speed and catch the ball consistently, you can play wide receiver in college."

Sullivan, a 5-11, 175-pounder from Butte, is the largest of the wide receivers. He said the transition from a veer quarterback at Butte High to a wide receiver wasn't too difficult.

"It's mainly concentration," the senior said. "A lot of it's natural, and a lot of it's practice. Running good patterns was probably the hardest thing for me." (He has caught 12 passes for 158 yards and a TD).

"My size never bothered me," continued Sullivan, who said he was recruited by Montana State and several Frontier Conference schools. "You have to do the best you can with what you've got."

Dolan, 5-9, 165-pound sophomore from Helena, said he thinks the main reason for the receiving corps success this season is, "we believed in ourselves, even though some people didn't."

"You can be a good wide receiver and not be big," Dolan said. "Look at Jim Hard (see page 12). He's an excellent example. No, size never bothered me. A lot of big colleges have 5-10 starting receivers."

Coach Dolan said he thought one of the biggest factors for the team's passing success is that the players are all pressuring each other for starting berths.

"You know one thing," Dolan said, "whichever receiver you throw to, they'll find a way to catch it. Those guys have really come on this year."

The ironic thing about the coaches' nickname for his receivers is that Dolan played at 5-10, 170 pounds as a starting defensive back for the Grizzlies.

"You can understand why I don't think size is all that important to play college football," a smiling Dolan said.

BILL LANE has caught 10 passes for 119 yards thus far this season. He will be back next season.

BILL DOLAN has been hampered with a shoulder injury this year, but expected to be a steady receiver next season.

Boyes to Hard: A Record-Setting Combination

By DAVE GUFFEY
UM Sports Information Director

"The Boyes and Hard Show." Not exactly a title which would be recognized nationally — but followers of Grizzly football would rank it high on their Nielsen Ratings.

University of Montana quarterback Bob Boyes and wide receiver Jim Hard have really had their act together this season. Both will find themselves in the Grizzly record book after today's final game of the 1979 season.

It was fate which brought both players to Big Sky Country from their homes in Northern California. Although they both ended up here to become one of the finest passing-pass catching combinations at UM, it was different paths which guided them to Missoula.

Recruited very strongly by the University of Oregon, a coaching change at that Pacific-10 school changed Boyes' mind on going there.

"When the Oregon situation changed, I started looking around for a good pharmacy school and good skiing," said Boyes. "One of the coaches at Sacramento State (where his dad coaches baseball) had gone to school at Montana, and he told me about it. So, a friend and I drove up here in May, looked at the school and really liked the setting. Plus it had a good pharmacy school."

Boyes, 22, joined the UM ski team ("two guys off our team went to the nationals that year"), because he redshirted his first year in football at UM. "We had three good quarterbacks when I got here, plus I didn't realize how important spring ball was in learning the offensive system."

Then after a so-so year last season (510 yards passing and two touchdowns), he became the starting quarterback this season. This year he has completed 99 of 202 passes (both records) for 1,310 yards (54 short of the record).

Hard, who was an outstanding receiver at Napa JC in his hometown of Napa, CA, was recruited by Baylor, Weber State, San Jose State, Montana and UC Davis.

A devout Christian, the 21-year-old Elementary Education major wanted to attend Baylor.

"I was interested in attending Baylor because it was a Christian school, but they lost the films of me in the mail and couldn't offer me a scholarship. When I came to visit Montana, Athletes In Action was here, and I met a lot of Christians from Missoula. That pretty much got me to stay here, although I really like the city and the surroundings."

The fact that Hard is already in the top 10 in UM's career receiving list, and can break the single-season reception and yardage records in today's game, is even more impressive for another reason. He had open heart surgery his senior year in high school.

"I had a hole in my heart, a heart murmur and valve that was blocking off the blood flow," he recalled. "The operation was supposed to take an hour, but it took eight hours. It was in December, and I was playing baseball in February. The doctors were pretty surprised I recovered so fast."

Just four receptions and 11 yards away from UM's receiving records, Hard, who wants to teach in a Christian school, said, "it wouldn't bother me if I don't break them. It's not high on my priority list."

Boyes, who has already broken several single-season and single-game records, attributed a lot of his success to his receivers.

"These receivers are the best I've ever played with," he said. "They all made a great catch or two this season. I can't say enough about Jim Hard. His great catches have helped achieve those records."

This is the last day for the "show," and a lot of Grizzly fans probably wish there were reruns to watch next season.

TOUCHDOWN!

6 points for The Depot

1. Thick char-broiled steaks
2. Fantastic prime rib
3. Huge salad bar
4. Delicious crab and lobster
5. Great drinking bar
6. Fun friendly atmosphere

Located corner of Ryman and Alder (in the old Northern Hotel)
QUARTERBACK Neil Lomax barks out signals in a recent Portland State game. The Vikings' junior signal caller set an NCAA record earlier in the season, completing 44 of 77 passes for 499 yards. Unbelievably, PSU lost that game, 21-20 to Northern Colorado.
