Grizzlies Host Broncos in Season, Big Sky Opener

"How are you guys going to be this year?" is the question constantly being asked of University of Montana football coach Larry Donovan and his staff.

Well, that question and several others will be answered this afternoon as the Grizzlies host the Boise State Broncos in their season and Big Sky Conference opener.

BSU has been at or near the top of the Big Sky race consistently over the past 10 season, garnering five league titles and tying for another.

"Playing Boise State in our opener is a tremendous challenge because of their winning tradition and the depth they have in their program," Donovan said. "Boise is a title contender every year in the Big Sky."

The Grizzlies were picked by many early-season polls to be around fourth in the league race, while BSU was picked a notch higher behind Idaho and Reno, ranked second and third, respectively, in Sports Illustrated's 1-AA preseason national poll.

One of the reasons UM was picked as a conference dark horse is the offensive line of Rick Linderholm (6-5, 270), Mark Madsen (6-5½, 262), Glenn Dacus (6-4, 245), Eric Dawald (6-2, 240), Bob Cordier (6-4, 250) and Brian Salonen (6-2½, 232).

The offensive line, labeled "Ground Control," may be the best group the Grizzlies have had in many seasons, led by Madsen and Cordier, two fifth-year seniors, and of course Salonen, an All-American candidate at tight end.

Replacing 1,000-yard rusher Greg Iseman is also a big task, but senior Joey Charles (5-10, 202) has the most quickness UM has had at tailback in several years. Senior Derrick Williams will be at fullback, and Kelly Richardson emerged as the top QB, standing out in all three Grizzly fall scrimmages.

Junior Curt McGinness (6-3, 194) and sophomore Alan Botzheim (5-11, 185) provide quality backups at TB and will see plenty of action. Behind Richardson are three able QBs in Bob Connors, Johnny Coppedge and Allan Powell.

At the wide receiver spots Bob McCauley and Wide receiver Brad Dantic are proven veterans, along with Tim Sundquist. Sophomore Tony Coe and Scott Moe have come on strong in pre-season.

All-conference honorable mention Dean Rominger will handle all of the kicking chores, and ranked 17th in 1-AA in punting in 1982.

Defensively the Grizzlies return all conference tackle Cliff Lewis and All-American honorable mention and first team All-Big Sky safety Tony Fudge (see today's cover).

If the "Ground Control" is a strength on offense then coach Mike Van Dien's defensive line also is a big plus, and senior Joey Charles (5-10, 202) has the most quickness UM has had at tailback in several years. Senior Derrick Williams will be at fullback, and Kelly Richardson emerged as the top QB, standing out in all three Grizzly fall scrimmages.

Larry Donovan
(Nebraska, 1964)

Larry Donovan is beginning his fourth year as the head coach at the University of Montana. He has guided the Grizzlies to back-to-back 5-2 Big Sky Conference records - and last year's team garnered the league championship.

Donovan has had two consecutive winning records during regular season play. Last year UM was 6-5 and its Big Sky championship gave the team a playoff berth in the 1-AA NCAA championships. In 1981 the Grizzlies went 7-3 - their fifth winningest season in school history.

After the 1981 season Donovan was honored by the Great Falls Optimist Club, which sponsors the annual Montana Sports Banquet, by naming his as the state's Coach of the Year. He was selected from a field of 100 Montana coaches. That season UM was not only 7-3, but also the only team to defeat 1-AA national champion Idaho State (24-21).

Born March 31, 1941, Donovan came to UM from the University of Kansas, where he was outside linebacker coach. Prior to that he was at the University of Iowa, for three seasons. At Iowa he served as offensive line coach one season, and QB and passing coach for two.

From 1972-75 he was a mentor at Washington State, where he was defensive line coach for two seasons and then elevated to defensive coordinator the final two. He coached at the University of South Dakota from 1967 to 1971, where he coached the backfield, then became defensive coordinator.

Donovan played football at the University of Nebraska, where he graduated in 1964. His senior year the Cornhuskers were 9-2, and defeated Miami (Fla.) in the Gotham Bowl, 36-34.

He began his coaching career at his alma mater as a graduate assistant when Nebraska won the Orange Bowl. He then served in Korea as a lieutenant, and was awarded the Army Commendation Medal, but stayed close to football, playing service ball in Korea and directing the division team to an 8-0-1 record.

He received his B.A. in '64, then earned his master's degree in secondary Education in 1968 at the University of South Dakota. He was commissioned through the ROTC program at Nebraska.

Larry and his wife Georgia have three daughters, Andrea, Molly and Lindsay.

Call it a sixth sense or being in the right place at the right time, but whatever you call it Tony has it. The Associated Press All-American (I-AA) honorable mention selection last season had six interceptions in his first eight games in 1982.

He was the second leading tackler in the secondary with 44 stops, 21 of which were unassisted. He returned his six interceptions for 172 yards — a lofty 28.7 yards per carry. He had a long interception return of 73 yards against Idaho and his TD run was a 30-yarder against Puget Sound.

The first team All-Big Sky Conference choice in '82 is UM's leading returning tackler in the secondary, and also held that distinction last season. He had 47 tackles as a sophomore.

"Tony Fudge's strength and size, along with his 4.7 (in the 40) speed make him one of the most formidable secondary men in the Big Sky Conference," said Montana head coach Larry Donovan. "His six interceptions in 1982 is a good indicator of his knack to know where the ball is."

The 1983 season will be Tony's fourth as a starter at strong safety. He has been one of the top tacklers on the team since his initial season in 1980.

A near unanimous choice for all-league honors a year ago, his six interceptions ranked him second in the Big Sky (behind NAU's Ron Jenkins, who had eight), and his 73-yard return against Idaho was the longest in the conference in 1982. His 172 return yards also ranked him first in the league.

Last season in the Grizzlies' home opener against Puget Sound he had two interceptions including the TD. In his next game, a 36-35 victory over Northern Arizona, he had six unassisted tackles and forced a fumble. UM then went on the road and he responded with 10 tackles in a 28-27 win over Nevada-Reno.

Fudge has excelled in the big games. In a game with league-leading Idaho he had a key interception around the goalline and ran the ball back 73 yards. Against intrastate rival Montana State, another team in the league title chase, he had two interceptions.

"Tony's weekly play-by-play in football was a real inspiration to the entire football team," Donovan said. "He helped to serve as a catalyst for our success. He's going into his fourth year as a starter and will be one of the greatest defensive backs to ever play at the University of Montana."

As a prep at C. M. Russell High School in Great Falls Fudge was an all-state and an all-conference selection.

The Big Sky Athletic Conference enters its 21st season of operation coming off another outstanding season in 1982-83.

The Big Sky, last season for the second straight year, had two teams invited to play in the 12-team NCAA Division I-AA Collegiate Football Championship playoffs as league champion Montana and Idaho represented the conference in post-season play. In basketball three teams, Weber State, Montana and Idaho had 20-win seasons marking the first time in Big Sky history that three teams have reached the 20-victory plateau during the same season. Weber State was the winner of the Big Sky's Post-Season Basketball Tournament and represented the league in the NCAA Basketball Tournament. The University of Idaho became the first Big Sky member to ever receive a National Invitational Tournament (NIT) bid.

The Big Sky's success on the field and court was evident at the turnstiles during the 1982-83 season.

As a league, in football, the Big Sky averaged almost 11,000 spectators per game ranking fourth among all I-AA conferences nationally. The Big Sky was third nationally (among I-AA conferences) with over 69% of stadium capacity. In basketball the conference was ranked 12th among the 29 major basketball playing leagues with a 5,028 average per game.

As usual the Big Sky had its share of All-America selections. In wrestling Weber State's Gary Scriven was selected as was Boise State's Jake Jacoby (high jump) in indoor track and field along with Weber State's Farley Gerber (3,000-meter steeplechase) and Nevada-Reno's Derrick May (10,000-meters) in outdoor track and field.

The Big Sky Conference conducts championships in eight sports, including cross country, football, wrestling, basketball, golf, tennis and indoor and outdoor track and field. Eight institutions are currently members of the league that has an NCAA Division I-AA affiliation in football and an NCAA Division I affiliation in all other sports including an automatic berth to the NCAA Basketball Championships to the conference champion.

Charter members of the Big Sky are the University of Idaho, Moscow; Idaho State University, Pocatello; University of Montana, Missoula; Montana State University, Bozeman; and Weber State College, Ogden, UT. Boise State University, Boise, ID; and Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, joined the league in July 1970. The University of Nevada-Reno was admitted to the league July 1, 1979.

The Big Sky has member schools in five states and covers more than 220,000 square miles (or almost 1/12th of the total square miles in the continental United States). The five states included in the Big Sky Conference (Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Utah) span from the Canadian to Mexican borders.

The name "Big Sky" originated in a novel authored by A.B. (Bud) Guthrie of Great Falls, Montana in 1947 entitled The Big Sky. Jack Hollowell, former Montana Advertising Director, promoted the Big Sky theme for the Treasure State. Harry Missildine of the Spokane Spokesman Review called for the conference to be named "the Big Sky Conference." In his column of Feb. 20, 1963. On Feb. 25, 1963, the conference name was adopted by the presidents of the newly formed league during a meeting in Spokane, WA.

Ron Stephenson, 39, is only the fourth commissioner in the 20-year history of the Big Sky Conference with all of his 18 years of experience as an administrator coming at member institutions.

The personable Stephenson has had the unique experience of witnessing the evolution of the league since its inception in 1963 as a student, coach and athletic administrator. He replaced Steve Belko who retired as commissioner on July 1, 1981. Belko succeeded John Roning as the Big Sky's third commissioner in 1977. Roning served with the league from 1971-77 assuming the duties from Jack Friel who served as the Big Sky Commissioner from its inception in 1963 to 1971. The conference offices were located initially in Pullman, WA until Roning moved the headquarters to Boise on July 1, 1971, where they have been ever since.

A native of Idaho, Stephenson came to the Big Sky from Boise State University where he served as assistant athletic director since February of 1971. He attended Twin Falls, Idaho High School and is a 1965 graduate of Idaho State University with a B.S. in business administration. He received his masters of business administration degree from the University of Idaho in 1971. While at the University of Idaho he served as the institution's ticket manager and head tennis and wrestling coach before becoming an assistant athletic director. During his four seasons as Idaho's tennis mentor (1967-1970) he guided the Vandals to a 74-23 overall record including four Big Sky titles and four Big Sky "Coach-of-the-Year" awards.

He is married to the former Patti Judy of Twin Falls, ID and they are the parents of two sons, Mike, 17, and Mark, 15.

Arnie Sgalio is currently serving as the league's information director, entering his fifth year with the Big Sky since his arrival in 1979. Prior to that he was the sports information director at Montana State University for three years.

Barbara Schenk begins her second year as the administrative assistant for the Big Sky.

Call your own time-out.

Some of the best moments in any sport take place right where you're sitting. Because where you're sitting can be a great place to cool the action.

Just grab a hold of a sizzling hot dog, spread the mustard thick, and drown your thirst with an ice-cold Pepsi. Nothing makes food taste better and good times last longer than Pepsi-Cola. And Pepsi is just as close to where you're sitting as the refreshment stand.

Go ahead. Right now is a great time to call your own time-out...and call for plenty of great-tasting Pepsi-Cola.
On October 1, this card will dramatically change the way you do banking.

Wherever you are in Montana First Bank country, you will be able to withdraw cash from checking and savings, make deposits into checking and savings, transfer funds between two accounts, and check your account balance with your First Bank Card.

Now, more than ever, a First Bank card gives you a choice of when and where you do your banking.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association is currently in its 78th year of serving higher education. Through its annual Convention, the NCAA speaks for the nation's colleges and universities. The NCAA is the voice of college athletics.

A call for stricter control of college football by President Theodore Roosevelt because of the violence in the game brought together 13 institutions in 1905 formulating the original communications base for college athletics.

This initial body called itself the Intercollegiate Athletic Association and was officially constituted March 31, 1906. In 1910, the name was changed to the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

More than seven progressive decades have molded this original 13-member body into a membership today of more than 900 colleges, universities, conferences and affiliated organizations.

Administration and rules interpretation occupied early efforts of the organization. Shortly after World War II, the NCAA adopted legislative and executive powers, changing its function into one dealing with virtually all issues concerned with intercollegiate athletics.

Many things have become associated with the NCAA during its colorful history. Highest priority goes to the service it provides to its members, acting as the true "voice" of college athletics today.

Each January the NCAA membership comes together at the annual Convention to review, propose and amend legislation. The Convention presents the opportunity for the nation's institutions of higher learning to speak and act on athletic matters on the national level.

Acting in the best interests of its membership, the NCAA strives to perform these specific functions among its many other responsibilities:

- Conducts 41 annual National Collegiate Championships in 19 men's sports for three separate divisions. Three championships (Division I, Division II and Division III) are held in baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, ice hockey, soccer, swimming, tennis, outdoor track and wrestling. Two championships are staged in gymnastics and lacrosse. Fencing, indoor track, volleyball and water polo hold single National Collegiate Championships, while football is contested in Divisions I-AA, II and III. The NCAA is conducting 31 women's championships in the 1983-84 academic year in addition to the 41 held for men.

Women's championships are held in all three divisions in basketball, cross country, field hockey, softball, swimming, tennis, outdoor track and volleyball. Two championships (Division I and Division II) will be staged in gymnastics, while fencing, golf, lacrosse, soccer and indoor track will hold single National Collegiate Championships. In addition to the aforementioned events, coeducational rifle and skiing championships are conducted, crowning one national champion.

- Maintains 39 men's and women's sports committees for the administration and conduct of championships for the respective divisions, including 16 men's and women's rules committees to formulate, copyright and publish rules of play for the governance of collegiate sports. Members of the sports and rules committees are elected by representatives of NCAA members at the annual Convention. In addition, the NCAA Council appoints the members of 25 general committees and a number of special committees as well as delegates to other organizations.

- Publishes a tabloid newspaper 46 times per year, rules books in 12 sports, record books in football and basketball and various other publications.

- Collects, compiles and distributes the official statistics of college football, basketball and baseball in men's sports, and basketball and softball in women's sports.

- Conducts studies as a means of developing solutions to athletic problems.

- Represents the membership in legislative and regulatory matters on the state and Federal levels.

- Annually selects the College Athletics Top Ten and the Theodore Roosevelt ("Teddy") Award—the Association's highest honor.

- Administers an honors program which annually awards 90 postgraduate scholarships to recognize outstanding senior student-athletes who have excelled in the classroom as well as athletics. This scholarship is for $2,000. The program has provided $1,854,000 to 1,399 recipients since its inception in the 1964-65 academic year.

- Promotes and participates in international sports planning and competition through membership in the United States Olympic Committee, Amateur Basketball Association of the USA, Track and Field Association of the USA, and the United States Baseball, Gymnastics and Wrestling Federations.

- Maintains more than 90 full-time staff members at its national headquarters in Mission, Kansas, under the supervision of Executive Director Walter Byers.

Mark Welander began with a dream; to own his own business. One that would produce a quality product. Something he could be proud of.

That was eight years ago. Today, Blue Star Canvas Products skillfully sews everything from tipis and tote bags to boat covers and truck tarps.

We're Western States Insurance Agency and we've been with Blue Star from the beginning, providing Mark with the right insurance protection at the best possible price.

That's our job, and we work hard at it. After all, it's one thing to insure a business, it's another to protect a dream.

Montana School Songs

"Montana, My Montana," by George H. Greenwood, '04
Our chosen state, all hail to thee,
Montana, my Montana;
Thou hast they portion with the free,
Montana, my Montana.
From shore to shore, from sea to sea,
Oh, may thy name full honored be,
Symbol of strength and loyalty,
Montana, my Montana.

"Up With Montana," by Dick Howell
Up with Montana, boys, down with the foe,
Old Montana's out for a victory;
She'll shoot her backs around the foemen's line;
A hot time is coming how, oh, brother mine.
Up with Montana, boys, down with the foe,
Good old Grizzly'll triumph today;
And the squeal of the pig will float on the air,
From the tummy of the Grizzly Bear.

"Fight, Montana," by "Bill" Kane, 1920
Hail, copper, silver, gold,
Borne by our warriors bold,
'Tis the flag of the grizzly bear;
See those Bruins tearing their way down the field!
We know they never will yield, Montana.
On we'll go and trample down the foe.
Let's go, Montana, we love the fray.
The grizzly fight, fight, fight will bring victory.
Let's go, Montana, we'll win today.

The University of Montana football program is deeply indebted to the many, many people who have given of themselves to help build a successful program. Although not all assistance can be categorized, seven major auxiliaries who have aided the "Team of the 80's," have been formed. The Grizzly football staff founded these seven groups: the Bear Hugs, Academic Bears, Car-bear-aiders, Griz Gals, Bears-in-the-Air, Hy-bear-naters and the Silver and Gold. The Bear Hugs consist of a group of people who aid in the recruitment of student-athletes by attending a recruiting luncheon with the prospective athlete when he visits the UM campus. After the luncheon the Bear Hugs spend approximately two hours with the recruits touring Missoula, introducing their family and talking about life in western Montana. The Bear Hugs then maintain correspondence with the athletes until they enroll at the University, upon which time they become a foster father/mother for the young athletes.

The Academic Bears consist of a group of faculty and staff from the University who attend a recruiting breakfast with the student-athlete who has an academic interest in their particular curriculum. After the breakfast, the Academic Bears give the recruit a tour of the University's academic facilities and explain the advantages of an education at our great University. The Academic Bears also follow up the recruiting visit by corresponding with the recruits and keeping them abreast of any new educational information pertaining to their academic interest. They, too, act as foster parents in many cases.

The Car-bear-aiders consist of a group of automobile dealers who provide the Grizzly football staff with a vehicle to use while recruiting. This is a tremendous savings to the University and enables the coaching staff to identify and contact a greater pool of athletes. The recruiting staff annually drives more than 129,752 miles in recruiting efforts. This would be virtually impossible without the support from the Car-bear-aiders.

The Bears-in-the-Air consist of a group of pilots who provide the Grizzly football staff and recruits with air transportation when time will not permit land travel. The Bears-in-the-Air fly coaches to high school football games during the season enabling the coaches to evaluate student-athletes who otherwise would not be seen due to time and distance in eastern Montana. Once again this is a tremendous savings to the University.

The Hy-bear-naters consist of a group of hotel/motel/property owners who provide the Grizzly coaches and recruits with lodging while on the road or on a recruiting visit. Once again, this is a tremendous savings to the Grizzly recruiting effort and expands and enhances the opportunity to land topnotch student-athletes.

The Grizzly Gals consist of a group of co-eds at the University who provide campus tours for prospective student-athletes. The Grizzly Gals additionally make an evaluation of the recruit, thereby assisting the Grizzly coaches in a total evaluation of each visiting recruit.

The Silver and Gold group is a very large number of people who have helped Grizzly football in many human and financial ways. This group arranges a huge scope of events from personal contact with the students to team dinners at their homes. This group encompasses a total cross-section of Missoula and the state of Montana.

To the groups of people mentioned above, the Grizzly coaches and athletes say a huge "Thank You!"
