THE State University of Montana welcomes the students and teachers of the high schools of the State and rejoices in their presence on the campus. Students and faculty of the University alike desire to make your visit both happy and profitable. We want to make Interscholastic Week consist entirely of red-letter days both for you and for us.

Those who come to the Interscholastic know what it is to win by developing their powers of mind and body. The State University and her sister institutions of the greater University of Montana open wide the doors of opportunity to high school graduates who possess the ambition and the energy needed for still higher training; such young people are the hope and safeguard of the State and the Nation.

The President of the United States said recently: "Schools of all kinds must go on in spite of the war." The Army and Navy are calling insistently for educated men; the government needs educated men and women, too, in its vast activities; the world of industry and commerce demands more and more schooling in all its more responsible workers. On the other hand, the war is thinning terribly the ranks of trained men in all the countries involved. The whole world is facing a shortage of higher education such as it has never before seen. What are we going to do about it? This problem is one of the chief reasons why the Interscholastic, one of the most important joint activities of the schools and the University should go on—not in spite of the war, but even more because of the war.

EDWARD O. SISSON,

President.

Watch for Them

The Sammies are coming for Track Meet,
The Sailors and Nurses, too;
If you want to help the Red Cross,
Just take one home with you.

Watch for the Delta Gamma Girls.
