FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST SCHEDULED

The Law School Admission Test will be given on the Montana State University campus, Missoula, on Saturday, August 10, Dean Robert E. Sullivan announced. The test is required of all applicants for admission to the next term of the MSU Law School, which will begin in September.

The test, used nationally since 1948, is given at selected testing centers throughout the country, but the correction and scoring are done by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N. J. Applications for the test should be mailed to the Educational Testing Service in time to reach Princeton at least 10 days before the test is given in Missoula, Dean Sullivan said. Application blanks and information can be obtained from the MSU Law School.

No specific legal knowledge is needed to answer the test questions, which are designed to measure ability to read, to reason, and to evaluate arguments, Dean Sullivan said. The test is a requirement for admission to the Law School, but application for the test does not constitute application for admission to the Law School, he added.
