MONTANA FOR MONTANANS

SENIORS ARE BOOSTERS

CLASS OF 1910 HAVE CHARGE OF
LAST OFFICIAL CONVOCATION OF ACADEMIC YEAR.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

The Work and Operation of New Students' Committee Are Made Known to the Public.

Probably the most enthusiastic meeting of the students yet held this year at the University, was the last regular Convocation yesterday morning, which was in entire charge of the Senior Class. Speeches by members of the class together with remarks by President Duniway and J. J. Moore, '07, filled the hour and helped to foster the boosting spirit that has taken a firm hold on the student body this spring.

Announcements.

In his preliminary remarks President Duniway spoke of the many attractions on the program for Commencement Week and in particular about the play which will be given on next Tuesday evening. "Le Malade Imaginaire" will be repeated for the benefit of those visitors and others who did not witness it when it made its first appearance in April. The annual Clarkia address by E. C. Mulroney, the Alumni banquet, the Class Day exercises, the Commencement exercises, the University banquet and the Reception to be given by President and Mrs. Duniway on Thursday evening; each of these were mentioned and should be patronized liberally by the student body and their friends. After making these few remarks the meeting was turned over to President Leech of the Senior Class.

President Leech.

"We are nearly through with our college course. In a week we will become alumni and will go forth into the world. We may go to other schools, and in time come back to Montana; we may come back to visit here, but it will never be like our own life has been here while students. The University here does not consist of the campus and the buildings; it is ourselves. When we go out into the world and hear about the University, it is about the students here that we learn. So we are going out into the world and when we are out we will try to do our best so that the school may be better honored in this manner than if we had not."

"Montana for Montanans."

Mr. Leech first called on May Graham to speak on "Montana for Montanans." Miss Graham spoke of the University and of its advantages, but that these were useless unless those people who should know them were cognizant of the significant things we had here. "We must talk and talk hard, and who is better able to talk than we who have taken these advantages and have profited by them? Some of the high school graduates will feel as though they should go where their parents did. This is natural, but it is up to us to get out and inform them about their State University; why it is better for them than other schools and why they should

KAIMIN OFFICIALS CHOSEN

C. S. McCowan Is Editor and D. D. Richards Is Business Manager For the Ensuing Year.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the University Press Club in the Faculty Room, Mr. Charles McCowan was unanimously elected Editor in Chief of the Kaimin for the ensuing year. Mr. Dudley Richards was chosen Business Manager and will handle the finances of the paper for the following year.

The election of Mr. McCowan as editor is accepted by the students as a recognition of the faithful work that he has done on the paper. Ever since the founding of The Weekly Kaimin, a year and a half ago, McCowan has most successfully served in the capacity as Editor, and it has been chiefly through his efforts that the paper has been as successful as it has. His election to the position of President of the A. S. U. M. last week is a tribute paid him by the student body and no doubt with the experience that McCowan has had on the paper, he will be more successful next year than before. Several improvements are contemplated in the paper, and the patrons of The Kaimin may well expect one of the best papers in the northwest next year.

Mr. Richards has very successfully served in the capacity of Assistant Business Manager of the paper for the past year. His experience this year and last have particularly fitted him for his work and without doubt the financial part of the work will be handled next year with the greatest of efficiency. Mr. Richards will be a Junior next year and during his college work has associated himself with the business management of several enterprises and has had much experience in this line.

AN ALUMNA ARRIVES.

Miss Jennie M. Lyng, '09, arrived in Missoula yesterday to spend the Commencement Week. She has been teaching for the past year at Dupuyer, Teton County.

Y. M. C. A. HAVE ELECTION

R. C. W. FRIDAY ELECTED PRESIDENT FOR NEXT YEAR IN PLACE OF C. J. FORBIS.

NEW CABINET APPOINTED

Mr. Gale Seaman, Northwest Secretary For the Association, Reports Organization Is Satisfactory.

Mr. Gale Seaman, the Y. M. C. A. college secretary for the Pacific Northwest, was in Missoula Thursday and Friday, and had an opportunity to awaken an interest in the Y. M. C. A. work and to make arrangements with some of the men to attend the summer conference. Thursday morning a special assembly was called for half an hour and Mr. Seaman spoke to the students, telling them of the work of the Christian associations in other colleges and expressing a satisfaction at the work done this year at the University. He told of the active interest that was sweeping the institutions of the middle states and spoke somewhat at length of the work in the northwest.

Friday New President.

After his talk, the association held a regular meeting, at which time Mr. Forbis presented his resignation as president of the association, giving as his reasons the fact that he does not expect to be here next year. Nominations were then called for and Mr. Richard Friday was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year. It was necessary then that some rearrangement be made concerning the cabinet and at a later time Mr. Friday announced the men who are to constitute the new cabinet. They are: Bible study, R. C. Friday; Missions, Carl Cameron; Social, R. W. Weeks; Public meeting, M. S. Bullerick; New student, J. B. Taylor.

Cabinet Meeting.

At a meeting of the cabinet, held Friday evening, plans for the conference

SENTINEL STAFF APPOINTED

A. W. O'Rourke and F. E. Thieme Make Important Appointments of Who Will Edit 1911 Sentinel.

Hardly has the work ceased on one annual of the varsity when the staff for the ensuing year must commence their duties. Before the ink has dried on the 1911 Sentinel the staff of the 1912 Sentinel will be assigned and ready to start to work on their own annual. Editor in Chief O'Rourke and Business Manager Thieme have selected the following staff to aid them in the production of the 1912 Year book, and though active work will probably not commence until next September, the staff will have the summer months to devote to preliminary work:

Organization Editor, Clarence H. Buck; Associates, D. D. Richards, Birdie Hunter, Cornelia McFarlane, Grace Rankin, Helen Metcalf, Cecil Kramer, Angus Chisholm.

Athletic Editor, E. A. Winstanley; Associates, Fred F. Buck, E. K. Lovett.

Local Editor, Fay Kent; Associates, Maude Johnson, Gertrude Whipple.

Art Editor, Nan Vivian; Associate, Ruth Wilkins.

THE SENIOR KAIMIN.

Following a custom now in vogue among other colleges, the Senior Class will have charge of the last number of the Weekly Kaimin. The present issue is the last to be edited by the present staff, and next week the Seniors will have complete charge of the last issue of the Kaimin for this school year. It will be called the Senior Kaimin and will appear on next Wednesday, immediately following the Class Day exercises.

FACULTY PLAN VACATION

RECREATION, INSTRUCTION AND SIMPLE LIFE SEEM TO BE WITH THE PROFESSORS

N. E. A. WILL BE THE MECCA

Some Intend to Spend the Vacation in the Mountains, While Many Go to the East.

In a week Commencement will be over, and faculty and students will be scattered over the state and the country for their vacations. The students for the most part will spend their vacations at home, but not so the faculty. Many weeks of planning during the winter months are now nearer realization, and in a few days they will be free to execute their plans.

Some Will Go to N. E. A.

Among those who will attend the National Education association at Boston during the first week in July are President Duniway, Professors Aber and Reynolds. From Boston, President Duniway will make an extended visit with several of the larger universities, Columbia, Chicago, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Cornell and others. He will then visit with relatives in Portland, Ore., returning from there for the opening of school this fall. Professor Aber will spend his summer in the New England states, giving all his time to recreation. Professor Reynolds intends studying in the Boston library for several weeks, after which he will spend the remainder of the summer at his home in Wisconsin.

Some Will Teach.

Others in the faculty will be busy with either school or research work. Among these are Dr. Book, who is on the teaching staff at Indiana University in the Department of Philosophy. Mr. Arthur will spend a month or more in research work at the University of Missouri and will then spend the remainder of the summer at his home. Both Professors Plant and Carey will be occupied during the summer with research work at the University. Both intend to take several recreation trips to the mountains.

Some of the faculty are going to devote the entire summer to the simple life. "What am I going to do? Why, fish! fish! Where? Down at my home in Tennessee." This was Professor Thompson's answer, and Miss Smith likewise was going to do as little this summer as was possible.

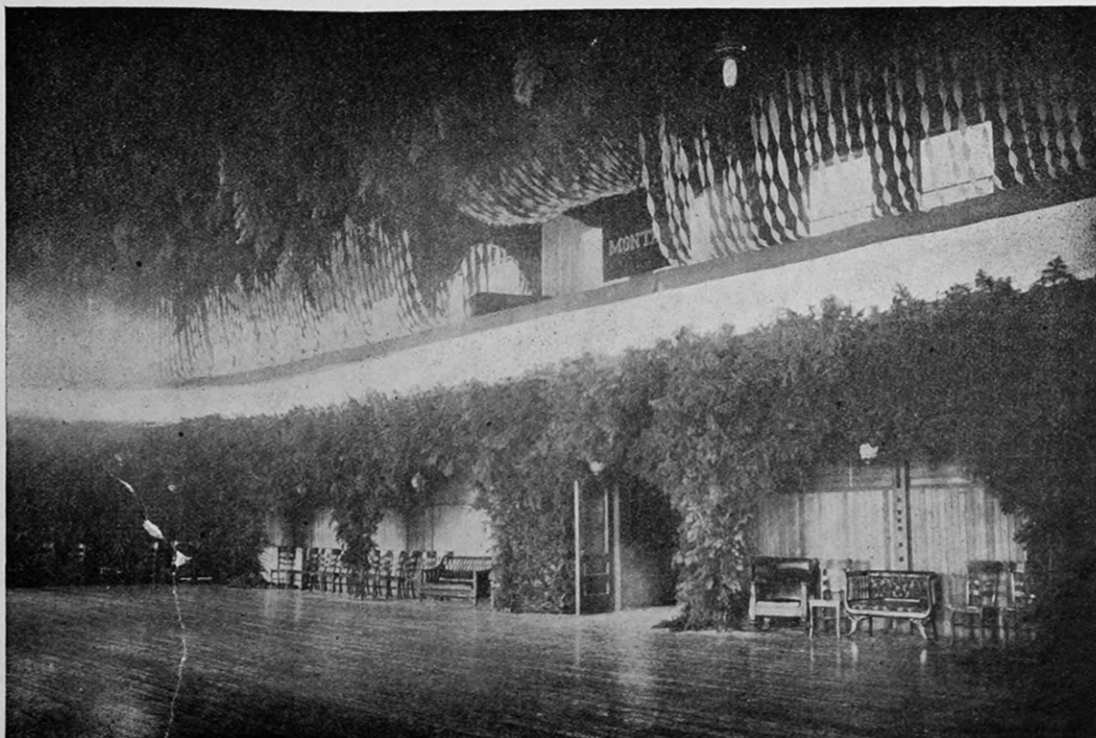

Elrod Is Director.

Dr. Elrod will be occupied with his summer Biological Station up at Flathead Lake and will do other work in the mountains near at hand. Dr. Rowe will also be occupied during the summer working on two books which he intends publishing this fall on the subject of mineralogy and geology in Montana. These will include a special study of the Coeur d'Alene mining region from Missoula to the Idaho line.

Two Go to Europe.

Those who have planned to take extended trips are Miss Stewart and Miss Knowles.

FOR SERVICES RENDERED.

The year is done. The last Kaimin has rolled from the press and Volume III, is closed with this issue. The past year now stands on "paper in printer's ink, so that, whatever evil the passing staff has done, will live after them, and whatever good, must be commended ere it is too late.

To the chance observer it would be a surprise to know that during the academic year 1909-1910, the Weekly Kaimin staff has written thirty-five issues. This means that the staff for thirty-five weeks, week in and week out, have loyally stayed with their post and have faithfully performed the various duties that have been assigned to them. Of course, it is impossible to choose such a staff that sometime or other is not inclined to "sluff;" but as a whole, the staff has done its work well.

Then again, these people have served earnestly and faithfully, with no hope of a financial reward, with no promise of salaries. Being outside the jurisdiction of the A. S. U. M., there has been no hope for a letter as a reward, nor has there ever been any expectation

Ten Reasons Why You Should Come to the University of Montana

I. It is the ONLY institution in the state giving a complete college course of instruction.

II. It is the ONLY college in Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, without preparatory students, and thus entitled to be ranked as a higher institution of learning.

III. Its faculty has a larger percentage of instructors with higher degrees than that of any other institution in the northwest; 43 per cent of its faculty are Ph. D.s, and over 25 per cent studied abroad.

IV. It is a small school; every student has personal attention and assistance, and over 90 per cent of the Freshmen work is under the heads of departments.

V. It is the champion of the state in Oratory, Football and Track. It has a modernly equipped Gymnasium and the best athletic field in the Northwest.

VI. It is the ONLY school in the state at which national fraternities have established chapters.

VII. It is the ONLY school in the state which fits its students for the Rhodes scholarships at Oxford—worth $4,500—Montana graduates now hold scholarships and fellowships at Oxford, Chicago, Harvard, The Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a larger number in other schools have not been taken because there were not enough students to accept them.

VIII. It is the only school in the state giving instruction in Forestry.

IX. It has the largest educational library in the state.

X. It is situated in Missoula, one of the most beautiful of Montana cities, with magnificent scenic, agricultural and business facilities, a fine theater, visited by the best companies, numerous churches and two transcontinental railroads.

There are a hundred other reasons. Write for information catalogues, etc., to any student registered in the University, or to the President or Registrar.

tion of honorable mention. They have been too busy, heretofore, to think of such things; but now as the last issue goes to press we, the staff of the Weekly Kaimin, vote ourselves an appropriate salary and attempt to collect it by "cold lead."

So, then, this editorial has been "dubbed" the mutual admiration page. Take it as you may, we are simply collecting our wages in a roundabout way.

Assistant Editor.

A newspaper must have news. It also, must have a man that is able to get the news. These two are fundamental in the success of a paper. For the past year, Arthur W. O'Rourke has efficiently held down the position of assistant editor, which, in plainer words, means the news editor. He has had to keep all the events and doings of the week in the college world at his pencil's point. At all times he has been responsible for three pages of the paper. To fill these sometimes was a task, and in the emergency, O'Rourke invented, "What One Will See"—a column in which appeared, cleverly written humorous stories, depicting scenes on the campus. To say the least, the efficient and praiseworthy method in which the assistant editor performed his labors has contributed largely to the success of the paper. Thus, publicly, to the students of the University and to the readers of the Weekly Kaimin, we thank Mr. O'Rourke for the work he has done on the Kaimin.

Managing Editor.

Perhaps you do not know the duties of a managing editor? The man who assumes this position, is the go-between for the printer and the staff. It is he who yells for copy and oftentimes writes his own copy. He is responsible to the staff for the appearance of the paper from week to week. He writes the headlines and, in fact, is the representative of the staff in the printing office. This most arduous position on the paper has been filled during the past year by William A. Bennett.

To be satisfied whether he has worked well, look back over your old Kaimins and see the headlines, the pictures, and all the "nifty wrinkles" that tend to make the Weekly Kaimin one of the "classiest" sheets in the college northwest, and then you, as we are, will be satisfied that Bennett's labors have not been in vain.

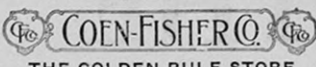

Reporters.

The paper will speak for the reporters. The contents of every issue will be a frank judge of the merit of each reporter.

Robt. C. Line, although president of the Associated Students and always interested in a dozen other things, has always had time to drop into the office and get the "story for next week." Line's record on the Kaimin is hard to beat. As one of its founders, he enthusiastically became its first managing editor and during this year, he has been the head reporter. His duty has been to gather in all the leading stories of the week. That he has made good, the headlines will testify and "Bob" Line may leave college with the satisfaction that the Kaimin has succeeded and that his efforts were factors in its success.

Perhaps Miss Feighner, as alumni reporter, should receive double thanks. She has contributed to the local columns and also has kept the alumni subscribers posted on the news of the University and the Alumni Association. Fay Wright and Helen Wear are the Hall and the Society reporters. Their notes in a way have given the paper its real worth. Although on the staff but one semester, Hazel Lyman has the unique record of always "being on time." As Intercollegiate editor Miss Lyman has never yet failed to have her notes on the hook at the appointed time. We give thanks to Cecil Dobson for serving as a reporter in the School of Engineering.

These reporters have served well. Although not prominent positions on the staff, it was only by united action that we have been able to accomplish anything, and we hope that this year's L'envoi.

As to the editor, the work is done; the past year has been strenuous. The critics may have been right, our failures may have been commented upon and faculty censure may have been necessary. No matter now; the task is done.

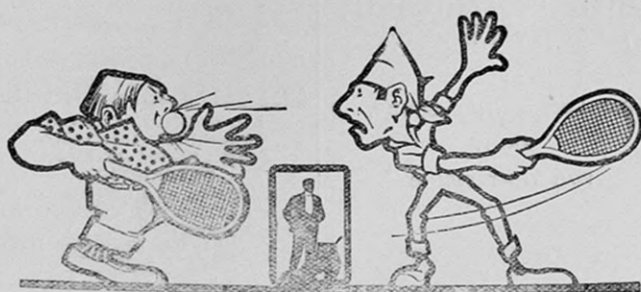

But after all in spite of the many drawbacks, there is satisfaction. The hope of success and the desire of improvement have been spurs to action and the satisfaction of accomplishment and the knowledge of beginning a worthy institution in the University are well worth the time, the thought and the worry that have been expended upon the paper. And, finally, we repeat, if you, the readers of the Kaimin are satisfied with our policy and our results, then we are satisfied. We thank you.

The Business Manager's "Thank You."

As assistant business manager, Dudley Richards has been very efficient. Mr. Richards has now had two years active experience in the business department of the Kaimin and he is a very able man for the position which he is to fill next year as business manager of our weekly paper. The editor and his assistants may think that they have a hard time with their writing; they may often think that they have a hard time in selecting the right word to use in the right place, but the trials of such work are no worse than those of the advertising manager, who collects the money on the ads and strikes every business man in the city in trying to get more advertisements. This position has been creditably filled by Mr. Fred Thieme. Mr. Thieme is to manage the next Sentinel and his services on the Kaimin have been of the very highest order. Both of his assistants, Baker, who looked after getting the changes and, Mason, who tried to satisfy the advertisers by showing them that it paid to advertise in the Kaimin, have served well and are to be complimented on the way in which they have carried out their share of the work. Our paper was running on a paying basis when we got the ads, but we could never have gotten these ads if it had not been for our circulation. And for this we are obligated to such men as Mackay, Wells, Buck and Speer. Week after week these men have either folded, wrapped, addressed, distributed or mailed papers to go all over the globe. The work is often tedious and somewhat discouraging, but these men have done their part throughout the year without making the least complaint. The circulation this year has probably not been what it should have been and has certainly not been what we would like to have made it, but we have made a start and next year it ought to be better, and we trust will be better.

The University of Montana is indebted to the editorial staff for what its paper has been, but we of the management in our humble way have tried to do our part in contributing to its success and we, too, hope that our services have been satisfactory.

come here. Many of us alumni will stay here in the state after leaving school and it is especially our duty to see that the University with all its advantages is placed before the attention of all the high school graduates."

Championships

Miss Graham was followed by Thayer Stoddard, who spoke on "Athletics." "While it is true that we have won the championship this last year in football, oratory and in track, yet this is due not entirely to the men who have gone out and done the work, but also to those who have coached and aided us. We have had the services of three of the best men Cornell, Yale and Harvard have put out. They have helped us well and we have borne the fruits. A man should not go primarily to college for athletics, but it should have its share. You will find that the athlete who has won his "M" is as good a student and that he probably has won recognition in scholarship if not in oratory or debate. To those men in the high school who are especially interested in athletics we should endeavor to inform regarding our excellent athletic advantages to be gained here. The best track in the northwest as well as the best gymnasium in the state. We have every facility for athletics and while it is true we have won the championship, we should also make it our duty to win it for the next two and three years."

University Facilities.

Lamar Maclay then spoke on the facilities at Montana for taking up whatever course a student would like. "From the old system of required work the University has progressed to the present system of major and minor work where there are only two courses which are required, Gymnasium and English. In any one of the departments of University one can take up a major, and in any one of the departments there are sufficient courses offered to give a student a minor. To illustrate this, there are thirty-one courses in Chemistry offered, twenty-three in Psychology and Philosophy, and twenty-two in Mineralogy and Geology. The present movement among the technical and professional schools over the country is the requirement from one to four years of undergraduate college work before admittance will be accepted. This means that the first three or four years of college work which should be general in nature may be taken at the University of Montana as well as in any other school in the country."

Advantages of Montana.

"The advantages of Montana to the Engineer and the Forester" was the general subject on which William J. Tait next addressed the students. "Montana has the best Forestry school west of the Mississippi," he said, "situated as it is among the great National Forest districts. In addition the offices of Forest District Number One are located at Missoula, offering additional advantages to the Forester or the prospective student in Forestry. In engineering we have had a faculty of three during the past year and this will be increased to four by next semester. For courses in Mechanical, Civil and Electrical Engineering, we have unexcelled facilities, enlarged laboratories, efficient teaching staff, adequate facilities, and opportunities of experiment work at the local plants of the Missoula Light and Water Company, the Big Blackfoot Lumber Company, and the division shops of the Northern Pacific railroad."

The Best Speech.

That the University has advantages for the preparation of students for advanced work was proved without doubt by Josiah J. Moore, '07, who has been attending Rush Medical College at Chicago for the past year. Speaking specifically, he said: "In the matter of scholarships, our graduates this year have been offered scholarships at Columbia, Pennsylvania, Chicago, Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Iowa, University of Kansas, and other schools. This goes to show that where there are fifty men to each scholarship offered, that the preparation received by students at Montana must be equalled by none. Boost all of the time for your school. Talk to everybody and anybody whom you see. Get them interested and keep after them, for Montana has a University as good as any. Someone this morning said that we were young. We are no younger than the University of Chicago and that school has 6,000 students. The University of Chicago has John D. Rockefeller behind it and we have the great State of Montana, the richest in possibilities and the third largest in size in the Union. Which will win out in the end? Keep after it until every high school graduate in the state comes to the University and the time will come when from one end of the state to the other the old yell will ring out: 'Whenever, wherever, whatever, forever, Montana.'

New Student Committee.

He was followed by Miss Burke who spoke on the work of the committee whose special purpose was the gathering of material and facts regarding the University, which would be helpful toward setting the advantages of the University before prospective students. The success of the committee's work was already evidenced by the speeches of those who had preceded her.

The Slogan.

The last of the Seniors to speak was Robert C. Line, who gave to the student body their slogan for next year, "One Hundred and Fifty New Students for Next Year." If present anticipations are realized the present Freshman Class will see an increase of over two hundred students at the time they are graduated. As our value as alumni will greatly depend upon the size of the University, the larger the University the better it will serve us as alumni.

ence were discussed. It was decided that the following men will represent the association, which is to be held this year at Columbia Beach: Richard Friday, Clarence Forbis, Milton Mason and Carl Cameron. It may be possible to send one or two other men, and if possible every effort will be made for them to go. After giving the men encouragement for the coming year's work, and talking with several about their particular work, Mr. Seaman left Friday evening for Bozeman, where he is to visit the agricultural college.

FACULTY PLAN VACATION.

Miss Stewart will meet Miss Knowles in Chicago and together they will tour Europe, returning this fall in time for the opening of school. Dr. Underwood is going to spend the entire summer in recreation, visiting with relatives in West Virginia and Baltimore, and going from thence to New York and Boston.

Many Will Stay in Missoula.

Miss Corbin will probably spend the summer on the coast in recreation. Dr. Kirkwood will spend a very enjoyable summer among the national forests in Montana and Idaho, studying in particular for the forestry course at the University and thus combining pleasure and duty. Professor Rhodes will spend the summer in Missoula taking numerous jaunts through the mountains of the state. He is an advocate of the "outdoor" life and will spend as much time in the open as possible. Professor Scheuch will spend the summer in Missoula, as will also Mr. Speer, taking short pleasure trips to nearby points.

Yellowstone Park Is a Mecca.

Mr. Dana will leave Saturday for Cambridge, where he will take a month's vacation at the beach. From there he will go to Elmira, New York, where he will commence his engineering duties. Prof. Richter will be occupied during the summer months with business, taking several extended trips both to the coast and in the east. The library staff will spend a month or more in recreation. Both Miss Buckhouse and Miss Feighner have announced their intentions of taking a trip through the National Park. Thus the faculty will be scattered over the country and even some in Europe. All

BULLERDICK AT OREGON.

At the Interstate Oratorical Contest held last Friday evening in Villard Hall at the University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon, Glen H. Hoover, representing the University of Washington took first place, Mr. Harold Rounds of Oregon, secured second place, while Millard S. Bullerdick of Montana took third. Mr. Hoover spoke on "America's Opportunity," and handled his subject in an able and convincing manner, completely winning his audience. The subject of Mr. Rounds' oration was "The Public Service," and in this he spoke of modern conditions wherein we should devote ourselves to the public cause. His delivery was especially pleasing and he presented his matter in a very able manner. Mr. Bullerdick spoke on "The Challenge of the Age," the oration which won for him the Buckley Oratorical Prize, as well as the gold medal in the State Contest held here last spring.

Well Entertained.

In speaking of the trip, Mr. Bullerdick said: "The boys at Oregon outdid themselves to show us a good time. We arrived at Eugene late Thursday and on Friday I had the pleasure of witnessing the big track meet between the University of Oregon and the team from Washington State College. Three Pacific Coast records were broken in the meet, which was won by the University of Oregon."

"The contest was held in the evening at Villard Hall, and I am satisfied with the result. Both representatives had magnificent orations and delivered them in an excellent manner. The University has a good opportunity to win this contest if interest in oratory is maintained next year. Next year it will be held at the University of Washington, at Seattle, and just as interesting a contest is expected."

Praise for Manager Steele.

"Much praise is due to Clarence A. Steele, President of the Oratorical Association for his efficient work in handling the contest this year. For judges on thought and composition, he secured the services of Professors Auldman, of Stanford, Byman of the University of Wisconsin, and Professor Shurter of the University of Texas. In their decision they gave Mr. Hoover two firsts. He also secured two firsts in delivery, which won the contest. I am entirely satisfied with the results of the contest and hope that the University will be able to land it next year."

HIGH SCHOOL INSPECTION

During the last weeks of the school year, President Duniway has been especially busy with his inspection work among the high schools of the state. In addition to his work of inspection he has accepted a number of invitations to make Commencement addresses and these he is busy fulfilling as they come. Last week was mainly occupied with a visit of inspection to the Kalispell High School. This he found to be in a satisfactory condition. In his work along this line he has found a progressive development in all the high schools of the state. Some of the high schools are contemplating and even some already making additions to the faculty, adding courses and making additions to the buildings. Throughout the state there is evidenced the work of development. Next Year there will be probably five or six high schools that will apply for admission to the accredited list, which will make it larger and will mark the development of high school work.

On next Monday will occur the semi-annual meeting of the State Board of Education at Helena, at which time President Duniway will make his regular report.
