MSU SUMMER SESSION BEGINS JUNE 16

Registration for the summer session at Montana State University, Missoula, will be Monday, June 16, and classes will begin the next day, MSU officials announced.

Summer session courses ranging from anthropology to zoology will be offered by the University. Students may attend the first five-week session (June 17-July 18), the second session (July 21 - August 22), or both.

In addition to the regular curriculum, the summer program will feature a variety of short conferences and institutes in education, business, music teaching, creative writing, theater, and many other fields.

The summer-session staff of nearly 100 MSU faculty members will be supplemented by 45 visiting staff members.
