      1. BM Schafer: the first round of floor meetings happened already, so we would need to contact residence life

- d. UM President Bodnar
  - a. Butler: Please speak about changes in student affairs, especially with the Dean of Students
    - a. Bodnar: in Spring, announced a restructure in University leadership to better articulate the story of the university
      1. Brought together recruitment/admissions and communications to coordinate
      2. Brought together academic student support and out of the classroom services
      3. In process of hiring Vice Provost for Student Success, including student representation
    - b. Right now, we have an acting director of student affairs (Amy Capalupo) who works with Brian French in Office of Student Success. Also work with student conduct officer
    - c. Reconsidering what the scope of Dean of Students should be, beyond just conduct issues
    - d. Bodnar cannot address individual employees’ situations
      1. Voorhees is on leave and an employee in good standing with the university
    - e. UM is focused on supporting its students most effectively
  - b. UM is poised to be a model for higher education nationally
    - a. Quality with accessibility will transform lives and enable our students to change their communities
    - b. Our job is to give opportunity to every student we can
    - c. We are going through a transition and wants student feedback
  - c. Questions:

- a. Carpenter: What are the options for positions in student affairs with increased workloads? How can they give feedback about their experiences?
  1. Putting these student affairs offices together should enable more successful collaboration among these offices
  2. We are working to identify the best staffing structure for this increased workload
  3. Not strategic reductions in this area in the past have not helped, so we are looking to identify the best structure
  4. We need to make sure that academic resources are allocated as effectively as possible across departments, according to student demand
  5. By increasing our retention rate (1st to 2nd year) and investments in people and processes, we can pay for these improvements in student experience and improve the lives of students
- b. Brown: As students on campus, a lot of interactions are brief. How would you tell the story of our institution? What is a clear version of the story?
  1. Bodnar: The answer to why UM? Is quality and accessibility. We play a critical role in our state and country. We are an elite education for people from many different starting points. When we talk to students, we can talk about the unique opportunities of a UM education. World-class programs in arts, sciences, professional schools, etc. Students here have the opportunity to be diverse and work across disciplines. Students need to be able to adapt and grow.
- c. Willmus: How will the students of Missoula College get support like the main campus students?
  1. Bodnar: We are working hard to improve this. How can students at MC be more aware of and able to participate in UM welcome activities? They don't have a plan yet, but they are working on making it a focus.
  2. Putting some student services over at MC. Improving transportation between the campuses. We are looking for your comments, especially from MC students.
- d. Cowley: Student insurance at the university has become cost-prohibitive and I am not aware of how students can learn about other options.
  1. Butler: We have been working with someone at Curry Health Center on this issue

- e. Parsons: Can you talk about the relationship between the UM Foundation and main campus? I have been hearing complaints about codependency, and that the University is relying too much on the Foundation
  - 1. Bodnar: the Foundation is a non-profit entity that has an agreement with UM. UM and the Foundation work together to create priorities for fundraising, which the Foundation then enacts. Starting a new campaign in October, which will be informed by campus priorities, decided on by the UM community
- f. Borstad: the Office for Student Success and advising is a complete mess. They need to know the prerequisites. I have been hearing complaints from students. Also there is understaffing in DSS. Also, ADA compliance needs to be a priority with the Foundation. Also residence halls. Also we need more parking on campus.
  - 1. Bodnar: The University needs to address ADA compliance and we are working within budget constraints to address it. The people in OSS and advising are working really hard.
- g. Belcher: I have had so many students talk with me about misinformation during advising from advisors and course registration at MC and UM. Is advising playing any role in the restructure of OSS?
  - 1. Bodnar: Absolutely. We are looking at national best practices for advising and student success. It takes resources, but we need to invest in them. Provost Harbor has been working hard on this. We know that advising is key to student success. Some of this means more people, and some of it is better tools.
  - 2. I would ask the Enrollment and Retention Committee to make substantive recommendations. What are you hearing from high school students? What can students do to help us there? Where are the spots that students are having trouble?
- d. 5 minute recess
  - a. Move by Cowley, second by Belcher, unanimous consent

    - ii. Borstad: we are supposed to make relationships with students
    - iii. Brown: I don't have an opinion, but this has changed the meaning of the sentence
    - iv. Borstad: we should keep them separate because we don't just empower them to build relationships
    - v. Amendment fails
  - b. The resolution passes 21-2-0

- m. SB03-18/19 Resolution Regarding Core Values
  - a. Brown: Why are these our values?
  - b. Corkish: Bodnar did a good job of describing the kinds of students at UM and we should take that into account without taking away from diversity, but I'm not sure how
  - c. Borstad: I don't like keeping the same values, but this Senate is better than last year's senate at doing these things, and I also think diversity is the best word for what we are describing, and can refer to many things. Transparency is also important
  - d. Brown: (to Borstad) Why is it important for our senate to have values?
    - i. Borstad: I didn't hold myself to these standards until I was a senator, and I now have a better appreciation of diversity. I also try to be transparent. I want to be innovative on issues students care about. We need to do something and not just sit here.
  - e. Cowley: Being interdisciplinary and celebrating that on campus is important. You can't be diverse if you don't celebrate being interdisciplinary. We should interpret diversity to mean being interdisciplinary
  - f. Belcher: Part of being a good leader is recognizing that we don't need to fix what isn't broken. We should look at how we are using our time
  - g. Iverson: We should have values and be an example. A lot of kids coming out of high school don't have values, and we should be an example to them
  - h. Willmus: Not all values have to be universal. We all have personal values, so we don't have to include all our personal values on this list. The list should stay on universal values
  - i. Borstad: People will ask you about your core values and ethics, and I know that some of these values are also my personal values. These values can help us outside of senate, too.
  - j. The resolution passes 20-3-0
