OUTSTANDING UM SENIORS HONORED AT SPECIAL CEREMONY

MISSOULA —

More than 80 outstanding members of The University of Montana—Missoula’s 1996 graduating class were honored recently at the ninth annual UM President’s Senior Day of Recognition awards ceremony.

The students, honored April 20, were chosen for academic excellence, leadership and service, each student representing a different campus department, program or organization.

The outstanding seniors from Missoula and their nominators are Elizabeth Ann Ballinger, business administration; Joelle Betty, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship; Christa Burnham, microbiology; Katherine Couture, linguistics; Kelly MacDonald, accounting; Dwayne MacInnes, UM Fencing Club; Philip Melton, Anthropology Club; Laura Smitherman, medical technology; Cammie Sullivan, Students Tutoring Students; and Stephanie Washington, psychology.

The honorees include four Kalispell students: Joseph Brothers, athletic training; Sevy Germain, Volunteer Action services; Gail Hollo, health and human performance; and Steven Lympus, Honors Student Association.

Honorees from Stevensville are Margaret Byrd, art; and Paige Dopp, UM Flute Choir.

Among the other students honored are Sunny Altemeder of Paradise, curriculum and instruction; Kevin Deneson of Polson, pharmaceutical sciences; Pelah Hoyt of Arlee, Asian studies; Wanda James of Superior, sociology; Melinda List of Hamilton, decision sciences;
Michael Meehan of Seeley Lake, recreation management; Tami Reschke of Condon, resource management; and Barbara Wallace of Kila, French.

Senior Day of Recognition is sponsored by the Pentralia Chapter of Mortar Board, the Alumni Association and the University Center Bookstore.
