UM MUSIC FACULTY OFFER SUMMER VOCAL CAMP FOR YOUTHS

MISSOULA –

Teen-agers who would rather sing in a choir than around a campfire this summer are invited to a choral/vocal camp at The University of Montana—Missoula Sunday through Saturday, July 7-13.

Students who have completed grades eight through 12 will have the opportunity to sing together, attend vocal master classes and have private lessons with UM music department faculty members, including soprano Anne Basinski, mezzo soprano Esther England and tenor Gary Funk. The camp will feature opera workshops, a vocal jazz ensemble and recitals.

Cost of the weeklong camp is $300 and includes cafeteria meals and housing in UM residence halls. For those who commute daily, the cost is $120 and does not include meals. Camp faculty will award a limited number of scholarships to cover a portion of the fee based on taped auditions and letters of recommendation.

For more information, write camp director Esther England, UM Summer Choral/Vocal Camp, Department of Music, The University of Montana, Missoula, MT 59812, or call (406) 243-6880.

Contact:  Esther England, UM music professor, (406) 243-2182.
