AREA STUDENT ELECTED TO UM INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

MISSOULA --

The Interfraternity Council at The University of Montana-Missoula has elected and installed eight executive board members, including one area student.

Cory Myers of Sandpoint, Idaho, was selected as scholarship chair, his first office in the IFC and the Greek community. Myers, a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, is a freshman majoring in photojournalism.

The Interfraternity Council at UM is a governing body that organizes the campus' nine fraternities. New members are elected to the IFC executive board each fall, to be installed the following year. Officers serve one-year terms and are elected by the previous IFC, which includes two members of each fraternity and the executive board members.
