UM Conceptual Framework -- Our learning community is characterized by the following elements:

- Integration of Ideas
Members of a learning community look beyond the traditionally subject-oriented curriculum and think about the interrelationships among and between subject areas. They work with a variety of fields of study and search for unifying themes that cross disciplinary lines. There is an emphasis on explaining realities and bringing differing kinds of knowledge to bear on dealing with actual problems.
- Cooperative Endeavors
In a learning community knowing and learning are viewed as communal acts, and members are encouraged to assist each other to learn and grow. There is a commitment to engage all learners cognitively and emotionally in acquiring knowledge that is personally meaningful. In the process members create a cohesiveness that encourages personal responsibility and commitment to the group and its goals.
- Respect for Diversity and Individual Worth
A learning community embraces diversity with respect to ideas, abilities, viewpoints, experiences, learning styles, and cultural backgrounds. Diversity is valued because of the inherent worth of each individual who brings his or her strengths to the community. The ethics of caring and mutual respect are viewed as essential for supportive learning environments that enhance each member's self-esteem and foster risk-taking, creative conflict, and excellence.

Course Description:

The purpose of this course is to help you develop basic musical skills and practice musical activities appropriate for any elementary classroom. Your elementary education courses provide you with the expertise needed in elementary subject areas. This course will present ways to integrate musical experiences with the other subject areas to enhance student learning. Class activities will foster confidence in music making. You will work independently and collaboratively in groups to discuss the presented articles and materials, brainstorm integrated lesson ideas, and create lesson plans. This course will allow you to practice lesson creation, delivery, and assessment, which will serve you in your development as a teacher. *While the focus of this course is elementary, middle school lessons will also be presented when appropriate. If you intend to teach middle school, you may design your lessons as middle school lessons.

Course Objectives:

Students will:

Academic Policies:

- Please see the academic policies section of the course catalog for add/drop deadlines <http://www.umt.edu/catalog/acad/acadpolicy/default.html>
- Attendance: Because this is an active learning class, attendance is required. You are allowed three absences including illnesses. After three absences, your grade will be lowered half a grade (from an A to an A-, etc.). Five absences or more, your grade will be lowered a full grade (from an A to a B, etc.). Three tardies will equal one absence. It is your responsibility to check in with me after class if you arrive after attendance is taken, to ensure that you are marked with a tardy instead of an absence. It is also your responsibility to check your attendance record on Moodle and discuss any discrepancies with me before grades are posted at the end of the semester. I will deal with emergencies on an individual basis.
- Academic Misconduct and the Student Conduct Code ~~entire student~~ practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or disciplinary sanction by the University. All students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct Code. The Code is available for review online at <http://www.umt.edu/SA/VPSA/Index.cfm/page/1321> Plagiarism, cheating, and any other form of academic dishonesty are against school rules and will be reported.
- Study groups are acceptable and encouraged, however assigned work needs to be completed individually, unless otherwise specified. Checking someone's assigned work for grammatical errors is acceptable.
- Cell phones, MP3 players, laptops (for anything other than note taking), and other electronic devices not needed for class are huge distractions. Please turn cell phones to silent before class begins and keep them and other devices stored away during class time. Laptops are acceptable for note taking purposes only.
- Talking about non-related material during class is distracting to other students and will not be permitted. Please keep your comments focused during group discussions.
- Participation in activities is expected. In this class, you will be teaching and participating in lessons that you and other students write for the elementary grade levels. Lack of participation may impact your grade.

- To request academic accommodations due to a disability, please contact the Disability Services for Students office. <http://life.umt.edu/dss/> (406-243-2243). Within the first week of class, please provide me with a copy of the letter you receive from the DSS office that states that you have a disability that requires academic accommodations, so we can discuss the accommodations that you might need in this class.
- If you have a question about a grade you have received in this course, please set up an appointment with me.

Grading Procedure: Work will be graded on a point system that will be translated into a percentage at the end of the term. The total number of points that you can receive is 1,000.

- Work turned in less than a week late from the original due date will be lowered a full grade (from an A to a B, etc.). Work will not be accepted if it is more than a week late. I will deal with emergencies on an individual basis if the student has contacted me and notified me of the emergency in a timely manner.
- Use a computer/word processor for all written assignments.

Notes on Articles: You are expected to do the reading that is assigned. Lectures will touch on, but will not completely cover the material assigned. Each time articles are assigned, you will bring a hard copy of your notes to class for a grade (notes must be one page, typed, 12 point font). Notes may also be typed and presented on a laptop or similar device in class. I will not accept handwritten notes for articles. You may decide the format of your notes (paragraphs, bullet points, etc.). Papers, projects, and the final lesson will all contain material from the readings and classes. You will be given a chance to show your understanding of the reading through group discussions, notes on the articles, and papers.

Lesson Brainstorms: You will be asked to brainstorm lesson ideas for specific musical activities. Each time lesson brainstorms are assigned, you will bring a hard copy to class to turn in for a grade (handwritten or typed, or shown on an electronic device). You may decide the format of your lesson brainstorms (paragraphs, bullet points, etc.). Each lesson brainstorm idea must be clearly explained in detail.

In-class Participation and Assessments: As you will be learning through actively participating in examples of lessons for elementary students, participation and attendance are very important. The class will include a mixture of lecture, group discussion, and active learning experiences, so dress comfortably in order to participate in movement and lesson activities. This class includes some physical exertion for folk dancing, singing games, playing instruments, and other movement activities. Please be aware of your own physical limits and see me if you are uncomfortable with the movement activities.

Workshop Assignment:

During the course of the semester, you will need to attend one general music workshop (offered through the Orff Music Organization, the date will be announced in class). A typed workshop reflection will be due after you have attended. *Please see Moodle for more detailed instructions on these requirements. If you are unable to attend the Orff music workshop, an alternate assignment is available on Moodle. The workshop reflection is due by Wednesday, October 2nd, 2013.

Music Collection Project: Throughout the semester, you will be asked to list music and books that could be used to effectively teach concepts in the elementary classroom. We will share these lists with each other (due dates and concepts will be provided at the start of this project). For the project, you will choose 20 songs/pieces of music or books and provide lesson ideas for each song or book. Please see Moodle for instructions. The music collection project will be turned in as part of your portfolio.

Lessons: Our goal is to become comfortable with writing and teaching lessons that involve music. Music can be integrated successfully to teach other subjects, and music can be taught for music's sake. Both types of lessons are important for the classroom teacher. You will be asked to write several lessons that involve music for various concepts and purposes. These lessons should be age appropriate for a specific grade (you may choose a grade K-8 for each lesson). You will teach these lessons to the class (more detailed instructions will be provided at the start of this project). *If you already know the grade you would like to teach in your future teaching career, speak with me and we will make the changes needed to make the lesson plan project appropriate for you.

Portfolio: Please see Moodle for instructions for the portfolio.

Final Exam: There is not a final exam for this course.
