Brokaw speaking during UM's annual Dean Stone Lecture

University of Montana--Missoula. Office of University Relations

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.
Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases

Recommended Citation
https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases/15908

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the University Relations at ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Montana News Releases by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
March 25, 1999

Contact: UM School of Journalism, (406) 243-4001.

BROKAW SPEAKING DURING UM’S ANNUAL DEAN STONE LECTURE

MISSOULA–

NBC Nightly News anchor Tom Brokaw will deliver the School of Journalism’s Dean Stone Lecture Saturday, April 17, at The University of Montana.

Brokaw’s speech, “A New Century, Old Problems,” will be at 7:30 p.m. in the University Theatre. General admission tickets for the lecture go on sale Friday, March 26, at the University Center Box Office, the University Theatre and Worden’s Market. General admission tickets are $8, and student tickets are $6.

Brokaw, author of the best-selling book “The Greatest Generation,” agreed to deliver the lecture at the invitation of Don Oliver, a 1958 UM journalism graduate who was an NBC national correspondent for more than 20 years, and who last fall was a visiting professor in the school’s radio-television department.

Brokaw had been scheduled to deliver the Dean Stone Lecture in 1989. His plane was on its way to Missoula when he was called back to New York to cover unfolding events during the Tiananmen Square uprising in China.

The lecture is named after Arthur L. Stone, the first dean of the UM School of Journalism.

Tickets can be charged by calling the ticket office at 1-888-666-8262.

###

CV/cbs
Local, specialized western Brokaw.rl