AMERICAN FORESTERS WILL CONVEENE HERE

To Promote Better Co-Operation Among Forestry Students of United States.

Plans have been formulated for the convention of the Inter-Collegiate Forestry clubs of the United States to be held at the University of Montana, March 8, 9, and 10. Representatives from all the forestry schools in the country will be present and the purpose of the convention will be to promote a better understanding and better co-operation among forestry students throughout the country.

A tentative program of entertainment has been arranged and one of the features proposed is to have a formal dedication of the new forestry building. Another feature proposed which should be of unusual interest to the visitors is to charter a special train and take them on a tour of inspection of the A. C. M. lumber camp at Nine Mile.

President Clapp, Dean Skeels and members of the forestry service will address the visitors. Efforts have been made to have the Missoula section of the Society of United States Foresters meet in conjunction with the convention.

The convention will be in session two days and the third day will be devoted to the entertainment of the visitors. An effort is now being made to have William Greely, chief forester of the United States, address the foresters. The convention will close with a banquet.

LITERARY PRODUCTIONS RANK THIRD IN THE U. S.

Montana State University ranked third among colleges and universities of the United States for student literary production last year, according to the estimate of the publication "College Anthology for 1921-1922."

Lloyd Thompson's "If I Should Go," published in the Frontier, is printed in the Anthology. Six other people received honorable mention for verse. Only two other colleges of 111 educational institutions, ranked higher than the University of Montana.

Those who received honorable mention were: Mary Elizabeth Doerr, '22; Gwendoline Keene, post graduate, '21; Wilda Linderman, '20; Adalouie McAllister, '22; Homer M. Parsons, '21; Jack Stone, '23.

ELECT DIRECTORS OF A. S. U. M. STORE TODAY

The annual election of directors for the A. S. U. M. store board is being held today in Main hall, from 9 till 5. Professor Robert E. Matthews is the only candidate for the position of faculty member of the board. The two other vacancies will be filled by two of the following candidates: Helen Newman, Ruth Dougherty, Clifford Ellis and Delbert Cawley.

PROFESSOR FREEMAN MARRIED WHILE ON LEAVE IN LONDON

Announcements of the marriage of Professor E. L. Freeman to Mary E. Beazell have been received by the English department. The wedding was in London, Wednesday, January 24. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman will be at home at 15 Upper Bedford Place, London, England.

Mr. Freeman is an instructor in the department of English, on leave this year.

EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS AT UNIVERSITY ARE POOR

"Employment conditions at the University are not very good at present," said H. H. Badgley, student employment secretary, yesterday. "Only three more men have applied for work during the last two weeks. One man has been placed on a permanent job. The University has hired a number of extra men on Saturdays when the weather was favorable and this has helped to relieve the shortage of odd jobs."

BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES TO WHITMAN

Nosed Out in Last Minute and a Half of Play; Battle Tonight.

The Montana Grizzlies dropped the first game with Whitman college at Walla Walla last night by the score of 19-17. Rich, the Missionary guard, caged a beauty from the center of the floor, which put his team in the lead. The gun sounded before the ball could be put into play again.

According to reports received in Missoula this morning, the Montana men were in the lead until the last minute and a half of play. Rich slipped in an easy one from under the net, tying the score, and then followed with his counter from center.

The two teams will fight it out again tonight.

Defeats Pacific

Montana climbed out of the Northwest Conference cellar when the fighting Grizzlies defeated Pacific University 27-7 and 15-12 in a two-game series here last Friday and Saturday nights. The final game with the Oregon school was a heart-breaking contest, Montana barely keeping in the lead with a one or two point margin. The exception guarding of Baird and Tanner was the feature of the evening, these men keeping Montana ahead.

The first game was all Montana's, the visitors being unable to solve Montana's short pass system. Tanner was the star of the game. Pacific University had considerable difficulty in locating the hoop during both contests, missing many easy tries from under the basket.

Coach J. Stewart, with seven Grizzly hoopsters left Sunday night for Walla Walla, to play Whitman.

Captain Baird, Tanner, Badgley, McDonnell, Thoreson, G. Dahlberg and O. Dahlberg were taken on the western trip. Porter is still out of the game, with an attack of tonsillitis.

On their way home the Grizzlies will battle the Gonzaga Bulldogs, Thursday. After a day's rest they will take on the Butte Miners on the home floor.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR FORESTER'S ANNUAL BALL

"Everything is now in readiness for the foresters' annual ball to be given February 15," announced Remley Myers, chairman of the entertainment committee, yesterday. "We have limited our sale of tickets to 175," continued Mr. Myers, "so all students who are anxious to attend the best hop of the year had better hurry and secure one."

"An elaborate program has been arranged and every effort is being made to give a better dance than last year. Everything goes but the wearing of hob-nails and white collars."

The cost of the tickets will be $2.00 and may be purchased from members of the forestry school or at the student store.

CARPENTERS VISIT CAMPUS.

Delegates to the state convention of the Carpenters Union, now in session in Missoula, spent most of the afternoon, last Monday, inspecting the new buildings on the campus.

DOCTOR BRANNON QUOTES VERSE AGAIN

At the conclusion of Chancellor Brannon's recent address to the student body a man of the freshman class approached him and asked if he would give again a certain quotation he used in his talk. In a letter received by the Kaimin, Dr. Brannon writes, "this student thought you might like to have a copy of this to print in the Kaimin, as an appreciation of my good wishes, good hopes, and good will."

The quotation follows:
I pray the prayer the Easterns do;
May the peace of Allah abide with you,
Wherever you stay, wherever you go
May the beautiful flowers of Allah grow.
Through days of labor and nights of rest,
May the love of sweet Allah make you blest.
So I touch my heart as the Easterns do,
May the peace of Allah abide with you.

MAY RECEIVE $500,000 IF HOUSE BILL PASSES

The house of representatives of the Montana legislature has recommended that house bill No. 27 be passed by the assembly. The bill which was introduced by Brandjord of Missoula, provides for an amendment to the state constitution which would make it possible for the state to accept gifts, donations, and legacies for the support of the University of Montana. If passed, this measure will be voted on by the people of the state at the next regular election in November, 1924.

During the discussion preceding the action of the House, Representative Scharnikow of Powell county stated that he knew of one gift of $500,000 that might be given the University if the proposed amendment was passed.

WEDNESDAY IS THE LAST DAY FOR TICKETS SAYS ELLA MAY

"Wednesday is the last day the girls can buy their tickets for the Co-ed Formal," stated Ella May Danaher yesterday. "Tickets will be on sale in Main hall on that day."

Miss Danaher also reports that the ticket sale has been very successful.

Plans are now complete and all arrangements have been made to carry out the dance.

ART LEAGUE MEETING HAS BEEN POSTPONED

The regular meeting of the Art League students in studio night has been postponed from tonight until the Tuesday following because of conflicting arrangements. Kathleen Andrus posed for the advanced daubers during the afternoon class sessions the latter part of the week.

A meeting of the art fraternity, Delta Phi Delta, has been scheduled for Wednesday night.

DUAL DEBATE TO TAKE PLACE NEXT SATURDAY

University of Montana Will Meet Washington State College.

The dual debate between the University of Montana and Washington State College which will be held next Saturday will be the first contest of the season for the Varsity debaters. Montana will send two men to Pullman to debate with the W. S. C. team there while two Washington State men will meet Montana at the high school auditorium.

Clyde Murphy and Grover Johnson will represent Montana in Pullman. The men who will speak in Missoula are Miles O'Connor and Russell Niles.

The question for the debate is, "Resolved: That the several states should establish industrial courts with power to enforce their decisions to adjudicate disputes between labor and capital." Montana will uphold the negative on the home floor and the affirmative in Pullman.

The question means practically the adoption of courts like that of Kansas which is considered such a notable experiment in industrial settlement. It is expected that the debate will be of interest to union men and all others interested in industrial affairs.

BENNETT ESSAY CONTEST SUBJECTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Reparations and railroads are the subjects for the Bennett essay contest which closes April 16. Only undergraduates are eligible.

"American Attitude Toward the Reparation Treaties" and "Development of American Policy Toward the Railroads," are the subjects stated in full. The contestant may write on either subject. He must leave his essay with Professor P. C. Phillips or Professor J. E. Miller, both of the history department, on or before April 16, 1923.

"The prize," says the announcement given out by Mr. Phillips, "will be the interest on a sum of money donated by William Jennings Bryan and it amounts this year to $25. The essay should not contain more than twenty-five hundred words. To receive consideration it must be written in good English and contain critical bibliography and specific references to authorities used. The name of the author must not appear on the manuscript."

Ronald Kain won the prize last year.

PROFESSOR WHITE TO SPEAK TO PRESS CLUB WEDNESDAY

Professor Hal White of the English department will speak to the students of the school of journalism at the Press club meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Marcus Cook hall. Mr. White was for a time foreign correspondent for an American newspaper and is scheduled to relate some of his experiences in his talk to the club.

The pledges of Kappa Alpha Theta gave a dance in honor of the active members at the Parish house Saturday night. Between thirty and forty couples were present. Mrs. Harriet R. Sedman and Mrs. Eva Langworthy, H. S. White and E. Atkinson were chaperones.

ELECTION TODAY.

The election of directors for the student store is being held today. The polls will remain open until five o'clock this afternoon.

Every student should vote. The election is strictly a student affair and should receive the attention of all concerned. School matters such as the election today are matters which should not be overlooked, although in the past there has been that tendency on the part of students.

If interest is shown in all matters of this kind, the lack of interest in University affairs which we hear so much about would not exist.

Get interested.

TOUGH LUCK!

The University team encountered a little hard luck last night in their game with Whitman. They came out on the short end of a 19-17 score after a shot by a Whitman man sank through the nets, thrown half the length of the floor.

When games are played that way, it's hard to pick the best team. However, we feel that Tick's bunch will pull out of Walla Walla tonight with a Missionary scalp.

MORE OF THE MOAT!

Everyone is conceited. It is only those poor persons who make their self-esteem evident to whom the word is actually applied. You think that you are right and we think that we are right, and if we should know each other's thought we each should go away in righteous disapproval of the other's conceit. So it goes. We examine everybody save ourselves.

Introspection is one of the greatest aids to self-realization. By looking into ourselves, by comparing ourselves with others, we will lose some of our self-conceit. We may see that after all we have been measuring others with a foot rule which is only eight inches long. When we ask ourselves just what we have done or have not done that we should be judges of others we are at a loss for an answer. Generally, we have been self-appointed judges merely because we have an over-weening desire to criticize whether or not we are qualified.

No one really knows himself. A self study will constantly reveal un-dreamed-of traits and characteristics. It will be a constant revelation and disillusionment to wander on the back-stages of one's own soul. And the more one wanders the more tolerant he will become of others because his own wandering will have disclosed so much of the unexpected and undesirable in himself. He will come to see after all he is not always right; that other people often have solid ground for their contentions.

He will see what a vain, foolish, irrational, and wholly erratic individual he is and through the sight may become almost modest, sage, rational, and steady.

Communication

Editor of the Kaimin:

I think an explanation of the system under which the honor system is successfully worked out in the other universities might show the fundamentals necessary to secure the successful working out of an honor system here.

The University of California has been a pioneer among all of the schools of the country in student self-government, senior control, and the honor system. About the beginning of this century under President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, student self-government, with its accessories, the honor system, and senior control, was inaugurated; at that time the student body was only a thousand or two and at the present time the undergraduate enrollment is better than 10,000. Since 1917 the student body has doubled, and student self-government has stood the test.

Student self-government, the honor system, and senior control is all one system, not three distinct systems. The whole thing is really included in the term student self-government, the honor system and central control merely being parts of that system.

Student self-government means that the students regulate their own activities of every nature, lay down their own rules of conduct, and provide for disciplining of themselves; their functions are legislative, judicial and executive. The organization is called the Associated Students of the University of California; sovereignty rests in the student body; the government is representative; the frame work of the government is set down in a constitution. The entire student body elects the president of the A. S. U. C. The highest governing body is the Supreme Executive Council, presided over by the president of the A. S. U. C., and the membership composed of the representatives elected by the subsidiary student organizations: each each of the classes, the athletic council, dramatics council, debating council, and other major student organizations. This Supreme Council coordinates all the student activities. An elective Student Welfare Committee is also provided. This is the body that enforces the honor system.

The honor system means that the honor is the guiding principle of the students all the time in any matter, on or off the campus, that will in any way affect the university. The taking of examinations is merely a small part of the application of the honor system; it applies to the students' conduct in regard to library books; and it applies to any misconduct which would reflect discredit on the university. The main method of enforcement is public sentiment, and an intolerance by the students of any underhanded conduct. Every student is expected to report violations; in an examination a rapping on the desk means that cheating is going on. Any person accused is brought before the Student Welfare Committee, which hears the case, decides on its merits, and recommends to the president of the university the punishment—a reprimand, suspension, or expulsion, depending upon the offense. The president always conforms to these recommendations, absolutely and without qualification. The system works well and a change would not be thought of. The Student Welfare Committee has always acted with moderation and good sense, and has never been criticized for partiality.

Senior control might be said to be the motive power and fly-wheel behind the whole thing. Senior control is an unwritten law, customary, but is none the less real. Every Thursday evening all the Seniors meet together in the Senior hall, and, presided over by the president of the senior class, informally discuss the problems on the campus, and from a sentiment embodied in resolutions, which then becomes the law. What the seniors say, goes. It is hard to explain, and sounds vague and unsatisfactory, but it has the merit of working on the California campus. The reason it works is because of the respect accorded the seniors by all other classes and also the faculty. The seniors have always had the best interests of the university at heart, and their good judgment has won them their power. There is one main factor that has enabled them to attain their standing, and that is their senior sombreros with leather hat-bands; the main ambition of every freshman is to some day wear a senior Stetson. This uniformity of dress enables the seniors to stick together on the campus; a senior is an arm of the law wherever he is, and has authority, which is also recognized by those amenable thereto, to stop any rumpus, and arbitrate any dispute going on between lower classmen. Senior control is further fostered by all matters of discipline. It is the influence and backing of the seniors that makes the honor system work so well.

When you come to look over this entire scheme, it seems apparent that the reason it works is because it fosters a spirit of loyalty to the university and calls out all the better qualities in the students; it kills the spirit of perverseness, because there is no super-power laying down the law. Since they have to govern, it makes them feel their responsibility, and they take due pride in it. I think the best thing about the whole proposition is that it builds up a real university spirit; the only way to get loyalty is to render service. Senior control puts the university first, and the campus organizations all fall in behind, and try to give a shove. It brings out clearly the fact that the fraternity exists only because of the University, and not the reverse.

I think that it would be futile to try and drop an honor system down on a student body without student self-government, and senior control. Before the honor system will work, the pride and responsibility of the students will have to be aroused, and that can only be done by actually putting the reins in their hands. I think no university is half what it may be, without such a system.

F. C. ROCKWOOD.

Dear Editor:

Before we employ theories let us face facts. Everyone will readily admit that the honor system would be a fine thing—if it worked. But will it work?

There are really two parts of the honor system, first, every student is put on his honor not to cheat; second, every student is put on his honor to report any one he sees cheating. The second part of the system will never work. Would you, reader, report a student you saw cheating? Of course you wouldn't. You'd leave it to the other fellow. He would leave it to you. Result—no report.

With the elimination of the second part the system becomes a matter of honor so impregnable in each student that no student will ever cheat. Is this possible?

The writer has taken examinations in classes which the instructor left when he had given out the questions. Immediately on his departure there was a busy hum of conversation. Each student was zealously working for an A—by finding out what his neighbors knew. Weren't these students placed on their honor through the departure of the instructor?—or should we draw a picture for them?

Among upperclassmen in particular schools the system might almost work. There would be some cheating; but most upperclassmen who are enrolled in a special line of endeavor are interested enough in their work to do it for themselves.

Among underclassmen the system would never work. Often underclassmen have not yet decided in what they wish to engage. Furthermore, there are certain required subjects which they must take, whether or not they are of interest. Underclassmen are faced with the problem of getting these requirements off their hands. And usually they are determined to do this,—honestly or dishonestly, with or without an honor system.

Any student who cheats under present conditions is dishonorable. Is there any reason to believe he will suddenly become honorable, upright, and possessed of integrity merely because we change these conditions slightly?

The honor system presents a splendid opportunity for cribbing. But of course students, bound through honor, will not take advantage of it.

PROPOSED ALUMNI-CHALLENGE FIELD

A sketch of the proposed athletic field which the Alumni of the University of Montana are working to perfect. The athletic field campaign was launched at the Homecoming celebration last November, and has been progressing rapidly since.

SOPHS AND FRESHMEN
WIN FIRST TWO GAMES

The sophomores took a hard fought game from the seniors and the freshmen ran away from the juniors in the first game of the inter-class basketball tournament last night. The sophomore-senior game had to go into two extra periods of play, the score being tied 23-23 at the end of the second half; 25-25 at the end of the first extra period and 27-30 in favor of the sophomores at the end of the game. The juniors, after holding the frosh to 3 points in the first half, played out in the final period and lost 22-5.

The seniors began scoring immediately after the first whistle, Elliot slipped in a brace from near the foul circle. The score see-sawed back and forth and the half ended 15 to 16 in favor of the seniors. In the second half the sophs broke into the lead but Elliot tied the score with a perfect shot from two-thirds of the length of the floor as the gun was fired.

The first extra period brought no further scores until in the last minute of play McKain dropped in a long one, closely followed by a counter from Maudlin.

In the final period Carney and Guthrie put the game on ice with a marker each and Guthrie annexed a gift shot. Seeing it was all over, the senior timekeeper escaped, leaving the referee to call the game at his own discretion which he did after Holkesvig had put one in from the sidelines.

The summary:

Seniors (27)	Sophs (30)
McKain N.....	Guthrie
Forward
Holkesvig	Bue
Forward
Elliot	Carney
Center
Baggs	Powell
Guard
Kibble	Maudlin
Guard

Field goals: McKain 6; Carney 6; Guthrie 4; Elliot 3; Holkesvig 3; Maudlin 2. Free throws: Elliott 3 out of 5; Guthrie 4 out of 5.

Frosh Trounce Juniors.

The frosh, after getting away to a poor start began to annex a few points in the second period of play. Illman was the star of the contest with Harvey and Shaffer playing good ball.

The summary:

Frosh (22)	Juniors (5)
Tarbox	Harvey
Forward
Bainey	Benson
Forward
Illman	O'Neil
Center
Crowley	Shaffer
Guard
Johnson	Hersom
Guard

Field goals: Illman 5; Bainey 2; Johnson, Carney, Shaffer, Harvey.
Free throws: Illman, 4 out of 8; Shaffer, 1 out of 4.
Timekeeper, Adams. Referee, Stegner.
Tonight the sophs will tangle with the freshmen in the third game of the series.

With the High Schools

The mining district basketball tournament will be held at Anaconda February 22, 23 and 24. Drawing for games will be made some time next week.

The students of Columbia Falls high school may be given an opportunity in the near future to compete for gold and silver medals as first and second awards for meritorious work in classes and school activities. Superintendent Aten is author of the plan.

The basketball teams of Libby, Troy and Eureka are among the last to contribute to Flathead county high's long list of successive victories.

A report from Columbia Falls says that the high school orchestra has so improved that the members can now practice without causing any noticeable distress in the audience.

Anaconda high's basket tossers won a 23 to 15 victory over Beaverhead county high Friday night in the smelter city. The victory avenged a defeat suffered at the hands of the Dillon hoopsters three weeks ago.

Conrad high school has chosen Anderson, Graham and McKenzie to represent the school in debate this season. "Resolved: That the several states should enact unemployment insurance laws," is the subject they will argue pro and con with other schools of the state.

The work of editing "The Annual," Flathead county high school's year-book is well under way.

CONNIE ORR MARRIED.

Conrad Orr, '19, and Miss Mabel Anderberg were married at 8 o'clock Saturday morning at the Baptist church. Mrs. Orr is a teacher in the Alberton schools and Mr. Orr an insurance man in Missoula. They will reside in Missoula.

Mr. Orr is a former Grizzly football and track star. Since graduation he has been coaching, first at Deer Lodge high school, later at Missoula high school, where he turned out state championship football and basketball teams for 1921-1922. He resigned last spring to enter the field of business.

MARCH 10 DATE SET FOR VARSITY VODVIL

Manager Needham Announces Preliminary Plans for Show.

March 10 has been set as the date for the annual Varsity Vodvil at the Liberty theater, according to Vern Needham, manager. March 1 has been chosen as a tentative date for the tryouts. Each organization on the campus is asked to work out an act and have it ready for the tryouts. The acts are not to last more than twenty minutes each. The number of acts that will go to make up the program will depend upon their merit and length, according to Mr. Needham.

Two silver loving cups, one for a front stage and one for a full stage act, are given each year. Alpha Phi won the latter last year while Iota Nu took the front stage cup with a pseudo trained horse act.

This year the A. S. U. M. will be responsible only for the general expenses. Special expenditures for the individual acts must be met by the organizations producing them.

Announcements

The Areme club will not have initiation Tuesday evening, February 6. The date of the initiation will be announced later.

The meeting of the R. O. T. C. Officer's club will be postponed one week. It will be held in the Scabbard and Blade club rooms in the R. O. T. C. building, Wednesday, February 24.

COMMANDER.

Mrs. C. W. Lenphart of Missoula will address the Y. W. C. A. Thursday at 5 o'clock in the auditorium on "The Real College Girl." All girls who attended the last meeting and have questions they wished to ask Rev. Jesse Lacklen please bring them to the meeting this week.

All students who desire to participate in the Aber Oratorical contest must send their names and general subjects to Professor H. G. Merriam by next Tuesday, February 13.

Regular meeting of Bear Paws Thursday, at 7:30, in Main hall. Check in tickets before or at meeting.

MASQUERS RECEIVE REQUESTS TO PRESENT TWO PRODUCTIONS

The Montana Masquers have received requests for two programs to be given the early part of this month. One request comes from St. Patrick's hospital. The other is for a program for the Central school Parent and Teachers association February 12.

No decision has been made by Roger Williams, coach of dramatics, as to the plays that will be given. Two or three one-act plays will be given at each place.

HOMECOMING REPORT.

The Homecoming committee has a balance of $245.77, according to Tom Spaulding who had charge of the joint homecoming between the University and the State College this year. The money was collected and spent as follows:

Tag sale for dance in new gym	$575.00
Surplus from dinners in old gym	7.42
Printing & stationery	$233.06
Prizes	50.00
Labor	11.04
Miscellaneous	42.55
Balance	245.77

$582.42 $582.42

Chairman Spaulding hopes that the money will be retained to help finance the next homecoming celebration in 1924.

GLEN SMITH TALKS TO FORESTERS THURSDAY

"The Protection of Our Wild Game" is Subject of Illustrated Lecture.

"The Protection of Our Wild Game" was the subject of an address given by Glen Smith, who has charge of grazing in district one of the United States Forest Service, to the Forestry club Thursday night. Stereopticon slides were used to illustrate the talk.

"Suitable range must be provided for our herds of elk," stated Mr. Smith. "Montana should take steps to purchase such lands which are plentiful in this state. During February and March hundreds of elk perish because the winter range provided is not adequate for their needs. I believe that the Yellowstone herd should be split so as to force a part of them into the Gallatin reserve. That would in a part relieve the elk situation. Montana, who with her 40,000 deer, was first in the country as a deer state, no longer holds that distinction because mountain lions and coyotes have reduced this number to a great extent. The state should provide for more paid hunters if she desires to perpetrate our deer standing. The buffalo that once roamed our plains are about extinct."

The Forestry club string orchestra played several pieces while Herbert Swan demonstrated his ability at cartooning.

VETERANS BUREAU BUYS SENTINEL FOR TRAINEES

There has been some misunderstanding about Vocational men getting subscriptions to the Sentinel, according to Allen O. Swift, vocational co-ordinator. The Veterans Bureau will pay for all Sentinels for Vocational men in the University of Montana, and those who have already subscribed should request their money back from the Sentinel manager.

Mrs. Frederick L. Staines, chaperon at the Chelys Club, returned to Missoula Monday evening. Mrs. Staines was called to Great Falls several weeks ago by the illness of her daughter.
