Herbert D. Seiter, producer-director of KZED television station in San Francisco, Calif., has been named to a one-year appointment as assistant professor of journalism and director of the radio-television studios at Montana State University, according to MSU President H. K. Newburn.

He will take the place of Dr. Erling S. Jorgensen, who will be on leave making a study of educational television potentialities in Montana, under a grant from the Ford Foundation, President Newburn said.

Seiter earned his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees at Stanford University. He has worked on KQED, one of the outstanding educational television stations in the nation, since 1956, Dr. Newburn noted.
