GRIZZLY FRESHMEN OUTCLASS
STATE COLLEGE BOBKITTENS

Kelley, Sweet, DeVeber, Ritter
and Place Star as Aggies' Hopes Are Crushed

Scoring nine touchdowns through brilliant open-field running and flashy forward passing, the Grizzly Cubs overwhelmed the Aggie Frosh by the score of 61 to 0 on Dornblaser field Saturday. In crushing the Aggies Saturday, the Cubs handed them the worst defeat ever received by the Bozeman yearlings and made the standing: Cubs 3, Aggies 2, of the five games played between the two rivals.

The Bobkittens were played off their feet from the start and had no chance against the vicious onslaught launched by the Cubs. Features of the game were the brilliant open-field running and line plunging of Billy Kelley, who crossed the Aggie line five times; the all-around work of Bill DeVeber at right end; the line bucking of Ritter, the fleet full-back, and the work of Russell Sweet, the big halfback from Miles City, who broke away three times for touchdowns. Once after intercepting an Aggie pass he raced 37 yards for a score, and then after receiving a 30-yard pass from Kelley, he ran 30 yards more for a touchdown. Captain Crimmins at tackle, helped the Cub offensive with his smashing attacks, while Cogswell and Fletcher, at guards, played good. Place, at half-back, got away for some long runs and kicked seven consecutive goals after touchdowns. The Cubs made a total of 319 yards to 115 for the visitors. The Cubs completed seven passes out of eight attempts, while all three Aggie passes were intercepted.

The Aggies could not get close enough to threaten the Cub goal, although Rip Wilson, highly-touted Aggie booter, attempted two place kicks from the 50- and 55-yard lines, and failed each time. In punting the Aggies were not up to par, as their kicks averaged less than 30 yards.

Play by Play.

Place took the Aggie kickoff and returned it 50 yards, aided by excellent interference. The Cubs could not get through the Aggie line and Place at-

BAND UNIFORMS ORDERED;
EXPECTED FOR AGGIE GAME

Forty new uniforms for the Grizzly band were ordered last Saturday and are expected to arrive in time for the annual game with the Aggies.

The uniform is a scarlet English style coat with bright yellow braid for trimming, straight hanging silver duck trousers with the same yellow stripes, and a regulation military style cap with all three colors combined.

The tag sale only netted about half enough money to buy the uniforms but the band expects to raise the money in some way in time to receive the shipment.

DOCTOR SWIFT COMPLETES
SERIES OF HYGIENE TALKS

Leaves for Moscow, Idaho—Will Visit
All Coast Universities

Dr. Edith Hale Swift, lecturer for the American Hygiene Association, completed a series of four lectures to University women Saturday morning.

KOREAN EDITOR WILL STUDY
JOURNALISM AT OREGON U

In order to learn the efficient and modern methods of running a metropolitan newspaper, Duck Soo Chang, a young Korean newspaperman from Seoul, Korea, has enrolled in the school of journalism, University of Oregon. Mr. Chang comes to the university with actual experience of three years gained in the office of Dong, a daily, one of the largest dailies in Korea, published in Seoul.

Chang is 29 years old and is a graduate of the Waseda university of Tokyo, Japan, in 1916. Chang became editor of the Seoul paper in 1920 and held that position until last April. During his editorship, the Dong-A Daily, had increased circulation from 30,000 to more than 60,000.

The young journalist speaks Japanese fluently and is also proficient in Chinese. He won the second honor in the national oratorical contest in 1914. Mr. Chang is the second Korean student to enter the school of journalism, the first Korean being Chi Sung Pil, who has also returned to resume his journalism study.

Hong Sub Yoon, another Korean, has entered the University and will take courses in English and journalism. Yoon is also a graduate of Waseda university.

GIRLS ENTERING O. U.
ARE FAR UNDER WEIGHT

Norman, Okla., Oct. 22.—(Special)—Freshmen girls entering the University of Oklahoma average 15 pounds under weight, according to Miss Ina James, women's athletic director. Sophomore girls average 13 per cent higher in physical efficiency than the freshman girls, Miss James stated.

This she believes is due to the physical discipline and the work in the university gymnasium which is required of all students, and to some extent, the regular habits of girls here in their first year. Dr. Winnie Sanger and Dr. Eva Wells, both of Oklahoma City, aided Miss James in the physical examination of the girls. Not one specimen of the "perfect 36" was found.

ROOTING SPECIAL
INVADES BOZEMAN
ON NOVEMBER 17

"Victory Special" leaves early Saturday, November 17. Returns late that night. Tickets, $10.35. On sale Wednesday. Bill Aho in charge. Biggest special in Montana history. Sign up early for a ticket!

Heads up, Grizzly boosters! Tickets will be on sale Wednesday for the big special train that is to carry Montana rooters to the Grizzly-Bobcat game at Bozeman, November 17.

The "Victory Special" will leave Missoula early Saturday morning and return late that night. At least 125 students must buy tickets before a special may be insured. The price is $10.35 for the round trip.

William Aho, business manager of the ASUM, has charge of the sale of tickets and is appointing his assistants. A salesman for each particular house and several for the school at large will be appointed. It has been requested that students cash in as soon as possible so that an estimate of the number going may be obtained.

In the past the trip to Bozeman has been the feature trip of the year. Indications show that the number planning to attend is the largest in history. Be sure and declare your intentions to one of Aho's short-change experts as soon as possible.

REYNOLDS AND DAVIES
WILL PEDDLE FLOWERS

A new color scheme, symbolizing traditional University colors, will be introduced by Evan Reynolds and Kenneth Davies at the Gonzaga-Montana game Saturday. The colors will be derived from the chrysanthemum, the traditional football flower.

The chrysanthemum is noted for its ruggedness and its ability to withstand severe cold, and suggests the hardiness of the great college sport. These flowers will be sold at the game, as is the practice in eastern schools. The chrysanthemum stems will be wrapped in tinfoil and tied with a crimson ribbon to work out the color scheme.

GRIZZLIES TROUNCE MINERS
BEFORE LARGE BUTTE CROWDHELEN RAMSEY ELECTED
SPONSOR FOR BATTALION

Others Chosen Are Eloise Baird, Edna Morris, Margaret Garber and Ruth Bryson

Miss Helen Ramsey was elected sponsor of the Grizzly battalion at the second general assembly last Friday. Eloise Baird was elected sponsor for the first company; Edna Morris, second company; Margaret Garber, third company, and Ruth Bryson, fourth company.

The band elected Virginia Bartles sponsor yesterday afternoon, while headquarters company chose Lois Allen.

Company sponsors were appointed by the officers of the unit last year. This year the officers thought it would please the men to elect their own sponsors.

The idea of sponsors originated in the late war, when popular actresses and singers were honored by the different regiments. The idea has proved popular on other university campuses. The girls are to organize a sponsor club to take charge and direct the social activities of the ROTC. They will also be called upon to appear as honorary members at all ceremonies and parades.

University Team Outclasses
Opponents in All Department of the Game

The University of Montana Grizzlies caved in the Montana School of Mines line and romped for a 25 to 0 victory Saturday. The Grizzlies outclassed the Ore Diggers in every department of the game making over 345 yards from scrimmage to the Miners' 95. The game was a battle from whistle to whistle. The Butte team fought desperately, but could not check the slashing attack of the determined and fighting Varsity backfield. It was the first time a University football team played in Butte for 13 years. A crowd of more than 3,000 watched the Grizzlies, using a straight football offensive, wreck the Miners' hopes for state honors.

Miners on Defensive

The School of Mines team was on the defensive most of the game, so terrific was the off tackle attack launched by the Grizzlies. The Miners put on a short and determined spurt shortly after the start of the third period when they advanced the ball to Montana's 26-yard line where their rally was checked when Plummer intercepted a pass.

The first scoring took place in the first five minutes of play when Montana marched down the field from her own 40-yard line. Silvernale, Johnson, Illman and Plummer ripped off tackle for consistent yardage. The second touchdown came a few minutes later when the Varsity advanced the ball from her own 38-yard line, the Grizzly linemen consistently opening holes in the Miners' line. A sensational 20-yard run by Silvernale netted the University another counter. The last score came in the final minutes of play when Christie picked up a blocked punt and skidded over the Ore Diggers' line for a touchdown. Harvey was kicking from behind his own goal line after the Miners had taken the ball from the visitors on downs.

Both Teams Play Well

The game was hard fought and the spectators were on their feet the greater part of the time. Big Ted Illman was

Knockers

(From the Daily Nebraskan)

MUCH has been said in vituperation of knockers. Most of it is true. At times the knocker is the most disgusting, sickening, and absolutely useless creature in the world. But at times he is essentially useful and beneficial. Knockers are not all in the same class; there are good and bad types of knockers and all should not be condemned with equal force.

We take it for granted that all those who criticize things around our school do so with the high purpose of improving their conditions. As such they deserve to be intelligently listened to and not hooted and finally crushed under the taunt of "knocker." There is no danger of any harm being done by criticism. Things that are efficient can survive the most prolonged burst of criticism.

On the other hand, much good is done by an intelligent person who goes to the base of the evil and points a remedy. Nothing is perfect. It is no disgrace to admit that all our institutions are not perfect. Nebraska is not a propaganda center by a university, and it is not necessary to print nothing but the good.

This has been the policy to a large extent. A rally where about ten people are present is described as a "monster rally." Playing that is shiftless and ragged is called magnificent. Nothing is accomplished by this sort of thing except false confidence. It would be far better to "razz" the student body for its lack of spirit and to tell the player to "pep up."

There is a place for knockers—of the right sort—and they should be encouraged to give their opinions and should not be hushed up as if "the powers that be" were afraid they might "spill the beans."

Football and Dances

TWELVE freshmen played basketball in the gymnasium Saturday afternoon all during the Cub-Bobkitten game. The support that was given one of the best freshman teams that Montana has turned out was the poorest that any team has received while playing an Aggie game. It is surprising that a freshman class so greatly endowed with energy could not expend some of it boosting a good team as well as in putting on dances and other social functions.

Nothing Much

STUDENTS may come, and students may go, but the antiquated letter rack in Main hall seems destined to go on forever. There are few students in the University whose coming preceded its arrival. It served the University back in the days when the enrollment was 600; it's still doing duty with the registration doubled.

All of Missoula's stray mail finds its way here. Letters addressed to professors, who never saw Montana, are placed on the rack in the hope that something will happen to get them to their proper destination. Letters addressed to University students, that might easily be re-addressed; letters to students that have been gone for years, or letters with no address at all find their way to this spot, which has become the University's dead letter office.

The average student must spend five minutes in an inspection of the rack and of the board at its base, before he can discover whether or not he has any mail.

Can't the University provide something better?

Annabelle

Interprets Football

Dear Maw: We had another game of football here, but it was tame, The Aggie freshmen went home lame From the effects of it. I understand this football now, Because my feller told me how The game was played, and now I yow With the rest of them on the sidelines.

Gosh Maw, I wished you'd seen the fun, There was when our frosh fought and run Around the ends; when it was done The score was sixty-one to nothin'. The Aggie boys had lots of fight, They hit the line with main and might, But gosh, they were a sorry sight Against this bunch of ours.

Once when they mixed up in the lot, And every one of them had got Piled up with them that fights for Ott Some bird hollers, "Sweet!" It didn't look so sweet to me, But then us girls can never see The fun in football, but O Gee! It ain't so bad to watch.

The Aggie captain starts to yell, he Also passed one time to tell the Team: "Get after Billy Kelly!" But Bill could not be got. And at the same time up in Butte, The Miner team fell on its snoot, The Vars-ty team just followed suit And whipped them twenty-five to nothin'.

Say Maw at last we've got a chance To tie us to a downtown dance, The Grizzly band must have those pants They're givin' a dance in the Winter Garden.

Dean Sedman says that it's alright So long's it's the University night, They got the dance without a fight With the Social committee.

Tell Dad to send along a check, At present I'm up to my neck In bills. My 'count'll be a wreck If I don't settle up. If he's hard up, why you can sell That horse of mine, but you must tell Dad about it. My purse would swell Very satisfactorily.

Here's hoping that the family's well, Your loving daughter,

ANABELLE.

POME

I shot an arrow into the air, it fell in the distance, I knew not where, till a neighbor said that it killed his calf, and I had to pay him six and a half ($6.50). I bought some poison to slay some rats, and a neighbor swore that it killed his cats; and, rather than argue across the fence, I paid him four dollars and fifty cents ($4.50). One night I set sailing a toy balloon, and hoped it would soar till it reached the moon; but the candle fell out on a farmer's straw, and he said I must settle or go to law. And that is the way with the random shot; it never hits in the proper spot; and the joke you spring, that you think so smart, may leave a wound in some fellow's heart.—Emporia Gazette.

Boy Scouts

Sign Up With Schreiber

Many of the men upon entering the gymnasium have noticed a sign on a table, "Have You Been a Boy Scout?" and have wondered why it was put there. At the present time there are several clubs of university men in the different colleges and universities of the United States, including the Universities of Minnesota, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, California, Cornell, Yale, Washington, and Rutgers College. All of them have similar plans and are expressed in the following terms:

1. To provide an opportunity for the men of the university who have been scouts to get together and get acquainted.

2. To promote the scout idea and interest in it among University men.

3. To assist local troops of scouts with leadership such as assistant scoutmasters, special instructors and hike masters.

4. To become a center of international friendship and be directly related to the University Scout Club in England and other countries.

5. To serve as a means of maintaining the interest in scouting through the college course, so that the former scout will become a leader in boys' work or other social activities in his home town.

6. To serve as a basis of recruiting professional leadership for the scout movement in the capacity of scout executives and camp directors.

7. The membership shall be for those who have been scouts and are interested in the outdoor life for boys.

The form of organization is simple—a president and secretary and committees for the carrying out of special projects such as rallies or the securing of student leaders for the community.

It is planned to hold a few meetings throughout the year to promote fellowship and interest.

Every student who has been a scout is asked to secure one of the application forms, fill it out and return it to Dr. W. E. Schreiber as soon as possible.

Dan Hoblitt, ex '26, left last week for his home in Darby. He expects to resume work in the University next quarter.

Prof. Wilson (to geology class): "Fill out the blanks and classify the minerals according to the requirements."

Puzzled Frosh: "Form? Color? Taste? Shape? Did he say minerals?"

SPECIAL!

To the Weekly Exponent.

Missoula, Oct. 20.—(Special to the Weekly Exponent)—Outgeneraled and outfought, but nevertheless not outweighed or outplayed, the Bobkittens battled to a 61 to 0 tie with the State University Cubs here this afternoon, and won, in the eyes of God, in sixty minutes.

"It was a great moral victory," Coach Jones said after the game. "It was a struggle in which the forces of good won out over the forces of evil, though the University freshmen have a fair team, and I have nothing but the best things to say of them."

"Heinie Turner, Cubs' timekeeper, is one of the fastest men I have ever seen. Harold Lansing, referee, also played a stellar game for the University. Let me say, though, that Kelly and Sweet did some things today that never will be done by the Bobkittens as long as I have charge of their coaching."

Coach Jones said the Bobkittens would have tripled their score had it not been that their stock of Peruna, a part of their daily diet, was stolen shortly after the close of the game.

Carson Outclasses One Daniel Boone in Big Game Hunt

Robert Carson, ex '23, is a hunter bold, so the tale is told. He thinks less of Lewis and Clark and more of an old squirrel gun as the result of a miraculous encounter with a bear in the wilds of Fish creek, than he cares to admit. Now that it is all over the big chested Robert is not too modestly basking in the successful role of Daniel Boone, for which he was cast so uncontrollably.

It happened in the wilds of Fish creek where Carson, an itinerant searcher of amusement, had strayed. Carson staged the hand-out act at a farm house where, after being fed sumptuously in the true spirit of western hospitality, he was, as in the tales of knights of long ago, confronted with the little service of disposing of a mythical intruder.

Equipped with a squirrel gun, a small boy companion, and a quaking heart he—well, it happened this way: After he had eaten all that was in sight, he became engaged in conversation; the talk drifted to hunting and then to bears. Upon mention of bears the 15-year-old son of the family said that he had seen a bear that morning. The woman, who had fed Carson, expressed her doubts and explained that it was probably a horse. However, she toddled out and returned with a piece of artillery that would have made Columbus blush for shame at its age. She handed the weapon to Bob and told the boy to show Carson where the bear was. Carson immediately became a lover of animals and said that he thought that they had a right to live just the same as humans. Despite this he was persuaded to go in search of the animal.

They had been out about half an hour when the boy pointed out the bear to Carson. Carson felt better. "Only a horse," they walked toward it; the horse turned into a bear. No, our brave hunter did not run; he was too scared. He raised the ancient lead tosser, shut his eyes and pulled the trigger.

When the smoke cleared away and

Carson had picked himself out of the brush, much to his surprise and astonishment the boy was enthusiastically congratulating him on the "peach of a shot" he had made.

By some trick of fate the bear was dead. Carson examined the bear to see if it had been hit or had just been scared to death. He had hit the bear. The victim proved to be a black bear weighing about 300 pounds. Bob has not completely overcome the shock and has been pinching himself all day to see if he has not been the victim of a piece of mince pie before retiring.

Trousers worn by Marquette University students cost $180,000 a year and only $1,125 to hold them up, according to a pamphlet recently issued by the University press. Eighty-six thousand pairs of shoes are worn out every year.

Two hundred and fifty special delivery letters were delivered in Columbia the day the University of Missouri opened. The day following, the first "rush" among fraternities and sororities, even more specials were anticipated. Two men were kept on duty to deliver nothing but specials.

tempted a field goal from the 42-yard line, but failed. The Cubs recovered the ball on the Aggie 30-yard line and carried it to their 3-yard line on a series of line smashes, with Kelley and Ritter carrying the ball. Ritter then smashed through for the first touchdown. Place kicked goal. Babcock returned Place's kick-off 22 yards. The Cub line held and the Aggies were forced to punt. Kelley returning the ball 15 yards. Kelley, Sweet, Place and Ritter carried the oval to the Aggie 17-yard line, from where Sweet charged across the goal for the second touchdown. The Aggies returned Place's kick-off 15 yards, and made 20 more yards before the Cub line stiffened. Wilson then attempted a 55-yard place kick and failed. Sweet punted 55 yards. Bozeman punted and Kelley carried the ball back 20 yards. The Cubs had the ball on the Aggie 5-yard line when the quarter ended with the score 14 to 0.

Second Quarter.

Kelley went around right end for his first touchdown soon after the opening of the second quarter. He also accounted for the second score of the quarter. The Cubs lost the ball after taking it to the Aggie 5-yard line. Winner punted and Kelley brought the ball back to the 17-yard line. From there he took it across, shaking off Aggie tacklers all the way. Sweet accounted for the fifth touchdown when he snared an Aggie pass and went over after a 37-yard sprint. Kelley smashed through again for the sixth touchdown, after the backfield had carried the ball to the three-yard line.

Kelley's 30-yard pass to Sweet, who went 30 yards more for a touchdown, came soon after the opening of the last quarter. Kelley weaved his way 45 yards for the eighth touchdown after receiving a punt from Winner. He scored his fifth and last touchdown on a fake criss-cross. He bluffed handing the ball to DeVeber, and romped 23 yards for a score while the Aggies attempted to down

DeVeber. The latter made a sensational catch of Kelley's 30-yard pass near the close of the game. The final gun saved the Aggies from another touchdown, as the ball was on their 4-yard line when the gun was fired.

Washington State.

The Evergreen carries the following: "When the Montana freshman football team lines up on Rogers field on October 27, they will face one of the best yearling elevens that ever represented W. S. C."

Hawaii.

Crossed Quills is the name of the University of Hawaii journalistic organization. Co-eds at the University of Hawaii have changed the name of the women's dormitory to "Chicken Inn."

Oregon.

Mrs. Kate W. Jameson, formerly dean of women at the State University of Montana, is now dean of women at the Oregon Agricultural college, Corvallis, Oregon.

Oklahoma.

The annual mixer held at the University of Oklahoma recently had several big features. One of these was the "Battle-Royal for All Comers," and the other was the interfraternity freshman fight.

New York.

Two members of the class of '27 in Columbia university were hurt in a fracas between freshmen and sophomores. These two freshmen were thrown heavily to the pavement, and one of them is now suffering from concussion of the brain as a result of his part in the fight.

California.

California's new stadium is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for the "big game" with Stanford university, according to the last reports of the construction company. It is similar in shape to the "Yale Bowl," being a huge oval concrete structure situated in the mouth of Strawberry canyon. The stadium, which will seat 72,000 spectators, represents a cost of $1,263,000. The money to meet this cost was raised by subscription among the students and alumni of the university.

Bathing Beauties Disturb Lecture

Bathing beauties are all right around the beaches and the movie screen, but they are barred strictly from the halls of higher learning.

A ban as tight as the taboo put on light wines and beer by the Volstead act was placed upon the sea nymphs by a professor at the University of Mississippi.

"Who said they constituted art?" the professor inquired. "Not on your Pegasus. Not as long as I'm teaching Roman and Etruscan archaeology anyway."

Two of the beauties appeared here on the screen during an illustrated lecture showing the costumes and customs of the ancient Greeks. The forbidden slides of the seaside femmes were slipped among the lecture pictures by a freshman, it was said. The entire class, including several women in Greek archaeology, witnessed the proceedings.

When the said witches appeared on the screen, the professor recognized the mistake immediately. He delivered his lecture on the art of the thing, took the glass slides, broke them on the floor and crushed them with his heel.

Parking What? Where?

Colorado State College has found it necessary to place a traffic cop on the campus to keep students from breaking the parking rules.

Girls Taught Football

Grinnell's football mentor has reached high upon the wall and made a mark for himself. He has undertaken the task of teaching the Grinnell co-eds some of the finer points of football from the spectator's viewpoint.

Co-eds Denied Student Escort

No more "fussing" will be permitted at the future football games of the University of Colorado, according to an edict issued by Marshall William Montgomery. Strict enforcement of the new order will be aided by the office of the marshal and the sophomore police department.

Hereafter the rule against dating co-eds for the football games applied only to freshmen. From now on all men sit together in one section of the grandstand.

Co-eds Detest Mustaches

Mustaches will not win the heart of the co-eds at the University of Michigan. A representative of the Michigan Daily asked 12 of the prettiest girls on the campus their honest opinion of the habit of many men of letting their lips go unshaven. Every one of these dozen girls declared an emphatic dislike for the mustache. Of these girls six were brunettes, four blondes and two titian-haired.

Barkeley

Following their evening performance at a San Francisco theater, the Duncan sisters, musical comedy stars, will offer a number of their song numbers at the Sophomore Hop of the University of California on October 26. R. A. Himes, ex '24, who is dancing in their production, will be with them at that time.

Los Angeles

Enrollment at the Southern branch of the University of California, which is in Los Angeles, reached the 4,000 mark Thursday, October 4.

Last year the number of students entered was approximately 3,200. The addition of a third year in the College of Letters and Science is considered responsible for this increase in enrollment.

The attaining of the third-year course and this increase in the number of students have prompted the faculty and the student body to greater efforts in obtaining a complete four-year course in general college work.

The Wisconsin University Glee club won first prize recently in a contest with 11 other colleges and universities.

More than 4,200 men played on athletic teams at the University of Wisconsin last year.

Many of the 320 foundry groups in Wisconsin sent men to the "Metals convention" held by the Wisconsin College of Engineering last year.

More than 704 calls for teachers in Wisconsin schools were handled by the placement committee of the University of Wisconsin last year.

Fines for late registration at Oregon Agricultural College go to swell the student loan fund. The fund has already reached four figures.

Sigma Phi Epsilon at the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo., has let the contract for a $46,000 chapter house.

PROFESSORLESS COLLEGES PREDICTED FOR TOMORROW

A professor of Princeton University was late to class the other day. When he arrived he found the class proceeding as usual, so he dropped into a back seat and "listened in" for the remainder of the hour. Now prophets are bobbing up and telling us that this incident is a forerunner of the day when colleges will become non-professorial institutions. There will be centrally located professors' colleges where lectures by the country's best authorities will be sent out by radio and questions proposed and answered by wireless telephone. We can imagine a worse situation than lying in bed listening to an 8 o'clock lecture.

Have You Ever

Talked it over with "the old gent" And told him just how You waste your time at college? How you drink your room rent And bid six no-trump On next semester's tuition?

How you over-cut and lose hours Just so you can have hours To waste Holding up the Bridgman Block Or holding down Some divan—at the house?

And then did you bum a light Off his cigar, Slap him on the back And grin, "Ain't I a chip off the old block?" Have you? Neither have I.
