NEW WSGA POINT SYSTEM
LIMITS GIRLS' ACTIVITIES

Each Co-Ed Allowed Maximum of 12 Points for Work
During Three Quarters

The point system limiting the number of student activities in which each student may take part has been formally presented to WSGA for approval and a definite number of points for each activity has been decided upon by the executive board. The points are given in proportion to the amount of work each girl does. The limit for three quarters is 12 points, and these are divided as follows:

WSGA—President, 10; vice president, 6; secretary, 5; treasurer, 6.

Classes—President, 5; vice president, 2; secretary, 3; treasurer, 4.

YWCA—President, 8; vice president, 4; secretary, 5; treasurer, 6; members of the cabinet, 3.

Theta Sigma Phi—President, 4; vice president, 2; secretary, 2; treasurer, 2; Kaimin staff, 2; Big Sister chairman, 5.

ASUM—Vice president, 4; secretary, 5; class representative, 3.

W.A.A.—President, 4; vice president, 2; secretary, 2; treasurer, 3.

Sentinel—Editor, 8; art editor, 4; assistant editor, 4; editor of department, 2; Frontier, 3.

May Fete chairman, 6; heads of committees, 3.

Delta Phi Delta (art)—President, 3; vice president, 1; secretary, 2; treasurer, 2.

Hi-Jinx manager, 3; chairman of co-ed room, 2; chairman of co-ed room, 2; Pan-Hellenic formal, 2; any committee for formal, 1; debate (per debate), 2.

WSGA executive board, 4; WSGA census chairman, 5.

Proctors—In houses of 10 or more girls, 1; in residence halls, 2.

The point system will take effect in the fall quarter of 1924, when it will be published in the student handbooks. The system is expected to enlarge the scope of student activities to a greater number of girls, lessening the responsibility of a few.

The point system creates a new office, that of census chairman, whose duty it is to check up on the number of points each girl receives during the year.

This system has been tried in many eastern universities with marked success, according to WSGA officials.

MUSICAL COMEDY
BEING PERFECTED

Cast for "Going Up" Chosen and Work on Scenery and Props Nears Completion

One week from last night (Thursday) the first performance of "Going Up," the musical comedy presented by the Montana Masquers with the School of Music, will be given. The final cast will rehearse the entire play from now on, according to the directors. Frank Wiley is making the aeroplane and Bill Hughes with the assistance of Newell Robertson and Evan Reynolds has painted most of the scenery. Dean DeLoss Smith has entire charge of the music while Marion Prescott is training the dancers.

The cast is as follows:

Miss Zonne, telephone girl.

Alyn Mascotte

John Gordon, manager of Gordon Inn

Thomas Long

F. H. Douglas, a chronic better

Martin Hudtuff

Mrs. Douglas, his wife.

Louise Joughin

Jules Gaillard, their prospective son-in-law, an aviator.

Chester Watson

Grace Douglas, his fiancée.

Gladys Price

Madeline Manners, her chum.

Nan Walsh

Hopkinson Brown, her fiancée.

Ralph Edgington

Robert Street, author of "Going Up"

Joseph Sweeney

James Brooks, his publisher.

Richard Crandell

Sam Robinson, a mechanician.

Stanley Libby

Pages, ladies, gentlemen; guests at Gordon Inn.

There are forty people in the choruses and dances alone, and seven in the special dances. The latter are Virginia

Bartles, William Edgington, Dorothy

Rector, Alice Lease, Hazel Day and

Mabel Smith. "The special dances," stated Director Roger Williams, Thursday, "are full of life and yet have beauty." There are five of these, "Kiss

Me" waltz, "I Want a Boy," "If You

Look in Her Eyes," "Touch of a Woman's

Hand," "Tickle Toes" and "Going

Up." "The work of several of the dancers is very clever and pretty,"

according to Mr. Williams.

"Going Up" funny? With Stanley

Libby as the mechanic tampering around the aeroplane and the way Joe Sweeney

as Robert Street, the author, can open his mouth, say nothing and shut it again!

It's just a scream all the way through."

This from the observers of the Wednesday rehearsal of the musical comedy.

Joe gives a regular thrill when he starts to describe his aeroplane ride with Nan Walsh as Madeline Manners prompting him slyly. For the author of "Going Up" finds himself in an awful situation when confronted by the complex problem of making an impression on the gentler sex and pretending he is actually an aviator when he has never been in a plane. The wages between the real aviator Jules Gaillard (Chester Watson)

and the pseudo-airman tangles the affair completely. If people hadn't asked embarrassing questions, if the publisher

(Richard Crandell) hadn't been a true advertiser, if Mr. Street could have reisted the love note, he might have been able to keep both feet on the ground.

The slim mechanic, of course, gives all his assistance. Proportionately he is most comforting but there is apt to be some scenery demolished if he ever has to get out and crank that plane.

"Going Up" is going up.

PHILLIPS WILL TALK
ON PLACE OF POLAND

Charles Phillips will speak on "The Place of Poland in International Politics" at a meeting of the Open Forum to be held December 2.

Phillips is a newspaper man and is working on the Washington Post at present. He has just published through the MacMillan company, "The New Poland," a book which he wrote after spending three years in that country studying the situation.

The Forum meetings are being conducted every Sunday evening at 7:30 in the University church.

The University students will discuss "The Permanent Court of International Justice," December 9.

Dean A. L. Stone will lead the discussion on "The Freedom of the Press," December 16.

LAW CLASS ROOMS
READY NEXT WEEK

"We hope to get into the new class rooms about the end of next week, when the contractor will have finished with the first floor of the new law school," said Dean C. W. Leapheart of the law school.

The books from the basement will be moved to the book stacks on the first floor and work will begin immediately upon remodeling the basement. Four class rooms and several offices will be built in the basement.

It is not expected to have the rest of the building complete before the autumn quarter next year. During the summer a title roof to match the rest of the new buildings will be put on the rejuvenated library building.

Montana Men on All-Star Team
Picked by Kaimin Sports Expert

With the closing of the 1923 football season the Sports department of the Montana Kaimin (official paper of the University of Montana, entered as second class matter at the postoffice known as Missoula, Montana) has been asked to select an All-Star team. The selection of an all-star team, as Mons. Camp was often heard to say, is a tough job. But the department after deep consideration and proper consideration has made the following selections:

The first team—The choice of the wing positions go to the Dahlberg brothers, purely to keep it in the family. Their playing has been of a caliber head and shoulders over the rest of the ends in the state. Hyde was a unanimous selection for one of the guard positions, because of his steady playing and his ability to crash through the opponents' line and block punts. The other guard position was given to Shaffer because he deserves the place; he's the best in the state. There was a little doubt in the minds of the judges as to the best and most logical candidates for the tackle positions. They go to Meagher and Maudlin. Bennie Plummer was the biggest and best bet for center. Ben played

UNIVERSITY WILL RANK HIGH
IF TEAM WINS FROM PACIFICFRESHMAN TEAM
TURNS IN SUITS

Hold Final Workouts With Varsity Last Night—Has Good Record for Year

The Grizzly Cubs, champion yearling eleven of the Northwest conference, turned in their uniforms last night after completing one of the most successful seasons of Montana Cub teams. Two final workouts Wednesday and Thursday of this week to prepare the Varsity for the struggle with Pacific University December 1 wound up the work of the season for Coach Adams' proteges.

Adams is not yet ready to announce the names of the squad members who will receive football numerals and sweaters. He says that he will not decide this until after the Grizzly-Pacific battle. Of the 43 members of the squad at the opening of the season only 25 are left. These men are: Kelly, Kain, Varney, Cogswell, Fletcher, Barde, Crimmins (capt.), Levine, Robinson, McNiven, Uhl, Coyle, Thompson, Burrell, DeVeber, Schell, Sweet, Ritter, Place, Cochran, Arndt, Larsen, Labrie, Wagstaff, Graham and McLean.

Kelly at quarter, Sweet and Place at half, and Ritter at fullback, made up a backfield that was hard to beat. It was heavy and fast and ripped through all opposition in a sensational manner. Kain and Varney alternated at center, DeVeber and Burrell took care of the ends, Fletcher and Cogswell played brilliantly at guards, and Levine and Crimmins filled the positions of tackles capably. Both Cochran and Wagstaff did good work in the backfield when called on, while Thompson and Coyle showed up well, the former at end, the latter in the backfield and at end. The work of the other members of the squad deserves all the credit given them for their efforts which made the success of the team possible just as much as the work of the regulars did.

The Cubs won every game on their schedule, coping five battles in a row. They were scored on only three times during the entire season and one of those touchdowns was a fluke. In the W.S.C. game which went to the Cubs by the score of 19 to 6, the Cougar frosh scored their solitary touchdown when one of their men fell on the ball after it had been sent behind the Cub goal post on the kickoff. Idaho frosh made one of the touchdowns, losing to the Cubs, 27 to 7, and the Hub Independents of Butte made the third. The score of this game was 59 to 6, Cubs on the long end. The Cubs piled up a total of 207 points for the season against their opponents' 19. That tells the story better than anything else.

Montana Now Tied with O.A.C.
for Fifth Place in Conference Standing

For the first time since Montana became a member of the Northwest conference she has an excellent opportunity to finish the football season in the first division. Should the Grizzlies triumph over the Pacific University gridiron warriors December 1, they will finish the season with a percentage of 500 and will rank with the leaders of the conference, Washington, Oregon and Idaho. At present Montana is tied with the Oregon Aggies for fifth place.

The standing of the teams in the Northwest conference is as follows:

University of Washington	4	0
University of Idaho	3	0 (1 tie)
University of Oregon	3	1 (1 tie)
Washington State College	2	1 (1 tie)
Oregon Aggies	1	2 (1 tie)
Montana	1	2
Whitman	1	3
Pacific University	0	3
Willamette	0	3

Should Washington State College defeat the Huskies next Saturday and Oregon wins, which she undoubtedly will, the Webfooters will win the conference championship.

November 24 will be the last opportunity for Montana supporters to witness the Grizzlies in action. On that day Coach Stewart will send the first and second teams into action against each other in final preparation for the game with the Pacific University that will be played in Portland December 1. The first days of next week the Grizzlies will be put through light workouts. The team leaves for the coast Thursday, November 29. The Varsity is going good and should win handsily over the Oregon team.

Little is known of the strength of the Forest Grove team other than that they have lost all their starts this year against conference teams. They have lost to Washington, Oregon and the Oregon Aggies, all by fairly large scores. It is said by those that have watched the Pacific team in action that they have a team that will outweigh the Grizzlies a few pounds to the man.

Coach Stewart will use the following men in the regular game that will be played next Saturday on Dornblaser field.

First Team	Second Team
O. Dahlberg	Murphy
Meagher	Left end
Hyde	Left tackle
B. Plummer	Left guard
Shaffer	Center
Maudlin	Right guard
G. Dahlberg	Right tackle

T. Plummer	Quarterback

Basketball Men

VERY successful football season for the University of Montana is rapidly coming to a close. The coach and the student body are turning eyes to basketball and are taking inventory of this year's prospects for a winning team. All are agreed that there is plenty of material in school to give the University of Montana a good basketball team; that is, if all of Montana's basketball players turn out for the Varsity and are eligible to represent the University on the basketball floor.

Every year, in every sport, the Varsity suffers some serious loss from ineligibility which could have been prevented. These cases are usually due to carelessness or lack of foresight on the part of the man himself.

If the pace set by the football men is to be kept up it is necessary that every man with any basketball ability make plans to try for the team and that he see to it that he will be eligible to play in intercollegiate contests. The athletic department will explain the eligibility rules, and basketball men who are in any way in doubt as to their eligibility should make sure that their records are going to be clear for the coming season.

Ousting the Text Book

THOMAS A. EDISON'S assertion that moving pictures will replace text books entirely within the next twenty years deserves to be placed in the same category as other of his statements which purport to solve weighty problems in fields foreign to his own.

Motion pictures have been a great help in teaching certain subjects, and may reasonably be exploited further; but just doubt attaches to their superiority in every branch of learning. The use of stereopticon views in many courses is quite extensive now, their chief value resting in their effectiveness as illustrations to the text. But to aver that moving pictures can entirely supplant the written word is absurd.

Unquestionably students would find attending "movie" classes much less fatiguing and possibly more interesting providing their work consisted solely of viewing the pictures. It is still more likely, that at the time, they would be more impressed with the subject matter.

But the fact does not rest here. Psychologists and educators have long recognized that the harder a student strives to accumulate knowledge, the more serviceable he is apt to find it. Were text books and motion pictures on a par in effectiveness, it is still open to debate whether the diminution of mental labor would be conducive to the best intellectual results.—Daily Iowan.

Forestry Club Holds Badger Fight; Borel and Nickolaus Bite

Ready Laddie? Ready Borel? Ready Nickolaus? One! Two! Three! Pull! Thus Arnold Borel and Charles Nickolaus took hook, line, sinker and several other unmentionable honors at the famous badger fight held Wednesday night at the monthly meeting of the Forestry club.

The setting was perfect, the crowd interested and the principals anxious. An old beer case was loaded with rocks. A chain fastened to the badger's neck struck out from under one corner. Nick and Borel volunteered to undertake the dangerous trick of pulling the badger from under the box. Laddie, the Phi Sig dog, was to be the badger's opponent. Bitney acted as referee.

The signal to pull was given and the crowd roared, not with excitement or cheering, but with laughter at Nick and Borel, for the badger fight ended as do all badger fights, and the Forestry club now has two older, wiser men.

The pledges of Phi Beta sorority will be hostesses to the active members at a formal dance to be given at the St. John's Episcopal Parish House Saturday evening.

CHESTERTON'S ESSAYS ARE ON ENGLISH CLUB PROGRAM

A number of G. K. Chesterton's essays, and poems by Rupert Brooks will be read by members of the English club at their meeting Saturday night in the west room at North hall.

The English club was organized early this year. Regular meetings are held the second and fourth Saturday of each month. Everyone interested in modern literature is invited to attend these meetings.

Frederick Peterson '26, returned from Seattle last week and has resumed work in the University. He left for the coast two weeks ago to consult an eye specialist.

Seniors

Lie Down on the Job

The following is a list of seniors who have failed to respond to the call for pictures.

It seems unusually significant that among those whose names appear on the list are the best known people on the campus and the ones who will stand in judgment of the book when it appears in June. If some of these people cannot spend the ten minutes to the give the Sentinel a picture of themselves, which in reality should be regarded as an honor, how can they expect co-operation in activities in which they are most interested?

Dear Maw: I've got another thrill, Excited so I can't sit still;
And I will be this way until
The last affair is over with.
For Maw, no less than seven frats
Have asked me out to dine, and that's
The reason why I'm going bats,
'Cause Gee, I'm having fun.

Last Tuesday night I went to eat,
At a frat house down on Gerald street,
I had a fine meal but the meat
Was tougher than whang leather.
The A.D.A. boys asked me down,
To meet the bunch and sit around;
I'm scared I acted like a clown,
'Cause 'twas my first visit to a frat.

They've got a nice house if they would Clean it up and treat it good,
And I'm sure they really could
If they had a good house-manager.
They've got a lot of music junk,
They played for me, but it was punk;
The banjo player couldn't plunk
His notes so very good.

Well, Maw, then we sat down to eat,
And lord, they passed me out that meat;
A lot of it slipped to my feet,
When I tried to cut it.
But when he saw the rushee bait
Slide, and tumble off my plate,
A guy named Crimmins got sedate,
Picked it up and put it on my dish again.

And then a guy, Art Serungard,
Starts to laugh and laughs real hard,
I'll bet you'd heard him in the yard
If you was standin' out there.
Gee, I felt cheap, I couldn't stand
To get laughed at amongst that band,
'Til Otis Benson stroked my hand
And said, "Don't let that worry you!"

When we had ate they sung a song,
Sung 'er loud and sung 'er long,
Gee, the tenors were all wrong,
But they tried real hard.
Asked me how I'd like to be A Baita sweetheart, then Onstad he Gets real cute and nudges me;
Gee, I got a thrill!

But, Maw, I had a dandy time,
The boys sure peddle a good line;
Every night the pledges shine
Up the old scholarship cup.
It made me lonesome for the farm
When Kibble took me to the dorm;
But really, Maw, he does no harm—
He just looks that way.

Next week, Maw, I'll write and tell
About the Phi Sigs.

SAD CIRCUMSTANCE BROUGHT TO LIGHT

"A downright shame; that's what I call it," said Owen Kelly, proprietor of Kelly's pool hall, in commenting on an incident which occurred during the game played here several weeks ago between the University and the State College freshmen. Kelly smiled broadly, shook his head in a sympathetic manner, and hurried off to wait on a customer.

This is the way Owney tells his story.
A certain Aggie roofer by the name of Bowen drifted into his place a few minutes before the game and deposited $50 (every cent he had) to be covered on a ten-point margin. He talked a few minutes about the Aggie yearlings, apparently satisfied that his money was well invested and then sauntered out.

He didn't show up again, Kelly said, until about 10 o'clock that night, and then he walked straight up to the counter and pulled out two telegrams. The first one was his own, addressed to his fraternity in Bozeman, reading "all is not well," and the other, an answer to his wire, was worded, "We are sending bicycle on next train."

Rouge

Old Remedy Works Wonders

"Rouge gets 'em, girls. He kissed me good-night." Before the evening was over, all North hall knew about John, the perennial sophomore's charms. With eyes glistening, she breathed heavenly sighs as a result of her first triumph.

She had been somewhat forlorn, poor girl, and someone knew the reason—and the remedy.

"You must rouge," she was advised,
"because all girls that expect dates
rouge."

That was something new and worth trying. Before the dance a local drug store was richer by 50 cents, and Dorothy was proud possessor of a supply of orange rouge. Twenty-five cents' worth was exhausted to inveigle her victim.

All during the dance her eyes were for him alone, and the climax came when he asked to accompany her home. The rest might have been a deep, dark secret, for there were no spectators, but she has now won fame. She is president of the "Rouge Gets 'Em" club.

PREXY CLAPP REPORTS ON EASTERN CONCLAVE

Object of Convention Standardization of Finances in State Schools; ROTC Discussed

President C. H. Clapp, who returned Sunday from a two-weeks trip in the east, stated that more than four hundred universities were represented at the annual convention of state university executives which he attended while in Chicago, November 11 and 12.

The primary object of the convention, according to the president, was to discuss topics which had a direct bearing on the standardization of a system of keeping track of finances at state universities. Also the problem of ROTC units in colleges and universities was discussed.

While on his trip Dr. Clapp visited the Universities of Wisconsin, Michigan, Harvard, Tech, and Columbia for the purpose of studying the personnel of these institutions relative to the admission and suspension of students. He also visited his former home in Boston.

Harry Houle, ex '24, and Chester Dixon, ex '25, will sail for the Orient November 27 on the U. S. S. President Jefferson.

Miss Amelia Fergus of Lewistown is a guest of Miss Dora Lykins at the Phi Beta house during the week. She attended the University last year.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE TO BEGIN DECEMBER 10

Coach Stewart Urges That Varsity Hoop Men Make Sure as to Eligibility

Varsity basketball practice will begin December 10, ten days after the close of the football season. Candidates for the Grizzly five, who are not on the football squad, have been going through light workouts in the gym for the past week to get in shape for regular practice.

Coach Stewart will not be able to devote any of his time to basketball until the close of the football season. He urges the great importance of every candidate for the Varsity quintet getting busy now in order to be sure that he will be eligible for the team when the season opens. Stewart says that every season the various athletic teams have serious losses through the ineligibility of some of the athletes. He believes this is due chiefly to carelessness. "If we are to go ahead in athletics we must have every possible varsity man eligible," is the coach's statement.

This year's squad has lost "Tick" Baird, captain and guard last year; Ed Thoreson, center, and Gil Porter, forward. Baird and Porter graduated, while Thoreson will not be in school. The older men who will be available are Ronnie McDonnell and Kirk Badgely, forwards, Doc Tanner (captain), and the Dahlberg brothers, guards. Members of the yearling squad last year who are the most prominent are Berg, Baney, Meagher, Tarbox, and Illman. Berg's work at forward last year was classy, Meagher at guard showed well, and Illman is one of the best centers in the state. Baney and Tarbox are fast and clever.

TRUMAN GETS LETTER FROM FORMER HEAD

Sergeant W. H. Truman is in receipt of a letter from Major A. C. Cron, former professor of military science and tactics at the University during the school years 1919-20 and 1920-21. The major is at present attending a tank corps school at Camp Meade, Maryland. "I would like to go back to Missoula and see the University of Montana," he said in his letter, "as I have been hearing so much about the progress that has been made in the last two years."

During the war Major Cron was a lieutenant colonel and saw active service in France. In 1919 he took the chair of P. M. S. & T., which he held until 1921 when he was ordered to the infantry school at Camp Benning, Georgia. He was there about nine months. From there he went to the "School of the Line" at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. About a month ago he was ordered by the war department to attend the Tank corps school, and learn about tanks, gas engines and other mechanics.

TAILORED AT FASHION PARK

The Younger Generation Now Prefers the Royal Park Idea

The college man, today, has taken a place of authority in style matters—no longer does he favor or endorse the ideas we used to laughingly describe as "rah-rah."

And so, when we say to you that the well groomed collegian of the larger universities prefers the Royal Park idea, we're saying to you that the style is unchallengeably correct.

Royal Park is a development of The Fashion Park Designing Rooms—it gives the younger men that touch of dignity and poise they demand.

Consequently, Royal Park serves as perfectly for business men as well—it's a suit for the well groomed man of any age.
