Remarks to the MCT & Bresnan Corporate Partnership Announcement Event
By Senator Max Baucus
November 10, 2007 via DVD

Hello everybody. I’m sorry I can’t be with you for this wonderful event but Senate business has kept me in our nation’s capital.

I wish that I could be there with you but while you are working on safety and arts education for kids, I’m in Washington, DC trying to get our kids healthcare. Together, we can all make a real difference for Montana’s young people.

The Missoula Children’s Theater is one of the world’s best. Bresnan Communications is a great corporate citizen.
Together, we would like to announce an innovative new partnership that will teach our children about Internet safety.

I’m so proud of the Missoula Children’s Theater. Typical of many Montana success stories, Jim Caron (karen) and Don Collins began with a good idea, and a measure of hard work. Now they have created the largest touring Children’s Theater in the world. Little red trucks deliver life skills to 65,000 children each year.

The partnership we are announcing tonight is an extension of Jim and Don’s creativity and hard work.
I want to be the first to commend Bresnan Communications and the Missoula Children’s Theater for setting such a great example.

Whether for-profit or non-profit, we are Montanans. We care about the same problems. When we come together, there are few problems we can’t solve.

I want to commend the MCT and Bresnan for thinking outside the box. MCT has a unique platform. Bresnan has a great message. Together, they have a bright future making our children safer.

Thank you all for being here. Enjoy the premiere of King Arthur’s Quest!
