FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Speakers and performers for school and club programs will be made available again this year by the Montana State University Extension Division, E. A. Atkinson, extension director, announced.

The University offers the services of more than 30 faculty members prepared to speak on some 85 topics, ranging from "American Humor" to "Soviet Foreign Policy." The Extension Division will also arrange for musical programs by members of the music faculty, performances by students in socio-drama classes and talks by foreign students, Atkinson said.

A brochure listing speakers and their subjects may be obtained from the Extension Division at the University, he added.
