CHARTER DAY CELEBRATION PLANS PROVING ELABORATE

Convocation in Afternoon and Games in Evening Are Main Events

Charter day this year will be celebrated in a manner much more elaborate than for several years past, according to the plans which have been worked out by the Charter day committee.

The University is to be open for inspection by the general public during the entire day. Classes and laboratories will meet as usual during the forenoon. In order that visitors need not leave the campus to obtain luncheon, the home economics department will serve a lunch between 12 and 1 o'clock. Students who are taking work in the department of home economics will prepare the food. At this time visitors will also be given opportunity to see exhibits of work done in the department.

Buildings to Be Open.

The buildings will all be open for inspection during the noon hour and until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At 2 o'clock a special Charter day convocation under the direction of the ASTUM will be held. Short addresses will be given by Bill Cogswell, president, and Marion Fitzpatrick, secretary. The Grizzly band will be out to accompany the singing of Montana songs which will open the program. Other music will be furnished by the Varsity quartet and the saxophone quartet.

The convocation will be concluded by a presentation of John Galsworthy's play, "Punch and Go," by the Montana Masquers. At the conclusion of the convocation the finals in the inter-class girls' basketball tournament will be played in the women's gymnasium. The Charter day celebration will end with a basketball game in the men's gymnasium at 8 o'clock in the evening between the freshmen and the Varsity.

For the benefit of visitors on the campus and also students who wish to visit departments with which they have not yet become acquainted, special displays and demonstrations have been arranged by many of the department of the University.

During the forenoon all classes and laboratories will be open to visitors. In the Natural Science building the museums of the departments of biology and botany will be open. The physics department has made preparations for an electrical display and a radio transmitting and receiving apparatus has been set up for inspection.

SOCIAL GROUPS OUT AFTER VODVIL CUPS

The awards for the best acts in Varsity Vodvil will be presented to the two best acts in the entire production. This is a new departure from the method of award in the past. For a number of years a cup has been awarded to the best front stage act and a cup for the best full stage act.

Although a few organizations have signified the intention of not presenting acts for the tryouts, Manager Hughes promises a good representation. Many organizations have planned clever novelty acts and will compete Saturday morning, February 23, for a place on the final bill.

Manager Hughes is discouraging the expenditure of a large sum of money in the production of an act as he stated that the final performance will not be presented with the idea of an expensive extravaganza uppermost, novelty in the line of amateur vaudeville being the result desired.

GIRLS' RIFLE TEAM FINISHES SHOOTING IN AGGY MATCH

Ten girls, Gladys Ayres, Jean Haviland, Dorothea Rector, Maybelle and Esther Mohrerr, Eleanor Stephenson, Belle Caswell, Charlotte Treherrey, Thelma Whipple and Gertrude Walsh completed their match with the Montana Aggies and the University of Vermont yesterday.

Only the five highest scores count in the match. The girls made a total of 437 out of a possible 500.

The scores of the two other teams will not be known until next week.

Voting on Peace Plan Extended by Committee

An extension of time has been granted to vote on the Bok Peace plan, which was discussed before the student body of the University at the special convocation February 7 by Miles O'Connor and George Boldt. Ballots may be turned in at the phone booth in Main hall.

Ballots were distributed at convocation, and all students who have not yet voted are urged by the committee to cast their ballots at the phone booth. The committee in charge of the balloting reports that the vote to date has been divided, there being practically no majority for or against the plan.

NEWMAN DISCUSSES NEW WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION

President of WSGA Declares University Needs Such a Group in Caring Out Traditions

"I believe a sophomore women's organization would not only be a benefit to the University but would give an added incentive to the freshman and sophomore girls," stated Helena Newman, president of WSGA, when asked her opinion of the plan for the sophomore organization.

"There are many reasons for my wishing to see such a group on the campus. I have heard some objections on the grounds that there are already a large number of organizations for the girls to belong to, but there is no group for the underclass women to attain to until their junior year. For that reason I feel that this would give an added incentive to the new girls to get out into campus activities with some definite aim in view. Besides, a girls' organization would give assistance during track meet by aiding girls who know no one on the campus, or in the fall by meeting the new girl students and taking them about until they have become acquainted. The girls do not intend to rush out and sell tickets, candy, etc., at the games; they plan to assist the Bear Paws whenever necessary to help enforce traditions such as not cutting the campus—which the men's organization has been unable to enforce when women were the offenders—and to help create the University spirit among women students. We discussed this at convocation and it was generally agreed to be a fine thing. The girls wish to aid in the making of a better campus life and we feel this is one of the best means of doing so."

Most of the men competing in the corps area shoot have completed their second stage, according to Captain Jack W. Howard, in charge of the men's rifle team.

In commenting upon the showing made by the men in the first stage Captain Howard said: "The men did not make a very brilliant showing but on the whole the shooting was better this year than it was last year and if the men continue to shoot as well we stand a chance to place several places higher than we did last year."

The last stage of the shoot will begin next Monday and continue until Saturday. Any men desiring to finish their third stage this week will be allowed to do so if all conditions are complied with.

The Cub hoop quint won its eleventh straight game of the season Wednesday night, easily defeating Missoula high, 46 to 6, after the scholastics had played fast basketball in the first quarter and battled the yearlings almost on even terms. In the last three periods the Cubs found the hoop almost at will, and it was only a question of how large the score would be after the beginning of the second half. It was the Cubs' second victory over Missoula high, the first contest going to Adams' men by the count of 38 to 2.

Missoula high began the scoring when Graybeal found the hoop with a pretty toss from the sidelines. Lowe counted from under the net, tying the score. A minute before the end of the period Graham was sent into the fray, and the lanky center put the Cubs in the lead with a field goal immediately before the quarter ended.

In the second period mid-floor shots by Graham and Overturf, and two baskets by Graham, who booted in rebounds, gave the yearlings a commanding lead, which they kept increasing. Graham with nine field goals was high-point man of the game. Smith and Lowe came next with five field goals each.

Missoula high failed to score in the last two periods while the Cub scoring machine, with Graham, Overturf, and Lowe finding the hoop regularly, piled up a large total of points. This is the last contest of the season for the yearlings, excepting practice games with the Varsity.

Lineup and summary:

NEW YORK FIRM GIVES EXHIBITION FOR MEN

Something new in the way of service is offered University men by Finchley, a New York firm which deals in clothing and haberdashery especially adapted for college men.

Finchley has sent a representative to hold a series of exhibitions of men's furnishings at a number of the larger universities in the west. The exhibition for Montana students will be held at the Florence hotel, Monday and Tuesday, February 18 and 19.

Although it has been the custom of Finchley to hold exhibitions at the large colleges in the east for a number of years, this is the first effort made by the company to show its goods in the west.

GLEE CLUB MAKES BIG HIT ON TOUR

State Papers Pronounce Varsity Songsters To Be Decided Success

Reports from Butte, Helena, and Livingston, where the Glee club has already appeared on its annual tour, are very favorable, according to Lawton Beck, with manager of the club.

The Helena Record-Herald, commenting on the performance, reads: "Presenting a well-balanced musical program with just enough vaudeville sandwiched in to take it out of the category of a 'recital,' the State University Glee club scored a decided hit in the maiden appearance of its annual state tour at the Marlow theater here Monday evening."

The Anaconda Standard's comment on the performance Tuesday evening was: "Before a full house at the Broadway theater last night the State University Glee club presented about as delightful a program as could be crowded into a couple of hours. The young men, under the capable direction of DeLoss Smith of the university faculty, showed themselves perfectly at home in the varied selections arranged for them, and that they did well was evidenced by the appreciation expressed by the large audience. Miss Bernice Berry was accompanist and contributed not a little to the success of the program, her solos being well performed."

At Livingston the quartet appeared at a matinee performance and evening performance and also at the luncheon of the Livingston Kiwanis club. The Livingston Enterprise was loud in its praise for the club, devoting an entire column to the performances.

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB HERE SATURDAY, FEB. 23

The University Glee club, now on its annual tour of the state, will appear at the Wilma theater in Missoula at matinee and evening performances, Saturday, February 23. Coupon tags will be on sale today. The coupon on the tag may be exchanged for a reserved seat at the Wilma box office.

The matinee has been specially arranged for grade and high school students. Before the performance of the club a moving picture, "Boy O' Mine," starring Bennie Alexander, who appeared in the "Penrod" pictures, will be shown.

C. M. Clauson Dies at St. Patrick's Hospital

C. M. Clauson, a member of the ROTC band and employed as a janitor in Main hall, died Wednesday evening at St. Patrick's hospital.

Mr. Clauson, though not a student at the University, offered his services to the band, and was a faithful member of that organization. One of Mr. Clauson's last requests was that the members of the band attend his funeral in a body.

Funeral services were held at Marsh's undertaking parlors this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

HUGHES PICKS JUDGES FOR VODVIL TRYOUT

Manager Picks Five to Select Best Acts Presented Saturday, February 23

The judges for Varsity Vodvil tryouts were announced yesterday by Manager Hughes as Dean Harriet Sedman, Ellen M. Geyer, and Professors White, Langmas and Williams. The tryouts will start promptly at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, February 23. Novelty, manner of presentation and talent will be the grounds for judging the acts to appear on the final bill. Manager Hughes stated that there would in all probability be seven or eight acts on the final program.

The presentation of Varsity Vodvil will be heralded by a public street parade and a "bally-hoo" band in front of the Wilma theater. There will be a matinee for school children the afternoon of March 1. The prices of admission at this performance will be 25 and 50 cents. The prices of admission for the evening show will be 50 cents and $1.10. There will be two performances in the evening.

The seat sale will open February 25 at the campus store.

BROADCASTING LICENSE ISSUED TO UNIVERSITY

An amateur broadcasting license has been issued to the physics department of the University of Montana, by the bureau of navigation, department of commerce.

This license permits the physics department to broadcast at will within a limited radius. It holds good until February 10, 1926. Concerts have been heard through the winter months over the receiving set at the physics department. The members of the physics department are planning a series of programs to be broadcasted in the near future. They will endeavor to have the Varsity quartet offer a few selections.

A short conversation was held with a station in Portland, Oregon, a few nights ago.

Ore Diggers Prove Easy Meat for Montana Hoop Men

The rejuvenated Grizzly quintet romped over the School of Mines aggregation in a rough-shod manner last night, dealing out the Ore Diggers a 46 to 12 defeat. The University, though a trifle slow getting started, soon hit a pace that was too fast for the Mines to follow. G. Dahlberg was the outstanding figure in the fray. Jiggs tossed in shots from all angles and put on one of the finest exhibitions of all-around basketball that has been seen on the local court this season. He led the attack for the Grizzlies with 17 points. Badgley was second high, with a total of 12 points.

The opening moments of the game were slow and uneventful. Egeberg started the scoring when he broke even on a brace of tries from the foul line. Tanner evened the count with a toss from the gift line. Carney sunk the first field goal when he made a difficult shot from under the basket. G. Dahlberg connected from the foul line. A quick pass to Badgley while he was traveling at top speed netted another counter for the Grizzlies. Twice Badgley slipped between the Mines defence to sink counters. G. Dahlberg flipped in a rebound. Egeberg made the first field goal for the visitors with a pretty toss from a little past the middle of the floor. A moment later he made good a shot from the sidelines. O. Dahlberg scored from the gift line. Carney pushed in a rebound and was rapidly followed by G. Dahlberg's long shot. Badgley connected with a brace of tries from the foul line. Tanner dribbled under the arms of Matlock to sink a counter. Passing under the basket at a breakneck pace Badgley snapped the ball back over his head for the last counter of the opening period. Score: Montana, 23; Mines, 5.

Montana started the game with a rush. G. Dahlberg opened it up with a short toss. Carney scored from the side. Havy, little forward for the Mines, connected after two gallant efforts. Badgley scored twice from the foul line. G. Dahlberg scored twice on as many tries from the middle of the court. Carney slipped in a set up. G. Dahlberg and Walsh both scored from the side lines. Sterling scored from the foul line. Jiggs brought the crowd up with a circus shot from

These Enlighteners--

THE University has several students, authorities on education and moral training, who, after two or three years in college, have briefly summed up what is wrong with our University and all American universities and have had these valuable theses published in downtown newspapers. We question both the qualifications and the sincerity of the knockers. They apparently wish to pose as experts before the people of the city and state who have no way of learning the truth about the University. These youthful wonders tersely condemn the systems employed in the University, while men who have been engaged all their lives in the work of education cannot find more applicable methods. One-sided criticism in state newspapers does much harm to the University and does not work toward remedying evils in our University's systems.

The Kaimin is the students' paper and is always available to students who wish to express opinions on University affairs. The "Senior's" anything-but-constructive criticism certainly would have done more toward remedying the "evils" mentioned if published on the campus, than it did, published as it was, in the Missoulian and later in the Great Falls Tribune.

The Senior's destructive criticism as printed in the Great Falls paper, gives the people of that city the opinion that the students' sole object at the University is to learn how to make money; that the student has about as much freedom here as he would in a reform school; that the compulsory attendance system is an evil; that one has to "fight with the nurse" for refunds from the health service; that the faculty includes many of low moral character and of low ability to teach; and that, due to the grading system, cheating is the students' popular indoor sport.

We hope the readers of the article realize (although the Senior does not seem able to) that educational authorities would not foster systems as injurious as these are painted in the Senior's dyspeptic condemnation if better methods were applicable. One cannot blame the readers if they do not. There is no opportunity to tell them that the great majority of students get their first concept of things worth while, independent of money, at the University; that four years of University training cannot be expected to entirely eliminate the desire for money of youths brought up in a money-mad world. The readers of the Senior's article will not know that the administrators of the University give students all the responsibility they will take; that many students would do nothing at all if it were not for the compulsory attendance system; that the health service is a great benefit to the students and that "fights with the nurse" are not the rule; that the faculty is not made up entirely of direct descendants of Annanias, but is the best that can be secured with available funds; that there are ways to get on the sunny slope of the grade curve without cheating. They cannot be told these things, and as a result the readers probably think it surely is a wicked institution that, in a year or two, can entirely overcome the eighteen or twenty years of home training of its young people and make them criminals, money-grabbers and irresponsible.

No matter how much these people think of their personal opinions they are doing the institution an injustice when they take these prejudiced opinions to the people and give them as facts. They present but one side of the argument.

The Open Forum

INTERESTING discussions of local, national and world social problems take place Sunday evenings in the student open forum at the University church. A half hour's discussion, in which one does his own thinking and hears the opinions of others, is often worth more than ten hours of spoon-fed knowledge acquired in the lecture room or from a book.

Is Getting By Good

Dear Maw:

Well here I am in Livingston. The folks down here sure like my fun; We drew a big crowd, and we done Our stuff up brown. I guess I'm getting by real good, As well as anybody could. When the show is done I get my food From "stage-door Johnnies."

The club is going great, they say, We draw good crowds most every day; I crab, I guess, when I have to say We don't get enough sleep. I guess the reason--well, I'll bet-- The reason why the boys don't get The sleep, is 'cause they always set Up too late.

DeLoss said the other night Before the stage-man doused the light, That there was goin' to be a fight If we don't get to bed. "I'm sure not talkin' through my hat," Sez he, "and I will tell you that! "Why, up-in Butte you guys were flat!" Flat broke, I guess he meant.

He said a mouthful then, at that; The reason why the boys are flat Financially is 'cause they're at Every place 'cept bed. But they're all right. It's not their blame When some alum of Grizzly fame, Gets them a date with a high school dame-- For a nice high school dance.

Except for that, they treat me swell, They slight me some. Yours, ANNABELLE.

Why didn't the foresters name the campus roads "the bad-lands"?

And now comes the "six most important words" contest. We suggest for the college men's list the following:

- 1--Pastit.
- 2--Flunktit.
- 3--Gottadate.
- 4--Pleasendme.
- 5--Y'gottacigarette.
- 6--Makem'letter.

Wise-Cracker--"Well, olive oil, old dear, olive oil."

Nabisco--"Teapot dome, teapot dome."

"Ben Dover, Dearlo, Ben Dover"

The women club-swingers are looking for a name. The Aggie women are called "Spurs," but we can't use "Chesterfields." Another one for them might be "Bear-Maws." Then as an adjunct to the Inter-collegiate Knights, we might call them the Intercollegiate Knights of the Garter. Or the "Flap-Aws." Someone suggested the "Bear-Cuts." At Washington, the knights are called "Knights of the Hook." Then why not the "Knights of the Hook and Eye"? Still we might call them the "Bear Knees." Or the "B'hair Pins."

More Red Tape

A petition that the University have a barber school was rejected by the local authorities on the ground that the students would have too many cuts.

Have you seen that tall, bent-over guy with the hang-dog look of shame floating around the campus? No, he isn't the guy that got four yellow slips. He's the fellow that was with that girl when she "again ordered chicken salad."

Our 98-cent Bible says: "And then the Philistines were sore beset by ten thousand spears." A modern version will say in times to come: "And then the Universities were sore beset by one J. B."

The foresters didn't tell that other story about Paul. When he went to the first forestry ball his name was Paul Bunyan, but when he came back it was Paul Bunion.

Now we have inter-collegiate debate by radio. Splendid. We can have the students back up the team without much discomfort. We propose the following yell for the radio debaters:

"Mental Telepathy! Mental Telepathy! Rah! Rah! Rah!
Radio Sympathy! Radio Sympathy! Sis, Boom, Ah!
Static Rebuttal! Static Rebuttal! Montana!

HOOP TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD AT BOZEMAN

Number of Players Allowed Each Team Changed From Six to Seven Men

The thirteenth annual Interscholastic basketball tournament will be held at Montana State college March 5 to 8, inclusive.

This year a new regulation goes into effect in regard to the selection of the teams which are to compete in the state tournament. In previous years the winning team in each of the nine districts was allowed to come, and the remaining teams were selected by the tournament committee, and invited on the strength of their season's record. This year, provided that the winning teams in all nine districts shall compete in the state tournament, that winning second place in the North Central, Eastern, Mining, Yellowstone, and Southern districts will be invited, as well as that winning third in the Mining district. Also, the team winning a game to be played immediately after the district contest between the fourth place team of the Mining district, and the third place team of the North Central, shall be the last one invited.

Owing to the increased capacity of the new gymnasium, the committee has increased the number of players allowed each team from six to seven.

IDAHO MEETS GRIZZLIES IN MISSOULA NEXT FALL

Four Home Games Now on Montana's Football Schedule—Season Opens With Montana Tech

The University of Idaho football eleven, a strong contender in the Pacific Coast conference, has agreed to play in Missoula Saturday, October 11. This will give the Grizzlies four home games next fall, Idaho Technical Institute October 4, University of Idaho October 11, Gonzaga university November 1, and Pacific university December 8. Idaho Tech was originally slated to play October 11, but will be asked to come here October 4.

SKEELS EXPLAINS SIGNS.

The signs posted about the campus concerning forest fires are not proclamations of Fire Prevention week, National Forest week, or any other special week. They are, according to Professor Orr Skeels of the forestry school, simply signs used by the United States forest service on the various ranges. Some are used to aid tourists, some to warn stockmen, while others are fire signs intended to make city people more careful of fire hazards.

The members of the forestry school have put these up, along with a big banner on the south door of the forestry building, to advertise their dance to take place tonight in the gymnasium.

ULRIGG, FORMER GRIZZLY PITCHER, NOW PAYMASTER

Vernie Ulrigg, former Grizzly pitcher, is located in Flint, Michigan, where he has obtained a position as paymaster with the Buick Motor company. While at the University Ulrigg established a reputation of being one of the classiest hurlers in college baseball and secured a tryout in the spring of 1922 with the Pittsburgh Pirates, going south on the spring training trip of the Buccaneers. His record with the Grizzlies secured the tryout with Pittsburgh. The 1922 Grizzlies won every game played and the Northwestern conference championship. Ulrigg pitched in 11 games, seven of which were complete games, and won all of the contests.

After the spring training trip Pittsburgh released Ulrigg to the Flint (Michigan) club of the Michigan-Ontario league, but retained a string on him. Ulrigg pitched for the Flint club during the past season. He decided to quit the game when the Pirates did not recall him, and accepted the automobile position.

VALPARISO AUTHORITIES DENY KLAN CONNECTION

Trustees Issue Code of Principles for Future Operations

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 14.—Trustees of Valpariso university, in an effort to check the misinformation sent out last summer that it was soon to be taken over by the Ku Klux Klan, have issued a code of principles upon which the institution proposes to base its future operations. This code proclaims opposition to "any individual, group, lodge, church, or society which intentionally endeavors to separate our people into class-conscious groups, setting one against the other in promotion of hatred."

The board has taken a vigorous stand against the klan and announces further the real principles of the university. A committee, composed of former students, is being organized to put this into effect. Bulletins and documents which are issued by the university are posted in a conspicuous place, announcing the recent plans of the committee.

Charter Day

Its Origin and Development

The state legislature granted the charter which authorized the establishment of the State University of Montana 31 years ago, February 17, 1893.

Two years later the University was formally opened with Oscar J. Craig as president and a faculty of four associates. The first classes were held in the old Willard school building, recently torn down.

In 1899 the University moved into its permanent quarters on the present campus upon the completion of the first two buildings, University hall and old Science hall.

The institution has grown in the 31 years since the first Charter day to an institution with a student body of over 1,200, a faculty of 90, and a physical plant of 20 buildings. The present buildings, grounds, and equipment represent an investment of about two and a quarter million dollars.

Of President Craig's original faculty only one member remains, Professor F. C. Scheuch, who is taking a year's leave of absence in Europe.

It is a long established custom to celebrate Charter day by inviting the general public to spend the day on the campus and see the University at work and play.

A class in sketching a live model and also an exhibit from the Chicago Art Institute will be featured by the department of fine arts.

The home economics department has arranged to exhibit work done in the department and will also serve lunch to visitors.

The library building, as well as being open for inspection during the day, will also be open for visitors from 7 until 9 o'clock in the evening for the benefit of many townspeople who have not had an opportunity of inspecting it.

The military science department will welcome visitors at 9, 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning, when classes in military mapping, instruction in the use and care of various small arms and drill in the manual of arms will be held. The manual of arms drill will be given in the armory of Marcus Cook hall, while the other classes will be held in the ROTC building.

Visitors will be welcomed by the physical education department at a large men's gymnasium class which meets at 11 a. m.

The school of forestry will display instruments used in forest surveys and timber measurements. The class in forestry telephone operation will be a feature, while in the silvicultural laboratory visitors will be told how forest tree seeds are analyzed and tested before planting.

The school of journalism visitors will have an opportunity to see exhibits of a newspaper in the making.

The new law building, the remodeling of which has just been completed, will for the first time be open for inspection.

In order that visitors may easily find the points on the campus where those things of most interest to them are taking place, student guides furnished by the ROTC will be on duty throughout the day. Each visitor will be provided with a pocket program containing a map of the campus and giving the order of events for the day and the names of the buildings in which these events take place.

DR. SHORT DISCUSSES BUSINESS PERSONALITY

Three Fundamentals of Success Are Outlined in Lecture Before University Students

"Physical, personality, mental equipment, and spiritual idealism are the fundamental factors necessary to obtain success in every man and every woman today," stated Dr. Burgette Short, head of the educational department of the J. C. Penney company of New York, in his lecture, "Personality in Business," yesterday to University students.

"Every young man and every young woman in this country should be conscious of this great fact—success or failure doesn't depend on anything else half as much as it depends on the young man or young woman. A life that does not succeed in these days of American opportunity has nobody to blame," he continued.

"Whether or not we think it is true, physical personality is a large factor in success. The 'how a man looks,' the 'how a girl looks,' 'how a girl walks,' 'how he or she dresses,' 'combs the hair' is a much larger factor in helping to decide success than the young man or woman has ever stopped seriously to realize."

"People who have application," he continued, "do not have to ask how much it will pay. They will get in there and make their way—to get on the heights they have to reach. Physical personality will be expressed by the spirit you get through relation to your personal employees."

"The fellows who get somewhere are the ones who study after they get out of school. A man is a better bookkeeper by knowing philosophy, science, etc. These are the days of specialists, and not those with the narrow, one-track mind. The more you know, the better equipped you are."

He emphasized the fact that the young people must know what they want to do. He used, as an illustration, his own life when he fulfilled his ambition to become a preacher. He built his congregation from 17 members to one of over 1,000 people by dreaming of his ideal.

"The greatest undeveloped resources that the state of Montana has are its young men and young women. There are possibilities of making out of Montana the kind of a state Montana ought to be. Add to these young people spiritual idealism and mold them together into a life really worth while."

Dr. Short was engaged to speak at the University through the efforts of S. J. Coon, dean of the school of business administration. He has lectured before many Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and other civic organizations throughout the country.

ART LEAGUE MEETING HELD LAST TUESDAY

Mrs. Marian J. Rusk and Louis T. Williams presented a series of poses before the University Art League Tuesday evening in the art department studios.

"Casts in possession of the art department were manipulated by Mr. Williams, who acted as a mannikin, in such a way as to produce many startling and ludicrous figures," said Mrs. Belle Bateman of the art department. During the entertainment Mrs. T. A. Price played appropriate music. Coffee and sandwiches were served.

Sport Squibs

After lengthy deliberation, Bob Matthews, football coach at the University of Idaho, has signed papers with Montana for a football game here October 13. Aside from the fact that Matthews is a conservative, we judge that the Vandal pilot heard that Montana will be shy some of her best players this fall.

That's just where we will slip one over on Mr. Matthews. All of the expected men will be back and growling for a bite. An early season game has no terrors, either.

Here is how the Grizzlies stack up against the Aggies, as compared with the Miners: The farmers in the first game against the Miners, ran up a 19-point lead. In the second game, a 12-point lead, the total for the two games—

Mines, 17; Aggies, 48. In one game the Grizzlies won with a 34-point margin. No doubt as to who can claim the state championship.

The way Kirk Badley tore down the floor last night for baskets leads one to believe that there was an old grudge to settle. The veteran had fire in his eye and played his best game of the season.

Dribblers may come and go; we've seen a lot of them this winter, but there is not one in a hundred that can repeatedly dribble the length of the floor and get in classy work.

Oregon was defeated for the first time this season, when Idaho took them down 30 to 24. The game was tied until the last two minutes when Fitzke and Penwell both scored. Oregon still maintains the lead in both conferences.

Washington State college and the University of Washington met last night at Pullman in their annual basketball series.

Although the Cubs have won 11 straight victories, none of the games played have been against worthy opponents. They have some classy players, but will they be like the rest who have gone before them? On an average, about one star frosh player of six makes good in the sophomore year. This is more true in football than basketball.

The sophomore girls and the senior ladies will meet Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the old gymnasium to settle the class dispute. This will in no way have any effect on the league of nations.

Why doesn't the faculty get together and play an exhibition game of basketball for the fans? It would be more humorous than laughing at a funeral when a pallbearer slips into the grave.

WANTED: A few longwinded cusses who can steam around the track all day and then dance all night. Long-distance runners are wanted at the University of Montana. Now is the time to make a name for yourself. Get in while the running is good.

No kidding, track men are asked to report to Coach Stewart for early training. The Olympics are being held this year, and everyone has a chance.

Edson Andrus, Varsity sprinter last spring, is doing early training this year at the University of Pennsylvania with men like Murchison and Levers.
